To All Men Throughout the World, Greeting:

Know Ye, That the Grand Council of the Psi Sigma Nu Fraternity, having special confidence in the person of Chi who has been elected to the position of Grand Councilor, has granted this Charter to them and their successors constituting and establishing the Chapter of the Psi Sigma Nu Fraternity to be located at Toronto University in the city of Toronto, Ontario invested with all the powers and privileges of a Chapter of the Psi Sigma Nu Fraternity while acting in conformity with the Constitution and Laws of the Order. Chi Chapter is empowered to confer the degree of Psi Sigma Nu upon all persons lawfully qualified and elected to receive the same. Chi Chapter is also empowered to make By-Laws for its own government, according to the Constitution and Laws of the Order.

The officers and members of this Chi Chapter, by accepting this Charter, pledge themselves to act at all times in conformity with the Constitution and Laws of the Order and to maintain the same. Chi Chapter is also empowered to confer the degree of Psi Sigma Nu upon all persons lawfully qualified and elected to receive the same. Chi Chapter is also empowered to make By-Laws for its own government, according to the Constitution and Laws of the Order.

Witness my hand and the seal of the Grand Council of the Psi Sigma Nu Fraternity, this seventh day of February in the year of our Lord thousand, one hundred and two.

CHI FRATRES IN FACULTATE

CHI

The men of Chi have been exceptional in their responses to questionnaires and the yearly bulletins over the names of chapter historians are unusually complete. We thank all collectively for their cooperation. For the final reading of the manuscript we gratefully acknowledge the courtesy of E. Stanley Ryerson.

Personal reminiscences may be of interest and are perhaps merited in this instance because of the importance of this, our first step across the border, a step whereby the fraternity took on an international character.

At the time the petition for a chapter at Toronto was under consideration, I was Galen on the Council and in charge of most of the correspondence and Thaddeus Walker of Beta was Custodian. Walker had come to Beta from Walkerville, Ontario, and, being a Canadian, was more familiar than were we with conditions in the Dominion. It was largely through his activities that the petition finally carried. The whole Council and even some former councillors entered the discussion; not through doubting the qualifications of the school or the petitioners, but doubting the ultimate success of extending the fraternity into schools under other flags and into institutional, student, and college fraternity relationships with which we were unfamiliar. We knew that the percentage of fraternity men in the University of Toronto was small and that men did not join both academic and professional fraternities, either one or both of which might militate against the ultimate success of a chapter. There were also matters of border tariffs, exchange and so forth to be considered. But when upon Council recommendation the petition finally came before the Convention, the vote was unanimous and enthusiastic.

Time has shown the wisdom of the extension and the fraternity has always rejoiced in the great success that has followed it. We made no mistake. With Thaddeus Walker from Canada and Samuel C. Gurney, who hailed from London, England, delegated to carry on, the installation became an all-British affair. But when Chi entertained the Convention six years later the affair became all-American; the States and the Dominion met and fused. The closing banquet session of the Convention was one of the most thrilling and interesting experiences of my years of service in Nu Sigma Nu. We were won by their ceremonious dignity and generous hospitality. We had made no mistake!

THE SCHOOL

The Faculty of Medicine, University of Toronto, had its origin in 1843, as the Medical Faculty of King's College. This was abolished in 1853 but reestablished in 1887.

At the time of Chi's installation (1902) the amalgamation of the faculties of Toronto and Trinity Medical Schools was being negotiated and their joint installment in a new medical building took place in 1903. At that time this building was the first of its kind in Canada to be built on the unit system of laboratory work and with every modern convenience. A large increase in attendance followed upon these changes.

The new Toronto General Hospital built in the years 1911-1913, at a cost of three million dollars, was a splendid structure providing new and great advantages to faculty and students. Buildings grouped about a court provided accommodations in the Surgical and Medical Wards of the Main Building and in the Burnside Lying-in Hospital for 550 beds. The departments of Pathology and Bacteriology were included in the group.

The effects of the war were keenly felt from the first at Toronto. Canadian General Hospital No. 4, University of Toronto, was located at Salonika, Greece. Since it was manned chiefly by Chi brothers, its fortunes were followed with particularly keen interest by the chapter. Before March of 1916 over 1700 Toronto men had left for over-seas service. By March of 1917 this University had sent some 3600 men overseas of which 500 had fallen in action or been wounded and 100 had been decorated by the King. Many served with Canadian Units, others with the Royal Army Medical Corps. The service rendered individually and collectively is beyond the scope of this history to recount.

In spite of incalculable hardships and losses during the war, the University of Toronto returned to a post-war history of marked growth and achievement.

In 1922 a new Anatomical Building was erected beside the medical building. An extension of the public wards and a new Private Patients' Pavilion increased the capacity of the Toronto General Hospital to 1395 beds in 1930.

The British Medical Association held its convention in Winnipeg in 1931. Lord Moynihan of Leeds, President of the Association, officially opened the Banting Research Institute during his visit to Toronto. Besides the Banting-Best Research Laboratories, the Departments of Pathology, Bacteriology, and Pathological Chemistry are housed there. This building named as a memorial to the discoverers of insulin, also contains the administrative and research rooms of the clinical departments and departmental libraries.

DEAN PRIMROSE

Dr. Alexander Primrose, upon his retirement from office as Dean of the faculty, donated his splendid library to the University. This was placed in a special library in the Banting Institute.

A building completed in 1932 and devoted to the study of botany and zoology, greatly modernized the equipment for teaching these subjects. An extension to the Hygiene Building practically doubling the housing accommodations of the department was also completed in this year.

Additional affiliated hospitals and other aids to teaching are: the Royal Ontario Museum, The Hospital for Sick Children, St. Michael's, Toronto Western, Toronto Psychiatric and Riverdale Isolation Hospitals.

A definite plan of advanced surgical training is now provided in a new and excellent three-year Post Graduate course in surgery, established under the direction of Professor W. E. Gallie in 1932.

Admission requirements when Chi was installed (1902) were, Junior Matriculation or the equivalent, or a degree in Arts from any Dominion or British University (four-year course).

In 1922 the requirement became "Honor Matriculation", or "Pass Matriculation" plus the first year in the faculty of Arts at Toronto, or an Arts degree from any recognized university.

The current Calendar tells us that at the present time a candidate for the degree of Doctor of Medicine is required to pursue either the six-year Medical Course or the combined course in Arts and Medicine, in which latter he must take the Honour Biological and Medical Sciences Course in the Faculty of Arts to obtain the degree of Bachelor of Arts at the end of four years, followed by the final three years of the Medical course in the Faculty of Medicine.

In 1928 the authorities of the University of Toronto revised the degrees in Medicine so that students upon graduation in the future shall receive the degree of Doctor of Medicine (M.D.) instead of Bachelor of Medicine (M.B.).

This amendment in the regulations has been made retro-active, so that every graduate in Medicine of the University of Toronto who now holds the degree of Bachelor of Medicine is entitled on application to be admitted without examination to the degree of Doctor of Medicine (M.D.).

At the time Chi chapter began, the University and the School were supported by grants from the Provincial Legislature in addition to the income from some original endowment. While the Legislature grants continue as at that time, during the past twenty years benefactions totalling over $6,000,000, including one from the Rockefeller Foundation, have been received by the University.

THE CHAPTER

Chi was installed on February 15, 1902, by Thaddeus Walker (B, '93) then of the Council, assisted by Samuel Gurney (B, '95), at the home of Herbert Bruce, one of the faculty Fellows who had joined in the petition for a charter. The initial group numbered nine undergraduates and nine of the faculty, led by undergraduates Rutherford and Draeseke and with the cooperation of the faculty group.

Following is the roll of charter members with comment upon them as of this date: Undergraduates Reginald W. Rutherford, '02, now at Chatham, Ontario; Gordon Draeseke, '02, Vancouver, British Columbia; Arthur Proctor, '03, Belleville, Ontario; Karl VanNorman, '04, Cleveland, Ohio; Frederick Watts, '04, Toronto; Mackerrall Holmes, '07, Aberdeen, Saskatchewan; Allen Kinghorn, '04, now at Abercorn, North Rhodesia, South Africa. Kinghorn won the George Brown Memorial and the Johnson Colonial Fellowships and engaged in the study of tropical diseases under the auspices of the British Colonial Office, the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine and the British Central African Government for the study of sleeping sickness. He was on the Zambesi in 1907. In 1916 he was appointed Senior Medical Officer of the British Forces in Rhodesia, becoming Deputy Director of Medical Services in 1933. In November, 1933, he became a member of the Legislative and Executive Council in N. Rhodesia. James Campbell, '05, is at Keene, Ontario. Lindsay Webb is dead. The Fratres in Facultate were Drs. John Amyot now at Ottawa, Geoffrey Boyd, Herbert Bruce, Graham Chambers, Alexander McPhedran, Alexander Primrose and Frederick Starr, who are still in Toronto, and Andrew Gordon, George McDonagh, James F. W. Ross, and Gideon Silverthorn, who have joined Omega. Brothers McPhedran, Bruce, Primrose and Starr are still listed on the faculty of the school as Professors Emeriti.

The men lost no time in establishing themselves. They had a furnished house within a year, at 74 Charles Street, and the 1903-04 session found them in better quarters at 119 College Street in the immediate vicinity of the school, and in 1904-05 at 236 Bloor Street. This was a year of marked prosperity, with "plans for renting and furnishing a house which matured later in a real home at 404 Sherbourne Street, furnished by the liberality of fratres in facultate and alumni, aided by the enthusiastic and self sacrificing efforts of the active men." Here the chapter lived two years. In 1907 owing to increasing demand for residence, more commodious quarters were secured at 43 Murray Street which were retained until 1915.

In 1911 a committee had been appointed to care for funds for a permanent home. Doctors Starr as President and Amyot as Vice President represented the faculty group. Pledges of $100 each, $10 per year, had been asked of every outgoing man. Each year a new committee of actives was appointed to follow up the plan. The 1913 Bulletin reported receipt of pledges from a total of fifty-eight men and an accumulating fund, and the organization called Nu Sigma Nu Corporation with a board of directors made up of two alumni: Doctors F. E. Watts and F. Adams and two undergraduates. We shall see how this plan developed later on. At that time, the war interfered with medical student life in the Dominion as we in the States could hardly appreciate. Nevertheless in the autumn of 1915 a house was taken at 91 Breadalbane Street called "second to none", Dr. and Mrs. Starr aiding materially in the furnishing of the chapter rooms. The chapter held forth at 63 Avenue Road in 1916-17 with but seven active men and when the 1917-18 term opened, the chapter was of necessity limited to a "chapter room in an apartment at 12 Hampton Court." In the Bulletin of 1919 with a sense of pride Chi announces the reopening of her chapter house at 35 St. Vincent Street. There were only six actives beginning the session, all returned from active over-seas service; their concerted effort early brought the number to twenty-two, every one of whom had seen service.

With the opening of the 1919-1920 session renewed interest was manifested in the house fund, reports of increased interest being made at a noteworthy "Founders Dinner." The culmination of this effort was a permanent home at 142 St. George Street with the funds they had accumulated from subscriptions since the organization of the association above referred to, as a beginning. To add to the fund, bonds were sold to alumni for enough to make a substantial payment. Rentals to actives provided funds to cover interest on the bonds, the mortgage, taxes, depreciation, etcetera, and in time to pay off the indebtedness. In other words outgoing men, contributing through the years, raised the initial fund, to which sufficient was added by sale of interest-bearing bonds to alumni to enable the placing of a loan through regular channels. The mortgage and the bonds are to be paid out of excess receipts from house management.

The holding association, being composed of representatives of alumni and of the actives, safeguards the investors by supervising the financial affairs of the chapter.

Socially Chi has been active from the first. An annual dance was on the program early in her history and has frequent mention through the years, the wives of faculty men acting as patronesses.

The custom of a chapter dinner on Chi's birthday, February 15, was also early established, an occasion for reunion of alumni. Another custom has been the formal opening of the house in the autumn by an afternoon reception at which wives of faculty members hold forth in turn. Besides these, and the evenings devoted to initiation ceremonies, there are the regular chapter meetings at which interesting and instructive addresses are given on occasion by faculty and other alumni.

In the autumn of 1921 Chi was at home to some fifty fratres in urbe in addition to a few tea dansants for actives and alumni, ending the calendar year with a New Year's eve banquet.

In 1923 the chapter celebrated her coming of age, her twenty-first birthday, by added social activities including entertainment of the other fraternities of the University at bridge, and an "at home" to alumni. In 1925 a delightful tea dance followed the McGill-Varsity Rugby game with the added pleasure of entertaining men from Beta Mu of McGill.

1927-28 was another active year socially with a change in the "at home" from the chapter house to Casa Loma. This was the year of the University's centenary celebration and Chi ran open house, registering many visitors, not only their own but alumni of other chapters, including many from the McGill Chapter.

The chapter house has been admirably arranged for the annual dance, thanks to the generosity of alumni.

Altogether Chi's social life is well above the average both in number and in quality of functions but particularly in the great interest manifested by alumni.

Scholastically Chi took her place at the top from the beginning and has maintained it. When the course was extended to five years the graduating classes were small. There were only twenty in the combined Arts and Medicine course in 1911—of whom four were men of Chi—one taking a fellowship in physiology.

The University of Toronto Medical School Journal, said to be one of the best publications of its kind in the British Empire has been edited most of its years by Nu Sigs. This unique journal first published in 1922, has continued to fulfill its plan and purpose of promoting student knowledge of advancements in the medical sciences, and in giving training in the proper writing of medical articles. In the same year Brother J. A. McFarlane, an Alpha Omega Alpha man, was selected as Rhodes Scholar by the Province of Saskatchewan.

In 1922-23 Chi instituted a Reading Club for fourth and fifth year men; also entertainment of a faculty alumnus at dinner once a week with a talk by the guest. It was voted to set aside fifty dollars a year for the purchase of books. The following year a monthly open meeting was established to which all members were invited. This meeting, booked for the last Monday of each month is followed by a social and musical hour.

DOCTOR BEST

Professor J. J. R. McLeod of the faculty group and C. H. Best, undergraduate member of Chi, shared in the Nobel prize for medicine in 1923, the first time the award ever came to Canada and the second time for the American continent. The following year Brother Best ranked first for the Ellen Mickle Fellowship and was in charge of insulin production. He was also President of A. O. A. Brother Noble won the Reeve prize for undergraduate record and was Vice President of A. O. A. to which honor society nearly every bulletin reports the election of one or more fellows. Brother Best is now Professor of Physiology, having succeeded Brother MacLeod who became Regius Professor of Physiology at the University of Aberdeen. In 1928 Brother Hrolfe Ziegler was selected as Rhodes Scholar to Oxford, the first Toronto medical student selected by the Province of Ontario, and that year Chi furnished six men to A. O. A.

The class of 1930 furnished another Rhodes scholar in the person of Fred Kergin. That year Chi men held the Inter-fraternity Council Scholarship Shield for the highest individual Scholastic standing among the thirty-five fraternities on the campus. This was the second time the honor had been won by them. The 1933 Bulletin records the winning of the shield for the third year in succession added to which were two scholarships and an A. O. A.

In the early years when fraternities at Toronto were relatively few and the income of students of medicine comparatively low the chapter found difficulty in maintaining her full quota of men but gradually and with raised standards the annual average was raised until now Chi has no difficulty in maintaining full membership. A curve would show a low dip during the years of the great war but the enthusiasm of the few always held and the rise was rapid with the return of men from service. The percentage of fraternity men in Toronto University remains low however, compared with universities in the States. The relations between chapter and both faculty and nonfaculty alumni continues very close.

The privileges of Chi Chapter house were extended to several members of the British Association for the Advancement of Science in 1924.

Chi through the years has had more than her share of executive offices, in 1927-28 holding three class presidencies and two vice presidencies.

In athletics this Dominion chapter has shown more activity than any of our other chapters, and prowess in nearly every field: basketball, track, rugby, intercollegiate boxing, swimming and water polo. No chapter of Nu Sigma Nu compares with Chi in athletics. The men of Chi have held many executive positions in athletics also through the years, particularly in 1924-25 when Noble and Lively were President and Vice President of the Medical Athletics Association and there were nine men on important teams; again in 1925-26 and 1926-27 when more than half of the chapter roster were prominent in athletics, covering the whole field most creditably. In 1927-28 five men held their T's and eleven their M's. In 1928-29 "The Nu Sigs gave themselves and the other fraternities a surprise when they captured the interfraternity hockey shield from a field of twenty teams."

The list of men of Chi who were in war service is almost the complete list of her fellows, some of whom were assigned to training in England. Some were returned from service to complete their courses so as to be available as officers for A. M. C. work. Always there were a few in school but always most of them were in service. The chapter was particularly interested in No. 4 Canadian General Hospital University of Toronto located in 1916 at Salonika, Greece, under the following men of Chi: Surgeon General James Roberts in command, Lieutenant Colonels Primrose and G. Chambers, Major C. S. McVicar, Major E. S. Ryerson and numerous officers of lower rank. Lieutenant-Colonel J. A. Amyot was early transferred from No. 4 group to the Canadian Division in France in charge of sanitation. Lieutenant-Colonel I. H. Cameron served on the staff of the Duchess of Connaught Hospital, Cliveden, England. Many served with other Canadian Base Hospitals in France and in England. Colonel Bruce and Lieutenant-Colonel Starr were consulting surgeons R. A. M. C. Lieutenant-Colonel Menzies was in charge of orthopedic surgery at Orpington, England.

Summer courses in war service were given at the school during the period of the war. For bravery and distinguished service Colonel Roberts was made a Companion of the Bath and Captain M. H. Patterson who has joined Omega was awarded the Military Cross. Brothers Gordon, Yellowlees, Patterson and Shannon were reported in the 1919 bulletin as "Fallen in Active Service".

DOCTOR BRUCE

In the Councils of the fraternity Doctor H. A. Bruce served in 1902-04 and Chi shared with Alpha the Honorary Presidency (1914-16) in the person of the beloved James Playfair McMurrich who came to the Chair of Anatomy at Toronto from Michigan, leaving behind him an enviable record of achievement there. Toronto conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Brother McMurrich is one of the few fellows upon whom Nu Sigma Nu has conferred her Degree of Merit. From the 1931 Bulletin we quote:

"Professor J. Playfair McMurrich has retired to become Professor Emeritus of Anatomy. Professor McMurrich has held the Chair of Anatomy since 1907 and has served also as Dean of the Graduate School in the University. His interests have been many. His study of "Leonardo da Vinci, the Anatomist" is now in press at the Carnegie Institution, Washington, D. C. Portraits were presented to Dean McMurrich and Dean Primrose by colleagues at a dinner in the Great Hall Hart House, May, 1930. Dean McMurrich is a member of Alpha, '83. Since coming to Toronto we have been honored by his constant interest in Chi chapter."

In 1933 Brother H. A. Bruce was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, being the first medical man ever to hold this high position as representative of His Majesty the King in this province.

To All Men Throughout the World, Greeting:

Know Ye, That the Grand Council of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, having great confidence in the persons who have advanced their names in the margin, has granted this Charter to them and their associates, uniting and establishing them as the Pi Mu Chapter of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, to be located at University of Virginia — in the city of Charlottesville, Virginia. — invested with all the powers and privileges of a Chapter of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, while existing in conformity with the Constitution and Laws of the Order. Said Pi Mu Chapter is empowered to confer the degree of Nu Sigma Nu upon all persons lawfully qualified and elected to receive the same. Said Pi Mu Chapter is also empowered to make its own laws for its own government, according to the Constitution and Laws of the Order.

The officers and members of this the Pi Mu Chapter, by accepting this Charter, pledge themselves to act at all times in conformity with and in obedience to the commands and enactments of the Grand Council and the Constitution and Laws of the Order now in force or that may hereafter be established in behalf of which this Charter may be revoked, suspended or taken away by the Grand Council.

In testimony, we, the officers of the Grand Council of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, subscribe our names and affix the seal of the Grand Council, this twentieth day of February — in the year of our Lord thirteen hundred and four

PSI (PI MU) FRATRES IN FACULTATE

VIRGINIA MEDICAL BUILDINGS

(1) Medical Center, School and Hospital. (2) School of Medicine,

PSI (PI MU)

I crave indulgence for having allowed my name to appear repeatedly in this history through quotations from Bulletin letters. Though I appreciate the generous compliments of the historians, my small contribution to the revival of the Virginia chapter has been well repaid by the uniform courtesy and whole hearted cooperation of her men. I appreciate too, having been made an honorary fellow of the chapter and my contact with chapter and faculty at Virginia has added much to the pleasure of my attempted retirement to that vicinity. Unless all signs fail the chapter is on its way to better things and will continue as a force in the cause of fellowship and undergraduate medical education in Virginia.

The published report of the "Dedication of Medical Buildings" October 22, 1929, gave us most of our information on the school. For the chapter we have been limited to bulletins and to personal observation; the early story was well covered in the 1907 quarter centennial volume.

For the final reading we are glad to acknowledge the courtesy and accuracy of the Nestor of the chapter, Dr. Paul Barringer, of whom frequent mention is made in this story.

W-W

THE SCHOOL

BARRINGER

The establishment of Central College in the County of Albemarle was authorized by the Legislature in 1816 with Thomas Jefferson as a member of the Board of Visitors. In May, 1817, Jefferson was elected Rector of the College. The prime object in Jefferson's mind while acting in this capacity was to get the college well under way and then have it adopted by the Legislature as the State University. In 1818 this was recommended in the first report to the Legislature, and in 1819 an act establishing the University of Virginia at Central College was passed. The organization of the University, its government, discipline and methods of instruction were in their entirety prescribed by Jefferson. Most of the sketches for the buildings were drawn by Jefferson's hand. These he based on the designs of Palladio.

The original organization embraced eight independent schools, the first seven of which were open for matriculation in 1825.

At the dedication of the new medical buildings October 22, 1929 Prof. Harvey Ernest Jordan reviewed briefly the history of the University of Virginia School of Medicine.—We quote:

"The School of Medicine of the University of Virginia was opened on November 7, 1825, under the designation 'The School of Anatomy and Medicine'. Its establishment is noted in the minutes of the Board of Visitors, in the handwriting of Thomas Jefferson, at their first meeting, on April 7, 1824. This is the first school of Medicine organized in the South, and one of the earliest in America.

"In this school were early adopted some of the more important modern ideas in medical education: full time professorships in the clinical branches, special entrance requirements including proficiency in English composition, emphasis on knowledge rather than tenure as the essential basis for awarding degrees, all-year session, evaluation of Medicine as properly an integral part of a University scheme, final oral examinations on the complete medical curriculum just prior to graduation, and operation under the rules of a rigid student honor system. The honor system has been in continuous and successful operation since 1842.

"The original faculty consisted of a sole professor, Dr. Robley Dunglison, renowned as the author of the first American medical dictionary, now in its twenty-fourth edition. Dr. Dunglison was called from England. He had attracted Jefferson's attention as one possessed of a 'due degree of science, talents for instruction, and correct habits and morals'. In 1826 a Dispensary was established in connection with the School of Anatomy and Medicine, and placed in charge of Dr. Dunglison. Years later, when Dr. Dunglison went to live in Philadelphia, he testified to his first love by founding the now Jefferson Medical College there.

"The medical faculty was enlarged in 1827 by the appointment of Dr. John Patton Emmet to a professorship of Chemistry and Materia Medica; and in 1830 by the appointment of Dr. Thomas Johnson to a professorship of Surgery. In the first catalog, that for the session 1832-33, three schools constitute the Department of Medicine. These are the School of Chemistry and Materia Medica directed by Professor Emmet; the School of Medicine and Therapeutics directed by Professor Dunglison; the School of Anatomy and Surgery, directed by Professor Johnson.

"The Medical School opened with twenty-six students. The first graduates, four in number, received their diplomas in July, 1828. One of these, a Virginia boy of Floyd County, was to become the father of Admiral Robley Dunglison ('Fighting Bob') Evans, his first born, named after his old Professor. In 1892 the medical course was lengthened to two years. It was further extended to three years in 1896, and to four years in 1899. The University Hospital was opened in 1901. Additions to the Hospital in the form of north and south wings were made in 1905 and 1907, respectively. This same year marks the beginning of specific entrance requirements: one year of college work in physics, chemistry and biology. Virginia was the first medical school south of Baltimore to require premedical college work for entrance.

Further additions were made to the Hospital by the erection of the Charles Steele pavilion in 1914; the Paul Goodloe McIntire pavilion for orthopedics, pediatrics and obstetrics in 1918; and in 1927 the Ennion G. Williams Preventorium, the funds for which were contributed by the State Teachers Association. The Hospital now has a total of 275 beds. ***

"The Blue Ridge Sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis with its 270 beds, supplies additional clinical material as does the State Hospital for the Insane at Staunton. The student body of the Medical School numbers 244. The enrollment is strictly limited by the admission of only 65 students to the first year class.

"In 1929-30 all departments of the Medical School were unified in modern, well-equipped laboratories for the teaching of the pre-clinical medical sciences in close physical connection with the Hospital. This result was made possible through a gift of $800,000 from the General Education Board, an appropriation of $250,000 by the Virginia Legislature, and a number of smaller gifts totalling $350,000 from alumni and friends of the University. ***

"Under the stimulus of the promise and realization of new and more favorable conditions a return to a modified full time professorship arrangement in the clinical branches has been effected; and renewed emphasis is being placed upon scientific investigation. Stimulus for increased activity in research comes from a recent gift to the University of $5,000,000, half of the income from which is to be applied to the support of scholarships and fellowships. The Medical Faculty inaugurated during the session of 1929-30 a plan of graduate instruction involving the establishment of a number of fellowships in each of the major departments."

To this outline Dean James Carroll Flippin (Psi 1901), added: "The buildings which have been formally accepted by the Rector are perhaps modest in many ways in comparison with the great laboratories, hospitals and medical centers which it has been the extreme good fortune of medical science to acquire in recent years. However, this group in its simplicity, we believe has beauty and harmony of setting and it offers to medical faculty and students suitable and adequate facilities for study and investigation thoroughly in keeping with present day standards. It is the realization of dreams and aspirations of many men throughout many years, and we, as immediate beneficiaries, are moved to respond with a pledge of earnest and devoted efforts. *****

"At the very outset of its existence this school had the good fortune shared by few medical schools in America to be an organic and intimate part of the University, thus enjoying as its birthright an advantage which has been rightly appreciated only in comparatively recent years.

"I think it may be said with justice that during the following sixty or seventy years the school enjoyed an enviable reputation for the high standard of its scholarship and for the thoroughness of its instruction. University ideals, methods and standards prevailed, a condition not then widely prevalent in the American schools of medicine. Many brilliant and scholarly teachers were numbered among its faculty and their publications constitute an honorable part of the literature of that day. The curriculum consisted largely of the study of the medical sciences and clinical subjects were taught by didactic lectures, as was the general custom in medical schools in that period. ***

"The story of how the University Hospital came into existence is an interesting and unique one, and deserves to be recorded in the annals of the school, but I must content myself at this time by saying that the name of one man should be associated with the founding and early days of that institution and high tribute should be accorded the wisdom, initiative and daring of Dr. Paul B. Barringer, (Psi '77) then Chairman of the University Faculty.

"In 1904 the hospital was a small institution struggling for existence. The Medical School with its fine traditions of scholarship and achievement and a splendid body of alumni was in grave danger from the lack of facilities for conducting the processes of education demanded by modern medical science. A small body of devoted teachers with pride of inheritance and high devotion to duty were endeavoring to keep pace with a rapidly moving educational development.

"In that year Dr. Alderman came to the University as its first President. In viewing his newly chosen field his attention seems to have been immediately attracted to the problems of the Medical School, and, to use the familiar but expressive language of our profession, he made a quick and accurate diagnosis and immediately undertook the task of restoration. * * * The Faculty of Medicine feel that this occasion should not pass without an acknowledgment of a lasting debt of gratitude to President Alderman for his conspicuous services to the School throughout a critical period of its life. Especially would we record that his personal efforts, sustained over a period of years under adverse conditions have made possible the buildings we formally open today."

THE CHAPTER

The first account of this chapter and of its precursor Pi Mu, was printed in the quarter Centennial Volume "Nu Sigma Nu in 1907", a story written by the then historian, Robert F. Jones, of the 1907 class. At last accounts Alumnus Jones was Lieutenant-Commander, U. S. N., stationed at the Naval Hospital in Norfolk, Virginia: We quote from that account:

"The history of the Pi Mu Chapter of Nu Sigma Nu does not begin with the installation of the chapter in 1904, but dates back to the founding of the Pi Mu Fraternity at the University of Virginia in 1892. This fraternity was founded primarily upon a basis of scholarship and enjoyed a prosperous and unrivaled career for a number of years. Soon after its establishment it extended to the two medical colleges in Richmond, Virginia, namely, The University College of Medicine and the Medical College of Virginia.*

"The charter was granted after due deliberation, one of the conditions being that all members of the Alpha Chapter of Pi Mu would be eligible for initiation into Nu Sigma Nu.

"The chapter was installed February 20, 1904, and the Alpha Chapter of the Pi Mu fraternity became the Psi (Pi Mu) Chapter of Nu Sigma Nu.

"Until 1907 the chapter had never taken in new men unless they had completed their first year's work, but owing to the fact that the faculty have practically prolonged the course a year by requiring college Biology, Physics, and Chemistry of all men seeking to enter the Medical Department, the chapter was granted permission by the faculty members to initiate first year men."

DEAN FLIPPIN

The charter group was made up of twenty-seven men, five of whom were alumni of Pi Mu, nine of the 1904 class and thirteen of the 1905 class, a total of twenty-two actives. Two of the original Pi Mu charter men, Doctors Paul Barringer and James Carroll Flippin, remain in the University, Buckmaster is at Columbus, Ohio, Christian at Gordonsville, Virginia, and Horman at last accounts was in the United States Marine Corps, stationed at San Francisco. Of the 1904 group two have joined Omega: George Adams in 1909 and William Gray in 1917. Eugene Callaway is at Selma, Alabama, Willis Campbell at Memphis, John Butzner at Scranton, Charles Woodward at Wilson, North Carolina, John Pollard at Annapolis, a Lieutenant Commander in the U. S. N. Paul Anderson is at Richmond and Harry Easley at Irongate, Virginia. Two of the 1905 group are in China: Claude Lee at Hong Kong and Augustus Tucker at Shanghai. G. S. Wellbrooks died in 1917; one, Howard Hume, is in service with the U. S. Marines and stationed at Washington. The others are widely scattered: Hattery Mason at Seattle, James Fontaine at Huachuca, Arizona, Clif-

*About 1903 another group of medical students decided to introduce a national organization and made proposals to Nu Sigma Nu. The Pi Mu group hearing of this immediately elected representatives to explain the local situation to Nu Sigma Nu and to request that if the fraternity saw fit to establish a chapter at Virginia that it be given to the parent chapter of Pi Mu. The outcome was favorable and the petitioners withdrew from the Pi Mu fraternity. The non-fraternity group then established a chapter of Phi Rho Sigma.

ton Hogan at Satarita, Mississippi, Hugh Nelson Page, Jr., at Augusta, Jesse Downey at Baltimore, Richard Bolling in New York City. The others remain in Virginia: Charles Conrad at Harrisonburg, Walter Ferguson at Lynchburg, and Kenneth Bradford at Staunton. Nine Pi Mu men took the oath following the issue of the charter.

The Virginia tradition allows academic fraternities to initiate students from professional schools, a condition that has militated against the success of strictly professional fraternities in Virginia, particularly Nu Sigma Nu. Until quite recently no chapter life, as understood in most schools, has been possible.

The chapter now looks back upon a third of a century, but after the first rise her curve is rather flat. There were seventy-five members within three years, but it took twelve years to enroll the next seventy-five due largely to the demands of academic fraternities for members. With the advent of the combined premedical medical course, professional men assumed more independence and during recent years they have even taken over considerable control in fraternity matters.

Three years ago, when the outlook was darkest, when few vestiges of the chapter's equipment such as books of record, rituals and regalia remained,—the latter being recovered in the partially wrecked fraternity trunk in the coal bin of the academic fraternity house where the erstwhile Pi Mu custodian lived,—the then group caught the real spirit of Nu Sigma Nu, and out of the debris came a resurrection with new chapter ideals.

No real chapter house has ever been the good fortune of the chapter. Meetings had been held in rooms of active members except on occasions of talks, when Madison or some nearby hall or classroom was used.

Though meetings through the years were somewhat irregular, interesting addresses by faculty and alumni fellows were given at times. In 1912 the group occupied a suite of rooms in the Anderson Building, located at the entrance to the University grounds. Here current medical literature was at their disposal and the nucleus of a library was formed.

The chapter Bulletins have been more informative since 1925 and from them we abstract the following data of note, aside from the school changes shown in the chart of the school development. At a meeting in 1926 Assistant Dean Jordan gave "an interesting resume of the life of Johann Gregor Mendel. The annual banquet was held at the Monticello Hotel." In 1927: "Study groups and social gatherings brought the men into contact and the same bimonthly meetings afforded opportunity to meet the various faculty members and share their views, not only on medical but upon a variety of subjects far from their particular fields." For the 1928-29 session the story runs that an effort was made to establish contact with alumni through the medium of an alumni news letter. Two of the bimonthly meetings were outstanding, to wit: one when "Dr. Paul Barringer, Pi Mu '77, occupying as he has a position of leadership in medical education during the time when medical science might be said to have made its greatest stride in twenty centuries, gave us a broad perspective in a talk on the 'Renaissance of Modern Medicine'." The second equaled the first when Dr. Jordan, Professor of Histology and Embryology, reviewed the life of Elie Metchnikoff.

The year 1929-30 showed much enthusiasm and interest with a revival in full flood. We quote:

"Under the able leadership of chapter president L. S. Meriwether * * * a remarkable recovery was made. An apartment was secured and maintained by six actives with no expense to the chapter. The result of this arrangement was the formation of a headquarters, to which the members of the chapter could come to receive any aid they might need with their studies and a place where social gatherings could be held. As a result regular bi-monthly meetings are now held. One meeting each month is devoted to business and informal discussion; the other meeting to short talks and presentation of papers by members of the medical faculty and local alumni as well as members of the academic and law faculties to give variety to the programs.

"Frequent informal gatherings, aside from the regular meetings, are arranged affording opportunity to disclose individual accomplishments.

"We are both pleased and fortunate to have Dr. Will Walter, Alpha (Michigan) in our locality. Dr. Walter had done much for our chapter by offering us useful advice and we are indeed grateful to him for his invitations to hold our initiation ceremonies at his country estate. To him belongs a large part of the glory that may accrue from the success of Psi (Pi Mu) during the past two years. With unfaltering diligence, perfect courtesy and utter unselfishness he has proven a guiding light to the chapter."

Beginning with the 1930-31 session a plan was developed, details of which appeared in the current Bulletin. We quote:

"It is rather difficult to appreciate the various hardships which Psi has undergone. The need of a house has been long recognized, but the peculiar conditions at the University concerning social and professional fraternities made it appear impractical. Therefore, we conceived the idea of renting a house and having one of our active members and his wife run it for us. The plan has proved wise and economical. This year there are twelve actives living in the house and everyone is enjoying the comforts and congeniality which it offers."

From the 1931-32 Bulletin: "It would be hard to estimate the extent to which the modest house which we have rented during the past two years, has contributed to the success of the chapter. Furthermore, it is proving an economic asset to the members who live in it. Under the capable management of chapter president Barksdale and his wife, not only is the house self-supporting, but also the room rent is far below the prevailing scale. We shall be glad to detail our plan to any chapter now in the throes of the depression."

The initiation continues through the years to be the big meeting and celebration of the year, of late years followed by the annual initiation dinner; occasionally the dinner is followed by a dance.

Another tradition is the intermedical fraternity dance program, each chapter in turn entertaining the other chapters. The annual initiation and banquet were held October 13, 1931, at the Farmington Country Club. This was another year in which the traditions and standards set in former years were carefully maintained.

"The annual dance following the banquet was held at Fry's Springs. It set a new standard in social affairs among fraternities at the University.

"The 1932 initiation was held at the country home of Dr. Will Walter on the night of October 13, 1932. Under Dr. Walter's direction the spacious basement had been converted into a theatre. After the ceremony we had our traditional 'paddling'. Then the doors of the grill room were opened and refreshments were served. Few will forget the cheery hour that followed. The frosty night, the roaring fire in the colonial fireplaces, the gleam of candles, silver, glassware on the long tables, red apples, songs, laughter, stories—all were tools in the hands of Dr. Will Walter, ever the perfect host.

“On the following night our annual banquet was held at the Farmington Country Club. * * * A pleasant surprise came when Dr. Walter announced that he and those members of the chapter alumni present had formed a purse sufficient to make the major payment on the new set of regalia which we wanted so much to possess.

“Following the banquet the chapter was host to the medical school at the annual dance at Fry’s Spring.”

The 1932-33 Bulletin letter completes the picture of the now completely reconditioned and fully developed Pi Mu Chapter group, and of the medical school.

Scholarship has not waned at any time. In 1920 the chapter showed its colors by offering a cup known as the Nu Sigma Nu Scholarship Cup to the medical fraternity showing the best scholastic record each year. The cup was won by Pi Mu in 1924 with the highest average in its history.

“Two of our Fratres in Facultate have distinguished themselves during the past year (1932). Dr. James Carroll Flippin, Dean of the Medical School, was elected President of the Virginia Medical Society. Dr. Carl C. Speidel’s brilliant work on the myelination of nerve won for him the thousand dollar award given annually by the American Society for the Advancement of Science.”

The war period brought a slight decrease in school enrollment. With the organization of Base Hospital No. 41 by the University of Virginia, and other war activities, Pi Mu’s numbers were considerably diminished. With the opening of the 1919 school year however many had returned and in this year Virginia received the largest number of students ever registered.

In 1924, largely through the efforts of Pi Mu, the Medical Interfraternity Council was formed at the University of Virginia for the purpose of fostering a closer cooperation between the five medical fraternities.

Pi Mu has honored and been honored by the election of two of her prominent alumni to offices on the Honorary Council in the persons of Dr. Paul Barringer who was Honorary Herophilus, 1906-08, and Dr. James Carroll Flippin who was Honorary Hippocrates, 1926-28.

Charter

To all Men, Be it Known

That the Grand Council of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, reposing special confidence in the men whose names are inscribed on the margin hereof and who have each taken the Oath of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, does hereby grant unto them and their successors the power to maintain, according to the Constitution of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, and subject to its rules of forfeiture, a Chapter of the Fraternity to be located at the University of Maryland in the City of Baltimore and to be known as the Beta Alpha Chapter of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity.

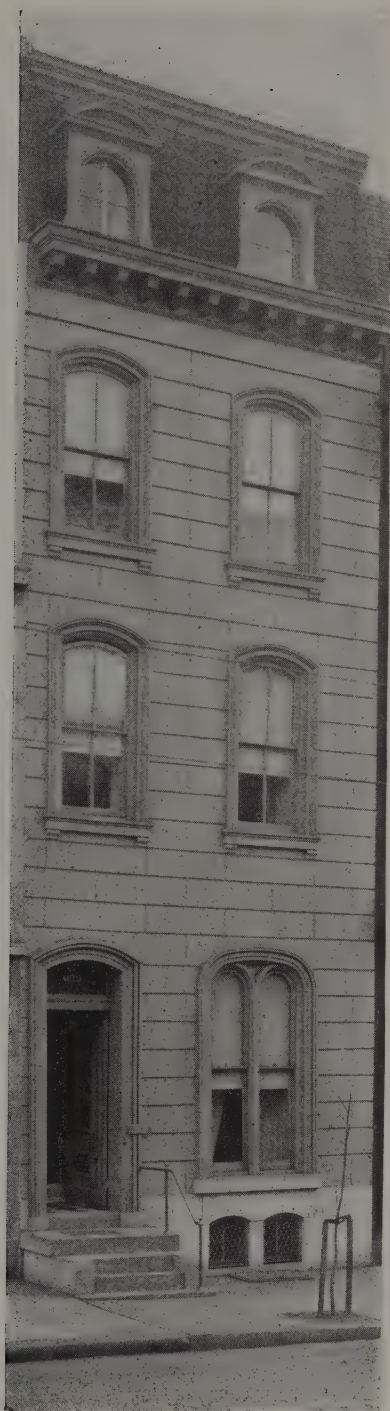

In Witness Whereof, the Grand Council of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity has caused this Charter to be signed and the official seal of the Fraternity attached hereto, this, the tenth day of October, nineteen hundred and four Anno Domini, and the two hundred twenty second day Anno Fraternitatis, twenty two.

BETA ALPHA

Among Beta Alpha historians a few have given more informative and quotable material than is usual. For this reason we have incorporated in this history, more and longer quotations than has been the rule.

From Major W. Lee Hart, a charter member, we have the story of the precursor of Nu Sigma Nu at Maryland, Pi Delta Upsilon.

Historian Snoops of 1929 made an instructive summary of chapter problems such as membership, housing, scholarship, social and other activities, and alumni relations. He introduced a discussion of these problems, an innovation so worthy of consideration that we have quoted much of his contribution. It might be well if the Bulletins were made forums for current controversies. Brother Snoops feels that when the chapter's membership problem is settled the problems of scholarship and chapter activities are automatically solved, (vide infra). These conclusions are worthy of notice because Maryland, like one or two other schools on our list, makes no reports on standings, has no scholarship committee and no study hour rules.

Historian Shaw, 1931, gave an excellent resume of school history herewith reprinted under The School, as well as much other material serving to round out this history. Shaw received second honors in the 1931 Bulletin for his chapter letter. (Shaw was appointed Associate in Pathology at the University of Maryland in 1932.)

We obtained our information on the new hospital from Historian Insley, 1933. To all others from whose letters we have abstracted, we hereby make acknowledgment.

THE SCHOOL

We are indebted to Beta Alpha's 1931 Historian, Christopher C. Shaw, for his vivid, concise, and interesting resume of the growth and development of the University of Maryland School of Medicine and for his side lights on the early struggles and evolution of medical education.

From Brother Shaw's letter we quote:

"The history of the University of Maryland School of Medicine is replete with tradition and a brief sketch may be of interest to the members of Beta Alpha and other chapters of our fraternity.

"Founded in 1807 under the title of the College of Medicine of Maryland, its first class was graduated in 1810. This was the sixth institution for Medical education in the United States, the five older having been established in the order named: University of Pennsylvania, 1765; King's College, New York, 1767; Harvard University, 1782; College of Physicians of Philadelphia, 1787; Dartmouth College, 1798. King's College became the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York in 1807.

"In 1812 the Maryland College was empowered by the Legislature to appoint and annex to it three other faculties, those of Law, of Divinity and of Arts and Science, and the four colleges thus united were constituted a University by the name and under the title of the University of Maryland.

"In the same year was erected at the corner of Lombard and Greene Streets the famous college building housing the Chemical and Anatomical Halls, which has seen active service for more than a century and today is the oldest structure in America devoted to medical teaching.

"A library was begun in 1815 with a nucleus of five hundred volumes and has the distinction of being the first medical college library founded in this country.

"The early sessions of the Medical School were four months long, all instruction being confined to the didactic lecture. There was some limited dissection, which at first was optional, and there was practically no laboratory or clinical teaching until the faculty built and paid for the Baltimore Infirmary (now the University Hospital), where regular bi-weekly clinical demonstrations in medicine and surgery were instituted in 1823.

"The records tell us that while dissection in anatomy was early attempted after the establishment of the school, there was much opposition on religious and moral grounds, not only from the public, but also from the faculty. The trustees were considered bold and daring men when in 1848 they formally adopted a resolution making dissection of the human body compulsory, for this was the first time in the history of medical education in America that dissecting became a required part of the curriculum. Instruction in practical pharmacology was begun in 1844. Maryland looks back with pride to having been the first medical school to install independent chairs for the teaching of diseases of women and children, 1867, and of eye and ear diseases, 1873.

"The period of the Civil War was a very difficult one for the University, as the students were drawn largely from the South and Maryland's sympathy was primarily with the Confederacy. At the conclusion of the war, many prominent physicians came to Baltimore and several other schools appeared during that era in medical education when private instruction by a group of practitioners could satisfy the none too rigid legal requirements for a Doctor's degree. The competition between schools was keen if not ruthless, and it became a matter of the survival of the fittest. Washington University was revived in 1867 and in 1878 was incorporated by the Legislature with the College of Physicians and Surgeons, (1872). Few of the private institutions had sufficient funds to conduct Class A medical schools and have since surrendered their charters. The Johns Hopkins University Medical School was opened in 1893 and has done much to make Baltimore famous as a medical center on the Atlantic seaboard. The Baltimore Medical College united with the University of Maryland in 1913, and two years later a merger was effected between this group and the College of Physicians and Surgeons, leaving in Baltimore only two medical schools: Johns Hopkins and the University of Maryland School of Medicine, College of Physicians and Surgeons."

Through these mergers, three great hospitals, University, Maryland General (discontinued in 1920) and Mercy, came under the control of the one medical school. In 1921 a sum of $300,000 was raised for a Nurses' Home.

Such was the continued growth and expansion of the school that all these facilities became inadequate. In 1931 the medical school expanded its housing space to include the laboratories formerly occupied by the Schools of Dentistry and Pharmacy, the renovated building becoming the home of the Pathology, Bacteriology and Chemistry Departments. In 1932 when the new Law School was completed, the Law Building was also taken over.

The present University Hospital is the oldest institution for the care of the sick in the state of Maryland. It was opened in September, 1832, under the name of the Baltimore Infirmary and at that time consisted of but four wards, one of which was reserved for eye patients. At present it has a capacity of 250 beds.

The outstanding event in the history of the University of Maryland Medical School was the completion of arrangements this fall for the erection of the new $2,000,000, twelve-story University Hospital. Definite word has been given that the hospital will be completed by the summer of 1934. The plan of this ultra-modern building as detailed in the 1933 chapter letter, is sufficient evidence of "the advantages this new hospital will furnish to the people of Baltimore and to the students of the University of Maryland Medical School."

A custom well worthy of emulation was introduced at Maryland in 1930 when the Medical Council of the faculty instituted systematic health care for medical students, a group insurance plan embracing physical examination, medical attention and hospitalization.

An innovation in a different field is also of special interest. We quote Historian Shaw (1931):

"Doctor John R. Oliver, Professor of the History of Medicine, completed last spring his four years' cycle of lectures, the last series being devoted to the outstanding medical personalities of the Nineteenth Century.

"In May, at the age of eighty, Doctor William H. Welch of Johns Hopkins (Beta Beta '75), favored the University of Maryland with a remarkably interesting account of the story of anesthesia. This year Doctor Oliver's series will begin over again with lectures on early medicine in Egypt, Assyria, Greece and Rome."

THE CHAPTER

The preliminary efforts to bring a chapter of Nu Sigma Nu to the University of Maryland Medical School were so well described by one of the charter members, W. Lee Hart, now Major, M. C., Surgeon-General's office, Washington, D. C., in a letter written in 1925, that we quote him as follows:

"During my first session in the University of Maryland Medical Department I was approached to join one of the fraternities there. After thinking the situation over, I concluded that the existing fraternities lacked the high ideals which I desired in the fraternity of my choice. During the summer of 1903, looking about in the medical fraternity line, I found that for which I was seeking in Nu Sigma Nu. Twenty-two years have served to deepen the admiration which I formed on first reading about our fraternity.

"In the autumn of 1903, I broached the subject to a classmate, Charles W. Roberts, who was immediately enthusiastic. With five other classmates we formed Pi Delta Upsilon, whose sole purpose it was to obtain a charter of Nu Sigma Nu. We communicated with the fraternity's beloved Counselor, then Secretary, Dr. Will Walter, but his reply was most disheartening. He offered no hopes for a charter at the time, stating his regrets that the University of Maryland was not on the then accredited list of schools to which the fraternity could be extended between conventions.* In view of the fact that I had instigated the whole procedure and that every member of Pi Delta Upsilon had been bid by other fraternities in the University, I offered to release any or all men who wished to withdraw, but stating that for myself it was Nu Sigma Nu or nothing. There was a unanimous response that it was Nu Sigma Nu or nothing for them also and that we would continue the struggle taking in new men from year to year, pledging them to persevere until our desire was accomplished. Every member of Pi Delta Upsilon had his heart in the cause and gave of his time unstintingly. We asked and obtained the cooperation of the Faculty who wrote many letters to aid our cause. It might be added here that, in response to a letter from one of the prominent members of the Faculty, a charter was offered to us in one of the best of the other medical fraternities.

"At the convention in the summer of 1904 our petition was formally presented as directed by Galen Walter and the charter was granted. The history of Beta Alpha since its installation is a matter of record and for others to write. In the selection of new members during the two sessions that I remained in school after the installation, we were actuated solely by the standard of getting men of purpose, men of high ideals, men who had the proper concept of medicine and its obligations. The subsequent history of Beta Alpha shows that there has been no deviation from these standards."

*At that time a list of accredited schools to which extension could be made was voted at conventions. Ed.

Dr. John C. Hemmeter, Professor of Physiology, was especially active in securing the cooperation of the faculty.

The installation took place on October 10, 1904, at the Belvedere Hotel, Baltimore, with Will Walter, the Grand Secretary officiating, assisted by H. E. Robertson of Lambda Chapter.

The undergraduate charter members were Arnold D. Tuttle, W. Lee Hart, Charles W. Roberts, William B. Borden, E. W. White, R. L. Carlton, Thomas M. Cheney, W. W. Olive. The five faculty men who signed the charter were Samuel C. Chew, John C. Hemmeter, David M. R. Culbreth, John M. Hundley, Harry Adler.

All the original signers have acquitted themselves with distinction, and all but four have survived the years.

Chew died in 1915, Olive in 1922, Dr. Hundley in 1928 and Dr. Hemmeter in 1931.

Culbreth and Adler are still in Baltimore, though retired from active teaching.

Tuttle and Hart in Washington, D. C., and Borden in Baltimore, have each the rank of Major, M. C., U. S. A. Cheney is Captain, M. C., U. S. A., stationed at Fort Slocum, New York. White is in Poolesville, Maryland; Roberts in Atlanta, Georgia; Carlton in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

DOCTOR HEMMETER

In 1931, the friends and admirers of Dr. John C. Hemmeter were sponsoring a fund to endow a chair of Physiology in his honor. He had been graduated from Maryland in 1884, was made Professor of Physiology in his Alma Mater in 1903, serving until 1922 when he became Professor Emeritus. Shortly before Dr. Hemmeter's death in 1931 historian Shaw wrote of him: "He has been a prolific contributor to medical literature and his activities have made him a distinguished scientist, clinician, teacher, lecturer, linguist, musician and author. He was the first to demonstrate an ulcer of the stomach by the X-ray, his diagnosis being confirmed by an operation, and he was also the first to intubate the duodenum. Beta Alpha Chapter is proud to claim such a gifted scholar and remarkable investigator among her charter members. He is indeed one of the master minds of modern medicine and is richly deserving of the honor which his University proposes to bestow upon him."

Nu Sigma Nu recognized Dr. Hemmeter by election to the Honorary Council of 1912-14.

Nu Sigma Nu soon became firmly established; the Bulletin of 1912 sets forth that "all of our members take a prominent part in the life at the University; we claim the presidents of the senior, sophomore and freshmen classes, the vice-president of the freshmen class, the historian and sergeant-at-arms of the sophomore class, besides five members on the several honor committees. Six of our seniors are clinical assistants in the University of Maryland Hospital."

The efforts of this early group to secure a home were finally successful in October, 1907, when a lease was procured on a large, three-story dwelling on Hollins Street opposite the University Hospital. During the summer of 1907 a committee appointed to make improvements in the house waged a vigorous campaign among alumni and faculty members, with the result that the house was furnished and ready for occupancy in the fall. Beta Alpha remained here until 1917 when the University purchased the property for expanding the hospital. A well equipped and well located new home was then found at 847 Hollins Street, where ten men were accommodated in the house and several who roomed outside ate at the dining table. This helped to promote good fellowship, intimacy and benevolence among the brothers.

The seventeenth convention of Nu Sigma Nu held in Baltimore on November 30-31, 1912, was a memorable occasion. The two Baltimore chapters acted as joint hosts, Beta Alpha conducting a model initiation at the Belvedere Hotel and Beta Beta presenting a clinic conducted by faculty members of Johns Hopkins Hospital.

In this year a committee from both chapters appointed for the purpose of bringing about closer association arranged for two joint annual literary meetings. At these meetings faculty members acted as hosts and gave talks on subjects of special interest, a plan that has proven successful.

The demand for rooms grew apace and by 1920 Beta Alpha outlined plans for a campaign for a house fund. Because the University was then conducting a campaign to raise $300,000 for school improvements, the fraternity house campaign was held in abeyance awaiting a more propitious time. Pending developments a temporary abode at 116 East Preston Street, more commodious and with facilities for the increased membership, was taken in 1924. Here the members were comfortably housed and the financial status of the chapter secure.

At the first fall chapter meeting immediately following the official opening of the house it was Beta Alpha's custom, so the 1927 historian relates, to discuss the more pertinent fraternity problems and outline plans for the coming year respecting housing, selection of new men and alumni cooperation. To help foster and disseminate fraternal loyalty and cooperation, Beta Alpha centered attention upon her first annual social function, a smoker, to which many faculty and alumni were invited and also such freshmen as were considered potential fraternity material.

By 1928, the rundown condition and inadequate space of the Preston Street house as well as its distance from the school had become a hindrance to fellowship, cooperation and comfort. Only six men were living in the house. A change having become imperative, a three and one-half year lease was taken on a house at 919 St. Paul Street. In the words of the then historian, "The result was rather remarkable. The very process of moving acted as a tonic. New furnishings were secured. Everyone was interested. The morale and spirit of the chapter took on a new lease of life. At present, there are eighteen men living in the house."

Unable to renew the lease in the spring of 1931, the chapter turned again toward the goal of a self-owned house. Through the untiring and valiant efforts of Brother Proctor, alumni interest was aroused and a sum subscribed, sufficient to make an initial payment on a house. Unfortunately the house selected found another purchaser before Beta Alpha could close the deal; with no other desirable location available for purchase, a house at 923 North Charles Street was leased. With more men living in the chapter house than ever before, the only regret was that all could not be accommodated who wanted to come in.

In the meantime the alumni are organizing a committee to establish a sinking fund for a fraternity home.

The 1933 historian reports the chapter still occupying 923 North Charles Street, while plans for buying a house are postponed by the economic depression.

Linked with the history of chapter life and housing, are social functions. Those recurring most regularly with Beta Alpha are smokers for prospects, alumni and faculty, and numerous informal dances at the chapter house. Annual formal dances are held at down-town hotels. Joint functions with Beta Beta have frequently enlivened the social calendar.

From year to year Beta Alpha men maintained prominence in school affairs. The formation of the Student Council of the University of Maryland Medical School, its constitution, its promulgation, its recognition by the faculty and finally its adoption by the student body, were due almost wholly to the untiring efforts of H. M. Bubert, Beta Alpha '20. Membership in this council is limited to twelve; of the first group six were Nu Sigma Nu.

In the Randolph Winslow Surgical Society, a senior honorary society, membership in which demands high standards of scholarship and moral character, Beta Alpha has always been prominent. In one year (1920) her entire senior delegation was elected to membership.

The general subjects of membership and scholarship and Beta Alpha's method of attaining and maintaining her present enviable position among Maryland's medical fraternities, were ably discussed by Historian George J. Snoops, Jr., in 1929. Brother Snoops wrote:

"No other business of the chapter can compare with the problem of membership in its fundamental importance. If it is solved satisfactorily, other factors such as scholarship and chapter activities offer little or no difficulty. At the present time, we have no definite membership committee. The entire chapter realizes that rushing is in part everyone's job and there is no shifting of responsibility upon a few men. A disadvantage of this arrangement is that it is rather slow and cumbersome; it sometimes happens that the other fraternities get a good man away from us by a more rapid and energetic approach. The great advantage of our method is that it is thorough.

"We are fortunate in that we (Beta Alpha) have no scholarship problem with which to deal. In the last three years, only one man has been forced to leave the university due to failure in studies. This is rather remarkable in a school that drops approximately 50% of those who matriculate; about 40% of the freshman class is failed, and about 10% of the sophomore class. The grades obtained in various courses are not given out by the faculty, so that we are unable to state definitely just how we compare scholastically with other fraternities or with non-fraternity men. However, we believe it is a very conservative statement to say that we rate above the average. Our good scholarship record is no doubt due to a conservative rushing attitude and to the fact that we initiate only those pledges who have successfully passed all their courses for the first semester. (A chapter ruling made in 1924). We note a suggestion in the last Bulletin by Xi Chapter that initiation should be delayed until the successful passing of the year's work. We have found by experience that the successful passing of all courses for the first semester is sufficient and that prolonging the time to a year is unnecessary. As regards such rules, much depends upon the character of the school, and they must be made to fit local conditions. Another important factor in good scholarship is competitive spirit. We note that Pi Mu Chapter suggests the awarding of a loving cup each year to the student with the highest average. Such a contest here would be impossible since we are uninformed as to grades. However, we view the propagation of such competition with suspicion. There is a tendency for it to collide with true fraternal fellowship and to create more or less of a selfish attitude. We also regard as useless the appointment of scholarship committees and the making of rules as to study hours. A genuine interest in the study of medicine and a willingness to cooperate with one's brothers in mastering it constitute the basic factors in the promotion of 'fraternity scholarship'."

No history of Beta Alpha is complete without a tribute to Dr. Hiram Woods, Maryland '82, Beta Alpha '06, Professor Emeritus of Ophthalmology and Otology, who died from pneumonia on January 16, 1931, at the age of 73. His brilliant work for the prevention of blindness won him a name and fame which added much to the glory of the University of Maryland. A sketch of his life was included in Historian Insley's Bulletin letter in 1933.

BETA BETA FRATRES IN FACULTATE

BETA BETA

From the quarter centennial volume, "Nu Sigma Nu in 1907," we have the story of Beta Beta's beginning and from Alumnus Miley Wesson, '10, many details of a little later period. These and the excellent line of Bulletins have made possible a fairly complete summary of school and chapter activities.

My memory goes back to the several years before 1905, when all efforts to establish a chapter at Hopkins went unrewarded. We were always being told that the Pithotomy Club blocked our way. We knew that we had something to offer and that there was no valid reason for opposition. With the aid of Lambda (Penn) men the problem was finally solved, though I never knew just what they did to start the movement. No time was lost after we found that we had the proper group. It is gratifying now to follow the chapter's progress through nearly a third of a century.

We are grateful to Dr. P. W. Clough, '06, for the final reading of the manuscript of both chapter and school.

THE SCHOOL

The School of Medicine of Johns Hopkins University was opened in October, 1893, as an integral and coordinate part of the University.

From the first, all instructors in the underlying scientific branches devoted their entire time to their University duties. The establishment of the William H. Welch Fund in 1914 made it possible to place instructors in medicine, surgery, pediatrics and obstetrics upon a similar basis. Upon the endowment of the Henry Phipps Psychiatric Clinic the Department of Psychiatry obtained an identical arrangement and the Wilmer Ophthalmological Institute is similarly provided for. A number of physicians otherwise engaged in outside practice serve as part-time teachers in the various clinical departments.

The Medical School early began to expand its housing facilities. In 1912 the Harriet Lane Home for Invalid Children was opened and the Phipps Institute of Psychiatry was being completed. At the same time plans were under way for a

JOHNS HOPKINS MEDICAL BUILDINGS

Urology Building and several additions to the hospital were contemplated.

In 1916 the Rockefeller Board of General Education chose the Johns Hopkins University for establishing a School of Hygiene and Public Health. No restriction was placed upon the funds which might be appropriated for the new school which was to be under the direction of Dr. William H. Welch and closely allied to the Medical School. The aim was to make it the foremost of its kind in the country and to promote the scientific study of hygiene in its various aspects and in its broadest sense. The Rockefeller Foundation has provided this school with a large and well-equipped building, probably unexcelled in this country, which was completed and occupied in 1925.

The Hunterian Laboratory was completed in 1917 to house experimental laboratories, the Art Department, the Embryological Department of the Carnegie Institute of Washington and the Medical School Library. At this time too a bequest from the late James Buchanan Brady provided for enlargement of the Brady Urological Clinic.

The war years brought all building to a standstill, but immediately following much needed changes were begun, with others in anticipation. The new building program was inaugurated with the erection of a Woman's Clinic, greatly enlarging the obstetrical department completed in 1923, and a new pathological building also in 1923.

Through the combined efforts of the Wilmer Foundation and the Board of Trustees of the University, three million dollars were raised for the endowment of the first American university clinic of ophthalmology, the Wilmer Institute. Clinical work began in 1925 with Dr. Wilmer in charge, but the formal opening was delayed until completion of the new building in 1929.

Satisfactory clinical facilities for seventy-five students in each year are afforded by the Johns Hopkins Hospital and Dispensary, which occupies a site of fourteen acres immediately adjoining the grounds of the School of Medicine.

The hospital, though governed and endowed independently, is intimately related to the school. Its director and the heads of its departments are members of the Medical Faculty; interlocking arrangements have resulted in the greatest possible utilization of the hospital for the instruction of students pursuing clinical work.

The hospital is unusually well equipped, the Osler Medical Clinic and the Halsted Surgical Clinic, just completed, having brought the total bed capacity to 912.

In addition to the large administration building, the Osler Clinic and the Halsted Clinic buildings, one medical and one surgical, and the Marburg ward for private patients, there are five buildings upon the hospital grounds: the Woman's Clinic, the Harriet Lane Home for Invalid Children, the Henry Phipps Psychiatric Clinic, the James Buchanan Brady Urological Institute and the William Holland Wilmer Ophthalmological Institute; all self-contained units for the care of patients, the instruction of students, and the advancement of medical knowledge. They afford ideal facilities in the several branches.

The new Out-Patient Department, constructed and endowed by the Carnegie Corporation in 1923, was opened in 1927. It houses various clinical laboratories, including the Kenneth Dows Tuberculosis Research Laboratory.

Through the courtesy of the Supervisors of City Charities of Baltimore, the Johns Hopkins University utilizes for clinical instruction the facilities of the City Hospitals at Bay View.

A new and radical departure was made in 1926 in the policy of selecting students. Quoting the then historian: "Instead of admitting seventy-five applicants as has been done in the past, only those are to be accepted 'whose credentials are of the highest order and who give definite promise of proving a credit to the Medical School.' It is also required that all applicants must confer with regional representatives of the Committee on Admission, and much emphasis is placed upon this personal contact with the applicant. It is hoped by this new regime to eliminate the very undesirable failures which have occurred in the past and to endeavor to admit only those students who can profitably undertake the work."

After one year's trial we find (1927): "The new method of selecting students which was begun last year has been continued. A large number applied and very nearly a full quota was enrolled. In the first class so chosen there was but one failure in the sixty students taken."

The advisory board of the Medical Faculty adopted a new policy in 1928 in arranging the four-year curriculum on a skeletal basis so that one-half of the student's time is used for required courses and the other half is free for pursuing courses of his own choosing. Hereafter group examinations in the pre-clinical courses are held not earlier than the end of the second year and in the clinical subjects not earlier than the end of the fourth year. Numerical marks are discontinued and the student recorded simply as "passed" or "failed" in each course. With so much time entirely free from required work the student has the opportunity to concentrate in any department or on original investigation.

The 1928 letter relates further: "The greatest liberty will be allowed for migration of students for various periods of time to other medical institutions. These extreme revisions of the school's plan of instruction will remain an educational experiment until there has been time to demonstrate their success or failure."

The curriculum now affords great opportunity for students pursuing so-called "departmental programs." A student determining upon a career in any branch of medicine may arrange a program of study for the four-year course so planned that a large portion of his time is devoted to preparation for a career in a particular subject.

DEAN WELCH*

The Fiftieth Anniversary of the founding of Johns Hopkins University in 1926 was of interest to the Medical School which participated in the proceedings through addresses given by Doctors Welch, Barker and other members of Beta Beta.

The William H. Welch Medical Library affording accommodation for approximately 500,000 books and large numbers of medical publications came in 1928 to satisfy a long felt need for centralizing the libraries of the Medical School and School of Hygiene and Public Health.

A noteworthy occasion was the celebration honoring a great and venerable man and described by Historian Campbell in 1931 as follows:

"April 8, 1930, marked one of the great events in the history of this institution for it was on that date that the whole world, particularly the United States, and more particularly Baltimore, celebrated the eightieth birthday of Dr. William H. Welch. President Herbert Hoover gave a birthday party for Dr. Welch at which the leaders of the medical profession and the judicial departments of the United States were assembled to pay a tribute to this distinguished physician."

A short talking film has recently been prepared by Dr. Welch in which he has briefly sketched the development of the Hopkins medical center. The film was produced under the supervision of the Institute of the History of Medicine.

THE CHAPTER

The first story of Beta Beta was published in the quarter-centennial volume "Nu Sigma Nu in 1907" written by the then historian, W. E. Hart of the class of 1909, now living in Pittsburgh. We quote: "In the spring of 1905, a small band of men, feeling the need of closer association and regulated cooperation in pursuit of the goal toward which all were striving, petitioned for a chapter of Nu Sigma Nu. The charter granted, the chapter was duly installed March 18, 1905, at the Belvedere Hotel. Alumnus H. G. Schleiter, Lambda, '05, (now at Pittsburgh) presided at the installation, ably assisted by R. W. Viehe, Lambda, '07, (now at Evansville, Indiana). G. Canby Robinson of Tau also assisted."

Of the eighteen charter members, two, Arthur Morse and Carl Meloy, have joined Omega. The others are widely scattered, several having affiliated with other chapters of Nu Sigma Nu. C. G. Souder is an officer in the Marine Corps, U.S.A.; A. H. Griswold is in Hartford, Conn.; Merle Adkins in Durham, No. Car., Edward Burbeck in Marblehead, Mass. Willis Gatch is Dean of the University of Indiana Medical School in Indianapolis, Ralph Hellenbrand in Oldtown, Me.; John Winter in Duluth, George Marsden in New Bedford, Mass., Wade Brown in New York City, Francis Barnes in St. Louis, Clarence Shore in Raleigh, No. Car. Two, John Ortschaft and T. Homer Coffin, are in Portland, Ore. Three are in Los Angeles, Robert Cunningham, Frank Ainley and Egerton Crispin, who organized the charter group.

"The installation exercises were followed by a sumptuous banquet after which there were several interesting and inspiring addresses.

"We are especially enthusiastic over the new ritual which had its first presentation here. We feel that an initiation under these ceremonies takes on a dignity and significance hitherto unknown; more gratifying because it was favorably commented upon by heads wiser than our own. I refer to faculty men, who have been extremely impressed with its form and its historical allusions.

"Dr. Welch suggested that a study of the historical characters portrayed in the ritual would be full of profit for every medical student."

From a letter written by Dr. Miley Wesson, B.B., '10, we learn something of the early days: "The early chapter was a very positive element for good in the Medical School and influenced very materially the future of many of the members.

"Dr. Osler, about whose personality the Medical School revolved, had been very much opposed to fraternities.

"In 1905 a group of congenial men who lived at Mrs. Dotter's boarding house on Jackson Place in Baltimore organized a society. All were real students; most of them were interested in research work; none were dissipated; none were social wasters. At that time, there was a local society at Johns Hopkins called the Pithotomy Club whose membership was limited to about a dozen of the senior class. The name was a bastard one meaning 'I tap the keg.' Consequently, their ceremonials were commonly referred to as 'beer busts.' The membership of this organization consisted of the socially prominent men in the senior class of the Medical School.

"A group of boys from Mrs. Dotter's boarding house and not in Pithotomy, led by Bill Duke of Kansas City who had been a member of a Yale Senior Society, and by Willis Gatch from a farm near Indianapolis, had procured the charter through Dr. Will Walter.

"In my first year, with other classmates, I was asked to attend a meeting at the Belvedere Hotel to meet a group made up of students and faculty men. Several medical papers were read and a Dutch supper was served. Doctors Finney, Cushing, Welch and others appeared to be the life of the party. I discovered that only three first year men were present, Angus Morrison of Minneapolis, L. W. Gorham of Albany and myself. There was no indication of its being a fraternity meeting and I had the best time I ever had at a party before or since. Several days later, I was asked to join the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity and promptly refused. I was then told that the reception I had enjoyed so much was a rushing party and that the gathering we had attended was one of their regulation meetings. Willis Gatch, now Professor of Surgery at the University of Indiana, talked to me several times about my refusal, saying that the Nu Sigma Nu men were workers aiming to add to their knowledge of medicine by associating with men of similar aims.

"Morrison, Gorham and I were initiated together. We selected the rest of our class, but the list was not completed until the fourth year. The next year I became Assistant in Anatomy with access to the scholastic records of the class. By fraternity rule no man could be elected unless suggested and approved by all chapter members of his class. Before any name was approved we investigated his record in the Department of Anatomy.

"In 1906 agitation was begun for a house. Bill Duke was the moving spirit and the house was bought by Mrs. Dotter, our kindhearted caretaker. She bought it on a shoestring, the fraternity agreeing to pay her sufficient for rent and board to meet her monthly payments. Though the meals were often poor no one considered going next door where the food was better for two-thirds the price, because 'we were paying for our house.' The fourth year men lived there; others took only their meals. It was after my day that the fraternity bought the house from Mrs. Dotter.

"Meetings were held every two weeks. At the beginning of the year, a list of current medical journals was posted on the bulletin board with a request that each man be responsible for the reading of two journals throughout the year. At the meetings each was expected to call attention to articles of particular interest in his journals and to read short summaries therefrom. The next part of the program was a paper, generally a preliminary report of some member's original investigation. If none of the students had anything to report, a faculty member was invited to give a sketch of his work. Once a year new members were considered. If there was to be a Dutch lunch with beer at a meeting a hall was rented, one of the fixed rules being that no liquor could ever be brought into the house. Our only competitor, the Pithotomy Club, located three doors from us, had monthly beer parties on their premises.

"We initiated our faculty members in our house; and one incident may be worth mentioning: When Dr. Halsted was initiated he was not put through the entire ritual. He never took any interest in the fraternity and eventually we learned that he did not feel that he had been made a real member. It is unnecessary to state that thereafter faculty members got everything that was coming to them. About 1909 or 1910 Dr. Osler returned for a visit to hold his clinic the day that we had our annual picture taken. His host, Dr. Barker, slipped away from him to join our group and just as the photographer had everything set Dr. Osler discovered us. He wanted to know why a picture was being taken without him. When it was explained that this was a fraternity group he stated that if Barker and Ned Armstrong were members he believed he ought to be a member also. He was thereupon elected, had his picture taken with us and in due time initiated. He went back to England before receiving his fraternity pin.* He wore Dr. Tom Bogg's pin and it was eight months before Boggs got it back.

"About the same time von Pirquet was invited to become a member and accepted, but left for Germany before he was initiated. To this day he has never understood why he was not a full-fledged member."

The above mentioned "Dotter" house is at 518 North Broadway, the present home of the chapter and their home from the beginning. No other chapter of Nu Sigma Nu has a record of having occupied the same house continuously. The original building was but half of that pictured herein, the second half having been added about 1914. The 1911 bulletin recited that: "Our chapter house is situated just across the street from and facing the Johns Hopkins Hospital. Mrs. A. J. Dotter lets the front hall, drawing room and second and third floors to the chapter. It is a large, commodious, well-arranged building, each of the upper floors containing four rooms and baths. The men choose their rooms by lot. Mrs. Dotter conducts a good dining table for the society and cares for all the details in the management of the house and board."

In 1912-13 plans were laid for purchase of the house from Mrs. Dotter, resulting favorably later when title was taken. Details of the plan are abstracted from the 1913 Bulletin: "When our matron made known her intention of giving up her part of the agreement within a year and offered the Chapter an option on the house, we immediately set to work to raise a house fund. To that end a Committee was appointed, consisting of Dr. P. W. Clough, who was elected permanent treasurer, Dr. Lewellys F. Barker and Dr. Thomas S. Cullen, as advisory members, H. H. Hagan and L. F. Kieffer, Chairman. Letters were sent to our alumni and faculty members and the responses have been very generous. The committee reports that about one-third of those to whom they appealed have responded favorably already. Each man was asked to subscribe $50, payable at once or at the rate of $10 per year."

The 1916 Bulletin reports twenty-one men in residence and four men at table. The single entrance was built in 1916 at which time also the front rooms of both sides were connected making one large room across both buildings. The house was again transformed in 1923.

The chapter made plans for a library as early as 1907, the idea being "to procure by annual assessment as part of percapita tax such volumes and sets as are standard and which the individual student is not likely to possess." Reprints of papers by alumni were solicited in 1919-20 resulting in bound reports of papers by several of the faculty and complete files of the Johns Hopkins Hospital Bulletins.

In 1924 a "library store" was started at the chapter house, in charge of the then librarian, where tobacco, candy and minor necessities were sold at current prices, the profits—a surprising amount—accruing to the library fund; at that time over three hundred volumes had accumulated, including standard reference books and bound periodicals covering several years.

Meetings have been held with great regularity throughout the life of the chapter, faculty men often giving talks; often too, non-affiliated faculty men are invited. The first meetings were held in a hall over the corner southeast of Wolf and Monument Streets, the present site of the Institute of Hygiene. Since occupancy of the house, regular meetings have of course been held there.

Initiations are always in the hands of third year men and for several weeks preceding the ceremony rehearsals are held so that everything may go smoothly.

Early the chapter cultivated and proved high attainment in scholarship. "The graduating delegation in 1916 made a final showing never before equaled. All five appointments as Medical House Officers were captured, together with two appointments in pediatrics". In 1918 the highest standing in the graduating class fell to Beta Beta. From the historian of 1928: "We believe that we are maintaining a good intellectual standard. It is somewhat difficult to tell just how high a degree of scholarship one is upholding here at Hopkins where no actual rank is given out; which system is, I believe, a good one for we have elected to study medicine, not for the opportunity of seeing what marks we can procure but to do our utmost in fitting ourselves for the practice of the finest of professions." The only criterion of standing being appointments, and those not very often mentioned in the Bulletins, we can only say that the men of Beta Beta have more than held their own through the years. They do note with pride that every Beta Beta who applied for Hopkins Hospital in 1923 was accepted and that in 1929 "of the ten resident physicians in Hopkins Hospital six are alumni of Beta Beta." The record abounds in recitals of accomplishments of Beta Beta alumni, particularly in teaching capacities, and of affiliation with other chapters. There are many men who have engaged in teaching in schools where there are chapters of Nu Sigma Nu. There are also numerous active affiliates from sister chapters, men who wish to finish at Hopkins. Several of the faculty are affiliated from other chapters.

Historian R. R. Squier, '25, won the Tiffany Trophy for the best chapter history of the year.

The social life of the chapter has been fostered by: first, combining informal smokers and the like with talks by invitation; second, by varied forms of parties, in 1911 a lawn party at the country home of active member Chambers ending in "a parody on a medical society meeting"; a boat ride in 1916 the entertainment being "The Floundering of the Jon Hop Kin in China" burlesquing many of the faculty; entertainment of the other medical fraternities of the school at dances and several small dances at the house during each term. In addition there have been occasional joint banquets with Beta Alpha of Maryland.

In 1912 the two chapters joined in entertaining the seventeenth Convention, an occasion long to be remembered by those fortunate enough to attend.

"Ancient and deserving rituals of the Beta Beta Chapter, dear to the gullet of every member, are the semiannual and, 'when crops is good,' triannual chapter banquets."

The chapter's war history began in 1917 with the enlistment of nine men of the third year with the Johns Hopkins Base Hospital Unit for service in France. These men were credited with clinical work and given their degrees in June, 1918. Faculty Members Welch and Janeway served on the Medical Advisory Board. Many others of the faculty engaged early in service, notably Drs. Hugh Young, J. M. T. Finney, Winford Smith and W. S. Thayer, the last named on a special Red Cross commission to Russia. Other commissions, too numerous to mention, followed. Alumnus A. W. Williams, 1912, died in France in 1918. As a memorial to him, his widow gave his library to the chapter.

"Never in the history of the chapter have we been confronted by such alarming difficulties as those which presented themselves early in October, 1918. On the one hand was our impending transfer from the Medical Reserve to the S. A. T. C. and the possible abolishment of all fraternities during the period of the war; on the other was the influenza epidemic which threatened completely to disorganize the teaching staff of the hospital and medical school. The outbreak at Camp Meade was so sudden and uncontrollable that almost immediately a call for help was sent in by Major Howland, our Professor of Pediatrics, who was in charge of one division of the Base Hospital. In response to this appeal about twenty of the fourth year and a few third year students, among them several members of the chapter, volunteered for duty as assistants at the camp.

"In the meantime all classes at the medical school had been indefinitely suspended and the hospital given up to the treatment of influenza victims. Here again the chapter did noble work. With scarcely an exception, the members who were not themselves ill offered their assistance in various capacities, eager for practical service in their chosen calling. Many of the more advanced students had entire charge of wards while the younger ones acted gladly and efficiently as orderlies or nurses replacing the stricken members of the hospital staff.

"No sooner was the plague under a reasonable degree of control in the city than calls for help began to come in from the surrounding country. These in turn were answered by many of our number who were enabled to render service in several situations where help was sorely needed and to see something of life from the country practitioner's standpoint, an opportunity not offered to every medical student.

"Indeed—and it is with all due modesty that we say it—the chapter is justly proud of the way in which its members surmounted the first great difficulty of the year.

"Late in October we again resumed our regular occupation and were just getting settled with the prospect of a good rushing season when the call to 'active service' came and we were all transferred to the S. A. T. C. The story of this fiasco is no doubt familiar to every chapter and our experience was probably not essentially different from that of any other school. The chapter house taken over by the government and converted into barracks housing three times its ordinary number of men, many of them outsiders; the strict military discipline, valuable in itself but completely out of harmony with the medical school regime; the impossible hours and worse food and the entire lack of sympathy on the part of the military authorities, all combined to make our existence anything but pleasant for a short period."

Beta Beta has had frequent and important representations on the Councils of the fraternity both directly as representatives of Hopkins and representing other chapters through affiliations. P. W. Clough, '07, served on the Executive Council a part of the war period 1916-17. He was succeeded by H. H. Hagan, '13, who finished out the interconvention period 1917-19 and has remained on the same Council in various capacities ever since, being President 1926-1930. Beverly Douglass, '18, has served since 1928. William H. Welch was made President of the Honorary Council 1908-10. Through affiliation with Beta Nu at Oregon, T. Homer Coffen was elected to the Honorary Council, 1926-28, and through affiliation with Pi at Washington in St. Louis Drew Luten served on the Executive Council continuously from 1919 through 1932, having been President in 1922-24. It is a pleasure to acknowledge the value of the advice and cooperation of all of these fellows.

Brother William H. Welch, the Nestor of Beta Beta and beloved of everyone, is one of the few men upon whom Nu Sigma Nu has bestowed her Degree of Merit.

Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity

Chapter Charter

To all Men, Be it Known

That the Grand Council of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, reposing special confidence in the men whose names are inscribed on the margin hereof and who have each taken the Oath of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, does hereby grant unto them and their successors the power to maintain, according to the Constitution of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity and subject to its rules of procedure, a chapter of the Fraternity to be located at the University of Buffalo in the City of Buffalo and to be known as the Γ.Γ.Γ. (Beta Gamma) Chapter of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity.

In Witness Whereof, the Grand Council of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity has caused this Charter to be signed and the official seal of the Fraternity attached hereto this eighth day of December nineteen hundred and five, at New Haven, and the two hundred eighty first day, June, Fraternity Year, twenty three.

BETA GAMMA (I C I)

Faculty Alumnus and Charter Fellow William F. Jacobs (1908) has kindly given us the final reading of the school and chapter history of Beta Gamma. He has been in close touch from the beginning and the data we have incorporated from his story of the chapter is therefore authoritative.

We have quoted freely from the letter of Frederick Terrasse, 1908 chapter historian, which was published in the quarter centennial volume "Nu Sigma Nu in 1907."

These two stories combined with data scattered through bulletins make the record fairly complete and up to date.

W-W

THE SCHOOL

DOCTOR PARK

The University of Buffalo School of Medicine was organized in 1846 as a co-educational institution. It absorbed the Medical Department of Niagara University in 1898. No further information on the early history of the school has been found by the present writer.

In the years that have followed Beta Gamma's installation (1905), many changes have come. In 1912 materia medica, pathology and bacteriology were provided with new laboratories, an amphitheatre for physiological demonstration was instituted and a new Chemistry Building completed. The Gratwick Cancer Laboratory was opened in 1913. In 1917 the University was given a financial boost with several conditional donations totaling $750,000.

In 1921 a new building to house teaching and research laboratories was opened. The long anticipated university drive for funds was so generously received that the goal of $5,000,000 was passed, a total of nearly $6,000,000 being subscribed. The success of this drive provided for additions to the faculty and improvements in equipment.

Registration also reached a high point and it became necessary to limit the number and accept only those presenting the best credentials.

The great Buffalo City Hospital, which is closely associated with the medical school, was dedicated in 1924, an epochal event. It includes the Earnest Wende Building for Contagious Diseases which is considered one of the most up-to-date buildings of its kind in the world, and which was named for a Beta Gamma brother.

An eighty-bed addition to the Buffalo General Hospital, consisting entirely of out-patient clinics, has just been completed. This was designed primarily to benefit the students by providing additional clinical material.

In 1917 several senior classes were shifted to the junior year; with other readjustments of the schedules placing more didactic work in the junior year, seniors were freer for work in hospital and clinic. In 1929 the curriculum was changed to give the senior class opportunity for three months interne work at the Buffalo City Hospital following their junior year. The senior year was extended in 1930 from thirty-two to forty-eight weeks, providing a better opportunity for practical training by additional hospital experience. While the average size of the student body has remained nearly the same, the clinical facilities have increased greatly. The clinical teaching has developed and the didactic reduced to a minimum.

In 1905 when I. C. I. was installed as Beta Gamma of Nu Sigma Nu the requirement for entrance was a high school diploma. In 1914 one year and in 1918 two years of college were added to the entrance requirement.

When the chapter was started (1905) there were eighty-four on the medical faculty of whom twenty-one still remain (1932). The faculty now numbers 200 of whom seventy are Nu Sigma Nu.

THE CHAPTER

The I. C. I. Society, so named in 1877, had a background dating from 1862. The full story of its forefathers is contained in the last (1907) biographic volume of our fraternity which was published on the twenty-fifth anniversary celebrating the first quarter century of Nu Sigma Nu. This excellent story was written by Frederick Terrasse, the then historian, who still lives in Buffalo and is still in active practice. Since space forbids its inclusion in toto we have adapted and quoted as follows from his interesting and illuminating story, with interpolations of our own:

"The name, character and work of this first dynasty, like all of ancient lineage, is so shrouded in college tradition that the historian can only write that it was born in the early days of the college and that the earmarks of heredity indicate that it possessed a great aptitude for study, a powerful bias for integrity and a high-minded professional amity.

"The first authentic accounts of this race begin at the close of the great rebellion when the 'Theta Phi' was at the zenith of its existence. A chronicle of that time says that the 'Theta Phi' was instituted in 1862 by the reconstruction of some fraternity then nearing its demise; that it was limited and exclusive in membership, unsurpassed in scholarship and zealous in the maintenance of professional honor, the sentiment of the motto 'Thanitos Phenaxoi,' (Death to Quacks) furnishing the inspiration for its existence."

Six years later this society took the name of "Skulls." A rival for honors, "Scalpels", then appeared and warfare between the two grew so vindictive that the faculty ruled to abolish all societies then existing. To meet this opposition the two societies combined to form a quiz club called "U Q C," "You Queer Cusses." The motive prompting it and the excellent results achieved led to reinstatement by the faculty. When therefore in 1877 they became the I C I, it was with a reputation for industry, concord and integrity covering a past history of nearly thirty years. So carefully had the merits of prospective candidates been investigated that during that period no fellow had failed to pass for graduation.

Such was the organization taken over by Nu Sigma Nu as her third adopted child. It was the largest adoption Nu Sigma Nu ever undertook, the charter membership alone being ninety-four, and this, in the language of the day, was some adoption.

We are indebted to Brother William F. Jacobs for the story leading up to the present conditions.

"I. C. I. fraternity one year prior to its institution as a chapter of Nu Sigma Nu was made up of a body of serious-minded students imbued with an unswerving loyalty to the principles of the society as embodied in the emblem I. C. I., (Industria, Concordia, Integretas) and firmly resolved to maintain the traditions of high scholastic attainment. These traditions were awe inspiring to us who entered as freshmen in 1904. Thus : 'That only the highest scholastic attainment qualified one for membership; that failures and delinquencies in examinations simply did not occur.' To maintain such high standards one can readily appreciate that every candidate was subjected to a most careful scrutiny, and, after initiation, to constant surveillance, being prompted when lagging even the least. Diligent quizzes were conducted throughout the school year, instructors and professors frequently serving for both review and quiz in their respective subjects.

"The love and loyalty to the fraternity and to its lofty ideals were so great that the wish to avoid a blot upon its escutcheon prompted resignation rather than failure.

"The eighth day of December, 1903, was a memorable one for our fellows in the University of Buffalo; the day that I. C. I. Chapter of Nu Sigma Nu was instituted. The entire active membership to a man was gathered for this event and most gratifying was the attendance of the Fratres in Facultate and the graduate fellows. It surely was a gala occasion. The ritual was exemplified under a most ostentatious environment, the comment from all sides being one of mutual congratulation. Dr. Roswell Park, Professor of Surgery, made specific mention of the beautiful ritual of Nu Sigma Nu, and, being a profound student of the history of medicine and the author of a volume on the subject, his words of appreciation were considered especially significant."

"The home of the fraternity at this time was an old mansion at 49 Cottage Street, a ball-room upon the third floor being the place of assembly. The next meeting place was the old Hauk residence at High and Oak Streets where the Cancer Hospital is now situated. A contract purchase for this home was entered into with the State Institute for the study of Malignant Disease. The meetings were held here for a number of years, until the Institute needed the site for a hospital. (From 1908 to 1912 the chapter house was located at 97 High Street.)

"The monies that had accumulated on the contract purchase, with interest, furnished the nucleus for the purchase of our permanent home at 246 Elmwood Avenue. The deceased Dr. Lee Masten Francis, a brother from Kappa Chapter of Nu Sigma Nu, is to be credited with the honor and glory of contributing in large part to the consummation of this venture; he was the presiding genius and leader, his was the counsel, the advice and the untiring effort that finally brought success. I. C. I. became the first fraternity to own its own home at the University of Buffalo."

As a helpful measure in continuing to maintain its standard, the chapter instituted weekly meetings in 1913 wherein a two-hour intermission was allowed for quizzes which took up different subjects each week thus constantly reviewing the work.

Following this plan further, we find in 1924 that alumni and faculty gave talks and conducted the weekly quizzes, many practical points being brought up in this way, and the meeting proving helpful and profitable. This system has been followed in later years also with satisfactory results.

A new system was adopted in 1921 which strengthened the scholastic standing of the chapter to a marked degree. Beginning with the class of 1924 no pledge man was initiated until he had proven his ability scholastically by passing two semesters of work in the college of medicine. I. C. I. was then the only fraternity in Buffalo to adopt such a policy, the reasons for which were twofold, to raise the scholastic standard of the chapter and to eliminate floating non-graduate members.

In order to assure efficient and smooth handling of the ritual ceremonies a sophomore initiating team was installed in 1923, a plan which has proven very satisfactory.

During this period, a chapter of Alpha Omega Alpha was established furnishing further incentive to attaining high scholarship.

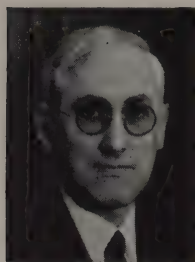

Of the war records of I. C. I. Chapter we do not have any detailed information. However, we do know that with the Buffalo Base Hospital Unit of 143 men, I. C. I. had her quota and that her men played a valiant part.

Chapter events of a social nature have regularly included annual smokers, for alumni in the fall, and for freshmen in the spring. Many house dances, including the annual freshman dance, are parts of the regular social program as is the annual formal dance usually held at some down-town hotel.

Every effort is made to keep in contact with alumni and Beta Gamma maintains a thorough and concise history of each individual alumnus by means of a carefully kept card index system.

The initiation banquet always an outstanding event, took the form of a Father-and-Son event in 1931. A father and son, Dr. Charles Barzilleri, '95, an original I. C. I., and his son, James Barzilleri, '34, were then initiated together.

DEAN KOCH

In 1930 a Beta Gamma brother, Edward W. Koch, was honored with appointment as Dean of the Medical School. Under his guidance important revisions in the curriculum are being undertaken, especially in providing more practical application of medicine and a closer correlation between didactic and practical work in the last two years. The first two years have undergone fewer changes, but the tendency is to amplify the value and relation of laboratory work to practice.

I. C. I. lost one of its old and esteemed members in 1931, in the death of Herman Matzinger, I. C. I., '84. Dr. Matzinger had pioneered in mental hygiene as a separate branch of medicine and had been Professor of Psychiatry for thirty-four years at Buffalo. He had held many positions of trust and honor during his distinguished career. In addition to psychiatry he taught psycho-biology, a course for which he himself invented the name.

The 1933 historian writes of another distinguished brother, Dr. Charles Cary, '75, whose "life and the early growth of the University of Buffalo are almost synonymous" and whose "death in 1931 brought to a close the career of one of Buffalo's outstanding citizens." After post-graduate study abroad Dr. Cary returned to serve his school and his city in many capacities which included Professorships of Anatomy and of Clinical Medicine. He retired to become Professor Emeritus in 1921. "He remained a member of the Council of the University until 1930, which marked the end of his fifty-one years of service to the School of Medicine, a record probably unequaled in the history of American education."

This chapter has honored and been honored by two distinguished representatives on the Councils of the fraternity namely Roswell Park who was Honorary Hippocrates in the 1906-08 period and Edward A. Sharp who was Honorary Aristotle for the war period, 1916-19.

Dr. Park's death in 1914 was a great loss to the chapter and to the general fraternity. Dr. Sharp is continuing his work in neurology and psychiatry as attendant and consultant on the staffs of all of Buffalo's leading hospitals.

BETA DELTA FRATRES IN FACULTATE

IOWA MEDICAL BUILDINGS

BETA DELTA

We are indebted to the Secretary of the Medical School for a brochure published in 1928 on the dedication of the New General Hospital and Medical Laboratories Building from which we have taken the liberty of abstracting such items as seem necessary to show the development of the School of Medicine. There is also so much in this address descriptive of conditions applicable to medicine in the Middle West that it seems of interest to introduce it here.

We thank Faculty Alumnus Ewen M. MacEwen for final reading of the story of Beta Delta. Dr. MacEwen has been very active in affairs of the chapter and has served one term on the Executive Council, so is familiar with the executive side as well.

THE SCHOOL

By virtue of its connection with earlier schools, the story of the College of Medicine of the University of Iowa extends back to the middle of the last century to the time of the first tide of the modern, medical renaissance. The individuals who made this early history have too surely retreated into the past to become really animate figures in this story. It is the irony of medical history that the science of ancient times is no longer our science and that the men who taught that science are in danger of being completely forgotten, their contribution having become lost in rapidly advancing medical progress except as it is perpetuated in the story of the academies and colleges they helped to found.

As in general throughout the mid-west, medical practice in these pioneer years was determined mainly by social and material circumstances, medical history concerning itself chiefly with records of medical cases and epidemics. There was a good deal of cholera and malaria. Practically nothing of a serious surgical character was undertaken.

Most physicians, having had a liberal general education in addition to their medical training, were frequently called upon to serve the community in a variety of capacities. It is related of a physician near Chicago in the 1830's that in a single day he visited his patients (on horseback, of course), tried a lawsuit and preached a funeral sermon.

Most of the pioneer physicians received the greater part of their medical education in the offices of preceptors, the expenses involved and the inadequate means of transportation placing the established schools of the East out of their reach. As local conditions improved, independent centers for medical instruction were organized varying widely in merit. Eventually there was a return to University connection, in the case of Iowa after about thirty years.

Of eight medical schools flourishing in Iowa for varying periods between 1850 and 1885 the pioneer was the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Keokuk which from 1851 to 1870 was the affiliated University School, graduating hundreds of Iowa's early physicians. The men associated with it were pupils of eastern clinicians whose work illuminates the annals of American medicine the first half of the nineteenth century, and of whom Benjamin Rush was the greatest figure. Announcing its seventeenth session in 1864-1865, the authorities stated that its "means of demonstration are not surpassed by any institution in the country." The course of study was for two years of four months each.

Iowa became a state in 1846; the following year the University was founded. Ten years later when Des Moines was made the capital city, it was provided that the "University and all its departments shall be located in Iowa City."

The history of the present Medical School begins in 1869 when Doctor Washington Peck of Davenport, foremost among medical men of Iowa in his generation, met the board of trustees "in reference to the establishment of a Medical Department in the University." Dr. Peck's petition was considered favorably and plans went forward due largely to the influence also of Judge Dillon, an early Keokuk graduate, James Black, then President of the University, and others.

The Iowa State Medical Society, the legislature and the governors of the University condemned the new venture, but Dr. Peck and his associates organized the school and faculty, opening the new Medical Department in 1870 in a dwelling house equipped for the purpose for which $3,000 had been appropriated. At this time students were graduated after two years of twenty weeks each.

As throughout all early medical history, the anatomy question was a difficult one still. Material for dissection was scarce; later legislation to solve the problem came only after many scandals and riots. The provision of bodies for the medical schools was generally in the hands of individuals known as "resurrectionists" who were paid from ten to twenty-five dollars for each specimen brought in. During the first session of the University College of Medicine a resurrectionist scandal involved the school, causing a stir over the whole state. In January, 1871, it was discovered that the grave containing the remains of the wife of a prominent citizen of Iowa City had been disturbed and the body removed. The Department of Anatomy was brought under suspicion, the building searched and, though the body was eventually found hidden in a haystack in the country, the storm of criticism against the department forced the resignation of its head, Doctor Boucher.

Due to inadequate housing before the early 1900's the trials of the Medical School were many. Standards and requirements were improved, however, a three course optional in 1876 becoming compulsory in 1890. Other changes followed until in 1910 the entrance requirements became two years of college work, preceding a modern medical course. Expansion in building progressed more slowly, Anatomy Hall and the Medical Laboratories in 1904 providing the first satisfactory quarters.

In 1910 Drake Medical School at Des Moines combined with Iowa Medical College, Drake as such being abandoned and Iowa thereby strengthened.

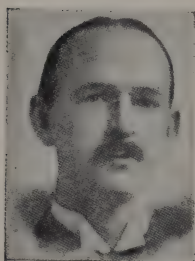

Recalling its meager beginnings Iowa takes added pride in her medical campus, located on the west bluffs of the Iowa River and dedicated in 1928. Through the agencies of the state, the General Education Board and the Rockefeller Foundation, a fund of four and one-half million dollars has been made available for the two units then dedicated, the Medical Laboratories and the General Hospital, thus completing the group which had been in process of assembly since the first unit, the Children's Hospital, was opened in 1919. Other units are under construction or are to follow as the need arises.

In maintaining standards and entrance requirements Iowa has kept well abreast of the trend in Class A medical schools. Two years of college work was required for entrance as early as 1910, the B.S. degree being conferred at the end of the fourth year and M.D. degree at the end of the sixth. At first this resulted in a reduced enrollment but in time it improved college standards and the quality of the men graduated.

With the recent transfer from outgrown buildings to the new medical plant, the faculty rearranged schedules, putting extra work on the second and third year men to make way for elective work in the senior year, thus setting even more severe standards for promotion in a course already reputed to be as difficult as any in the country. Doctor MacEwen adds that from 1933 applicants must have a C average and no grade below C in required science, to enter medicine. Students of the Medical College must have a 1.5 average each year to be permitted to continue their courses.

THE CHAPTER

DOCTOR PRENTISS

The founding of Beta Delta Chapter of Nu Sigma Nu is attributed largely to Dr. Henry James Prentiss, an alumnus of Xi Chapter and then Professor of Anatomy and Histology in the University of Iowa. Through his earnest efforts and those of the initial group, W. H. Fox, William Jepson, F. P. Lord, G. H. Allen, Ernest Fischer, Fred S. Cook, T. C. Doran, A. Dixon, Joseph M. Cadwallader, O. R. Voss, J. J. Lambert and

L. A. Schipfer, a charter was granted and Beta Delta Chapter installed on December 18, 1906.

Jepson was Head of the Department of Surgery and Lord Instructor in Anatomy when Beta Delta Chapter was founded. According to our latest available information, Jepson is now practicing in Sioux City, Voss in Davenport, Cadwallader in Millersburg, Iowa. Allen is in Topeka, Kansas, Cook in Eau Claire, Wisconsin, Lambert is engaged in psychiatry in New York City. Lord is Professor of Anatomy in Dartmouth Medical School. Dixon is practicing dentistry in Worcester, Massachusetts. Schipfer is practicing in Chicago. Doran, Fox and Fischer are dead.

The early days of Beta Delta were those of a normal healthy chapter; a gradual gaining in strength and prominence among the professional fraternities in Iowa. This she accomplished by enforcing from the beginning Nu Sigma Nu's requirements of high scholarship and moral character. With the successful examples of chapters rigorously adhering to this principle before her, Beta Delta saw the wisdom of close surveillance of her prospective members and profited thereby.

The year 1912 proved to be a banner one in a scholastic way, many of the brothers serving as assistants to the faculty, others representing the chapter in various honor societies, still others engaging prominently in school activities. That Beta Delta continued to live up to the precedent established in that year is evidenced by the fact that in 1915 Nu Sigma Nu ranked highest scholastically of all fraternities at Iowa, both professional and academic, and had men in all four branches of athletics.

In 1921 and for several years Beta Delta stood at the top of all fraternities on the campus scholastically, according to statistics of the scholarship committee. In every year throughout her career, one or more Beta Delta men were elected to Alpha Omega Alpha and other honorary societies. Although their main interest lay in the professional course, the men endeavored to pull together with other Iowa students as a whole; in 1926 two Beta Deltas were chosen to A. F. I., honorary senior society, representing achievement on the campus and in athletics. The year 1930 reports Nu Sigma Nu leading the movement to abolish petty politics within the student body, the president of the inter-medical fraternity council, John Littig, being a Beta Delta.

It is the custom of Beta Delta to initiate pledges only after one semester's work has been satisfactorily completed, the dominant desire being to secure for Nu Sigma Nu the best men who come to Iowa for medical training.

In 1923 a system of sponsors for pledges was introduced, two upperclassmen being made responsible for the scholastic welfare of each freshman. To encourage their interest, the pledges are frequently called as a body into the round-table discussions.

The scholarship committee of the chapter has purchased a silver tablet on which is inscribed the name of the freshman receiving the highest grades during the year.

With the founding of the chapter, a suite of rooms was secured, located in the heart of the city and within two blocks of the medical buildings and the hospital. These rooms were used for conducting business meetings, for social functions, and served also as a convenient place for members to congregate between classes. As a step toward establishing a chapter house many of the brothers boarded together that they might be brought in closer touch.

In the fall of 1912 the brothers returned to school to start fraternity life in a home of their own, for which much credit was due Dr. Dean H. Osborne and the cooperation of the alumni.

In the years after the war Beta Delta's membership continued to increase, making it difficult to care for all her fellows. This hardship was met in the proper spirit and in the hope that with the building of the new home it would be alleviated. Subscriptions for a building fund were pledged at the first call, the house then becoming an assured fact. With the construction of the new medical center across the river, the alumni association purchased two fine lots in Manville Heights, hoping to be the first fraternity to build on the west side.

In 1918 the chapter moved to a new home located at 128 East Bloomington Street, a fourteen-room stucco house taken for a five-year lease. Anticipating that the medical school would be located across the Iowa River, the chapter hoped to build in the vicinity of the new school with the termination of this lease.

On January 3, 1928, Beta Delta moved into the new home for which she had planned so long and worked so hard, now completed in keeping with the expansion of the school. It is with just pride that she states: "We are living in as fine a fraternity house as is operated by any medical fraternity in the country." Operating the new home on a $16,000 budget, a reduction of indebtedness amounting to more than $5,000 (including interest) was made and after meeting all obligations, a profit of several hundred dollars was announced. This was made possible by the following measures:

1. Rigid budgeting of income and expenses.
2. Requiring all unmarried members to live and eat in the house.
3. Making an adequate charge to married members.
4. Insisting on payment of all bills one month in advance.

During the past decade plans had been made and construction had been under way for a new medical center. With the realization of this dream and the dedication and opening of the school, Beta Delta was in line with her fine new home at 317 Templin Road and ready to entertain the delegates of the National Convention of Nu Sigma Nu in 1931, a greatly appreciated honor.

"If credit can be given to any one man for the completion of the undertaking, it is certainly due to Dr. E. M. MacEwen. He has taken a very active part since the initial drive was made, and he has been constantly on the job during the construction and finishing of the house."

Beta Delta was little affected by World War activities in comparison with some of her sister chapters. Though practically all members were enlisted and all served in the S. A. T. C. excepting two who saw active service, the regular activities of the school were not interfered with in any great measure, the effect being most felt through the temporary loss of several prominent faculty members.

Certain social events are on the regular schedule, such as the annual Christmas stag party, the spring dinner dance for the seniors and other functions. In 1926 the chapter began giving monthly dinners to which all local alumni, including faculty, were invited. Since 1916 the social activities of the chapter have usually been left to a committee of one.

Beta Delta has had the best results in getting response from the alumni through "a newsy alumnus or chapter letter," four of which are sent each year. By this means a fairly exact record of alumni can be kept.

As this sketch is closed, Beta Delta mourns the passing of Brother Henry James Prentiss, who was instrumental in forming the chapter and who did so much through the years to insure her success. Long before he passed away, his hopes for the chapter had been richly fulfilled, culminating in the general fraternity convention in which he took as active a part as his failing health permitted. The Council of the fraternity mourned his loss even as did Beta Delta, for he meant much to them.

BETA EPSILON FRATRES IN FACULTATE

BETA EPSILON

The various Bulletin letters have been our main source of information in compiling this history of Beta Epsilon. George Prichard, '08, a faculty charter member, has very kindly made the final reading of the manuscript and checked for us the correctness of the story as we have it.

THE SCHOOL

The history of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, according to the current school bulletin, began when "in 1883 the Board of Regents established a Medical College on the Lincoln campus. This was discontinued in 1888, but in 1903 they re-established the first two years of Medicine on the Lincoln campus and entered into an agreement of affiliation with the Omaha Medical College to provide for the work of the last two years. In 1913 the University of Nebraska formally took over the instruction of the third and fourth years, and together with the first two years established the Medical College on the present campus."

The removal of the entire medical school to the Omaha campus led to a growth which doubled the enrollment in four years and which saw the school expand from one, the North Laboratory Building, to five or six buildings including large hospitals within the same period.

In 1916 the state hospital bill, introduced by the father of George Hoffmeister, Beta Epsilon, '16, was passed. Built on the five-unit plan, the University Hospital, the first unit of which was completed in 1917 and the second in 1927, forms the largest unit of the group of buildings constituting the College of Medicine. It is the center around which all the activities of the various departments are grouped, making possible a close correlation between clinical and laboratory teaching. Modern in every respect, it provides for 250 beds, and for the care of a wide variety of cases. Patients unable to employ a physician are received from all Nebraska counties and no private patients are taken.

The South Laboratory Building, completed in 1919, houses the University Dispensary. Separate services are provided in all branches; and out-call service provides house treatment and cooperates with the Visiting Nurses' Association and other charitable city agencies. All activities are organized to provide the seniors with the greatest possible range of clinical material.

A new Nurses' Home was added to the campus buildings in 1922. Extramural clinical teaching is scheduled at the Douglas County and the Methodist Hospitals both near the campus. At the former students are assigned for clinical work under the supervision of members of its staff who are on the medical school faculty, and at the latter selected cases are presented. An additional available hospital is the Bishop Clarkson.

Admission requirements when Beta Epsilon was installed (1906) provided that the candidate should be eighteen years old, should have a "creditable English education and good moral character." In 1911 two years premedical work and recommendation by two premedical instructors became additional requisites for entrance to the medical school. This is the present-day regulation, the required subjects being in accordance with the recommendations of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

THE CHAPTER

Beta Epsilon's first contribution to the archives of Nu Sigma Nu was published in the 1907 or quarter-century volume. We are quoting from this letter such material as seems pertinent to this history.

"In the fall of 1905 a number of students in the College of Medicine of the University of Nebraska organized the Phi Beta Rho Society. Though this organization achieved considerable local recognition, each member hoped for the time when he might wear the emblem of Nu Sigma Nu. Just one year later, through the instrumentality of the Nu Sigma Nu members of our faculty, we were granted a charter and were installed as Beta Epsilon Chapter on December 21, 1906. H. E. French, Zeta, 1907, assisted by Dr. Henry J. Prentiss, of Xi Chapter, a member of the Executive Council, conducted the installation in the parlors of the Lindell Hotel in Lincoln."

Eighteen men signed the charter. Of these, two have since died, namely, Merlin Wyatt in 1918 and Henry Wekesser in 1922. The present whereabouts of the others as far as we can ascertain, is as follows: George Prichard and Charles Pollard are on the medical faculty in Omaha; Robert Hollister is also in Omaha. Rufus Lyman is on the medical faculty in Lincoln. Harry Taylor is in University Place, Frank Morrow in Columbus, George Sullivan in St. Edwards, all in Nebraska. Claude Fordyce is in Rahway, New Jersey; Brownlow Miller in Tabor, Iowa; Conrad Neumann in Lewiston, Minnesota; Charles Willis in Denver, Colorado. Lozelle Sturdevant is with the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter "Unalga" at Juneau, Alaska. Cecil Charlton is in Pasadena and Albert Charlton in Whittier, California. Lawrence Pilsbury is Captain, M. C., U.S.A., Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C. Albert Peters left school.

The national standing of Nu Sigma Nu appealed so strongly to the best men among faculty and students that Beta Epsilon made splendid progress from the first in spite of competition from Phi Rho Sigma which had had an active chapter at Nebraska since 1901. In spite of rivalry, the two fraternities were on the best of terms, each entertaining the other with a smoker as early as Beta Epsilon's first year.

Owing to the division of the school between Lincoln and Omaha at this time, the chapter was also divided. Historian Taylor (1907) wrote: "Since several of the fellows live in Lincoln it has been found unnecessary to maintain a chapter house there, though we have elegant quarters at the residence of Dr. A. T. Peters at 2438 W Street. In Omaha we have a very comfortable chapter house at 1509 South Twenty-Sixth Street. All except one of the men of that division reside there. The doctors of the Omaha division very generously aided, financially and otherwise, in the starting of the chapter house."

In 1911 the Omaha group (juniors and seniors) maintained and lived in chapter rooms at 1101 South Thirtieth Avenue. At Lincoln most of the men lived at the different academic fraternity houses, visiting the Omaha chapter house only on special occasions. This arrangement was temporary, awaiting fulfillment of the University's plan to consolidate the whole medical course in Omaha. As early as 1911 Beta Epsilon alumni had begun to make provision for furnishing a chapter home.

In the meantime the Lincoln group also maintained a chapter house, their first since their installation. Here weekly meetings were held, here ten of the men lived in the house and twenty-six outside. There were only five men in Omaha at this time (1913.) In this three-story house arrangements allowed the chapter to occupy two floors. The landlady operated a table for the men, reserving the third floor for herself.

The 1913 chapter letter contained an appeal to alumni for support in obtaining a house when two years later, with the establishment of the entire medical school in Omaha, the chapter should become united. An appeal was also made for help in formulating plans for an alumni chapter to be located in Omaha. The house became a reality in 1916, a rented one being taken temporarily while vigorous efforts were exerted towards establishing a permanent house fund. Actives and alumni combined, pledging sums payable annually to be applied on the purchase of a lot. One was obtained in 1921 in an ideal location only two blocks from the campus.

While plans were being pushed for building, it seems that a better solution was found. Quoting the 1923 historian: "The past year's achievements mark the realization of our greatest ambition, a new chapter home. We are indebted to a strong alumni committee organized last spring for putting across the deal and making our plans possible. In conjunction with the Chapter's house committee, they purchased and partially remodeled to fit our needs the large and ideally arranged house known as the D. H. Fair home at 201 South Thirty-Third Street across from the Radium Hospital. The basement was converted into a spacious dining room, kitchen and store-room, leaving the entire first floor for music room, library and living room. Our house mother, Mrs. Gosselin, in her eleventh year with the chapter, shares our joy and pride in accomplishing that which has been the objective of Beta Epsilon during the entire period of years she has spent with us."

During the past decade the affairs of the chapter have been running on a sound financial basis with few changes in internal organization. The only change of any moment was the establishment in 1930 of a building fund, to which the chapter contributes each month on a percentage of profits basis, and which is also enriched by alumni contributions.

Thanks to a plan framed by Doctors Ray Lewis and William Hay, the chapter started the year 1931 with house expenses budgeted so that an income was assured sufficient for all needs, regardless of how many men lived in or out of the house. Meals were provided at cost, all bills were paid up, and finances were in better shape than ever.

The revival of the Chapter Bulletin of Beta Epsilon, the Nu Sig News, under the able editorship of R. K. Hoover, assisted by one member of each class, took place in 1921 and proved to be an efficient instrument in renewing old acquaintances and in introducing new members. This publication has continued to function, reference being made to it in the 1929 letter as follows: "To create interest and bring the alumni closer to the active chapter a monthly bulletin concerning the activities of the school and chapter is sent to all our graduates. A complete and up-to-date card index of all graduates makes this possible."

Among other means of enlisting interest are weekly seminars "conducted by the local alumni and held at the chapter house from seven until eight o'clock. Weekly invitations are sent to nearby graduates in order that they may attend the programs of interest."

In 1924 the American Association of Medical Colleges held its meeting in Omaha. It was noteworthy that Nu Sigma Nu had a larger representation among the delegates than any other medical fraternity. The great event for Beta Epsilon actives and alumni was a smoker held at the house for the Nu Sig representatives. "Beta Epsilon was highly honored to act as host to Doctors H. G. Weiskotten of Mu, C. P. Emerson of Beta Eta, H. E. French of Zeta, H. E. Robertson of Lambda, W. B. Borden of Beta Alpha, G. L. Noyes of Alpha, Stuart Graves of Mu, F. G. Zapffe of Eta, Hugh McGuigan of Kappa, C. A. Hamann of Sigma, and G. C. Robinson of Tau."

In 1930 we find that "the social program of the chapter has been expanded during the year to include several new features, the idea in mind being to keep the alumni and undergraduates in closer and fraternal connection. The bi-monthly seminars inaugurated last year have proven most successful. Among our alumni speakers have been Doctors Best, Kennedy, Pollard, Johnson, Prichard, and Findley. Chapter smokers, held at stated intervals, have been found most enjoyable by both alumni and students.

In 1931 a plan was afoot to re-establish an old custom, the annual Beta Epsilon Round-up in the spring. This materialized as a high light in social events, a banquet arranged by Brother Frisbie and attended by more than 125 alumni being held during the Nebraska Medical Society Convention. The event met with such favor that it was unanimously proclaimed a permanent affair to be continued through the years.

Another very pleasant active and alumni get-together is the Pheasant Dinner in the fall. Due to the efforts of a large group of the chapter's Nimrods, who make a trip into the central part of the state, sufficient birds are provided for the nucleus of one of those meals which are long remembered.

The twenty-fifth anniversary banquet of Beta Epsilon Chapter was held on March 29, 1932. Attendance was right at the hundred mark, with both Omaha and out of town alumni well represented. Dr. Robert D. Schrock was a very capable toastmaster. Dr. C. C. Dennie of Kansas City gave the principal address of the evening. Short talks were given by Brothers Heine, George Prichard, Russell Best and Alfred Schalek. All are looking forward to many more such gatherings in the future years.

The annual observance of a Sunday set apart as a Chapter Mother's Day has always found a number of the mothers of chapter men as our guests.

Foremost among regular social events are annual spring dances; several house parties attended by alumni and actives help to complete an enjoyable social calendar.

An innovation of note was the establishment of an effective Scholarship Committee in 1934. A Pledge's Scholarship meeting held once a week was directed by a faculty member if possible, or by an upperclass man. Here the scholastic problems of the freshmen were thrashed out. The value of the system was attested in the first year by the fact that not one man was lost from the freshman class.

Scholastically Beta Epsilon men have held their own. In 1930 her freshmen led all other fraternities in scholarship. This record promises to be upheld since in 1932 even the chapter pledges "came through with flying colors." The 1933 historian relates that Brother Rutledge "can be credited with a good deal of help to the freshmen, holding blackboard meetings with them several times a week and unveiling some of the mysteries of embryology." Elections to honor societies and other evidences of scholastic merit are frequently mentioned in the chapter letters.

The Nu Sigs have distinguished themselves in athletics also, having held first place in inter-fraternity sports for three years according to the 1931 historian who continues: "We do not feel that sports are primary in medical fraternity life, but it does create a feeling of good sportsmanship among the students and we consider that our success is indicative of our typical Nu Sig cooperation."

Returning to the war years, we shall record briefly Beta Epsilon's reaction as expressed by Historian Mulligan of 1917.

"In spite of the gnawing pangs of the recent disorganizing disease, 'war fever,' the etiology of which is that virulent 'war bug,' pandemic in every red-blooded American, Beta Epsilon has stuck by the ship and will finish the year with a chapter more unified and more determined than ever before. The easiest course for all of us in the crisis just past was to respond to the tempting call across the big brink and to turn our backs on the 'grind,' to enter the arena of excitement and imaginary romance which beckoned from 'No Man's Land.' Beta Epsilon having bowed to the less spectacular, has retained her strength as a result."

Eleven brothers who were graduated in the spring entered war service in various capacities as did many other alumni. Major C. A. Hull and Captain L. D. Riggert went with Base Hospital Unit 49 (Nebraska's Unit) to France. C. A. Harms and George Pratt were with the A. E. F. in France. Pratt, though once reported in a casualty list, turned up safe and very much alive. R. A. Moser entered foreign service in 1917 to remain throughout the conflict. Now he is Instructor in Medicine in the Medical College and is associated with the American Reserve Life Insurance Company (Omaha).

Beta Epsilon has had two representations on the councils of the fraternity, namely: Faculty Alumnus Charles C. Tomlinson, '08, who was on the Honorary Council 1926-28, and H. LeRoy Crummer 1928-30. Dr. Crummer affiliated with Beta Epsilon from Alpha ('96).

BETA ZETA (D E I) FRATRES IN FACULTATE

BETA ZETA (Delta Epsilon Iota)

The Bulletins of D E I Chapter have been instructive and helpful in compiling their history; particularly that of the war period from the pen of the 1919 Historian, one of the most interesting we have read.

Faculty Fellow Harold Burr, '15, has kindly given the final reading of the manuscript and checked for us the accuracy of the school history.

W-W

THE SCHOOL

The initial organization of the School of Medicine was completed in 1812 when the Connecticut General Assembly granted a charter for the "Medical Institution of Yale College," to be conducted under the joint supervision of the college and the Connecticut Medical Society. In 1884 the original charter was amended to place the school definitely in the control of the college as the Medical School of Yale College. The name Yale College was changed to Yale University in 1887 and thereby the name of the Medical School was automatically changed. The present designation, Yale Medical School, was adopted in 1918.

The necessity for clinical instruction was clearly recognized by the founders and first made possible through an agreement with the governing board of the New Haven Hospital which was opened in 1832.

In 1914 the University was finally enabled to establish a more satisfactory affiliation between the New Haven Hospital and the School of Medicine with the aid of the income supplied by the Anthony N. Brady Memorial Foundation which also erected the Brady Memorial Laboratory in 1917 on the grounds of the New Haven Hospital. An extension to this laboratory, whereby its capacity was more than doubled, and two adjoining buildings, Lauder Hall and Farnam Memorial Building, all made possible by a gift from the General Education Board, were completed in 1928.

The program for expanding the school of medicine and New Haven Hospital began in earnest in 1923 when the Sterling Hall of Medicine was built opposite the Hospital to house the medical school with its various adjuncts of offices, library, auditorium etcetera. Funds for the original building and its many later additions were provided by the trustees of the estate of John W. Sterling, B.A. Yale 1864.

The New Haven Hospital is the teaching hospital for the medical school and the center for clinical instruction. The central unit of the hospital called the Clinic Building was completed in 1931 and provides facilities for the administrative functions and expansion of the service function of the institution.

The Laboratory for Medicine and Pediatrics, the Fitkin Memorial, devoted to wards in medicine and pediatrics and the Tompkins Memorial Pavilion all erected in the years 1929-1932, provide additional space for the hospital's varied services in surgery and medicine.

By the end of 1932 the plans which had seemed air castles a few years before had matured to a satisfying stage according to Historian Ashbel Williams. "And by dint of a powerful personality, much persistent effort and the favor of good fortune, our remarkable Dean (Winternitz) has succeeded in anchoring these 'air castles' one by one, so that they compose an equally materialistic and beautiful school and hospital. The Medical School is complete for the needs of the present. This fall saw the opening of the new surgical wing and the establishment of the dispensary in its modern quarters in the hospital. To complete the unit, only one wing of the hospital is wanting."

The Institute of Human Relations Building constitutes with the Sterling Hall of Medicine a single structure extending along two sides of a city block. It was erected in 1930 with funds provided by the Rockefeller Foundation and the General Education Board. Thus, says Historian Clarke in 1932, "a very elegant roof has been provided for a number of departments which are related to the human mind and its problems. Neuro-anatomy, neuro-physiology, psychiatry, psychology, etcetera, have now adequate quarters for investigation, besides the very great advantage of working in close association one with another."

Some phase of the human personality is the subject of each of these investigations, and all, even though some are highly specialized, have as an ultimate aim a more exact comprehension of human behavior. The interesting and comprehensive scope of the Institute is fully outlined in the current catalog.

In addition to the departments which approach the central nervous system from so many angles, the Institute provides athletic and social diversions for the students in a Recreational Unit, consisting of gymnasium, squash and tennis courts, and a lounge. Daily teas in the lounge, and dances in the gymnasium afford outlets for diverse social talents.

A high school diploma was the requirement for entering the medical school until 1909 when two years of college work were added. At present three years of college represents the minimum time to accomplish adequate preparation in the basic subjects and in the humanities as recommended.

The School Council was instituted about 1919 as a selected undergraduate body maintained for the purpose of promoting the welfare of school and students. The Council studies problems relating to curriculum, cooperation between faculty and students, and concerns itself with enhancing the good work and good name of the Yale School of Medicine.

The Yale Students' Medical Association was founded in 1911 by two D E I men, Hooker, '14, and Harvey, '11, as a stimulus to scholarship and research among students, and flourished promptly. The pre-requisite for membership is a good school standing. All classes are eligible and the meetings are informal.

The Nathan Smith Club organized in 1920 is composed of ten faculty and ten undergraduate members. Meetings are held monthly at faculty homes to discuss various phases of the history of medicine.

The Yale Journal of Biology and Medicine was launched as an experiment in 1929 with the Yale Law School Journal as a model. Articles are written by students and faculty with the attempt to make them valuable to the medical student. The Journal was started on the impetus of several 1929 Nu Sigma Nus. The brothers have been successful and regular contributors and in 1932 held four of the six Student Board positions.

In the hope of decreasing student effort while augmenting benefits of study, the school of medicine recently devised a new system of examinations described as follows by Historian Williams, '33: "No exams are compulsory excepting the finals which come at the termination of the second pre-clinical year and the second clinical year. At these two periods, the students are examined by the clinical faculty as a mode of qualification for the real exam which is part of I and II of the National Medical Board Examination. No student is permitted to take the latter until he has convinced the Yale clinical men of his proficiency in the required subjects. Until a man has passed both parts of the National Board, he cannot obtain his M.D. from Yale. 'If the Camels don't get you the Fatimas must.' We are bound to catch it on the chin on one of these exams so the Yale student is now, more than ever, painstaking to be sure of himself before he comes up for scrutiny."

THE CHAPTER

Beta Zeta of Nu Sigma Nu was formed by taking over the Delta Epsilon Iota Society, a local organization which had functioned at Yale for many years. The installation took place on January 19, 1907, with fourteen undergraduates and six faculty charter members comprising the entire roll of actives then in D E I. The ceremony took place at 150 York Street in the Yale Medical School Building.

DOCTOR FERRIS

An accounting of the charter members as of 1932, is as follows. The then faculty members are all living. H. B. Ferris, '90, is Professor of Anatomy, Emeritus, at Yale; and Charles Bartlett, '95, is Professor of Pathology, Emeritus. A. G. Nadler, '96, continues as Professor of Dermatology; Frank Phillips, '06, is Assistant Attending Surgeon. L. M. Gompertz, '96, and B. A. Cheney, '90, are also in New Haven.

Of the fourteen then undergraduate charter members three have died: Perley Chandler in 1908, Edmund Marcy in 1910 and Frank Thompson in 1913. Two are in New Haven: Marvin Scarbrough is lecturer in Pathology at Yale; Alfred Gilbert is in practice. William Rice, Joseph Kerney and Niles Westcott are in Providence, Rhode Island. Paul Titus is in Pittsburgh and David Ahlstrom in Valencia, Pennsylvania. Paul Butterfield is in New York City and Arthur Brides in Brooklyn. John Block is in Shelton and Arthur Marsh in Hampton, both in Connecticut.

Meetings were held in various available places at first. Beginning in October, 1906, they were held in the fraternity sitting room at 109 Jackson Place. Later the chapter moved to 818 North Broadway, which also provided a place for meetings. In 1908 the first chapter house was established at 101 Park Street. In 1910 another home was secured at 98 Park Street which was supported by a yearly chapter grant and by the nine men living in the house. Chapter meetings were held here or in the old D E I room in the physiological laboratory of the old medical building. With laboratory extensions in 1910 this room was no longer available and henceforth meetings were held in the chapter house. During these early years a building fund was on its way toward securing a permanent home. The year 1917 was begun in new, more spacious and comfortable quarters at 426 George Street with thirteen members answering the first roll call. With war activities to the fore the house was given up within a year.

Following the welcome release from war duty in 1919 chapter activities were resumed. Since the house on George Street had been given up, meetings were held in the Seniors' room at the New Haven Hospital. At the next fall term opening, fifteen actives returned to a chapter owned house at 430 George Street. There was great rejoicing over the fulfilment of plans which had been contemplated since 1894. Their success at this time was due to the practical plan submitted by Brothers Kaufmann and Stander who with Doctors Ferris, Cheney and Sperry of the faculty, composed the House Committee. It was due to their constant interested service and the generous gifts from alumni that the house was secured. The house and property were incorporated in the name of the Hippocrates Association, members of the house committee becoming trustees.

By 1923 the chapter's accruing strength and activity had outgrown the house at 430 George Street. With the loyal support of alumni a suitable and comfortable house was purchased at 301 Crown Street. Under the leadership of Alumnus

Ferris, '90, and Samuel Ackerly, '25, the active members responded 100 per cent with subscriptions to the endowment fund; alumni interest was manifested not only by generous subscriptions but by numerous other gifts such as books and furniture.

Under these favorable living conditions and under the chapter presidencies of Brothers Mitchell, '24, and Ackerly, '25, so the 1925 historian wrote, "D E I has approached closer than ever before to its triple objective; to furnish an environment conducive to the best cooperative and individual work in our profession; to provide comfortable living and boarding quarters; to supply a properly proportioned social life. * The most important factor in this accomplishment has been the comfort of our new chapter house."

This was conducive also to promoting congenial recreation. The annual banquet was held at the house as was the annual Christmas party with many alumni enjoying the reunion.

At other times gatherings were of a more distinctly medical nature, with eminent physicians giving informal talks or addresses on subjects of special interest.

Most enjoyable of all were the unscheduled gatherings after meals with games, music and jests affording relaxation. Alumni gifts of valuable books and cases for the library tended to awaken the bibliophilic spirit. A fund was established for subscriptions to current medical journals and for securing books of permanent value.

On the principle that interest in the greater affairs of the school should rank above those of any particular social offshoot, the Yale Medical School has adopted a new policy in housing, that of providing student dormitories, units of which are available for fraternity quarters. Due to rise in real estate values and depression in income the house at 430 George Street was given up in 1930, the plan being to rent rooms for social and intellectual gatherings and to arrange for living quarters in a student dormitory unit.

D E I Fellows were continually active in extra-curricular pursuits also exerting a potent influence in school life, and contributing many leaders in school activities. In 1911 they began the publication of a pamphlet containing chapter and school news, which was circulated among their graduates. Alumni and active members were prominently represented on the board publishing the Yale Medical Journal (discontinued in 1913). Each year several of the actives served as members of the School Council and contributed to the success of the Yale Students Medical Association.

Regular social events designed to bring alumni and actives together were the annual dinner in the spring and the Christmas entertainment at the chapter house. Many prominent alumni attended these enjoyable gatherings yearly. Particular and frequent mention is made of H. B. ("Pop") Ferris who became the proverbial Santa, distributing the gifts. These were usually provided with appropriate sentiments which dilated upon the salient weaknesses of each recipient.

In 1920 the social aspect was enlivened with a series of informal dances at the chapter house, affairs which have since developed into a permanent custom. In this year the actives enlisted some alumnus to give a brief talk at each fraternity meeting. With modifications, these attractive and instructive meetings have become a regular feature of chapter life.

A greater interest in school affairs has not hampered the actives of a congenial group such as the D E I men in gathering regularly for exchange of ideas. As a result of this desire the 1932 graduating class in 1928 organized themselves into what has become known as the "Bull Ring" and which now has been adapted to the whole chapter. A group of fifteen or twenty men gather informally for dinner or after-dinner fireplace chats with some interesting guest who can bring valuable contributions from his richness of experience. Among such guests have been Professor Felix d'Herelle of bacteriophage fame and Paul de Kruif of "Microbe Hunters".

The success of the "Ring" from the first has been largely due to the services of Faculty Alumnus Harold Burr who was one of its charter members and who "had been the ever-ready guide and companion of D E I of recent years."

Scholastically, Nu Sigma Nu's Yale Chapter has more than held its own and honors and prizes have yearly testified to the meritorious work done. We note among many examples that in 1916 every undergraduate prize and in 1921 all five degrees M.D. Cum Laude went to the D E I men. Each year has recorded achievements which seem to verify a recent (1931) historian's preface to that year's list of honors: "The members of the chapter seem to be undergoing the usual experience of finding each year better than the last."

The 1927 Historian, Wallace R. Bostwick, won for his chapter the Tiffany Trophy.

The trials of the war period and the disrupting effect of super-imposing a military regime upon a medical course was described by D E I's historian as follows:

"At the opening of the University year (1918) the situation at Yale as regards the student body and the medical students in particular was little short of chaos. Rumors were wildly circulating to the effect that 'Medics' were to be exempt from all but the merest rudiments of military discipline, be quartered alone in some luxurious Sheff fraternity house, have all their expenses paid by a far-seeing and generous government, and be otherwise treated as persons of some importance, above the common herd of university undergraduates. Alas for all these rosy dreams! It was soon forcibly impressed upon our unsuspecting minds that, in the eyes of the commander of the S. A. T. C., a Sophomore or Junior in Medical School was no whit better than the greenest of Freshmen in College; in the words of Falstaff, 'nought but food for powder.'

"Scattered all over the University campus in little groups of two or three, herded in with engineers, signal corps, artillery and what not, the medical men received their first dose of army life and the wonderful, appalling inefficiency of the S. A. T. C. After vaccination and inoculation with the triple typhoid vaccine we slept on bare floors and bed springs with perchance a lone blanket or smuggled pillow to ease our aching arms. After a few days of misery we were thoughtfully mixed in with a bunch of Signal Corps men and a motley herd of so-called 'pre-medics' and organized into the famous Company F. Then followed a riot of movings from one dormitory to another, morning, noon and night till the 'Yale Mobile Medical Unit', as they called us, became a by-word throughout the University.

"Occasionally through some oversight of the company lieutenant we went to class. Usually we took a morning or afternoon off to draw a pair of shoes or so from the quartermaster, which like as not had to be returned the next day on account of misfit. After a couple of weeks we each had accumulated the various constituents of a uniform, but inasmuch as they were all of the same size and as nature had not been so thoughtful the effect produced on donning our new apparel was truly amazing.

"Fortunately for them the Seniors and some of the Juniors were permitted to act as internes in the New Haven hospitals during the epidemic and so were denied the blessing of these earlier experiences. Upon the recession of the influenza, however, all but one or two of the Juniors came into the fold, where, after a few sulphurous and highly illuminating remarks, they settled down to the routine of Company F.

"After a time classes became more regular, but in spite of our hopes we were obliged to run the gauntlet of all the trials and tribulations of military life. Orderly duty at company headquarters, orderly duty at general headquarters, orderly duty at the infirmary, K. P. for a week at a time, and, last but not least, guard duty for a day and night were never to be forgotten experiences. Study and classes were entirely incidentals; in the words of the lieutenant, we were training to become infantry officers and infantry officers he'd make us, medicine or no medicine. At night we had an hour and a half of supervised study to which we had to march over in a body. Studying after taps or before reveille was punished with fatigue. To add to the sum total of our misfortunes a quarantine which lasted almost six weeks was placed over the University so as to isolate it completely from the rest of the city.

"Needless to say it was with great enthusiasm that our discharge papers were signed on December 18 and we were free to go and come as we pleased."

No history of the chapter would be complete without quoting one or two of the many special tributes which D E I historians have made to Dr. Harry B. Ferris. In 1931 Historian Robert Huntington wrote: "The chapter is in excellent shape, and we feel that the splendid traditions of D E I will not fall. The splendor of those traditions has been brought most poignantly to our minds by a recent event, namely, the completion of the portrait of Dr. Harry B. Ferris. Dr. Ferris, one of the founders of D E I, graduated from the school in 1890 and has been teaching anatomy for nearly forty years. To him belongs a large part of the glory that may accrue to the survival of the Yale school during its lean years. With unfaltering diligence, perfect courtesy and utter unselfishness he has continued to be a guiding light to his students and colleagues, and is now teaching the sons of some of his old pupils. Over six hundred of his students and colleagues contributed to the portrait, which was painted by John Quincy Adams, a well-known European portraitist, and now hangs in the Ferris Room, a seminar room for students and teachers of anatomy. To those of us who have known him in D E I, the completion of the portrait is a source of even greater delight than to those who have not known him inside the fraternal bonds. Dr. Ferris has been a veritable patriarch to the chapter, and his wise counsel has never failed to aid us."

And in 1933 Historian Ashbel Williams: "Dr. 'Pop' Ferris, Delta's most substantial and faithful alumnus, is retiring from his position as head of the anatomy department this year, as he has reached the age of retirement for Yale professors. He has guided the chapter from its founding up to the present with his advice and financial backing. He assumed the responsibility of disposing of the chapter house when it was abandoned several years ago. We feel and sincerely hope that his retirement will not in any way affect the intimate relations which have so long been a pleasure to the chapter members."

H. B. Ferris was elected to the Honorary Council of the fraternity for the 1908-10 period and H. S. Burr is at present on the same Council.

BETA ETA FRATRES IN FACULTATE

BETA ETA

Our only sources in compiling this history of Beta Eta have been the various Bulletin letters. The current medical school bulletin has supplemented our data on the early history of the school.

Charles P. Emerson, Dean Emeritus of the Medical School, has kindly read this manuscript and vouched for its correctness as to fact, particularly relating to the history of the school.

W-W

THE SCHOOL

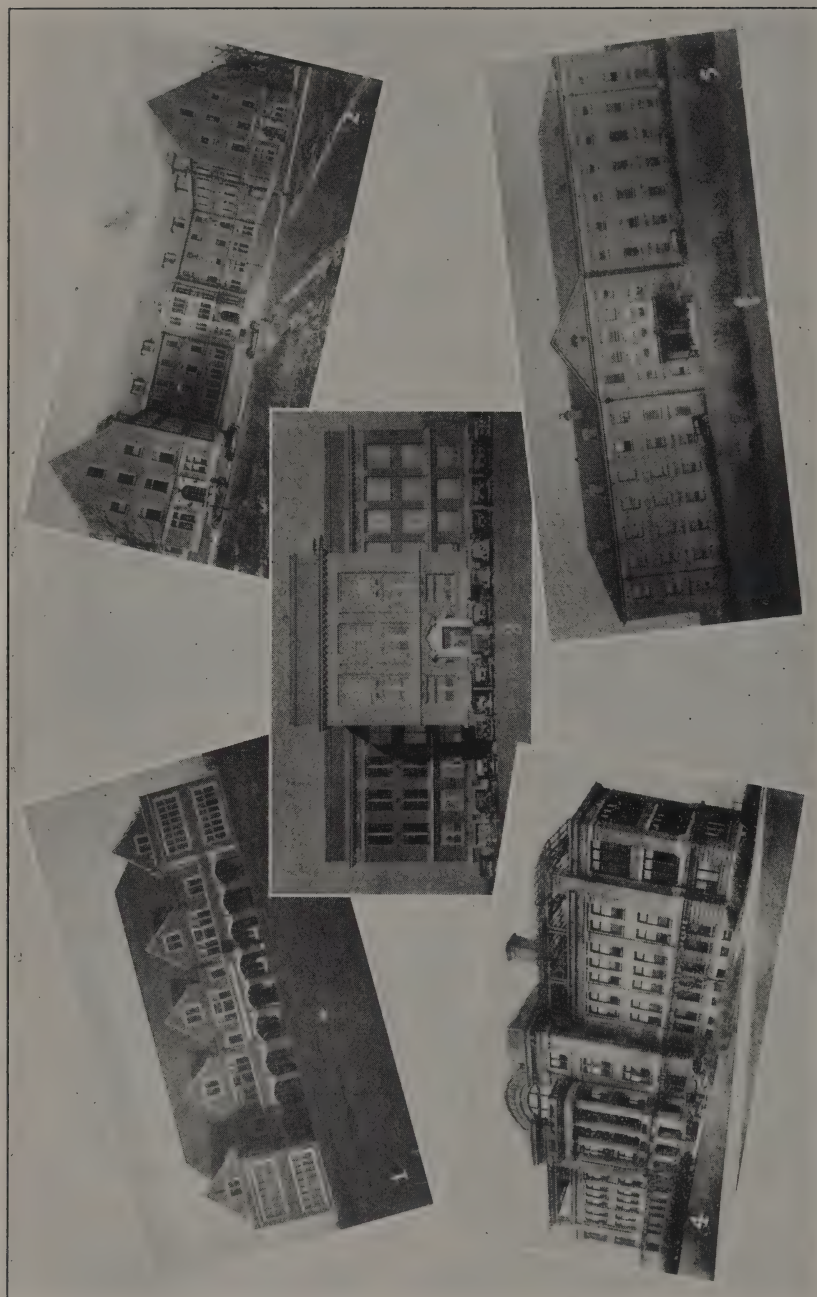

Indiana University School of Medicine has evolved through the consolidation of several medical schools, the steps in its development being enumerated in the current medical school bulletin. The first of these predecessors was organized in 1869 as the Indiana Medical College in Indianapolis. Various mergers involving a total of seven medical colleges took place in the years intervening between 1878, when Indiana Medical College united with the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and 1908 when negotiations were completed whereby the then Indiana Medical College was united with the Indiana University School of Medicine under the name of the latter. In 1909 a legislative act authorized the University trustees to conduct a medical school and to receive gifts of real estate and other property in behalf of the state for the maintenance of medical education. The real development of the school of medicine dates from this time.

It was in the year of this final merger (1908) that Beta Eta of Nu Sigma Nu was installed at Indiana.

Through state appropriations and private donations and bequests the building program has gone steadily forward.

In 1912 a donation was made by Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Long for a University Hospital which after its completion received support and maintenance from the State.

In 1916 the medical school was practically destroyed by fire. The Dental College furnished temporary quarters and later the City Hospital housed the school. Shortly after this disaster the State Legislature provided for a new medical building which was erected on the Long Hospital grounds and became ready for occupancy in 1920.

As a suitable memorial to a much beloved and famous son of Indiana, the Riley Memorial Association planned to build the James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for Children. With funds of over a million dollars raised by the Association, aided by a state appropriation, the first unit was erected on the University grounds in 1923-24. On its dedication day, October 7, 1924, it was conveyed to the state of Indiana to become a university teaching hospital. Two additional units have since been built: the Kiwanis Unit in 1930, by the Kiwanis Clubs of the Indiana district; the Rotary Club Unit in 1931, by the Rotary Clubs of the state. The Riley Memorial Association and the Board of Trustees of the University are equally represented on the Hospital's Executive Committee of ten. Accommodations are provided for 250 children in the wards and 200 more in the Convalescent Home. To this hospital are admitted the sick children from all parts of Indiana committed by the judge in their respective county court. Special attention is given to corrective and preventive treatment both as regards physically handicapped and social problem cases. The faculty of the University School of Medicine has the work in charge. Post-graduate instruction of doctors and nurses is provided and members of the senior class are assigned as assistants and observers. The Hospital functions as a center for social work in child welfare for the state of Indiana.

With the addition of this hospital the medical school had three hospitals available within a radius of two blocks. A new wing on the City Hospital was completed in 1924 to house the City Dispensary.

The Ball Training School for Nurses supplying the most modern facilities was constructed in 1925. A large modern auditorium and quarters on the lower floor for the department of Surgical Pathology were provided in a new wing to the medical school building also completed in this year.

The Coleman Hospital, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Coleman as a memorial to their daughter, was completed in 1927. It serves the entire state as a charity hospital exclusively for maternity and gynecological cases, affording the university additional teaching facilities.

In 1930 a Child Guidance Clinic and an Out-Patient Department of the University Hospital were established. Gifts were received enabling the University to make possible the landscaping of the Indiana University Medical Center.

Other clinical facilities and aids to teaching are available in the Indianapolis City and Central Hospitals.

In keeping with the growth and expansion in buildings and equipment during this period, the enrollment has doubled. From 200 in 1908 it has risen to 400 in 1932.

THE CHAPTER

The charter for Beta Eta was granted at Bloomington and there the chapter was installed at the University of Indiana on May 16, 1908. At this time the first years of the medical course were given here and the final years in Indianapolis.

Nineteen undergraduates and ten graduates signed the charter. A brief account of these twenty-nine, as to survival and present whereabouts (1932), according to our best information is as follows:

Of the then undergraduates, four are in Indianapolis: J. Don Miller, Frederick Jackson, Elbert Waymire and Guy Hobbs. Three more are located in Indiana: Daniel Lybrook in Young America, Nelson Heller in Dunkirk, George Hunt in Richmond. Three are in California: Glenn Myers in Los Angeles, Klore Hidy in Manteca and James Bobbitt who became affiliated with Kappa is in San Diego. Leslie Maxwell is in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. Grover Kempf is with the U. S. P. H. S. Bureau, Washington, D. C. Weir Miley affiliated with Rho, Edward Koch and George Steele with Kappa. Charles Grandy and Leonard Collins have died. The whereabouts of Arthur Metz and Donald McClelland are not known.

Five of the ten then graduate charter members are still in Indianapolis, namely: Horace Allen, Emmet Wales, David Kahn, Elias Lindenmuth and Frank Hutchins who is Head of the Department of Neurology in the medical school. William Moenkhaus is Professor of Physiology at Bloomington. John Chase Sexton is in Rushville and Maynard Austin in Anderson, Indiana. Harry Parker is in Lisbon, Iowa; Charles Zeleny in Urbana, Illinois.

The division in the medical school resulted in a divided chapter, a severe handicap to chapter life and activities in Beta Eta's first years. In 1911 in order to avoid duplication in the first two years' work the faculty decided to emphasize only first year work in Bloomington, and to give the rest of the course entirely in Indianapolis. This placed Nu Sigma Nu at Indiana under the peculiar disadvantage of having the chapter in name only at Bloomington with all active members in Indianapolis. In 1913 with the assistance of the Indiana faculty Beta Eta petitioned through the National Convention for a change of charter to Indianapolis, which petition was immediately granted.

In the meantime (1911) the Indianapolis contingent had found it feasible for the first time to maintain a chapter house. This was conveniently located near the College at 513 North Delaware Street. The house and table were in the care of a matron and food costs were shared equally by the members who took meals there.

The pleasant custom of entertaining faculty and alumni at the Friday luncheons was begun at this time. The house also provided a place for the regular bimonthly fraternity meetings and for gatherings and activities of general interest. Thus relates the 1912 historian: "This year we have attempted to take up a systematic study of the history of medicine, and also have listened to some very excellent talks by several of our faculty members on topics of medical interest."

With so many actives who were residents of Indianapolis and several seniors in the Dispensary, maintaining a chapter house was deemed impracticable in 1912-13. A room in the Hume Mansur Building was rented, which served for regular meetings and for frequent informal gatherings. In 1916 a suite of rooms at the Y. M. C. A. was obtained for meetings proving both convenient and economical. All active men enrolled in the Y. M. C. A. Due in part to the disturbing effect of the war, many actives being in service, and in part to awaiting development of the new medical center, plans for a permanent house though frequently discussed have remained provisional. The historians frequently express the hope of having a fraternity house in the vicinity of their rapidly enlarging medical center but thus far, no fixed home has materialized.

A home atmosphere has not been entirely lacking however since the men have stressed the importance of creating such in their various meeting places, both faculty and alumni members making a special effort to bring the chapter group into their own homes on many enjoyable occasions.

During these years meetings have been held at conveniently available places, usually at the Spink Arms Hotel. Initiation banquets, spring dances and other functions have also been held either there or at other downtown hotels or clubs.

At chapter meetings some alumnus usually discusses a phase of medicine or a subject of general interest so that the younger men may profit from his mature judgment and experience.

The spring initiation may be looked upon as an occasion when according to at least one historian (1930), "the wisdom and advice of the ages is bestowed upon the fortunate elect."

DEAN GATCH

Before the annual spring or state banquet, letters are sent to alumni over the state urging their attendance and cooperation in making this a high mark in social activities. An annual banquet and smoker for outgoing seniors is held each spring at the Y. M. C. A. The value of these and other gatherings, such as the pledge and the initiation banquets, is frequently enhanced by an instructive lecture given by some alumnus of note on a subject in which he is particularly well versed. Brief talks, toasts and responses add to the enjoyment upon occasion. Among the speakers who have frequently dispensed wit and wisdom for the benefit of their younger brothers, have been Dean Emeritus Charles P. Emerson, Dean Gatch of Indianapolis, Dean Myers of Bloomington, John Barnhill, Frank Walker, H. R. Allen, Edwin Kime, William Moenkhaus, Frank Hutchins, Louis Segar, Thurman Rice, Frank Forry, J. Don Miller and others.

The aim of the Indiana chapter in choosing the men who are to carry on the work was well stated by the 1920 historian. "Beta Eta chapter of Nu Sigma Nu is making an honest effort to develop worthy medical men and by so doing to further the grand cause in which we are enlisted. We exact high qualifications of our men before they are pledged and we expect the best work after they are taken in. By so doing we believe we can render the highest service to the order we love, and keep the oath which we have taken."

Pledge prospects are entertained with smokers held at Bloomington, where the freshman work is done. The Bloomington faculty alumni and upperclass men serving there as laboratory assistants and thus in a position to know the freshmen, are largely responsible for selecting the new men.

Continued vigilance is exercised in selection of pledges. The 1925 historian wrote, "It is our aim in looking over the Freshman class for future Nu Sig's to keep two qualifications uppermost in mind, namely, scholarship and personality."

Chapter letters bear witness to the excellent scholastic work done by the men and to the many honors they have won for their chapter. Citing but one or two examples, we note that in 1921 four out of six, and in 1925 six out of twelve men elected to Alpha Omega Alpha were Nu Sigma Nu.

In recognition of merit, numbers of assistantships and coveted hospital appointments are each year given Beta Eta men. In 1925: "The chapter is as usual well represented in the local Hospitals and in different Departments here at school." In 1929: "Of the twenty-four internes appointed to the Indianapolis City Hospital from the Indiana University School of Medicine, we are glad to announce that thirteen are Brothers of Beta Eta. Four are externes in the University Hospitals."

Two Beta Eta members led all graduates taking the 1929 examination of the State Board of Medical Examiners.

DEAN EMERSON

Outstanding among alumni and faculty members whose accomplishments have brought fame to Beta Eta are Dr. Charles P. Emerson who retired in 1930 from the Deanship of the Medical School which he had held since 1911 to become head of the Research Department. Dr. Emerson's many contributions to the school, to the fraternity and to science have brought him many honors. In 1925 he was elected to Nu Sigma Nu's Honorary Grand Council. In 1930 Dean Emerson was elected president of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene for the seventh consecutive time.

Dr. Willis Gatch has been prominently associated with Beta Eta and the school since his affiliation from Beta Beta in 1911. He served first as Professor of Surgery, later as Head of the Department of Surgery and in 1930 was appointed to succeed Dr. Emerson as Dean of the Indiana University School of Medicine and Hospitals.

An account of the accomplishments of such alumni as Doctors Myers, Moenkhaus, Barnhill, Hutchins and the many others who have served the medical school and the chapter since its early days and contributed much to its prestige, is beyond the scope of this volume.

The war had its effect at Indiana and with many faculty men in service, the medical school was severely handicapped for a time. There were many early enlistments, one of the first (1917) being that of H. Hale Hollingsworth, '20. Several of the brothers served at army camps in this country, many with the Lilly Base Hospital No. 32 in France, or in other capacities overseas. Major Frank Hutchins served in France as a specialist in Neuro-Psychiatry; Major H. R. Allen at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia as director of the Medical Training Camp; Major G. B. Jackson was with the army. Dean Emerson was a member of the Indiana Committee of the Council for National Defense. Among the many alumni who served overseas were George Hunt, Robert Moore, Clyde Startzman, Edwin Kime, Arlie Ullrich, Venice Keiser and Dwight Murray.

In compliance with the wishes of the War Department the medical school continued its course through the summer of 1918 being one of the few medical schools to adopt this speed-up plan.

Indiana had her share of experiences with army life, common to medical schools during this period. While all concerned quickly fell into line with the new regime "they were nevertheless glad to be discharged at the end of a month, for they quickly learned that school and army life made an unsatisfactory combination."

BETA THETA FRATRES IN FACULTATE

BETA THETA

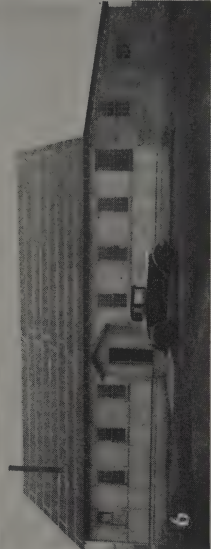

Beta Theta men have responded with unusual willingness and generosity to our requests for information. Special credit is due Robert Van Atta and Ralph Hissem of the charter group, and H. A. Alexander, '14, for letters included in part in this chapter history; Charles Isbell, Historian 1932, for information submitted in reply to our questionnaires. Bulletin letters have been generally well written and instructive for our purpose.

THE SCHOOL

A "Preparatory Medical Course" established under the administration of the University of Kansas in 1880 foreshadowed the Kansas School of Medicine which was organized in 1889, offering two years of medical instruction. In 1905 three older medical schools, the Kansas City and the Medico-chirurgical Medical Colleges, both of Kansas City, Missouri, and the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Kansas City, Kansas, were merged into the last two years of a four year medical course under the direction of the University.

Dr. Simeon Bell's gift to the University of tracts of land at Rosedale in Kansas City made possible this union. In 1907 the new buildings erected on this land were occupied by the School of Medicine. In 1913 the Kansas Medical College of Topeka was also absorbed. In 1912 an annex to Bell Hospital and in 1917 a dispensary were added.

KANSAS MEDICAL BUILDINGS

- (1) School of Medicine at Kansas City.
- (2) Nurses' Home at Kansas City.
- (3) Dyche Museum (former Anatomy Building) at Lawrence.
- (4) Snow Hall at Lawrence: Zoology, Entomology, Bacteriology.
- (5) First Laboratory Building now Occupied by Pathology and Pharmacology.
- (6) Medical Research Laboratory at Kansas City.

A new site comprising fifteen acres one mile from the old location was obtained in 1920, the purchase price having been contributed jointly by alumni and friends, by the city of Kansas City and by state appropriation. Here began the erection of a new hospital and medical plant the first unit of which was occupied in 1924. The second two units, a nurses' home and a ward building, were added in 1928 and 1929 respectively.

New Snow Hall, "one of the tallest buildings on Mount Oread, overlooks the fertile Kaw River Valley." Completed in the spring of 1930 it houses the Bacteriology Department, and is the fourth unit of the group. In 1931 a new Student Hospital was completed, the gift of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Watkins of Lawrence. It was proclaimed by the 1932 historian "one of the most beautiful and complete student hospitals in the country" and as a result of health education received here "through the coming years thousands of young people will carry from this campus a more enlightened conception of health and preventive medicine."

The first year and a half of the medical course is given at the University of Kansas at Lawrence; the last two and one-half years in Kansas City. The old site in Kansas City is given over primarily to teaching and practical work and demonstration; the new site is primarily equipped for research, particularly in experimental medicine with facilities for operative, physiological and chemical investigation.

The Bell Memorial is the University Hospital furnishing abundant clinical material through the following sources: free patients whose expenses are met by legislative appropriations; country charity cases whose expenses are borne by their respective counties throughout the state; clinical patients who through poverty are recommended by their physicians for free treatment.

Affiliated hospitals and other aids to clinical teaching are St. Margaret's, Providence, and Bethany Hospitals, all in Kansas City, Kansas; Children's Mercy Hospital in Kansas City, Missouri. In each of the above the Department of Pathology has charge of the laboratory work, thus insuring abundant material for teaching purposes. Senior students are assigned for brief periods to the state hospitals at Osawatomie and Topeka and have access to the contagious and tuberculous wards of the Kansas City General Hospital.

For supervised study of ambulant cases, the dispensary affords ample opportunity.

The present minimum required preparation for the School of Medicine, which became effective as early as 1909, is six years of high school and college work which must include certain specified courses. In addition an applicant must present evidence of good moral character and must have a personal interview with the Dean and members of the committee on admissions.

THE CHAPTER

The following preinstallation story from a letter written by a charter member, John Van Atta, 1911, is of interest: "During 1907-08 some of the boys in the medical department had organized a local medical fraternity under the name of Alpha Sigma. Ed Morgan, who later joined Zeta, now practicing at Clay Center, Kansas, was one of the prime movers in this organization. Shortly thereafter Dr. Mervin T. Sudler (Tau 1901), who was then Dean of the medical department, suggested that we apply to Nu Sigma Nu for a charter. This was prepared according to instructions of Dr. Will Walter and I was delegated to go to the Toronto Convention of the fraternity to present the petition. This was at Thanksgiving time I know, since I recall having three Thanksgiving dinners, one at Lawrence, one in Kansas City and a third in Chicago. The Chicago delegates had reserved a special car to Detroit and I was taken under their wing. Doctors Prentiss of Iowa University and Will Walter of Chicago were on board and were so very kind and considerate that I can never forget them. I recall an amusing incident of the journey: before leaving Illinois which was a wet state Dr. Prentiss and I bought all the beer there was on the train and when we entered Indiana which was dry a howl went up.

"Another man to whom I owe a debt is Dr. Abram Kerr (then Council President) of Cornell who, probably noting that I was an unusually green kid, steered me through the Convention with a directness that helped in procuring the charter."

From another charter member, Ralph Hissem, now practicing at Wichita, we have a more complete story from which we quote in part, omitting what has already been told in Van Atta's letter above and adapting his material to fit into our story.

"We went into Alpha Sigma with the idea of petitioning for the national fraternity of Phi Rho Sigma, because several of us had known men who were associated with this fraternity in medical school.

"The credit for petitioning Nu Sigma Nu, I think should be given largely to Dr. J. M. Downs (Eta 1905), who was then practicing in Ellsworth, Kansas. With his personal attitude toward our chapter and with the aid of Dr. Sudler, who had just come to the University from Johns Hopkins, we petitioned the National organization of Nu Sigma Nu and within a short time they granted us a charter.

"In the fall of 1909 Dr. Henry J. Prentiss and Dr. Mervin T. Sudler with some other National officer installed our chapter of Beta Theta. The members of Alpha Sigma who were in school at the time were taken in as a body. We had an all day session of installation and an evening banquet at the Old Eldridge Hotel.

"The charter members were nineteen, of whom one, Paul Wohler, has since died. Robert Van Atta is now practicing X-ray in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Raymond Teall is doing eye, ear, nose and throat work; Edward Gibson, neurology; George Knappenberger, internal medicine; Frank Teachenor, neurological surgery; Robert Irland, gynecology and obstetrics—all five located in Kansas City, Missouri, and the four last named being on the medical school faculty at Kansas University. Three are in Wichita; Ralph Hissem practicing urology; Howard Norton, pediatrics; Henry Hyndman in general practice. William Michener is in Topeka, Mark Brawley in Frankfort, John Brownlee in Hutchinson and Fred Powell in Macksville, all in Kansas. Two, John Bigger and Ray Smith, are doing medical missionary work in Korea. Chauncey Howell is in Galesburg, Illinois. Elmer Meyers and Cecil Smith are doing eye, ear, nose and throat work in Duluth, Minnesota and in Seattle, Washington, respectively. When Chester Heuser was last heard from he was doing research work at Harvard.

"There were two or three other fellows who were in Alpha Sigma, but ended their career as medical men and did not join the original Beta Theta chapter of Nu Sigma Nu.

"School conditions at the time were fair; having recently acquired the services of Dr. Sudler, we were gradually shaping into a real medical school. The course was a four year one. A college degree or preparatory course was not required but many of the men had attended college for one or two years.

"As to the faculty sponsors, I believe that the only man in the University who was connected with Nu Sigma Nu was Dr. Sudler, and I think that Dr. Downs was the only other Nu Sigma Nu in the state of Kansas at the time of our installation.

"After the installation of our chapter we began to enlist the efforts of several faculty members. Ours was the first medical fraternity at the University and as a result we had our choice of faculty men. Several noted men, mostly from Kansas City, Missouri, were taken in. Among these was Dr. J. F. Binnie, the author of one of the greatest text books on surgery in America. Dr. Binnie is now inactive in practice, and is a resident of the Navy and Marine Hospital in San Diego, California.

"Another of whom we are very proud is Dr. William Fitzsimmons who, serving with the Harvard unit, was the first American Officer to be killed in the Great World War. At Harvard University at the entrance to the Medical Department his name is inscribed with other members of that group.

"After entering the third year of medicine at Kansas City, Kansas, and enlisting the interest of the faculty, we soon established our first fraternity house which we enjoyed a great deal.

"Immediately after we had been taken into a national organization, medical fraternities sprang up around us like sun-flowers. We always felt that we had chosen the right national fraternity, and that we had our selection of students at the University of Kansas. We are proud to be listed as charter members of Beta Theta of Nu Sigma Nu."

The 1912 Historian, H. A. Alexander, '14, wrote Beta Theta's first published Bulletin letter, in which he reviewed the early history of his chapter, and gave an informative sketch of school and chapter as of that time. As regards chapter housing he wrote in 1912: "We are now maintaining a chapter house at Lawrence and another at Rosedale and find the houses of great benefit in unifying the chapter. At neither place do we manage a table, as we find it more satisfactory to board elsewhere. Nine men now occupy the house at Lawrence, 1037 Tennessee Street, and six men occupy the house at Rosedale, at 300 College Avenue, just across the street from Bell Memorial Hospital. There is much visiting back and forth between the two divisions as we are only forty miles apart."

The chapter continued to occupy these houses the next year, then for the first time maintaining a table.

In a recent letter (1925), Brother Alexander, then at Topeka, Kansas, wrote: "One of the serious handicaps in our chapter has always been a divided school. This has made it difficult to secure a sufficient number of the type of men that Beta Theta has insisted on, to support a chapter house properly, either at Lawrence or at Kansas City (Rosedale).

"During my active membership we reorganized the Alpha Sigma Society, at Lawrence, to serve as a pledge society for Beta Theta although we were never obligated to initiate such members into the chapter and did so only if they proved themselves desirable. At times we permitted some of the members of this society to live in the chapter house, thus overcoming somewhat the handicap above mentioned.

"Beta Theta in those days stood strongly for character and scholarship and did not go in much for the so-called social standing of prospective neophytes, a policy that has continued to this day. We were always interested and usually pleased with the official reports showing the comparative standings of the different fraternity and non-fraternity groups in the University.

"This does not mean that it was all work and no play with us for the associations in the chapter house played an important part in cementing the feeling of brotherhood among the fellows. We had some Fratres in Facultate who were frequent and welcome visitors at the house. Our association with them was a source of delight and inspiration and so it has continued to be in our lives since we were graduated."

The Lawrence division moved in 1916 to 927 Louisiana Avenue. The idea of maintaining a house in Rosedale was abandoned as impracticable since with most of the seniors holding hospital positions, only the juniors were left to occupy the house. This enabled the chapter in 1917 to furnish a better house at 939 Indiana Street in Lawrence which could accommodate sixteen men. A closer fellowship and more unified fraternal spirit resulted from the change.

The Nu Sigs, believing in the benefits to be derived therefrom, continued to maintain their chapter house throughout the upheaval which accompanied the installation of the S. A. T. C. at the University.

According to Historian Woodard of 1923, "the most important thing that occurred in the past year was the establishment of a permanent building fund, the final plans for which were perfected at last year's banquet at Kansas City. Since that time the support which this movement has received at the hands of both alumni and active members has been very encouraging.

"Another move was the obtaining during the summer of a house which is larger and better suited to our needs. This has proven to be a good thing in the light of the fact that the Executive Council has recently given us permission to enlarge our chapter to forty members."

In 1924, a furniture fund was established. The collections on the house notes began to come in. The management of the collection of this fund was transferred to Lawrence and placed in charge of Dr. R. H. Edmiston.

In 1927 Dr. Irland presented a synopsis of the House Fund covering the time since the idea was first presented to the alumni at the 1922 spring banquet. At that time each initiate was to sign notes in the amount of $50 payable in five equal yearly installments after graduation. The alumni, asked to do the same thing, responded to a man. Brothers Murphy, Schaufler and Irland were appointed custodians of the fund.

Collections languished until Henry DeWolf, '25, came along. "This straight-thinking foursquare brother of ours found that the House Fund was languishing because it was nobody's job. So he pitched in and, after devoting a considerable part of the summer vacation to this work, was able to turn in to the House Fund account a goodly portion of the money due on the house notes. DeWolf graduated. The work he had done was not carried on by any of his successors. At least no more money has been turned over to the alumni committee except DeWolf's personal remittance which was received this last fall." (Irland's report).

Dr. Irland outlined the status of the house fund and urged concerted action on this important chapter activity. As a result of his talk, the 1928 historian was able to report: "The House Fund is in good shape and the only reason for its slow growth is that the majority of the notes are not yet due."

A new chapter house at 1247 Ohio, Lawrence, in 1928 was due chiefly to the efforts of Brothers Gainey and Randall.

Alumni Irland and Murphy in 1930 helped Beta Theta to secure a larger and more convenient house at 1244 Louisiana. In 1931 however it was found advantageous to take up new quarters at 1147 Tennessee Avenue. "The new stronghold of Beta Theta is one of the finest the chapter has ever enjoyed." With it came for the first time a house mother whose efficient management of the table made for economy and enjoyment.

Beta Theta's social program has never been extensive. A series of smokers is held during the year at the Lawrence chapter house to bring together the Rosedale and Lawrence divisions and the alumni, and to introduce prospective pledges. Beta Theta's Founders' Day Banquet in February early became an established custom according to Historian Alexander of 1913. Speeches and toasts by prominent alumni have contributed much to the enjoyment of these occasions. In that year (1913), with Dean Sudler officiating, Dean George Dock of Washington University Medical School giving the principal address and Alumni Binnie, Murphy, McCarty and others responding to toasts, the event was a gala one. The annual recurrence of this enjoyable event is frequently mentioned by subsequent historians.

The annual banquet in 1916 was of outstanding interest, in that W. T. Fitzsimmons, '12, (see Ralph Hissem's letter in this story), recently returned from the Belgian war front, gave an address with slides from pictures taken overseas. In July 1917 he volunteered once more, going to France with the Harvard Unit. On September 4 he was killed by a bomb dropped upon his hospital by a German airman.

In order to keep the alumni informed the active chapter began in 1923 to publish the Beta Theta Bulletin each semester.

In 1932 Nu Sigma Nu get-togethers took the form of monthly dinner meetings. Business was conducted and an address given by some prominent Nu Sig faculty member, such men as Doctors Bohan, Major, Helwig, Irland, Orr, Kuhn and others participating in the programs offered.

Beta Theta can also excel in sports as witnessed for example by the annual Thanksgiving football game with Phi Beta Pi which was first played in 1922 and has since become a regular event. The winning team is entertained with a delicious Thanksgiving dinner at the expense of their friendly rivals. The football prowess of the Nu Sigs gave them free turkey in 1922 as it has on almost every Thanksgiving Day since then.

Beta Theta's scholarship record has been of unusual excellence from the first.

An excerpt from the Graduate Magazine of the University in 1915 tells us that "The average of Nu Sigma Nu for the year is 91.88. This is in itself something of which we should be and are justly proud; and especially when compared to the other medical fraternity, which has a standing of 64.43, and the non-fraternity standing of seventy-six. Beside these honors all four members of the senior class have hospital appointments."

In the 1918 Bulletin letter we find that: "The chapter led in medical school fraternity scholarship last year, as it has done each year since the standings have been published." The next year the Nu Sigs scholastic standing was over 20% higher than either of the other two medical fraternities on the campus.

In 1922 three out of five men of the entire University elected to Phi Beta Kappa were members of Beta Theta. In the annual report of grades from the registrar's office, Nu Sigma Nu led all other university fraternities in scholarship, by a wide margin. In 1925 four out of six honor men announced at the annual honors convocation were members of Beta Theta.

When a local chapter of Alpha Omega Alpha was established at Kansas in 1930, out of the five charter members three were Nu Sigma Nu alumni, namely, Doctors Sudler, Wahl and Ferris.

In 1931 the scholastic rating of Nu Sigma Nu advanced .21 points over her previous year's rating which was then far in advance of other medical fraternities.

The explanation for the unusual attainments of Nu Sigma Nu men may be explained simply, as was done at the annual Beta Theta Banquet in 1930, by Dr. Harry Cornwell Hays, a Theta charter member (now in Kansas City). Dr. Hays said in part: "Thirteen men established Theta Chapter with the understanding that only the very best men were to be admitted. Because of this policy, after the organization had existed for some time, it began to appear to those outside the fraternity that only Nu Sigma Nu men were being given the desirable internships, and that someone was exerting some superlative, extraordinary influence in their behalf."

Of the many Beta Theta men who have acquired some measure of fame in the scientific world and have brought honor to their school and chapter, space allows reference only to a few in this history. Dr. Logan Clendening's lectures and publications on the history of medicine and on health problems are too well known for comment. Dr. Mervin T. Sudler served ably as Dean of the Medical School until his retirement in 1925. He was succeeded by Dr. Harry Roswell Wahl under whose guidance the medical school is making a splendid showing. Dean Richard Scamman of the Minnesota School of Medicine and Dr. Russell L. Haden, Chief-in-Medicine, Cleveland Clinic, are other notable alumni of Beta Theta.

Dean Wahl was honored by election to the Honorary Council of Nu Sigma Nu, 1931-32. Dr. A. H. Beard, Beta Theta, 1914, afterwards with Beta Kappa (Harvard), and now with Epsilon (Minn.), is serving on the present Executive Council (1932-34.)

The chapter's gratitude to one of her younger faculty alumni was expressed by Historian Bales, 1930, as follows: "Special mention is to be given Brother Cecil G. Leitch ('27) who has helped us with many of our initiations and various fraternity problems ever since the time of his active membership."

Charter

To all Men throughout the World, Greetings:

Know Ye, that the Grand Council of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, having special confidence in the persons who have subscribed their names on the margin has granted the Charter to them and their successors constituting and establishing them as the

to be located in the Student Department of Tulane University of Louisiana, New Orleans, Louisiana, invested with all the powers and privileges of a Chapter of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, while acting in conformity with the Constitution and Laws of the Order. And Beta Iota Chapter is empowered to confer the degree of Nu Sigma Nu upon all persons lawfully qualified and elected to receive the same. And Beta Iota Chapter is also empowered to make By Laws for its own government according to the Constitution and Laws of the Order.

The officers and members of this Beta Iota Chapter by accepting this Charter, pledge themselves to act at all times in conformity with and in obedience to the Constitution and Laws of the Order now in force or that may hereafter be established in default of which this Charter may be revoked, suspended, or taken away by the Grand Council.

In testimony, we, the officers of the Executive Council of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, subscribe our names and affix the seal of the Grand Council this, the fourth day of January, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Ten.

BETA IOTA FRATRES IN FACULTATE

BETA IOTA

The story of Tulane Medical School has been culled from several sources; that of the chapter from the Bulletins which have been consistently complete. In order to insure the accuracy the whole manuscript was submitted to Alumnus Harold Bloom, B. I., '18, and with a minor addition stands approved. We are grateful for the generous cooperation.

W-W

THE SCHOOL

DOCTOR MATAS

The Medical Department of the University of Louisiana, the oldest medical college in the Southwest, was organized in September, 1834, as the Medical College of Louisiana. The first session began in January, 1835, with eleven students; in March, 1836, the first degrees ever conferred in medicine or in science either in Louisiana or in the Southwest, were issued here. Up to the present time, Louisiana ranks first among the southwest schools in the total number of medical degrees granted—something over six thousand.

Mrs. Ida A. Richardson, whose husband, Dr. T. G. Richardson, had been associated with the Medical Department as Professor and as Dean, for many years, donated one hundred and forty thousand dollars to the School of Medicine in 1891. At her death in 1910, a further bequest was made.

There have been many minor though important bequests and four major donations, to-wit: that of Mr. Alexander Hutchinson of New Orleans in 1912, of funds aggregating over seven hundred thousand dollars "for improvements in the laboratory and clinical facilities of the School of Medicine", and for a building known as the new Josephine Hutchinson Memorial Building, which was formally opened on December 10, 1930. This was a nine-story structure complete in all details, making "a new era in the study of medicine in the south."

The General Education Board and the Carnegie Corporation of New York each gave sums and made pledges for endowment of this school; in 1925, the General Education Board enlarged its gifts of support to a substantial annuity to be extended in six years; in 1926 a further annuity was added toward maintenance of the Department of Surgery.

Her proximity to the tropical countries made Tulane seem the logical point for the study of diseases peculiar to the tropics. In 1912 a Department of Tropical Diseases was established, which led to the Vincent endowed chair of Tropical Diseases and Hygiene in 1916. During 1925 and 1926, certain philanthropists in New Orleans, who were interested in the development of a strong Department of Tropical Medicine at Tulane, agreed to give during a three year period an amount sufficient in addition to the income from the Vincent bequest already made to bring the annual income for the Department of Tropical Medicine to twenty-five thousand dollars. Some of these donors are still continuing substantial donations in support of this department, the first and the most important of its kind.

In 1928, a large appropriation was made by the General Education Board for the erection and equipment of the New Clinic Building, which was formally opened on December 10, 1930.

Finally, beginning with the session 1931-32, the Commonwealth Fund of New York agreed to give to the School of Medicine fifteen thousand dollars a year for a period of three years, to establish a Department of Preventive Medicine and to promote the development of courses in preventive medicine in the school.

These generous donations have combined to put Tulane in the forefront of medical research and teaching facilities. Students spend their first two years on pre-clinical subjects on the University Campus, and the final two years in clinical work in the wards, operating rooms and outpatient departments of the several hospitals, and working in the laboratories, library and conference rooms.

Physically the school has kept pace, resulting in more than adequate housing and equipment, consisting of:

The New Josephine Hutchinson Memorial Building, completed and occupied in December 1930, containing the administration offices; the library, with main reading room, periodical room and special reading rooms; a large auditorium with modern projection facilities including vitaphone projection; laboratories and other facilities for research and other special work of the staff and the students, and for admission and care of patients conducted in close co-operation with the Charity Hospital. A unique feature in this building is provision of what corresponds to private offices for each senior student. Here under close supervision and guidance by members of the teaching staff, students conduct, or take part in, the examination and treatment of patients as they should do in actual practice, and with practically the same facilities; The Richardson Memorial Building on the Tulane Campus with departmental research laboratories and lecture rooms; The Science Building; The Charity Hospital; The Out Clinics; The Milliken Memorial for Children; The Touro Infirmary, and the Delgado Memorial for Surgery. (The greatest significance is attached to this, Mr. Delgado's gift, from the point of view of medical education and progress, as it is specifically stated that the operative material of the Memorial shall always be at the disposition of the heads of the departments of Surgery and Gynecology in the School of Medicine of Tulane University.)

Beginning with the session of 1913-14 the name of the medical department was changed to the College of Medicine, embracing the School of Medicine, the Graduate School of Medicine, and the Schools of Pharmacy and Dentistry.

In 1912 entrance requirements for admission equalled about two years of college work, the plan being to provide a five year medical course. In 1917 the school settled upon a two year pre-medical requirement, completed in schools approved by the Council of Medical Education of the American Medical Association.

The College of Arts and Sciences also offers the Scientific Course of four years, of which the completion of three years will qualify for admission to the School of Medicine, provided that in this work the student has included all the general requirements for the study of Medicine. Upon the completion of the freshman year in medicine, the applicant may receive the degree of Bachelor of Science from the College of Arts and Sciences.

THE CHAPTER

DOCTOR HARDESTY

The installation of Beta Iota of Tulane University took place on February 9, 1910. Since at the time her organization was planned there were four hundred and one medical students with seven fraternities already in the field, the greater number of Beta Iota's charter members were necessarily lower classmen. The following names appear upon her charter: D. P. West, Charles J. Bloom, W. F. Scott, John McKowen, J. E. Smith, Ross R. May, J. A. Shackelford, H. S. Barbour, R. E. Wynne, Waldemar Metz, H. W. Wade, King Rand, J. P. S. Moulton and W. E. Mooreland. The installation was conducted by Alumni Duval of Lambda, Hardesty of Kappa, George Dock, Henry Stiles and John Page of Alpha, all of whom were then teaching in Tulane, and a representative of the Grand Council.

Of the charter group at last accounts West was in Norfolk, Virginia, McKowen at Baton Rouge, Smith at Knoxville, May at Whitewright, Texas, Schackelford at Ranger, Texas; Barbour in the Navy, Metz in New Orleans, Wade with the leper colony in the Philippine Islands' health service, Mooreland at Powhatan, Louisiana; Wynne is enlisted; Bloom is in New Orleans, active advisor to the chapter; King Rand is in Alexandria, La.; Scott (1919) and Moulton (1925) are dead.

At the time of the installation of Beta Iota Chapter the first two years of instruction were given on the campus, and the work of the junior and senior years in the Hutchinson Memorial Hospital, located near the business section of the city and six miles from the campus, on Canal Street. This arrangement separated the chapter but gave the upperclassmen the advantage of the Charity Hospital, one of the largest hospitals in the United States.

In 1912 Beta Iota was instrumental in the formation of a medical pan-hellenic council for the promotion of better feeling among the fraternities and the regulation of rushing, pledging, and other activities. In 1924 this council passed a rule forbidding the pledging of men before the end of the second week of the session. Eight fraternities joined in this council.

With a view to eliminating the initiation of men who might leave school on account of their studies, Beta Iota early followed the precedent of many of her sister chapters in requiring freshmen to pass one trimester's work before becoming eligible for initiation, again setting a standard for other medical fraternities at Tulane. A year or two thereafter the other fraternities united to form a council which provided similar regulations to a certain degree in all medical fraternities.

In 1920 and 1921 the winners of the Rhodes Scholarship were Beta Iota men. Of ninety-eight men elected to Alpha Omega Alpha over a period of eleven years, twenty-five men had been Nu Sigma Nus, an average of twenty-six per cent, although the membership of Beta Iota had averaged approximately only six per cent of the total enrollment over this period. Nu Sigma Nu had received a greater number of appointments than had any two other of the eight medical fraternities of Tulane, a sufficient indication that Beta Iota rated with her sister chapters in scholarship.

The Grunewald Hotel was the meeting place of the chapter in the early years of her existence. Though the alumni group was small a committee composed of one faculty member, a local alumnus and one active, had already been appointed to formulate plans for the purchase of a chapter house as soon as possible. At this time no other medical fraternity at Tulane owned or rented a house, and Beta Iota hoped to be the first to accomplish this.

Beta Iota rented her first home in 1918 at 2019 Melan Street with the aid of her alumni who contributed toward the furnishings, thus realizing her ambition to be the first of Tulane's medical fraternities to establish a chapter house. Before the house was occupied, however, it had to be given over for service to the S. A. T. C. In 1919 the chapter was established at 6325 South Franklin Street, a comfortable home which they continued to occupy through 1924, when a third move was made to a house at 1229 Calhoun Street. This house was occupied until 1930, when the chapter moved to 7717 St. Charles Avenue to remain through 1931. "Housed in the hospitable atmosphere of this old antebellum plantation home, the chapter enjoyed a social position that was enviable, all chapter dances being held in the house."

The housing problem had been early taken up by the organization in 1918 of the Beta Iota Nu Sigma Nu Alumni Association of which Faculty Alumnus Duval, affiliated from Lambda, was president. This association has sponsored and upheld the chapter from the first and brought well laid plans for the permanent home of the chapter to fruition in the establishment of a permanent home at 1733 Calhoun Street, where the chapter established itself in 1932. This house we are able to picture, though it is not properly a part of the story covered by this volume.

Beta Iota adopted a novel plan for conducting the financial affairs of the chapter house in 1930, a plan that is still proving successful as we go to press, and one worth emulating. We quote:

"Each man in the house pays his rent and board monthly to the boarding club, which in turn pays as a whole the chapter account for the use of the house. The men out of the house, of course, are concerned directly with the chapter account. Any deficit in the chapter account occasioned by the delinquency of any individual in paying his dues and obligations is to be prorated at the beginning of each month, so that each member's dues for the month will be just that much more. When the delinquent payment is made the pro rata dues for the month following payment will, of course, be correspondingly reduced. The plan may appear to be intricate and impractical, but we feel that it is a healthy and interesting experiment and sincerely believe that when once put into operation will bring about a much greater co-operation in keeping the chapter finances in excellent shape with the prompt payment of all obligations."

We quote also from the address of Faculty Alumnus Rudolph Matas, given at the annual banquet held on October 1, 1932, words to inspire other chapter groups to increased effort for a fraternity home.

"I am particularly pleased to join in this celebration since it permits me to congratulate the officers and managers of the chapter on the assured success of the chapter house, which, after going through the many storms and vicissitudes that for a number of years threatened its very foundation, has now been reinforced and cemented with a rock-like solidity that insures its stability and resistance against all future seismic disturbance. For this happy consummation the chapter owes a debt of gratitude to the loyalty and devotion of its founders and to none more gratefully than to our Toastmaster, Dr.

Harold Bloom, whose untiring efforts, ceaseless vigilance and cheerful confidence, in the face of diversity, has found its best reward in the realization of his dream of ultimate success which we see so brilliantly reflected here tonight.

"I rejoice in the assurance of an established chapter house, since it is the chapter house that stands as the alternate, or next best substitute for the home of those who, living far away from the domestic circle and their native hearth, find themselves gathered as one family under the shelter of a common roof wherein they may nurse their scholastic ambitions and prosecute their labors and their studies in an atmosphere of mutual sympathy and comradeship. The home is the foundation upon which the chapter is built, and we, the older members, especially rejoice in its permanence and security, since it stands as the castle wherein our fraternity may exercise with advantage its honorable as well as economic functions; and where it may perpetuate its hospitable tradition for the profit of a future as well as the present generation of congenial Beta Iota."

Meetings were held bimonthly in Odd Fellows Hall in the early days. The atmosphere of New Orleans tends to develop the social side of any organization, and with this closely united group these meetings became very enjoyable affairs. The separation of the students into two groups was offset by frequent rendezvous at the many central cafes, for which the city is famous. And even in later days many of the formal dances were held down town, the 1925 formal dance being at the Patio Royale. The alumni gave a banquet to the active chapter at La Louisiane restaurant in 1929. Later, for a change, the chapter held a spring picnic on Lake Pontchartrain. In the 1931 Bulletin we note that "the size of our chapter house enables us to hold our social affairs in our own home, and Nu Sigma Nu dances, which are held about five times a year, have set a new standard in social affairs among fraternities at Tulane." Again "the chapter has recently instituted a program whereby some distinguished member of the medical profession in New Orleans is a guest for dinner at some time during each two weeks of the school year. We have been fortunate in receiving the valuable viewpoints of men who have made a place for themselves in the medical world." And in 1932: "Popular social activities augmented the close feeling between the active and alumni groups, general informality and geniality prevailing. During the winter and spring months two dances were held; one at the Orleans Club, a tea dance, the other an evening dance at our own chapter house. At the latter were representatives of Phi Chi, Alpha Kappa Kappa, Theta Kappa Psi and Phi Rho Sigma."

Tulane has two upperclass societies, the Pathogens and the Owls, devoted to the promotion of a better feeling between faculty and students by the open discussion of student problems and faculty-student relationship. In order to hold such discussions these clubs meet separately with representative faculty men at small informal dinners, the clubs acting as hosts. Beta Iota has maintained her full quota in these organizations.

The Beta Iota Nu Sigma Nu Alumni Association holds unique relations with Beta Iota Chapter. The alumni consider themselves, in effect, active fellows of the chapter. At the annual "pledge" dinner which they give, they elect their own officers and a committee is appointed by the President. This committee selects alumni to make addresses at chapter meetings. One alumnus attends every meeting, delegated by the President of the Association, in case he cannot attend. The Alumni Association thus not only sponsors the personnel and standing of the men of the chapter, but is advisory in its business affairs and is in all respects a partner.

Of service in the great war much more can be said than space allows. Many men were in service and served with distinction. Classes in military surgery were conducted at the Charity Hospital and Touro Infirmary by Major Rudolph Matas. Base Hospital Unit No. 24 was organized late in 1917. The war department established a school of telegraphy, and French classes with free tuition for drafted men were organized. With the return of the last of the alumni from overseas in 1920 the chapter claimed her full quota of active and alumni members and was able to point with pride to her one hundred per cent service.

Chapter

To all Men throughout the World Greeting:

Know Ye that the Grand Council of Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, representing general confidence in the persons who have subscribed their names in the foregoing, has resolved that it do hereby confer the degree of Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity upon the Beta Kappa Chapter of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity to be located in the Massena, Hudson School in the city of Hudson, Massachusetts, which acting in conformity with the Constitution and Laws of the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, Council, is empowered to confer the degree of Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, in which it is duly qualified and entitled to receive the same, and does hereby confer the same upon the said Beta Kappa Chapter, for its own government according to the Constitution and Laws of the Fraternity.
 In testimony whereof, the Grand Council of Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, do hereby that this charter play themselves loyal at all times in conformity with the in relation to the Constitution and Laws of the Fraternity, and in the event hereafter be established, in default of which this charter may be annulled and the same may be annulled by the Grand Council.
 In testimony whereof, the officers of the Council, do hereby do hereby subscribe our names and affix the seal of the Council, at the said health day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen

BETA KAPPA

The sketch of the Harvard Medical School and the history of Beta Kappa chapter have been gleaned from school publications, from Nu Sigma Nu files, from the excellent Bulletin letters written by the chapter historians and from personal recollections. These last include events leading to the granting of the charter, the establishment of the chapter and close contact with the fellows in the formative period, a relationship which culminated after two years when the author left Boston, carrying among his few possessions a beautiful and much prized set of Montaigne in which the following inscription was written on one fly leaf: "With the Gratitude of Beta Kappa of Nu Sigma Nu, May 14, 1914." Needless to say, the recipient has always felt a sentimental pride in the achievements of Beta Kappa and the splendid standards of her members.

S. G.

THE SCHOOL

The course in medicine at Harvard was established in 1782. Instruction was given in the buildings of the College, Harvard Hall and Holden Chapel, until 1810, when the classes were transferred to Boston. In 1816 the first Medical School building was erected. From 1882 until 1906 the School occupied the building at the corner of Boylston and Exeter Streets, now used by Boston University. In 1906 the university completed a notable group of five marble buildings on a site of eleven acres on Longwood Avenue, all for medicine.

HARVARD MEDICAL BUILDINGS

- (A) Harvard Medical School Group. (B) Peter Bent Brigham Hospital Group. (C) Children's Hospital. (D) Beth Israel Hospital Group. (E) Boston-Lying-In Hospital and Richardson House. (F) Vanderbilt Hall—Medical Dormitory. (G) Harvard School of Public Health. (H) Harvard Medical School Power Plant. (I) Nurses' Home. (J) Longwood Professional Building. (K) Carnegie Laboratory.

The new Harvard School has become the center of several magnificent affiliated hospitals. Facing the main Administration Building is the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, dedicated in 1913 with 246 beds for general medical and surgical cases, all for teaching. Adjacent to the school on Longwood Avenue is the Children's Hospital of 281 beds, 228 available for teaching. Adjacent to and under the management of the Children's Hospitals is the Thomas Morgan Rotch, Jr., Memorial Hospital for Infants with fifty beds for teaching. Nearby on Longwood Avenue is the Boston Lying-in Hospital with 129 beds, of which 112 are used for teaching. Some 1,200 extra-mural cases are handled also by third and fourth-year students each year. In the near vicinity are the Free Hospital for Women with ninety-seven beds, the Boston Psychopathic Hospital with 105 beds, the Collis P. Huntington Memorial Hospital and the J. Collins Warren Laboratory of Bio-Physics with twenty-three beds for the study of malignant neoplasms, the House of the Good Samaritan with eighty beds for the study of rheumatic heart disease and the New England Deaconess Hospital which includes a new fifty-bed diabetic building and the Palmer Memorial Unit devoted to cancer and chronic disease.

In addition to this notable group, but somewhat further away, the school has teaching facilities in the famous Massachusetts General Hospital of 714 beds, affiliated since its foundation in 1821; the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary with 213 beds and the Boston City Hospital with 2535 beds, not including the Sanatorium Division for tuberculosis patients with 616 beds.

Closely associated with the School of Medicine is the School of Public Health adjoining on Longwood Avenue.

Library facilities correspond to hospital facilities and the school offers an unusual number of prizes, scholarships and loans, which almost guarantee graduation and post-graduate study for any needy student who can qualify intellectually. Beside the M.D. degree, the school awards the degrees of Master of Arts, Doctor of Philosophy and Doctor of Medical Sciences, "primarily for high attainment in a selected science."

Students are finely cared for in Vanderbilt Hall, a beautiful dormitory adjoining the school, with accommodations for 335 students. The Hall has a gymnasium, squash courts, four tennis courts and a large dining commons.

The Harvard Medical Faculty includes 110 professors and 370 instructors and assistants, a total of 480. The total registration in 1932-33 was 519, graduates 129.

THE CHAPTER

Beta Kappa at Harvard was founded as the result of the intense desire of four Nu Sigma Nu Seniors for a chapter there. These Seniors were Charles Owen McCormick from Beta Eta (Indiana), Edgar Matthias Medlar from Beta Epsilon (Nebraska), Byron Polk Stookey from Nu (Southern California) and Alexander Hamilton Williamson from Phi (California). In June, 1912, Stookey on his way to California stopped in Chicago to see Dr. E. E. Irons, then secretary of the Executive Council, who advised him to organize a group of petitioners to apply for a charter. Spurred by this encouragement Stookey gathered on October 5, 1912, in his room in Grays Hall, Cambridge, the four mentioned above, together with two Juniors, Ivan Roy Burket and Ward Hance Cook from Beta Theta (Kansas), and one Sophomore, William John Kerr, from Phi (California). Two more Juniors were added as petitioners: Archibald Hildreth Beard, from Beta Theta, and Clay Crawford from Theta (Cincinnati). Thus Brothers from the Ohio Valley, the Middle West and the Pacific Coast, finding themselves in the conservative cloisters of old Harvard and feeling the need and opportunity for the fraternity, petitioned the Executive Council for a charter under which they could gather other kindred spirits and start a chapter in a far Eastern school of ancient traditions and high standards. Before the petition was filed Stookey secured the hearty approval of Dean Bradford, who became the first charter member from the faculty. The situation was unique.

The petition was referred to Dr. Stuart Graves, Mu, '11, then on service in the Pathology Laboratory of the Boston City Hospital. Although convinced of the earnestness of the men and of their ability to uphold the good name of the order, he had some doubt of the feasibility of maintaining a strong chapter at the Harvard Medical School, due to the prevailing opinion that fraternities did not thrive at Harvard. This condition may have existed in academic circles in Cambridge, but was found to be less pronounced in the medical school, owing to ever-increasing students from colleges wherein fraternities flourished.

Persuaded that Harvard was ready for a medical fraternity of national standing, Dr. Graves agreed to recommend a charter. Several faculty men were quietly pledged. At the seventeenth convention in Baltimore in November, 1912, Brothers Stookey and Kerr represented the petitioners and Dr. Graves was chairman of the Cemmittee on Extension. The charter was granted by unanimous vote of the Grand Council.

DOCTOR CUSHING

A further compliment was paid to Harvard and Hopkins when the convention elected Dr. Harvey Cushing, Beta Beta, '95, head of the Department of Surgery at Harvard, as chairman of the Honorary Council. The Harvard representatives returned home enthusiastic. Beta Kappa was formally instituted the night of March 15, 1913, at the Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston by Professor Henry W. Stiles of Syracuse, assisted by Dr. Stuart Graves, then president and custodian respectively of the Executive Council.

The charter members were nine leading professors, Edward H. Bradford, Edward L. Nichols, George G. Sears, Paul Thorndike, John Bapst Blake, Abner Post, Elliott P. Joslin, Frank Burr Mallory and John Lovett Morse, and the following undergraduates:

1913—Charles Owen McCormick of Lafayette, Ind., transferred from Beta Eta (Indiana); Edgar Matthias Medler of Lincoln, Nebr., transferred from Beta Epsilon (Nebraska); Byron Polk Stookey of Los Angeles, Calif., transferred from Nu (Southern California); Alexander Hamilton Williamson of Independence, Iowa, transferred from Phi (California).

1914—Archibald Hildreth Beard of La Junta, Colo., transferred from Beta Theta (Kansas); Clay Crawford of Fort Thomas, Ky., transferred from Theta (Cincinnati); Ivan Roy Burket of Wetmore, Kans., transferred from Beta Theta (Kansas); Ward Hance Cook of Lawrence, Kans., transferred from Beta Theta (Kansas).

1915—William John Kerr of Doris, Calif., transferred from Phi (California).

BETA KAPPA CHAPTER HOUSE—HARVARD 1932

256 Kent Street, Brookline, Mass.

After the installation the following undergraduates were initiated:

- 1914—Cyrus Hartwell Fisk, A. M., Minnesota, of St. Paul and Horace Gray, A. B., Harvard, of Boston.
- 1915—Kenneth Llewellyn Dole, A. B., Stanford, of Jamaica Plain, Mass., and Donald John MacPherson, A. B., Rochester, of Palmyra, N. Y.
- 1916—Hilmar Koefod, B. S., Beloit, of Glenwood, Minn.; John Herbert Waite, B. S., Bucknell, of Bellefonte, Pa.; Carl Thorburn Harris, B. S., Rochester, of Boston; Clarence Henry Hyman, A. B., Heidelberg College, of Payne, Ohio.

The new chapter started with high ideals and its members quickly assumed leadership in school affairs. Burket held a teaching fellowship in physiology. Beard won the Joseph Everth III scholarship. Koefod won the David Williams Cheever scholarship for 1913. McCormick and Stookey won surgical internships at the Boston City Hospital on graduation, Williamson a medical internship at the New York Hospital and Medler a pathological internship at the Boston City Hospital. Gray was elected president of the student body.

The spring of 1915 brought three more prominent faculty men into membership: Reid Hunt, Francis W. Peabody and Harris P. Mosher. Graduates were now entering positions leading to the eminence later attained by many of them. Professor Cushing headed the first Harvard unit, American Ambulance Corps, on its way to France in March, and Professor Nichols headed the second Harvard unit in June. Many of the younger graduates entered the service.

On March 17, 1917, Dr. C. Morton Smith was added to the faculty group.

Chapter letters through the years show a generous proportion of school honors and prizes coming to the chapter and the most desirable hospital appointments on graduation. A comfortable home in Brookline was maintained, in which faculty members frequently were entertained and gave in return words of wisdom and humor to their pupils. A fine relationship has ever existed between the older and younger generations. From time to time new faculty members joined the ranks, Worth Hale in March, 1921; Otto Folin, Frank Howard Lahey, William Reid Morrison and Gilbert Horrax, in May, 1922. Christmas and Thanksgiving parties were favorite gathering times for young and old.

The active chapter membership gradually increased to forty and the old house on Brookline Avenue proved inadequate. In the fall of 1921, the chapter purchased a larger and more comfortable home at 256 Kent Street. Chapter life then became more intensified. Frequent addresses were made by faculty members. The chapter library grew steadily. Kirke Cushing, who had been president of the chapter, was tragically drowned on May 25, 1919. His mother gave to the chapter his excellent library and it became the nucleus of the "Kirke Cushing Memorial Library." A large proportion of the graduates were going into teaching and research. Already the Alumni Notes of the chapter letters in the Bulletin contained numerous references to appointments of younger graduates to responsible positions.

DOCTOR JOSLIN

Active membership was increased to fifty-three in 1923. The chapter house was then owned by the Nu Sigma Nu Corporation, of which Dr. Elliott P. Joslin was president. In 1924-26 Doctor Joslin was honored by the fraternity in election as Honorary Galen.

In 1924 the faculty members were augmented by appointment of Hans Zinsser of Columbia, Kenneth D. Blackfan of Cincinnati and Lawrence H. Smith of the University of the Philippines, all already Nu Sigma Nu men. The next year Nathaniel Allison came from Washington University and Cyrus Fiske returned from Western Reserve to join the faculty group.

In the fall of 1927 came a radical change when Vanderbilt Hall was opened as a student dormitory opposite the Medical School. The chapter wisely disposed of the old house and carried its memories and its membership to the new dormitory. A group of rooms were secured for the individual members and one large room was furnished and has been maintained for a chapter club room. The venture has proved most satisfactory. The character and unity and spirit of the chapter have been ever strengthened and the financial responsibility has been greatly lightened. Attention formerly given to the maintenance of the house has been turned to scholarship, fellowship and friendship. Fraternity spirit has continued strong. Occasional social affairs have been held elsewhere with even greater success than in the old house. Three years experience epitomized in the 1930 chapter letter offers food for thought for the active members and alumni of chapters in large cities with their ever present problem of chapter house life:

"Three years ago Vanderbilt Hall was opened as the first Medical School dormitory in the country. In brief description, let us say that the building, situated directly across the street from the school building, provides not only room accommodations for over half of the undergraduates, but also a large dining hall, a roomy and comfortable lounge, a gymnasium, and squash courts. At that time it was felt advisable to give up the old chapter house on Kent Street and move en masse into the new dormitory. This was not done, however, without many vague fears and regrets. Lo, the experiment has proved a most happy success! The school as a whole is more closely knit together, there is more social contact between classes and between students and faculty. Moreover, Beta Kappa has lost neither individuality nor prestige. Our club room is maintained for meetings and informal gatherings, there is a private dining room for dinners, and there are the dances."

And so Beta Kappa's history comes down to 1932. Never was the chapter stronger or more loyal. Many honors have been won. Life has been full and happy, but a note of sadness comes in memory of some strong men gone, not the least of whom are Brothers Bradford, Nichols and Peabody. They have left precious and inspiring heritage. The chapter faces the next half century of the fraternity confident and loyal and determined to hold high the torch for those who are coming later.

TEXAS MEDICAL BUILDINGS

BETA LAMBDA

To Brother William B. Sharp, Kappa, '14, Professor of Bacteriology and Preventive Medicine at Texas, we are indebted for his sketch of The School. The installation of Beta Lambda is recalled by the author as a pleasant incident of his wedding trip in the Christmas vacation of 1915. Other data have been compiled from the Grand Galen's records and the creditable Bulletin letters which Beta Lambda's historians have sent from the beginning.

THE SCHOOL

In 1881 the State of Texas determined through popular election to add to its university a medical department at Galveston, which city for many years had made earnest though unpretentious efforts to supply the state with much needed doctors.

The Galveston Medical College of Soule University had first opened before the Civil War. Reorganized after a disruption by that war, it secured for classwork the second floor of a down town frame building and for clinics the Island City Hospital, and offered a four months session. With little financial support progress proved difficult. Disbanded in 1873 when Soule University moved away from Texas, that college was supplanted by the Texas Medical College and Hospital, which was better supported financially and more heartily endorsed by the medical profession.

The Texas State Medical Association, in a resolution passed shortly prior to the 1881 election, contended that the state university's medical department ought to be segregated from the main university and located at Galveston. That view carried, and the Texas Medical College discontinued its work to make way for the new venture. The succeeding few legislatures failed, however, to appropriate building and maintenance funds; so for several years nothing developed. As the much needed medical education in the state had stopped, the profession became more and more impatient. Galveston physicians, backed by the city council, submitted to the governor and legislature a memorial dwelling on the need for early action, and the Sealy family of Galveston offered to erect and donate a teaching hospital. Appropriations still failed to pass. The trustees of the old Texas Medical College were prevailed on to reopen their school until the state should establish one. The John Sealy Hospital was built and given to the city of Galveston. Then the legislature of 1889-90 appropriated funds for the erection of medical college buildings. The city gave ground for a campus and transferred to the university the Sealy Hospital.

The Medical College of the University of Texas opened October 1, 1891. Strong men headed its various departments, leaders of the local profession and other desirable men from the East and from Great Britain. Excellent building and hospital facilities were available for the inception of their work, but maintenance funds were hardly ample and the building was practically devoid of teaching appliances. The library consisted of a few old books and occasional periodicals.

The initial problem was development of materials for teaching. Scant funds were stretched out a long way. Museums, library and other equipment had gradually approached adequate proportions when in 1900 a hurricane wrecked the city and the striving college. Energetically faculty, regents and the Sealy family set about restoration and that year's session was only delayed. This experience must have awakened an interest in the young school, for things began to go better. Appropriations were increased and more teachers were obtained. New units were acquired, a Children's Hospital through the Antituberculosis Association and an Isolation Hospital in conjunction with the federal quarantine service. The University Regents provided permanent or semipermanent buildings to meet certain crying needs and Mr. Sealy substantial additions to the hospital. Slow but steady progress marked the quarter century following the storm.

The Medical College had many advantages. When the American Medical Association classified medical colleges on their teaching facilities, this was one of the few to receive at once the highest rating. Growth of physical plant, however, was far outstripped by that of laboratories, museums, library, etc. Quarters became more and more crowded, until congestion almost stifled expansion. Hundreds of mounted dissections, excellent product of many years' painstaking skill in anatomy, accumulated about lecture hall and laboratories wherever a few feet of unused space would receive them. Thousands of pathological specimens reposed in the alcove under the amphitheater's seats. The histology department did its work in a laboratory adequate only for a section of the class and in the horse shoe of room under a second amphitheater's seats. The bacteriology department borrowed this histology laboratory for microscopic work. Its own space was confined to one room for cultural work and sterilization, one small room for all staff office work, one room for technical preparation, staff and advanced student laboratory work and all storage, and a dark stair-head closet for washing glassware. The bio-chemistry department occupied the basement. The library greatly overflowed its quarters. So with all departments. Since endeavors at expansion did not diminish, the congestion increased year by year. Then relief came.

Beginning with the second quarter of the century, the University most happily became wealthier. Somebody had struck oil on its domain. The Regents now found themselves able to give the medical department a fireproof building large enough to accommodate several teaching departments and the library. A few years later they nearly doubled its capacity. They modernized the old main building at an expenditure approximating the original cost. Those same years brought to the John Sealy Hospital an endowment of many million dollars. The estate of a later John Sealy was bequeathed it, magnificent crowning gift from a family that had contributed continually to the institution's clinical facilities. Clinical departments and the College of Nursing received new accommodations comparable with those of the laboratory departments. An elaborate hospital unit was erected and equipped to house out-clinic activities and various laboratories. Another new building provided generously for residence and classwork of nurses.

All this initiated a new era in the school's development. Departments found themselves freed of traditional handicaps. Revision of courses allowed much more logical teaching and at the same time relieved students of excessive working hours. Scientific investigation lost some of the handicaps caused previously by lack of room and equipment. The library's 27,000 volumes with 260 complete sets of periodicals could be conveniently and comfortably utilized. Elaborate museums of anatomy and pathology and a smaller one of parasitology were now classified so that any specimen was immediately available. The service for out patients already had a fine reputation throughout the city and beyond, but the spacious and luxurious new accommodations soon increased this clinical material from some thirty-two thousand to about sixty-two thousand visits a year. Much of the educational scheme was quietly re-organized.

The State of Texas may now look with pride on her modern and highly developed medical school. The School looks with pride upon the doctors it has furnished and is furnishing to the State. In that can be seen the accomplishment of its mission.

THE CHAPTER

DOCTOR HORTON

Beta Lambda Chapter, founded in the University of Texas School of Medicine at Galveston on December 20, 1915, had its inception in the mind of Joseph Julian Horton of Grand Prairie, Texas, when a Freshman. In his Sophomore year he gathered worthy friends in his class and they invited a few Freshmen into their circle. Their standing in school and the rank of the University readily won a favorable vote of the Grand Council and the chapter was installed by Dr. Stuart Graves of Louisville, Ky., then president of the Executive Council, assisted by Dr. M. B. Stokes, Kappa, '09, and Dr. A. P. Howard, Lambda, '01, of Houston, and Brothers Henderson and Pound of Beta Iota chapter at Tulane. Installation ceremonies at the Hotel Galvez were followed by a banquet. The ten charter members, all from Texas, were: Walter Lesesne Anders of Palestine, B. A., George Washington, 1915; Johnson Rose Anderson of Killan, B. A., Texas, 1913; James William Boyle of Shamrock, B. A., Austin College, 1911; Leonard Francis Gilliland of Ranger, B. A., Texas, 1915; Phineas Earl Gilliland of Ranger; John Ewart Hill of Jefferson, B. A., Methodist University of Oklahoma, 1914; Joseph Julian Horton of Grand Prairie; Oran Robert Lasater of Santo; J. T. Robison of Naples, and Clifford Thomas Womack of Eldorado. Five neophytes initiated on installation night were Cole Keely of San Antonio; Waldo Burton Lasater of Austin, B. A., Texas, 1915; William Robert Leatherage of Dallas, B. A., Texas, 1915; Clarence Virgil Nichols of Lamposas, all from Texas, and McDonald Orman of Russellville, Ala.

Beta Lambda started with fourteen natives of the Lone Star State and one Alabamian, hundreds of miles from its nearest sister chapter and without one faculty member as advisor. They do big things in a big way in the biggest State in the Union. Pioneer blood runs strong. Standards of scholarship and character were set high at the beginning and the little group compensated for lack of numbers with hard work and enthusiasm. By the next session the chapter had rented a comfortable chapter house. Just one year from installation six more strong men were initiated in the new house at 1005 Avenue B, one block from the Medical School. Eighteen members lived in the house that winter and chapter finances were on a sound basis. The chapter supplied men for an Assistantship in Anatomy, Secretary of the Student's Dining Club, Business Manager of the Medical School Annual and to Phi Beta Kappa.

The third year Beta Lambda found itself strong in all four classes and meeting competition successfully. Brother Nichols and Brother Treadwell left school for camp with the Texas National Guard, training for commissions to go to France. Several Brothers were student assistants or winners of other honors.

In 1918 Graduates Horton and Lasater obtained commissions as Lieutenants in the Navy. The S. A. T. C. converted the chapter house into barracks.

Fratres in Facultate were welcomed in 1921, when W. B. Sharp, Kappa, '14, joined the faculty as Professor of Bacteriology and Preventive Medicine, C. C. Gault, Epsilon, '20, as Professor of Physiology and J. R. Anderson, Beta Lambda, '18, became pathologist to the John Sealy Hospital. Brother W. B. Lasater became Instructor in Anatomy in 1920. Although the chapter continued rather small it steadily won honors, such as student assistantships and Alpha Omega Alpha. Its young graduates were building up a loyal organization. Brother Gault brought inspiration from Minnesota. The alumni held their first meeting in 1922 in Galveston to plan for the purchase of a home. Good management during these early growing years resulted in removal to a larger and finer house at 1528 Avenue E in the fall of 1926, with nineteen members in residence. The men were proud of their chapter, their house and their fraternity, but not too conceited to work hard. They had entered a school in which other chapters had been long established without much competition; but the young chapter, inspired by its national standing and high ideals, soon was successfully competing for the best men. In the fall of 1928 the house was sold to the Sacred Heart Academy and the chapter obtained a lease on the former home of Dr. M. L. Graves at 1118 Avenue I. Meanwhile one or more men were elected annually to Alpha Omega Alpha. Graduates took desirable internships. Good fellowship and high scholarship went hand in hand. Each pledge went under the guidance of an upper-classman who was responsible for the progress of his charge. Needless to say, the charges were started in school life in a way which insured success.

By 1931 Beta Lambda had developed into a very strong chapter of thirty-eight, including fourteen Freshmen. The eight Seniors were in the upper third of their class. The faculty members are Brother Sharp of Kappa, still Professor of Bacteriology and Preventive Medicine and elected at the last convention to the Honorary Council of Nu Sigma Nu; Brother T. L. Johnson, Associate Professor of Bacteriology and Preventive Medicine, who was initiated at Kansas, but left medicine to take his M. A. from Kansas in 1922 and his Ph. D. from Chicago in 1927; and Brother Robert M. Moore, Associate Professor of Surgery, from Alpha Kappa Phi at Washington University, '26. Personal, intellectual, social and professional standards are high. The men are receiving their share of school honors. The fine house at 1118 Avenue I is still home to the boys. The chapter has come far in sixteen years and intends to continue to represent Nu Sigma Nu creditably in the far South West.

Chapter officers for the year 1932 were: (1) Harry Page Redwine; (2) David Maltravers Rumph; (3) Robert Charles Lee Robertson; (4) Ewell Leon Hunt; (5) James Isaac Kendrick, Jr.; (6) Ted Johnson.

McGill in medicine dates back more than a century to the opening of the famous Montreal General Hospital in 1818. Its remarkable history can be presented best by an abbreviation of the chronological summary published in "The Announcement of the Faculty of Medicine." For the story of The Chapter ample material has been found in the files and Bulletins, including the chapter letter by Brother J. G. P. Cleland which won the Tiffany Trophy in 1923. If space permitted a thrilling story could be told. That story should some day in the near future be written by those who have made it, especially through the Great War.

At McGill are preserved the heart of the great Osler and also his Nu Sigma Nu badge. For the interesting account of Osler's initiation the reader should turn to the history of Beta Beta chapter at Hopkins. McGill is the Mother of Medicine in Canada. Stretching westward are Chi at Toronto, the Father of Nu Sigma Nu in Canada. And between is a lusty infant in the fraternity's fortieth chapter at conservative old Queens, born May 25, 1934. May the family multiply and prosper!

DEAN BIRKETT

The preceding summary cannot present McGill adequately. Her history is that of solid achievement. Her granite buildings typify her stability and beauty. Her sons are scattered to the ends of the earth, upholding her best traditions. As this half century closes her fine work is being carried on by a faculty of 205, including sixty-three professors, and a student body of 558, including 475 undergraduates.

THE CHAPTER

Columbia and Yale were the god-fathers of Beta Mu at McGill. The eventful year of 1918 found there Brother Theodore R. Waugh of St. Albans, Vermont, who had been initiated at Yale by the Delta Epsilon Iota chapter and had transferred to McGill, a member of the third year class; Brother Bertrand F. Rankin of Corpus Christi, Texas, who had been initiated by Iota chapter on March 13, 1914, and had also transferred to McGill, a member of the fourth year class; and Brother James Playfair McMurrich, a loyal '83 alumnus of the parent Alpha chapter at Michigan, Professor of Anatomy at Toronto.

The stars were favorable to a second chapter over the border in Canada, for the second step toward closer bonds between medical students in the States and medical students in Canada. A strong chapter had flourished at Toronto since 1902. The fifteenth convention had been royally entertained there in 1908 and the Toronto Fratres in Facultate included a long list of prominent scientists well known in Montreal. As was the case at Harvard and as is ever the case where a few Nu Sigma Nu students are gathered, the urge to expand and attract new men of fitting type and to extend the influence of the fraternity was strong in the minds of Brothers Rankin and Waugh. The Executive Council had been awaiting a favorable opportunity to enter McGill. The stage was set. Now enters the leading man, Brother Rankin who writes to Brother E. E. Irons, Executive Council Secretary, on January 25, 1918, in part as follows:

"There are two of our Nu Sigma Nu men here at McGill, one T. R. Waugh, Jr., of the Delta Epsilon Iota chapter, who is completing his third year, and myself from Iota chapter, completing my fourth year.

"Nu Sigma Nu has no chapter at McGill. There are many fine men, too, who are not now fraternity men because they are not satisfied with those that are here. Mr. Waugh and I have come to the conclusion that we should have a chapter at McGill and want to ask your advice on the question. ——— and ——— have the upper hand of everything now, but the real type of man, the type that Nu Sigma Nu has, are not fraternity men in medicine. They are men who will do credit to our fraternity. They have had bids to other fraternities, but turned them down.

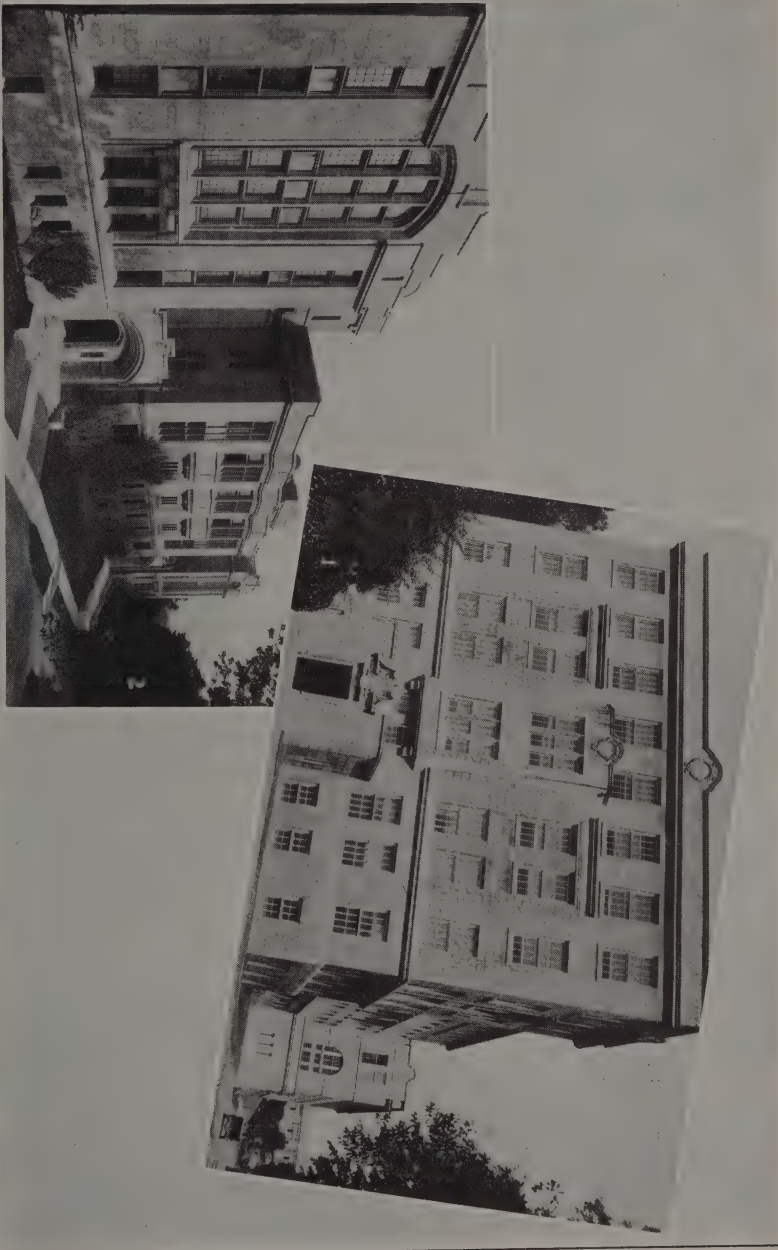

"We feel that, if we could get permission to start a chapter here, it would take only an exceedingly short time to have it lead in McGill as it does in every other medical college where we have a chapter. We want your advice as to this question, and permission if possible. I think we could get things started this year."

Meanwhile Brothers Rankin and Waugh had quietly gathered together a small group of kindred spirits, Goodridge, Gregory, Pardoe, Read, Wheaton and Newhook. On March 11, 1918, these eight gave a smoker to which they invited likely candidates for the anticipated chapter.

DOCTOR WAUGH

The next important act is opened by a letter from Brother Waugh on July 13, 1918, to Brother Walter. The letter in part is as follows:

"Acting as secretary for the group of Fellows who are making application for a charter for a chapter of Nu Sigma Nu at McGill University I am herewith sending you the petition, biographical sketches, etc. Under separate cover I have sent you a photograph of the group.

"There are fourteen applicants, two of whom, Rankin and myself, are already members of Nu Sigma Nu.

"All the Fellows did very well in the work this year as you will see from the biographical sketches. No Fellow failed to pass his year and most stood in the aggregate honors. I think we are particularly to be congratulated on the result in the first year class. Here we chose four Fellows simply by judgment and one stood second and another fourth in his class of over a hundred, the first and third places being held by women. All the Freshmen received honors. Included in the group is the present president, vice president and case reporter of the Undergraduate Medical Society.

"Personally I think it is quite remarkable to be able to get together such a fine group of Fellows, many of them well along in their course, who have not gone into other fraternities. It can only be explained by the dissatisfaction which exists in the fraternities now located here."

The petition is short, concise, sincere, typically Canadian and worth quoting verbatim. It follows:

We, the undersigned, students of the Faculty of Medicine of McGill University, Montreal, P. Q., herewith petition the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity that we be granted a charter to form a chapter of Nu Sigma Nu at this college.

We have given the subject careful consideration and do firmly believe:

1. That conditions are favorable for the introduction of a new chapter at this college at this time;
2. That such a chapter has every prospect of a successful future;
3. That there exists an actual need for such a chapter at this time;
4. That the character of the McGill Medical College is worthy of such a chapter;

5. That men are going forth from this college who would be worthy of and an honor to Nu Sigma Nu.
We therefore present our petition.

GEORGE HENRY ROBERTSON, M.D., McGill, 1922. Born St. James, Jamaica, B. W. I., 1900. Passed Junior Cambridge 1915 and second class honors 1915. Passed Senior Cambridge 1916.

THEODORE ROGERS WAUGH, M.D., McGill, 1920; A.B., Yale, 1912. Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma XI. Attended Yale Medical School 1912-13 and awarded Anatomy Prize. Initiated to membership in D. E. I. of Nu Sigma Nu in fall of 1912. Forced to leave college by death of father. Re-entered medical school with class of 1920 at McGill University on October 1, 1917. Morley Drake Prize in Pathology and Bacteriology; the McGill Medical Society Junior Prize.

H. A. WHEATON, M.D., McGill, 1919. B.S., McGill. President of Third Year medicine. President of Medical Undergraduate Society for 1918-19. Born in Canada.

With such a group of petitioners from such a school as McGill the necessary formalities were soon complied with and Beta Mu Chapter was duly installed on November 12, 1918. The ceremonies were conducted in the Windsor Hotel by Dr. Will Walter, Executive Counsellor, Brother McMurrich from Chi of Toronto and Brother Mabee from Beta of Detroit. Following the installation two meetings were held in Brother Rankin's room at the Homeopathic Hospital and two at the Windsor Hotel before a house could be secured in January, 1919, at 823 University Street. In it soon the Brothers held a smoker, followed shortly by the initiation of eight men, including Brother Simpson who was and still is secretary of the faculty.

DOCTOR LLOYD '15; The first officers were Brothers Wheaton, Waugh, Read, Pardoe, Griffith, Rankin and Dickey. Professor Francis Ernest Lloyd, Professor of Botany, has the honor of being No. 1 on Beta Mu's roll. Others initiated the first school year, in addition to the petitioners listed above, were Harold Randall Griffith of Montreal, B.A., McGill, '14; Walter de Mouilfeid Scriver of Montreal, B.A., McGill, '15; Clinton Edgar Manning of Magog, Quebec, B.A., McGill, '15; John Hammond Palmer of Gagetown, N. B.; Benjamin Charles Keeping of Murray Harbor, P. E. I.; George Gavin Miller of Halifax; Henry Corey Knowlton of Guilford, Me.; Thomas James Wells of Rock Island, Quebec; Charles Frederic Fluhman of Kenogami, Quebec, B.A., Bishop's, '17; Edwin Minton Crawford of Montreal; Archibald Leslie Wilkie of Antigonish, Nova Scotia; Carl Onery Apps of Brantford, Ontario; William Henry Hustler of London, England, M.D., C.M., McGill, '18, then at the Royal Victoria Hospital; Ervin Alfred Center of Lachute, Quebec; Wallace Bertram Somerville of Briston, N. B.; Frank T. Coote of Quebec; J. Clifford Boyce of Lachute, Quebec; Harry Bryson Ainsley of Tupper Lake Junction, N. Y.; Harold McClellan Allen of Toronto; James Carswell McClure of Cowansville, Quebec; George Kenneth Parke of Quebec; James Crawford Simpson, B.Sc., McGill, 1907, Associate Professor of Histology and Embryology; Albert George McAuley, M.D., C.M., McGill, 1900, Associate in Ophthalmology; Percy Lavern Backus of Welland, Ontario.

The first two years of the chapter were much disturbed by the World War. Many of the faculty under Dean Birkett, Brigadier General, and a large number of the undergraduates enlisted early. Fifty per cent of the chapter saw service over seas. The first chapter letter by Brother Griffith under date of March, 1919, is one long list of thrilling experiences by the young students in the air, in the trenches, on the sea and under the sea in submarines. Nevertheless, the chapter won many scholastic honors with leading men in the first, third and fourth years. The president and vice president of the Medical Society and the presidents of the first and second year classes were Nu Sigma Nu men. A fine house was secured just across the street from the Medical Building, so that the chapter took first rank immediately. The key note of future activities is sounded in the last inspiring sentence of that historic first chapter letter:

"The high ideals of fellowship and service impressed upon us through four years of war will ever be our inspiration."

The second year of Beta Mu witnessed the return of several of the men from service over seas. They were serious. They were glad to be home. They took up their medical studies with redoubled vigor. Nu Sigma Nu quickly acquired the reputation of being a "studious fraternity." Of the four men who received "aggregate honors" in the graduating class, three wore the badge of Nu Sigma Nu, while Brother Backus won the final year prize and Brother Scriver won the pathology prize in the third year, this being the second time in succession this honor had come to the chapter. In addition to these there were five aggregate honor men in the first two years. Brother Waugh was elected to Alpha Omega Alpha and Brother Branch was made president of the scholarship honor society. In athletics and social affairs the chapter won pre-eminence also and a healthy interest in the national fraternity was evinced by the attendance of Brothers Waugh, Branch and Griffith at the twelfth convention in New York. They came back greatly impressed with the quality of men in Nu Sigma Nu and determined to see that Beta Mu should maintain herself on a level worthy of the high ideals and principles of the national fraternity.

A fourth member of the faculty joined the ranks in Dr. Harvey Clifton Burgess, M.D., C.M., F.A.C.S., Lecturer in Gynecology and Obstetrics, who had just returned from four years of service over seas. Dr. Burgess subsequently became president of the Beta Mu Alumni Association, with Brother Parker vice president and Brother Waugh secretary.

The third year of Beta Mu saw a logical continuation of the harvest of scholastic, athletic and social honors and another strong addition to the faculty ranks in the initiation of the Strathcona Professor of Zoology, Dr. Arthur Willey, previously a Fellow of University College, London. Brothers Branch and Waugh graduated with second and third aggregate honors and Brother Waugh also won the McGill Medical Society Senior Prize for research work in pathology. In the fourth and second year classes Brothers Scriver and Wilkie were first in honors.

The year 1923-24 started in a new home located at 472 Sherbrooke Street West, smaller than the former home, but far more comfortable and closer to the University.

The sixth year of Beta Mu's history records the organization of the Beta Mu Alumni Association with Brother Burgess of the faculty as president. Monthly joint meetings of faculty and chapter had been instituted with faculty addresses as features. Brother Henry G. Barbour, from Yale, had been welcomed as Professor of Pharmacology. The new house in Sherbrooke Street with nineteen men in residence was on a paying basis and a furniture sinking fund had been established.

Meanwhile the Centennial Endowment Fund of the University had made extensive additions to the medical school possible, including the new Pathological Institute adjoining the Royal Victoria Hospital and the Osler Memorial Library. Dr. C. B. Keenan, M.D., C.M., McGill, 1897, Lecturer in Surgery and Clinical Surgery, and Dr. Benjamin F. MacNaughton, M.D., C.M., McGill, 1915, Senior Assistant in Surgery, on December 2, 1922, had become members, and Brothers Scriver and MacNaughton had become Junior members of the faculty, making nine Fratres in Facultate.

Undergraduates continued to carry off the lion's share of scholastic honors in school. George Alexander Fleet, M.D., C.M., McGill, 1914, Demonstrator in Anatomy, Harold Beveridge Cushing, M.D., C.M., McGill, 1898, Professor of Pediatrics, Donald Sclater Lewis, M.D., C.M., McGill, 1912, Lecturer in Clinical Pharmacology and Medicine, Arthur Theodore Henderson, M.D., C.M., McGill, 1913, Assistant Demonstrator in Medicine, and Sir Henry McIlree Williamson Gray, M.D., C.M., Aberdeen, 1895, Chief Surgeon of the Royal Victoria Hospital, became members during 1923.

In two years the new house proved too small and a larger and finer house at 468 Sherbrooke Street was secured, and reported to be the finest fraternity house in Montreal. Two faculty members were invited to the house every Wednesday night. Francis A. C. Scrimger, M.D., C.M., McGill, 1905, and Nicholas B. Dreyer, recently from Oxford, Lecturer in Pharmacology, were initiated from the faculty.

1928 found the chapter in another new house at 317 Pine Street, West, almost across the street from the Medical School and close to the Royal Victoria Hospital and the Pathological Institute. The chapter continued to win honors and its graduates were being established in positions of importance at McGill and elsewhere. The Fratres in Facultate included Professors Lloyd, Wiley, Simpson, Lewis, Keenan, Cushing, Waugh, Beattie, Dreyer and Burgess, and Doctors Scrimger, Long, McAuley, Fleet, Henderson, MacNaughton, Scriver, Miller, Blair and Taylor. That spring the new Clinical Professor of Neurological Surgery, Dr. W. G. Penfield, M.D., Hopkins, 1918, was honored by membership and became the chapter's nominee in 1920 for membership in the Honorary Council of Nu Sigma Nu. Professor Penfield, although one of the youngest members of the faculty, has come to be looked upon as one of the most brilliant and the most popular.

1932 finds Beta Mu thoroughly established as one of the strongest fraternities at McGill, professional or otherwise. Sound principles of character and scholarship, high standards of intellectual activity and social relationship, intense loyalty to the University and Nu Sigma Nu have laid the foundation for long and honorable life. The traditions of the chapter are in keeping with the traditions of the school. The fraternity looks forward to the time when it will be proud of a chain of chapters across Canada like Chi at Toronto and her younger sister, Beta Mu, at McGill. In 1932 the chapter officers are: President, John G. Howlett; Vice President, John P. Adams; Secretary, Wilbur E. Watson; Treasurer, A. George Hanson; Historian, Edward D. Shaw; Custodian, Anson R. Atkinson.

BETA NU FRATRES IN FACULTATE

BETA NU

In the clear atmosphere of Oregon medicine was founded five years after the birth of Nu Sigma Nu and has prospered since. At the close of our half century all higher education in the State was organized in six institutions by the State Board of Higher Education, following a Federal survey. One of the six is the University Medical School in Portland, beautifully housed, splendidly equipped and manned, and closely affiliated with ample, modern hospitals. For the story of The School accurate material has been readily available from its publications. For the story of The Chapter equally accurate and complete facts have been gleaned from the Grand Galen's files and the chapter's excellent letters in The Bulletin.

S. G.

THE SCHOOL

Established by a charter from the regents of the University in 1887, the University of Oregon Medical School has been in continuous operation since. On September 1, 1913, the Willamette University Department of Medicine was merged, leaving the University the sole medical school in the Pacific Northwest. The alumni bodies of both were also united. Prior to 1919 the Medical School was housed in a three-story frame building at Twenty-third and Lovejoy Streets near the Good Samaritan Hospital in Portland. In 1914 twenty acres were deeded to the University by the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation Company for medical teaching and research. Ten years later this campus was enlarged by a gift of eighty-eight acres adjoining from Mrs. C. S. Jackson and Mr. Philip Jackson in behalf and in memory of the late C. S. Jackson. The entire campus of 108 acres overlooks the Willamette River and is called Sam Jackson Park.

In 1920 the University deeded to the County of Multnomah nine acres for a general charity hospital which was opened at a cost of $1,000,000 in 1923 with 300 beds, all available for teaching. The Director of the Hospital is a University official.

In 1926 twenty-five acres were deeded to the United States

OREGON MEDICAL BUILDINGS

- (1) Medical School University of Oregon (group).
- (2) School of Medicine.
- (3) Doernbecher Memorial Children's Hospital and Out-Patient Clinic.

Government for a new Veterans Administration Hospital of 300 beds.

The first medical building was erected in 1919 with a $110,000 State appropriation and $25,000 donated by Portland citizens. The second unit MacKenzie Hall, resulted from a State appropriation of $113,000 in 1921, supplemented by a similar sum from the General Education Board, with $50,000 more for equipment. Adjoining the school buildings is the eighty-bed Doernbecher Memorial Hospital for Children (1926) and the Outpatient Clinic (1931) for which the General Education Board gave $400,000. The Medical School Library has 18,000 volumes and 370 current journals and is supported jointly by the School, the Oregon State Board of Medical Examiners, the Portland Academy of Medicine and the Portland City and County Medical Society.

Admission requirements include three years of college work. In 1932-33 the enrollment was 235 undergraduates and fifty-one graduates. The faculty consisted of 186, including fifty-two professors. The school has been co-educational since its organization.

THE CHAPTER

When seventeen earnest young men, seven with college degrees and sixteen with membership in the Reserve Corps of the Army or Navy, organize with the definite aim of obtaining a charter of Nu Sigma Nu, maintain a general average of scholarship between 86 and 90, superior to that of any other medical organization in school, and apply for a charter with the endorsement of alumni from Hopkins, Cornell, Minnesota and Cincinnati, to say nothing of recommendations from many alumni, members of the faculty and chapters in neighboring schools, then a fraternity as large and strong even as Nu Sigma Nu is bound to consider them favorably.

That was the situation in the School of Medicine in the University of Oregon in 1918 when Pi Phi Sigma, a local society, submitted its petition for a charter. At the head of the list were Harold C. Bean, Beta Beta, '16, Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine; Frederick A. Kiehle, Epsilon, '01, Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine; G. Norman Pease, Tau, '07, Associate in Surgery; Charles R. McClure, Theta, '01, Associate in Orthopedic Surgery, and Homer T. Coffin, Beta Beta, '06, Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine, all of Portland. The undergraduate petitioners and their records were as follows:

LINUS, H. BITTNER. Senior. A.B., Reed College; Assistant in Physiology, '16; Naval Reserve Corps; Beta Theta Pi.

HERBERT H. FOSKETT. Senior. McMinnville College two years; Assistant in Pathology, '17-'18; Medical Reserve Corps; vice president, Pi Phi Sigma; Phi Epsilon.

ED SIMMONS. Senior. University of Oregon, two years; Naval Reserve Corps; president Pi Phi Sigma, Beta Theta Pi.

WILMOT C. FOSTER. Junior. A.B., University of Oregon; Assistant in Zoology; University of Oregon Honors in Zoology, '17; Full Scholarship, '17; Instructor, Department of Anatomy; Medical Reserve Corps; Treasurer, Pi Phi Sigma; Sigma Alpha.

HARRY S. IRVINE. Junior. A.B., Willamette University; Assistant, Department of Pathology; Medical Reserve Corps.

RAYMOND R. STAUB. Junior. University of Oregon, two years; Medical Reserve Corps; Kappa Sigma.

WINFRED H. BUEERMANN. Sophomore. B.S., McMinnville College; Assistant in Physics, '15, '16, McMinnville College; Assistant in Bio-Chemistry, '17; Assistant, Department of Pathology, '18; Medical Reserve Corps; Warden, Pi Phi Sigma; Delta Psi Delta.

IRVIN R. FOX. Sophomore. University of Oregon, two years; Medical Reserve Corps; Phi Delta Theta; Sigma Alpha.

ALBERT W. HOLMAN. Sophomore. University of Oregon, two years. Assistant, Department of Anatomy, '17; secretary-treasurer of class, '17; Medical Reserve Corps; Sigma Nu; Sigma Alpha.

RAY HAUSLER. Sophomore. University of Iowa; A.B., University of Oregon; president of class, '18; Medical Reserve Corps; Delta Chi.

HAROLD M. PEERY. Sophomore. Ph.G., Oregon Agricultural College; Assistant in Chemistry and Assistant in Bacteriology, O. A. C.; vice president of class, '18; Medical Reserve Corps.

ALFRED B. PEACOCK. Sophomore. University of Oregon, two years; secretary Pi Phi Sigma; Naval Reserve Corps; Sigma Chi.

HOMER P. RUSH. Sophomore. University of Nebraska, three years; Assistant in Zoology, U. of N.; vice president of class, '17; Assistant in Physiology, '18; Medical Reserve Corps; Chairman Executive Committee, Pi Phi Sigma; Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

JOHN R. MONTAGUE. Freshman. A.B., University of Oregon; Assistant in Zoology, U. of O.; Naval Reserve Corps; Beta Theta Pi; Sigma Alpha.

CHARLES C. NEWCASTLE, Jr. Freshman. Stanford University, University of Oregon, B.Sc.; Medical Reserve Corps; Sigma Chi.

EDMUND H. PADDEN. Freshman. University of Oregon, two years; Assistant in Zoology, U. of O.; Medical Reserve Corps; Sigma Chi; Sigma Alpha.

MILTON E. WILSON. Freshman. University of Oregon, two years; Medical Reserve Corps; Kappa Sigma; Sigma Alpha.

Pi Phi Sigma had been organized on March 1, 1918, by fourteen of the best men in school, most of whom had been invited to join the one fraternity then at Oregon, but who had believed the time was ripe for another national medical fraternity in their school. They chose Nu Sigma Nu. J. H. Fitzgibbon, Robert V. Baker, E. W. Simmons, W. C. Foster and Robert W. Langley were the local officers. That summer all Pi Phi Sigmas answered the call to the colors, but did not get further than the reserves. Ten of the group at the time the petition was filed had held or were holding assistantships in various departments of the University. Several had been valedictorians of their respective classes in college and at least two had graduated with honors at the University of Oregon. Three of their six young alumni had joined Kappa of Nu Sigma Nu at Rush. The fine new building on Marquam Hill was ready for occupancy, and plans and appropriations were complete for the building of a great medical center in the Northwest.

The movement for a chapter of Nu Sigma Nu at Oregon was warmly recommended by Dean MacKenzie Assistant Dean Myers and Professors Allen, Burget, Menne and Sears. Thus strongly presented and with high ranking chapters already in California and Stanford, it was logical that the petition should be granted. On May 12, 1919, the Beta Nu chapter was duly installed with the following charter members:

Linus H. Bittner, Winfred H. Bueermann, Herbert H. Foskett, Wilmot C. Foster, Irvin R. Fox, Ray Hausler, Albert W. Holman, Harry S. Irvine, John R. Montague, Charles C. Newcastle, Edmund H. Padden, Alfred Bertram Peacock, Harold M. Peery, Homer P. Rush, Edmund W. Simmons, Raymond R. Staub, Milton E. Wilson. The first officers were: (1) Simmons, (2) Foskett, (3) Peacock, (4) Foster, (5) Rush, (6) Bueermann.

DOCTOR KIEHLE The installation was conducted at the University Club by Brother Kiehle, assisted by Brothers Robert Baker and Blair Holcomb of Kappa. Gaven C. Dyott of Portland, Kappa Sigma, University of Oregon, had the honor of being the first neophyte. Four days later there were initiated Archie Edward Bird of Vancouver, University of Oregon; Lester T. Jones of Forest Grove, Ore., A.B., Pacific University, 1918, Phi Delta Tau and Gamma Sigma; and Laban Aaron Steeves of Portland, A.B., Willamette University.

Next in order was a home. During the summer Brothers Fox, Peacock, Holman and Newcastle leased for October 1 the house at 331 Jefferson Street, formerly occupied by the University Club. Funds were obtained by borrowing from local alumni on short term notes. By February 1 seventeen men were living in the house. Alumni helped with furnishings and the house was put on a sound financial basis at once by taxing all men who did not live in it $1 per month for club privileges. It was gratifying to see so soon a well established, smoothly running, self-supporting house. Internal organization was also well established by the adoption of carefully framed by-laws after consultation with Dr. Graves, Secretary of the Executive Council.

The second year found the chapter alert and energetic, holding high the standards of scholarship and fellowship. On December 16, Alfred H. Johnston of Portland was initiated, followed on February 28, 1920, by fifteen of the best of the student body: John Martin Askey of Tacoma, Wash., University of Oregon, Delta Tau Delta; Jerald Samuel Backstrand of Portland, University of Oregon, Delta Tau Delta; Joseph Clark Bell of Rickreall, Ore., A.B., Oregon, '17, Delta Tau Delta; Albert Jehu Bowles of Bedford, Ia., University of Oregon, Kappa Sigma; Frank Edgar Fowler of Pendleton, Ore., A.B., Oregon, '20, Beta Theta Pi; Roger Holcomb of Portland, Phi Delta Theta, University of Oregon; Johnson Dorman Leonard of Burns, Ore., Sigma Chi, University of Oregon; Leo S. Lucas of Portland, A.B., Pacific University, '19, Alpha Zeta; Merle Lenner Margason of Lebanon, Ore., A.B., Oregon, '20, Phi Delta Theta; Claire L. Ogle of Portland, A.B., Oregon, '16, Delta Tau Delta; Dean Baynard Seabrook of Portland, Theta Delta Theta, University of Oregon; Harold Richard Tregilgas of St. Paul, Minn., B.S., Oregon, '19, Sigma Chi; Kent R. Wilson of Oregon City, A.B., '20, Alpha Tau Omega; Bertrand Odell Woods of Portland, Kappa Sigma, University of Oregon; Marshall Melvin Woodworth of Albany, Ore., University of Oregon, Phi Delta Theta. Thus the chapter the first year started with thirty-two strong men representing the best in the University of Oregon and other colleges of the Northwest, with a house occupied shortly after the opening of school and with the active support of prominent alumni.

The third year found these officers in charge: (1) Newcastle, (2) Lucas, (3) Pieroth, (4) South, (5) Butt, (6) Moffatt. Brother Seabrook was president of the Junior Class, Brother Kirk Prindle of the Sophomore Class and Brother Kenneth Lancefield of the Freshmen Class. Two dances were given. The attendance at the initiation banquet numbered sixty. Several undergraduates were student assistants in the school laboratories. On January 27 following, the following members of the faculty were honored with membership: George F. Koehler, M.D., Columbia, '89; Ralph Albert Fenton, A.B., Oregon, '03; M.D., Northwestern, '06; Frank B. Kistner, M.D., Indiana, '98, and on May 7, John Forest Dickson, M.B., Toronto, M.D., Victoria, and Alpha Eugene Rockey, M.D., Rush, '91. Brother Rockey died in March, 1927.

Meanwhile the medical school was expanding on a magnificent campus of forty-five acres overlooking Portland, with a wonderful view of the snow-capped Cascade Mountains and the Willamette and Columbia Rivers. Alpha Omega Alpha was established at Oregon on January 7, 1924. Four of the six charter members were Brothers W. C. Hunter, M. L. Bridgeman, Otis B. Schreuder and W. P. Holbrook. Holbrook had done excellent research in blood chemistry. The chapter library was increased by forty recent volumes given by Mrs. C. Stuart Menzies in memory of her husband. Dr. Kiehle gave the chapter a complete skeleton.

The spring of '25 found twenty-five men living in the new house at 133 East 29th Street. The attendance at the initiation banquet included most of the alumni in the vicinity of Portland. In May six of the eight Seniors initiated into Alpha Omega Alpha were members of Beta Nu. Scholarship was stimulated in seminars held by upper classmen for pledges throughout the first part of the year. Beta Nu men evidently considered medical knowledge their first objective. Good fellowship and social pleasure brought relaxation. During the year there were three term house dances, spring and fall smokers, and a dinner-dance for graduates and undergraduates and their friends. The University had presented to the Federal Government twenty-five acres for the new Veterans Hospital, to cost $1,350,000.

At the end of the second term of 1927-28 the chapter moved to its new house at 692 Hancock Street. High standards of scholarship continued. Brothers Eby, Leavitt, Boyd and Nichol, '27, and Robertson, '28, were elected to Alpha Omega Alpha. Brothers Pantton and Leavitt were among the first ten candidates in the first part of the National Board examinations. Talks by faculty members on the fourth Tuesday of each month and seminars by upper classmen for pledges continued; also the term dances and spring and fall smokers. Faculty membership had increased to forty-two and included several graduates of the chapter. The chapter letters were sprinkled with fine appointments of Beta Nu graduates to the Oregon faculty and elsewhere. A large proportion were taking extensive post-graduate training and preparing themselves for advanced positions in research, teaching and practice. In the spring of 1929 the faculty list had increased to forty-six without further initiations of graduates.

By 1929 Beta Nu had acquired two choice lots in Sam Jackson Park within a block of the medical school. The officers for the year were: (1) Robertson, (2) Joy, (3) Blanche, (4) Wrightman, (5) Wilbur, (6) Lewis. Fifteen members held student assistantships. The faculty list had increased to forty-eight. The new $300,000 Dispensary was being built.

Beta Nu in 1932 has an undergraduate membership of sixty-six. It occupies a pre-eminent position in the School. It owns two choice lots near the school on which it plans to build a permanent home. The officers are: (1) Fred Joy, (2) Herbert Lewis, (3) Jack Dowsett, (4) Edgar Wrightman, (5) Joe Roberts, (6) Terry King. Many young graduates of Beta Nu and Brothers from other chapters have joined the faculty. The standards of scholarship and fellowship and character continue high. The chapter has strong traditions from the past and high ideals for the future.

BETA XI CHARTER GROUP

BETA XI

The present medical school and Beta Xi chapter at Colorado are comparatively young. Both had the advantage of deliberate and careful planning based on past experience. Both are delightfully situated, well organized, well supported, strong and confident. The history of the school is taken from school documents. The sketch of the chapter is based on Bulletin letters, correspondence and personal recollections of the author who was privileged to conduct the installation.

THE SCHOOL

The University of Colorado School of Medicine was opened in September, 1883. On January 1, 1911, the Denver and Gross College of Medicine was united with this School, the two faculties being combined into one. The single school thus formed is an integral part of the University of Colorado. At the same time the third and fourth-year classes were transferred to Denver. The Denver and Gross College of Medicine was the union, June 19, 1902, of the Denver College of Medicine, a department of the University of Denver, and the Gross Medical College. The former College was opened in November, 1881, and the latter in 1887. Until September, 1924, the courses of the first two years were given at Boulder, those of the last two years at Denver. Upon this date the school was united in the new buildings on the campus at Denver.

The work of the School is divided among fifteen departments, each in charge of a professor who is head of the department, and containing in addition an appropriate number of associate and assistant professors, lecturers, instructors, assistants, and members of the Hospital and Out-Patient Staffs. The heads of departments with the Dean constitute the Executive Faculty, having jurisdiction under the President and Board of Regents of the University.

The Colorado faculty consists of 187 teachers, including fifty-seven professors. The student enrollment in 1932-33 totaled 266, including 220 undergraduates. The buildings include: the new medical building which houses administration offices, the Charles Denison Memorial Library, museums, amphitheatres, research rooms, etc; the Colorado General Hospital, with 150 teaching beds; an Out-Patient Building; the Colorado Psychopathic Hospital; the School of Nursing; the central power and heating plant. The entire group is beautifully located on a site of eighteen acres on the edge of Denver, with an almost unbroken view to the distant Rockies westward. In addition clinics are available at the Steele Contagious Hospital, the Children's Hospital and the National Jewish Hospital. The Library contains 17,000 bound volumes and subscribes to 220 current journals. The Colorado General Hospital was dedicated in January, 1925, and the Colorado Psychopathic Hospital was opened to receive patients on February 16, 1925. Both are linked by law with the University of Colorado under the control of its Board of Regents. Revenues are appropriated under a budget system from a special mill levy of 0.10 mills. One hundred thirty-five quarter hours are required for admission. Events leading to this splendid institution are described in greater detail in pertinent correspondence reproduced below.

THE CHAPTER

TO THE NU SIGMA NU FRATERNITY ITS OFFICERS AND MEMBERS:

We, the undersigned members of Sigma Gamma, a local medical fraternity, organized at the University of Colorado Medical School in 1922, being regularly matriculated in the School of Medicine at the University of Colorado, realizing the advantages arising from membership in a National Medical Fraternity and having never petitioned for a charter in any similar organization, do hereby petition to be placed under supervision of your Grand High Officers.

Furthermore, believing the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity to be held in highest esteem by the members of the medical profession and impressed by the high standards maintained by the Fraternity; imbued with a strong desire to carry on more successfully the work which we have begun, do hereby petition for a charter from the Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, establishing this group as a chapter in good standing, subject to the rules and regulations of the Fraternity with all privileges and immunities arising from such a charter.

Signed:

Robert C. Lewis	Whitney C. Porter
Ivan A. Allred	Edgar E. Evans
Harmon R. Brunner	Vernon G. Jeurink
Paul R. McConnell	John L. Maurer
F. Vaughn Sunderland	Hamilton Stout
E. Parish Lovejoy	John C. Mitchell
E. DeForest Harrison

The formal petition above forms the introduction to an attractive pamphlet which conveyed to the Grand Council of Nu Sigma Nu the petition of the Sigma Gamma society of the University of Colorado School of Medicine for a charter from Nu Sigma Nu. The pamphlet is embossed in gold and handsomely illustrated with cuts of the new school and hospital then under construction in Denver, of all the individual petitioners, and of two Alpha and Kappa graduates, Dr. Frank R. Spencer, Michigan, '02, and Lieut. D. H. O'Rourke, Rush, '17, accompanying letters of endorsement.

The Sigma Gamma society had been organized in 1922 in the pre-clinical school at Boulder, largely by Ivan A. Allred of Derby, Kansas, endorsed by Professor Robert C. Lewis, head of the Department of Bio-chemistry, for the express purpose of securing a charter from Nu Sigma Nu. The three originators were Ivan Allred, Whitney Porter and DeForest Harrison. The prospective petitioners interviewed Dr. Frank R. Spencer of Boulder, an enthusiastic alumnus of Alpha Chapter and a member of the Colorado Medical Faculty. Dr. Spencer gave Professor Lewis letters to Dr. Will Walter of Chicago and the result was a letter from Dr. Spencer to the Secretary of the Executive Council which records the following regarding the petitioners and the school:

"The students who are petitioning for a charter from Nu Sigma Nu are all fine fellows and good students. I have repeatedly emphasized to them that they cannot expect a charter unless they make good grades. They are in a position to provide themselves with a house in a reasonable time and will rank well with other college fraternities.

"As you probably know, our new medical school and hospital is under construction now in Denver with $800,000 contributed by the Rockefeller Foundation, and $800,000 contributed by the State of Colorado. Of the latter $800,000, the amount of $600,000 was raised by legislature and $200,000 by public subscription. The new hospital and medical school will probably cost $2,000,000 by the time it has been completed, because, in addition to the $1,600,000, the State is building a psychopathic hospital in connection with the medical school and general hospital, which will cost from $300,000 to $350,000. This new psychopathic hospital will be built on the ground with the new medical school and hospital, and will be under the direction of the University of Colorado. This will all be completed on or about July 1, 1924, so that beginning with September, 1924, we will conduct all four years of the medical school in Denver. The medical school will be, of course, the Medical Department of the University of Colorado, as it has been for years. Since January 1, 1911, we have conducted the third and fourth years in Denver.

"You may be interested in knowing that I have not favored a chapter of Nu Sigma Nu here before. In fact, the charter members of the _____ chapter here wanted me to help them secure a chapter of Nu Sigma Nu about 1909 or 1910, but I told them I would not favor such a movement, and without the support of Doctor Arneill of Denver and myself they decided to petition _____ All of these men who became charter members of _____ were desirable men, but there were not enough of them for our chapter and I felt that the medical school at that time was too small to justify putting in a Nu Sigma Nu chapter. I have been here nineteen years and have had all of these years to consider the placing of a chapter here, but have not before favored such a move."

DOCTOR ARNEILL

This hearty endorsement from a loyal alumnus who had previously been so conservative set things in motion. Correspondence with Dr. J. R. Arneill, Alpha, '94, and other alumni demonstrated that the many Nu Sigs in Colorado were behind the movement. The high standing and future progress of the re-organized school was beyond question. The Executive Council in Chicago in January, 1924, endorsed the petition and ordered it submitted to the chapters. Before the end of the month more than the number of favorable votes to meet the constitutional requirements had been received. The Executive Secretary telegraphed Mr. Allred on January 29, 1924:

"Congratulations to Sigma Gamma. Charter granted Installation February 25 or 26."

DOCTOR SPENCER

The installation was eventually conducted in Boulder on February 26, 1924, by the Executive Secretary, Dr. Stuart Graves. The initiation ceremonies were in charge of Dr. Spencer, assisted by Brothers Steere and Bantin of Nebraska and DeWolf of Kansas, who had come especially for the occasion to bring greetings from Beta Epsilon and Beta Theta, and by Brothers H. H. Champlin, Xi, '12, C. F. Hegner, Theta, '02, J. E. Russell, Beta Delta, '20, and Lieutenant O'Rourke, all alumni from Denver. During the banquet at the Hotel Boulderado Brother Graves read telegrams of welcome and good wishes to Beta Xi from Brother Will Walter, Executive Counsellor, and from the Beta, Eta, Tau, Alpha Kappa Phi, Beta Kappa, Beta Mu and Beta Nu Chapters.

After the installation Brother Graves talked to the Alumni and the newly initiated Brothers about the service the fraternity was trying to render to undergraduate medical education throughout America. He asked the Alumni to rally to the support of the Chapter for the good of the medical school as well as the chapter itself and urged the necessity of a suitable chapter house in Denver, since the entire Medical School was to be in Denver the following term.

The initiation and installation ceremonies were attended by Casper F. Hegner, Theta, '02; Frank R. Spencer, Alpha, '02; Donald H. O'Rourke, Kappa, '17; T. Leon Howard, Pi Mu, '04; H. H. Champlin, Xi, '12; J. E. Russell, Beta Delta, '20; R. P. Forbes, Sigma, '15; G. W. Bancroft, Kappa, '15; C. L. Lincoln, Alpha Kappa Phi, '09; E. L. Apperson, Alpha Kappa Phi, '00; M. M. George, Delta, '95; F. J. Ritterspach, Sigma, '05; V. K. Hart, Lambda, '21; J. B. Crouch, Zeta, '05; L. W. Frank, Beta Epsilon, '11; W. E. Hays, Omicron, '05; R. S. Johnstone, Kappa, '12; C. W. Maynard, Zeta, '10; R. A. Steere, Beta Epsilon, '24; Clarence Bantin, Beta Epsilon, '24; and Henry F. DeWolf, Beta Theta, '25, and Stuart Graves, Mu, '11.

A striking feature of the installation was the emphasis upon scholarship. Two of the original petitioners were debarred from charter membership because they had made a scholastic record unsatisfactory to their fellow members. It was a hard blow, but high standards for scholarship were set then once and for all, and they have always been maintained. One of the unfortunates retrieved himself later and is now a successful practitioner and a loyal alumnus. Such experiences make Nu Sigma Nu appreciated. The charter members of Beta Xi and their records follow:

ROBERT CURTIS LEWIS. Born Stratford, Conn., March 3, 1888. Ph.B. '09, Ph.D., '12, Yale. Research Physiologist General-Memorial Hospital, New York City, 1912-14. Assistant Biochemist U. S. In addition to these original petitioners charter members of the faculty initiated that night were:

HUGH McMILLAN KINGERY, A.B., Wabash, '08, A.M., '09; Ph.D., Cornell, '17; Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Associate Professor of Histology and Embryology.

CLAUDE E. COOPER, A.B., Regis College, '97, M.D., Gross Medical College (Denver), 1900, Assistant Professor of Otolaryngology.

WILLIAM A. SEDWICK, M.D., Maryland, '93, Instructor in Ophthalmology.

(1) Harmon Brunner, (2) Paul R. McConnell (3) E. E. Evans, (4) John L. Maurer, (5) Ivan A. Allred, (6) Henry Bonesteel.

Ivan Allred was a shining example of the precept that a man derives benefit from a fraternity in proportion to his services to it. He was largely responsible for the chapter's new by-laws, a sound business organization and the chapter house which came the following year. He won the first prize in the "Helpful Hints" contest and then proceeded to adapt the best from other chapters into Beta Xi. He was honored by election as the chapter's first delegate to the convention in St. Louis and became second President of the chapter.

The sponsors for the new chapter included the following: Boulder: Frank R. Spencer, Alpha, '02. Denver: E. L. Apperson, Alpha Kappa Phi, '00; J. R. Arneill, Alpha, '94; H. H. Champlin, Xi, '12; R. E. Curti, Beta Epsilon, '16; L. W. Frank, Beta Epsilon, '11; M. M. George, Delta, '95; C. F. Hegner, Theta, '02. La Junta: R. S. Johnstone, Kappa, '12. Sterling: W. E. Hays, Omicron, '05.

At the installation banquet Brother Graves appointed the following Alumni to organize the Colorado Alumni Association of Nu Sigma Nu to help secure a house: Brother Champlin (Bellevue), chairman, Brothers O'Rourke (Rush), Russell (Columbia), Hegner (Cincinnati), Frank (Nebraska), Lincoln (Washington University), Howard (Virginia), all of Denver; Spencer (Alpha), of Boulder; Crouch (Northwestern), Campbell (Hopkins) and Kinsella (Minnesota), of Colorado Springs; Davis (Pennsylvania) of Cheyenne; and Johnstone (Rush), of La Junta. The net result was a home within a year at 1550 Cook Street, Denver.

Opposition only strengthened the young members. Three other national fraternities had been established at Colorado previously and they did not welcome the advent of Nu Sigma Nu. Enthusiasm, personality, energy, high standards and organization made themselves felt. Brother Porter won Alpha Omega Alpha and was president of the Honor Committee in the School his senior year. Brother Harrison won the chapter Freshman scholarship cup the first year it was awarded by Brother Yegge.

The alumni from other schools rallied to the support of the fighting young chapter, whose members returned early in the fall. Rushing parties at the homes of Brothers Champlin and Lewis were highly successful and seven promising Freshmen were pledged, to await initiation until they had passed the first quarter's work. Brother Allred's "Helpful Hints" were helping. A chapter library was started. The "Nu Sigma Nu Wives" were organized to help the house. Brothers Lovejoy, Porter and Clark were elected three of the five members of the Honor Committee in the School. It was agreed that all members should sign building notes in the sums of $100, to be paid after graduation. At the end of the year the Fratres in Facultate were: C. E. Cooper, H. H. Champlin, Frank R. Spencer, Casper F. Hegner, R. B. Forbes, W. A. Sedwick, R. C. Lewis, H. M. Kingery.

The second year a better home was secured at 1364 Madison Street. Dr. Champlin gave his fall smoker at his home during rushing week. At the January initiation only those pledges who had met the scholarship standards were admitted. Brother W. B. Yegge presented a handsome cup, to be awarded annually to that member of the previous Freshman class who had attained the highest standards in scholarship, fellowship and fraternity work. This was awarded posthumously to Brother Harrison who had been gassed over seas and had succumbed to tuberculosis in the Fitzsimmons General Hospital. Ever will his name shed lustre and sentiment upon this cup.

The year 1926-27 marked the loss of Brother Ralph G. Mills, Zeta, '07, who had come to Colorado the year before as Professor of Pathology, but who resigned to go to the Mayo Clinic. Brother Lloyd Robinson won the Yegge cup for the year. The chapter moved again to a better house at 1400 Cook Street.

The next two years saw the older men taking their share of honors. In 1928-29 Brother Robinson was elected to Alpha Omega Alpha. Again three of the five Honor Committee men in school were elected from Beta Xi. The Beta Xi Alumni Association held its first meeting in conjunction with the initiation banquet. Brother Spencer had become a member of the Executive Council to fill an unexpired vacancy at the Albany convention in 1926.

The scholarship fight among the fraternities had been close and exciting, and in 1930 Beta Xi occupied second place. The chapter moved again to 1485 Madison Street, to acquire a large, twelve room, three story house. The chapter had paid all its debts and was planning to refurnish its house. Faculty members and their families were being invited to the house on Sundays. In School Brother Hughes was president of the Freshman class, Brother MacLeod president of the Sophomore Class and Brother Buchanan president of the Junior Class. The Alumni Association was beginning to function effectively under the presidency of Brother Frank R. Spencer.

Beta Xi in 1932 is firmly established. The chapter house is one of the best at Colorado. Scholarship standards are jealously guarded. Alumni are active. The chapter library is growing. Graduates are winning fine hospital appointments. The faculty list is lengthening. The chapter is cohesive and enthusiastic. The future is bright.

BETA OMICRON

The sketch of the Wisconsin Medical School is taken from the school Bulletin and is here given unusual space for two reasons. First, it was written by Dean Bardeen, an authority on the development of American medical schools. These schools are chiefly in two classes, those supported by richly endowed private universities and those which are integral parts of great state universities. Into these two classes all medical schools tend more and more to gravitate because of the great expense of medical education. The Wisconsin School is an outstanding example of the former, and the history of its logical and gradual development in response to the needs of the State is unusually typical and interesting. Its relation to the medical profession of the state is particularly pertinent. Certain passages in the school sketch by Dean Bardeen have been reproduced in italics for emphasis.

The history of the chapter is fresh in the mind of the author who again was privileged to have largely to do with its installation and organization. Its success has been due largely to the close supervision of Nu Sigma Nu alumni from older chapters who have become members of the Wisconsin faculty, especially Dr. Frederick A. Davis, Lambda, '09, who was an active worker as an undergraduate at Pennsylvania and has since served on the Executive Council for twelve years, being Grand Aesculapius in 1924-26.

THE SCHOOL

A medical department was planned when the Legislature in 1848 authorized the organization of the State University. In 1855-56 a medical faculty was appointed, but lack of funds and facilities prevented the actual establishment of a medical school. Further authority for the establishment of such a school was given by the Legislature in 1866 and in 1875. In the latter year custody of the Soldiers' Orphans Home in Madison passed to the Board of Regents of the University who were authorized to establish a medical college "when in their judgment such college is required by the medical profession." At the next session the Regents were authorized to use this property for other purposes. During the following three decades, while no serious attempt was made to establish a medical school, much was done to further the development of strong departments in the sciences upon which modern medicine is based. In addition to fundamental courses in biology, chemistry and physics, courses were established between 1890 and 1900 in histology, neurology, embryology, physiology and bacteriology, and in 1904 in human anatomy. These courses offered excellent facilities for training preparatory for work in a medical school. Through its pre-medical courses the University made a real contribution to medical education, especially during the period of proprietary medical schools in which facilities for scientific training and investigation were, as a rule, quite limited. In many medical schools students who had had this pre-medical training were admitted to advanced standing.

With the reorganization in medical education which took place in the United States during the early part of the present century a sharper line than hitherto was drawn between pre-medical "basal sciences" such as physics, chemistry, and biology and "medical sciences" such as human anatomy, physiology and pathology, bio-chemistry and pharmacology. Time credit for the latter came to be granted only when taken in a medical school. Thus, although in 1906 the scientific departments of the University offered excellent facilities for study in all of the branches then included in the first year of the curriculum of the better medical schools and in several of the branches included in the second year of the curriculum, time credit for this work could no longer be granted unless the University matriculated the students in an organized medical school. Accordingly the Legislature, in 1907, authorized the Board of Regents to establish a medical school, with the understanding that merely the first half, or pre-clinical, part of the medical course would, for the present, be organized. Students would have to go elsewhere to complete the last half or clinical part of the medical course. Departments for the work of the first year, gross and microscopic anatomy, physiology and bio-chemistry were already organized, and the first year of the medical course, as such, was given during the year 1907-08. Meanwhile departments of pathology and pharmacology were organized and these new departments, together with bacteriology and hygiene, previously taught for some years in the College of Letters and Science, gave opportunity for offering the second year of the medical course during the year 1908-09. In 1910 a department of clinical medicine was established, primarily for the sake of medical supervision of the health of the students at the University. The establishment of this department offered in addition opportunity for such elementary clinical teaching as was needed in the second year of the medical course. Teaching of medical students was limited to the first half of the medical curriculum until 1925.

Upon the establishment of a medical school at the University the chief efforts were directed toward the organization of a staff of competent teachers imbued with the spirit of scientific research and toward supplying this staff with first class equipment for teaching and research. Quarters for the work were obtained in large part by revamping attic space in several buildings, including Science Hall, the Chemical Engineering Building, and South Hall. These quarters quickly became overcrowded, due to the rapid growth in numbers of students in the medical school. In 1913, when the departments of zoology and botany were transferred to the then new Biology Building, sufficient space was gained in Science Hall to provide quarters there for medical bacteriology and pathology, and in 1917 when the department of physics was transferred to the then new Sterling Hall, quarters were provided in Science Hall for the departments of physiology and pharmacology hitherto housed in the attic of the Chemical Engineering Building.

Buildings designed especially for the medical school have been erected since the war on a site selected for the purpose bounded by University Avenue, Linden Drive, Charter Street, and Lorch Court. This site is well adapted for medical school and hospital development since it is contiguous to buildings housing closely related scientific departments of the College of Letters and Science and of the College of Agriculture. Of the buildings erected on this site the first were the Student Infirmary and the Mary Cornelia Bradley Hospital, both in 1918. The Student Infirmary was erected at a cost of about $100,000 of which half was appropriated by the Legislature, half donated equally by Mr. T. E. Brittingham and Mr. Carl Johnson. It was equipped at an additional cost of about $25,000 from the university appropriation for capital. The student health work was inaugurated in 1910 in the cottage now occupied by the purchasing department on State Street. In 1912 it was transferred to the Olin residence on Langdon Street to which a $100,000 office addition was attached. In 1915 the Raymer residence next door was converted into an infirmary. The present Memorial Union Building now occupies the sites of these two houses. The new student infirmary added greatly to the facilities for hospital care for students, but the Olin residence continued to be used for office work for this service until the Wisconsin General Hospital was opened in 1924. Quarters for this office work were provided in the latter hospital until the fall of 1931 when they were transferred to the first floor of a three-story wing added to the infirmary at a cost of $100,000, provided by Legislative appropriation. The graduating class of 1931 donated $500 toward the equipment of this building. In memory of Henry Koplik, a student who died in 1930, his family equipped a staff room. The new wing is connected by a corridor to the Wisconsin General Hospital. With the addition of this wing excellent facilities are now provided for the medical care of students. The infirmary has a normal capacity of 125 beds. The student health service was established because an epidemic of typhoid fever, which caused much sickness and several deaths among the students in 1909, showed conclusively that the student community presents special problems which require special medical supervision. The influenza epidemics during the latter part of and following the war period showed conclusively the need for adequate hospital facilities for the students. During the chief epidemic referred to above, the University Club was for a time converted into an infirmary.

The Mary Cornelia Bradley Memorial Hospital was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Crane and Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Bradley and cost about $80,000. In addition about $25,000 was provided for equipment from the general university appropriation for capital. This hospital was designed primarily for medical and surgical care of children and for clinical research. A considerable proportion of its facilities were at first used for surgical treatment of crippled children requiring treatment at public expense but it was also of value in the study and treatment of many other patients, both adults and children. In connection with the department of clinical medicine, established primarily for the student health service there had developed considerable public demand for medical consultation. This new hospital added greatly to the facilities for this work where it involved hospital care.

Meanwhile it became apparent that as soon as adequate clinical facilities could be provided a complete medical course should be established at the University. On the one hand students receiving the first part of their training at the University and then going elsewhere to complete the course were apt to settle near where the course was completed so that the State got little direct return for the education furnished. On the other hand restriction in the number of students which was instituted in most schools was making it increasingly difficult for students to find institutions in which the course could be completed, in spite of the reputation which the University acquired of furnishing good pre-clinical training. If the state were to be assured of an adequate supply of well-trained physicians it would have to do its share toward furnishing this supply. These considerations led the Legislature in 1919 to authorize the Board of Regents to establish a complete medical course at the University. This could not be accomplished without the establishment of a hospital on the university campus especially designed for clinical teaching. At a special session of the Legislature in 1920 an appropriation of $1,350,000 was made for the purpose of building and equipping a hospital and a nurses dormitory. This appropriation was taken from a balance in the Service Recognition Fund and the hospital, designated the "State of Wisconsin General Hospital" was designed as a memorial to those who served in the World War. The legislation making this possible had the hearty support of the officers of the American Legion. It was recognized that such a hospital was needed not only for teaching and research, but even more for giving adequate medical care to many citizens of the State without means for such care. Provision was also made for the purchase of land needed to complete the medical school and hospital site and for the care of public patients at joint State and County expense. The six-story Hospital and the associated four-story Nurses Dormitory were opened in 1924 and the third year of the medical course was given for the first time during the year 1925-26, the fourth year during 1926-27. The demands for hospital care, which have taxed the capacity of the hospital to the utmost almost from the day its doors were opened, have shown conclusively that it meets a real public need. Designed to house 300 patients, it is called upon to care for many more.

In the development of public hospital care and clinical teaching at the University, the aim has been to supplement and cooperate with, not to supplant and compete with, other institutions organized for these purposes. The rules governing the admission of patients to the hospital are based on the conception that the family physician is the most essential element in medical practice and that the chief service of the hospital specialist is to supplement and cooperate with the general practitioners. The number of students admitted to a class for clinical training has been limited by the extent of available clinical facilities, but consideration of the number of medical graduates required each year to insure an adequate supply of physicians for the State is another limiting factor. At present this number appears to be about 100 per year. - - - - - The course of clinical training has been arranged in such a way as to take advantage of the resources at various clinical centers of the State outside of Madison as outlined below in the description of the work of the fourth year of the medical course. The extramural teaching under the preceptor system has the advantage not only of limiting the need of centralization of hospital care for the sake of medical education but also that of making the student immediately acquainted with the medical needs of the State at large, both rural and urban.

A striking feature of the development of the medical school has been the close association between the medical school and various state wide laboratory services. Of these the first to be developed was the State Laboratory of Hygiene, the central laboratory of the State Board of Health. The purpose of this laboratory is to supply laboratory aid to health officers and physicians in the diagnosis and control of communicable diseases. It has supervision of branch and cooperative laboratories in various parts of the state and in addition to offering routine service is a center for scientific research. It was established in 1903 in connection with the university department of bacteriology. With the development of agricultural and medical bacteriology and hygiene as separate departments the State Laboratory of Hygiene acquired greater independence although it continued to be located at the University and closely correlated with the medical school. It acquired its present title and organization in 1911. In the central laboratory and in the branch and affiliated laboratories under its supervision the number of diagnostic tests made each year now runs into hundreds of thousands. In 1912 the Board of Regents established in connection with the Medical School and the State Laboratory of Hygiene a course for health officers but this course has never been extensively developed owing to the fact that the heavily endowed Schools of Hygiene at several Eastern universities appear ample to meet the present demands for the training of health officers. The State Laboratory of Hygiene offers excellent opportunity to acquaint medical students with the laboratory aspects of public health control. In addition special provision is made during the third and fourth years of the medical course to give the students practical acquaintance with other aspects of public health work. The State Laboratory of Hygiene is now adequately housed in the Service Memorial Institutes Building for the Medical Sciences referred to below.

The next great state laboratory service to be established at the University was the Psychiatric Institute, the laboratory of the State Board of Control, the board in charge of the charitable and penal institutions of the State. This laboratory was established in 1915 at the State Hospital at Mendota but by legislative authority was transferred to the University campus in 1925. Like the State Laboratory of Hygiene it is under the joint control of board officers and university officers. It is at present housed in the basement and first story of the Bradley Memorial Hospital. This hospital, with the consent of the donors, is temporarily being used for the care of patients suffering from acute nervous and mental diseases, but when funds are obtained for adequate special facilities for care of these patients, the hospital will be restored to its original purpose of medical care of infants and children. At present these are being cared for in a department of the main building of the Wisconsin General Hospital. The Psychiatric Institute has as its chief functions routine diagnostic procedures relative to diagnosis of syphilis, routine diagnosis procedures involving blood chemistry and research in the diagnosis and treatment of nervous and mental diseases. The routine tests, which are made free of charge not only for the state institutions but also for physicians, amount to many thousands per month and are of great value in supplying to physicians refined diagnostic procedures which could not otherwise be readily obtained. The use of this laboratory and that of the State Laboratory of Hygiene is state wide. There are few practitioners in the State who do not make use of them.

In 1923 a third kind of state-wide laboratory work was established by the Legislature at the University. This was the laboratory of the State Toxicologist whose chief work lies in furnishing district attorneys with aid in medico-legal cases but who also conducts research in this field. This laboratory is of aid in giving medical students some immediate knowledge of medico-legal procedures.

Laboratory work in the medical sciences, after an active growth of over thirty years in various temporary quarters, was given more adequate housing by the appropriation by the Legislature in 1925 for a Service Memorial Institutes Building for the advancement of medical knowledge and its application. This appropriation, amounting to about $840,000 for building and equipment, came from a surplus in the Soldiers Rehabilitation fund and the building, like the main hospital building, was designed as a memorial to those who served in the World War. The building, six stories in height, was erected on the northeast corner of the site selected for hospital and medical school development and is connected with the main hospital building. It was occupied in the fall of 1928. It provides excellent facilities for teaching and research in physiology, biochemistry, pathology, medical bacteriology and parasitology, pharmacology, toxicology and therapeutics. It houses the State Laboratory of Hygiene. It provides quarters for teaching and research in radiology and for diagnosis and treatment of patients by means of X-rays, radium, and various forms of electric and physical therapy of aid in physical rehabilitation. It contains laboratories for research in connection with clinical medicine and surgery. It has a well-equipped shop for the manufacture of special apparatus used in teaching, research and the care of patients. It houses the medical school library which contains upwards of 40,000 bound volumes, the accumulation of which began with the development of the basal medical sciences at the University long before the organization of a medical school. In connection with the library there is a special Extension Medical Library Service through which journals and books are loaned to physicians throughout the State, and of which extensive use is made.

The department of anatomy still remains in Science Hall where it was established in 1903. The portion of the Service Memorial Institutes Building now occupied is designed to form the southern part of a building facing a quadrangle. When funds are available to complete the northern half of this building it is the intention to transfer the department of anatomy to this site and thus give unified housing to the medical sciences at the University.

At the 1929 session of the Legislature an appropriation of $300,000 was made for building and equipping a State of Wisconsin Orthopedic Hospital for Children at the University. The Wisconsin Association for the Disabled played an active part in securing the necessary appropriation. The northwest corner of the medical school and hospital site was chosen for this purpose. This three-story hospital, designed for 125 patients, was opened in the summer of 1931. It offers excellent facilities for treatment of crippled and deformed children and for training physicians, nurses, physical therapists and others in this field of work. The problem of the crippled child has exercised the State for many years. The prolonged specialized care involved makes public aid essential for a large proportion of the children thus afflicted. In 1911 the Legislature made provision for sending to the State Public School for Dependent Children at Sparta crippled children who might be benefitted by medical and surgical treatment at public expense, but no adequate provision was made for furnishing this treatment and the institution was already overcrowded. For a time a few of these children were sent at State expense from Sparta to Milwaukee for treatment. Upon the opening of the Bradley Memorial Hospital in 1918 increased facilities were offered and upon the opening of a floor for the purpose at the Wisconsin General Hospital in 1924 still greater facilities. These facilities soon, however, became overtaxed. The hospital made use of an old office building on the hospital grounds for care of convalescent patients and granted the use of two cottages on the hospital grounds to the Board of Control for care of patients awaiting treatment or convalescing. The new hospital gives for the first time facilities especially designed for the care of crippled children. Meanwhile through the leadership of the State Board of Education and the Wisconsin Association for the Disabled special provision is being made in various parts of the State for school facilities especially adapted to crippled children.

The history above is most illuminating in showing the growth of a great State School from a modest beginning, truly democratic, "from the people, by the people, for the people." In 1932 the faculty numbered 131, including sixty-four professors. Registration for 1932-33 was 363, including fifty graduates.

THE CHAPTER

DOCTOR DAVIS

When Wisconsin established its four year medical school at Madison it opened the doors to Nu Sigma Nu. In past years at least two petitions from interested groups of students had been declined because the fraternity had held to its policy not to establish chapters in schools affording only the first two years of medicine. In spite of the existence of chapters of three other medical fraternities in the school, the opportunity to enter Wisconsin at the top came when a strong local society, the Rosicrucians, presented in June, 1925, a petition endorsed by Dr. Frederick A. Davis, Lambda, '09, president of the Executive Council, and other prominent alumni in Madison. This endorsement and the alumni signing it were as follows:

"To the Executive Council of Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity:

"Brothers:

"The undersigned alumni members of Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity, residing in Madison, wish to commend for your favorable consideration the members of the Rosicrucian Society, an undergraduate organization in the medical department of the University of Wisconsin, who are desirous of petitioning our national fraternity for a chapter.

"We have followed with interest the activities of this organization for several years and we heartily endorse the personnel of the society as well as their aims and ideals. Following a recent meeting of our local alumni, at which the Rosicrucian Society was present as our guest, the members present unanimously voiced their approval of this group of men and hereby endorse their petition for a charter in Nu Sigma Nu.

The Rosicrucians had been established at Wisconsin in 1921 and had purposely been kept very small. Only three members had gone elsewhere to school. There were no alumni. Membership had been drawn largely from the more prominent Greek letter societies in the College of Letters and Science. Their caliber was shown by the records of the following members who became charter members of Beta Omicron:

WARREN STRATMAN-THOMAS. Born Dodgeville, Wis., 1899. B.A., '24, M.A., '25, Wisconsin. Instructor in Medical Bacteriology as a research pharmacologist working on the chemotherapy of the trypanomiasis. Candidate for M.D. and Ph.D. Zeta Psi, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi.

PAUL CHADBOURNE ESCHWEILER. Born Milwaukee, 1912. A.B., Wisconsin, '25. Instructor in Gross Anatomy. Wisconsin Union Board. Captain University water basketball team. Zeta Psi.

MAURICE ALOYSIUS FRANCIS HARDGROVE. Born Fond du Lac, Wis., 1903. A.B., Wisconsin, '25. Zeta Psi.

THOMAS FRANCIS FURLONG, Jr. Born Milwaukee, 1900. A.B., Wisconsin, '25. Wisconsin Haresfoot Club, University Dramatic organization, Chi Psi.

MALCOLM GRAY MILLAR. Born Wilmington, Del., 1903. A.B., Wisconsin, '25. "W" in basketball in 1924 and 1925. Two years member Wisconsin Athletic Board. Manager interscholastic basketball tournament in 1925. Student Court. Tau Kappa Epsilon.

WILLIAM ALEXANDER WERRELL. Born Dunntown, Wis., 1895. President second year class of Medical School and Chairman of Medical School Honor Committee. Instructor in the Department of Engineering Drawing in the College of Engineering. Member of the A. E. F., 86th Division, with fourteen months' service. Phi Delta Theta.

HERBERT AITKEN. Born Bozeman, Montana. Awarded numerals in University Boxing Matches of '24-25. Sigma Chi.

FRANK DANA WEEKS. Born Marion, Ohio, 1903. Track squad and editorial staff of Ohio Wesleyan Transcript. Inter-Collegiate debate. Phi Kappa Psi.

The new Wisconsin General Hospital, authorized by the State Legislature in 1920 and built from a balance in the soldiers bonus fund as a memorial to those men who had served in the World War, had been opened to patients in October of 1924. The high standing of the school was assured for the future. After investigation by the Executive Council the petition was approved and its granting was recommended to the chapters. On November 24, 1925, the Executive Secretary wired Mr. Stratman-Thomas that the petition had been granted by a unanimous vote. On the afternoon of Saturday, January 2, 1926, Beta Omicron was instituted in the offices of Doctor Davis, who has been the godfather of the chapter ever since. The address was made and the charter delivered by Dr. Graves, the Executive Secretary. Immediately afterward the installation banquet was held at the Hotel Loraine with Dr. Davis as toastmaster. Remarks were made by Dr. Ernest E. Irons of Chicago, Executive Counsellor; Dr. C. W. Bardcen, Dean of the Wisconsin School of Medicine; Dr. Graves and Brother Hardgrove for the new men. The banquet was followed by a smoker at the home of Doctor Davis for the alumni and the new initiates. The charter members initiated on January 2, 1926, were Messrs. Aitken, Eschweiler, Furlong, Hardgrove, Keck, Millar, Stratman-Thomas, Weeks and Werrell of the petitioners, together with W. H. Studley, a pledge to the Rosicrucians and Dr. H. H. F. Reese. Brother Studley was born in Milwaukee in 1903, and was an Alpha Delta Phi at Wisconsin. Dr. Reese was born in Kiel, Germany, in 1891, and had taken his M.D., from the University of Kiel in 1918. For five years he had pursued post graduate studies in the University of Hamburg and had been Senior Associate at the Wisconsin Psychiatric Hospital since 1923, and was Associate in Neuropsychiatry at the University of Wisconsin. Brother Spooner, the remaining petitioner, was initiated on April 3, 1927. The chapter officers the first year were: E. B. Keck, President; H. M. Aitken, Vice president; P. S. Eschweiler, Secretary; Warren K. Stratman-Thomas, Historian; W. H. Studley, House manager; and W. S. Thomas, Custodian.

Fratres in Facultate the first year were: Russell La Bier, Instructor in Clinical Medicine; Charles H. Bunting, Professor of Pathology; Homer M. Carter, Clinical Associate in Pediatrics; Frederick A. Davis, Professor of Ophthalmology; Paul C. Eschweiler, Instructor in Anatomy; Louis Fauerbach, Instructor in Clinical Pathology; E. Eugene Neff, Associate Professor of Ophthalmology; Wellwood M. Nesbit, Associate Professor of Laryngology; Edgar M. Medlar, Associate Professor of Neuropsychiatry; L. Vincent Sprague, Instructor in Clinical Medicine; Eugene S. Sullivan, Clinical Instructor in Surgery; W. K. Stratman-Thomas, Research Fellow in Pharmacology; Horace K. Tenney, Associate Professor of Pediatrics; Arthur R. Tormey, Clinical Associate Professor of Surgery; Frank L. Weston, Instructor in Clinical Medicine.

The chapter faced the chapter house problem from the first. The other three medical fraternities maintained chapter houses and were obliged to maintain large chapters to do so. There were about sixty men in each class in school. The third and fourth year classes were limited to small quotas and many Sophomores were obliged to transfer to other schools for their last two years. The School followed the policy of dividing each Sophomore class into three portions according to scholarship and took its own quota from each group. Thus many of the best men were obliged to transfer. Also the school early established the practice of sending its fourth year men for preceptorships to various physicians and clinics all over the state. To limit membership to those of high scholastic standing seemed more desirable than to initiate many men to support a chapter house. From the beginning Beta Omicron has followed the practice of not pledging pre-medics and of not initiating medical pledges until they have made good scholastically the first term. The chapter solved the chapter house problem wisely for Wisconsin by having a group of men live in an apartment in which one large room was maintained as a club room and chapter headquarters. Every Tuesday night the chapter met for dinner in one of the private dining rooms of the new Memorial Union and held a meeting afterward to which many of the alumni came.

Scholarship in Beta Omicron has always been high. In the spring of 1927, the chapter ranked fourth among all the professional fraternities at Wisconsin and its pledges ranked first. In October the chapter for 1927 was ahead of all other medical fraternities in the School. It follows that the chapter has had more than its share of elections to the various scholarship societies. In 1930, three of six Seniors, Brothers Lee, Dollard and McDonough were elected to Alpha Omega Alpha and Brother Dollard was president. Meanwhile a strongly united group has been maintained by limiting membership and living up to the principle, as expressed by the 1930 historian, "If you want men to be loyal to your fraternity you've got to give them something to be proud of."

Loyalty and brotherhood are nurtured in congenial fellowship at the regular Tuesday dinner meetings in the Union, to which faculty members are frequently invited, and in the modest apartment at 715 University Avenue close to the school and hospital. Smokers, stag parties at one of the lake resorts and an occasional dance are just frequent enough to provide relaxation, but from the beginning Beta Omicron has looked upon its existence as purposeful and not to duplicate previous experience in social fraternities according to the standard college campus pattern. The social history of the chapter would not be complete, however, without mention of the dinner given annually to all members by Dr. Davis, Professor of Ophthalmology, at his beautiful home in The Highlands.

And so the history of Beta Omicron comes to 1932. Every man has made his mark. The faculty list has grown to twenty, every one of whom was initiated as an undergraduate

That means every faculty member has memories of student days in Nu Sigma Nu and he is correspondingly loyal and sympathetic. Scholarship is already a firmly fixed tradition which all members understand they must maintain. Fellowship is strong. The chapter works as a unit and is proud of Nu Sigma Nu and its record. Only sixty-eight fortunates have passed the portals, but it is their firm purpose to see that Beta Omicron always stands at the top in things which really count in medicine at Wisconsin.

The officers for 1932 are: (1) Hobart M. Kelly; (2) Robert P. Herwick; (3) John C. McCarter; (4) John C. McCarter; (5) E. Russell Muntz; (6) Paul McC. Golley.

BETA PI (DELTA MU)

The sketch of the Vermont Medical School is from the pen of Dean Jenne and A. M. A. publications; the history of the chapter from the pen of the junior editor, based on personal memories of a visit to President Bailey and Dean Jenne the year before the chapter was installed, the files of the fraternity and the Bulletin. Beta Pi brings into Nu Sigma Nu the oldest State University and the oldest undergraduate medical fraternity (Delta Mu).

THE SCHOOL

The College of Medicine of the University of Vermont is one of the oldest institutions of its kind in the United States. A "Lecturer on Chirurgery and Anatomy" was appointed by the trustees of the University Corporation on August 16, 1804. The first full and regular course of lectures was given in the fall of 1822. In 1829 a Medical College building was erected on the campus in Burlington. From 1836 to 1853 the school held no sessions. The subsequent reorganization and successful re-establishment of this school were due chiefly to the efforts of Dr. S. W. Thayer, then a practitioner at Northfield. His efforts date back to 1840 and finally were successful in 1853. Dr. Levi W. Bliss of Bradford was also active in securing the reopening of the College. The prosperity of the newly organized department in 1854 soon became manifest, and a material enlargement of the old Medical College building, at the head of Main Street, was demanded. A sum was raised and the necessary improvements made. In 1870 the citizens of Burlington contributed an additional sum of two thousand five hundred dollars to enlarge the building further by the addition of a wing and to increase the seating capacity of the two lecture rooms. In 1884 the late John P. Howard generously gave a commodious building at the head of Pearl Street which was occupied first in 1885.

VERMONT MEDICAL BUILDINGS

- (1) Mary Fletcher Hospital. (2) DeGoesbriand Hospital. (3) Vermont Medical School.

Until 1899 the relation of the College to the University was chiefly nominal. It was then reorganized and made a coordinate department of the University under the control of the Board of Trustees and its facilities both for teaching and study were increased materially. New rooms and improved apparatus were added and additional instructors secured. In 1903 the course was lengthened to seven months and in 1907 to seven and one-half months, giving thirty weeks of actual instruction. In December, 1903, the building which had been occupied by the College for twenty years was destroyed by fire. A new building was begun in August, 1904, and was dedicated in June, 1905.

In 1911 the faculty of the College of Medicine was again reorganized and the department made an integral part of the University system. With the opening of the college year of 1912 the entrance requirements were raised to one year of collegiate work and the college year was made equal in length to that of the academic colleges. Beginning in September, 1917, a regulation went into force, providing that two full years of academic college work should be required for admission. So far as can be foreseen the requirements will not be raised above this standard. In 1920 women were admitted to the College of Medicine. In 1928 the Preceptor System of teaching in a modified form was introduced tentatively for the Senior class.

The institutions which are now available to the college for teaching purposes include the Mary Fletcher Hospital, the Laboratory of the State Board of Health, the College Dispensary, Bishop DeGoesbriand Hospital, the Fanny Allen Hospital, the Vermont State Home for Destitute Children, and the Elizabeth Lund Home—all located in Burlington; the Vermont State Hospital for the Insane, at Waterbury; the State Industrial School, at Vergennes; the Vermont Sanatorium and Caverly Preventorium, at Pittsford; the State School at Brandon; the Rutland Hospital; the Randolph Sanatorium; and the Porter Hospital, at Middlebury. The heads, or other officers, of several of the above-named institutions are members of the Faculty of the College of Medicine. Each student in the Senior class now receives, in addition to the instruction given in the intramural group, two weeks of intensive instruction in each of five institutions of the extramural group, and four weeks each with a preceptor in general practice in the rural towns of Vermont. Two dispensaries are maintained by the College; one at the Mary Fletcher Hospital, and one at 110 Pearl Street. By arrangement between the Department of Charities of the city and the college, the sick poor both ambulatory and "bed" cases are committed to the care of the authorities of the College.

In 1932 the School had a faculty of sixty-eight, including thirty-one professors. The registration for 1932-33 was 188, including thirty-eight seniors.

THE CHAPTER

Seldom, if ever, has any group of medical students joined any medical fraternity as a chapter with such a long and honorable career behind their society as did the members of Delta Mu of the University of Vermont when they became the Beta Pi (Delta Mu) chapter of Nu Sigma Nu on October 29, 1927. They brought with them something of the stability of the rock-ribbed hills of their native state.

In 1880, two years before Nu Sigma Nu was founded at Michigan, the Delta Mu society was founded at Vermont. In 1915 this society published a complete roster of its initiates. Its roll includes most of the prominent physicians of Vermont, for the Vermont Medical School is peculiarly a local school, drawing its students almost entirely from the State University and sending its graduates very largely back to serve its own constituency. In this long and honorable history Delta Mu occupied a prominent place. Until 1889 when the Alpha chapter of Phi Chi (Northern) was founded at Vermont, to be followed a few years later by the Delta chapter of Alpha Kappa Kappa, Delta Mu was the only society among the students. And in 1928 the first chapter letter from the new chapter to the Nu Sigma Nu Bulletin contains this significant statement: "To prove that the Delta Mu men still uphold the traditions established by the founders, the records show that during the past fifteen years fifty per cent of the honor men in the College of Medicine have been members of Delta Mu—as many as the total from other fraternities and non-fraternity men combined." Baird's Manual recognized Delta Mu as the oldest allopathic medical society in the United States. It was founded primarily as a quiz society and the fraternity maintained this custom as one of its cherished traditions. It produced Dr. H. C. Tinkham, then Dean of the School, Dr. C. H. Beecher, Professor of Medicine, Dr.

Lyman Allen, Professor of Surgery, and many others prominent on the faculty in 1927, all of whom actively supported the move to obtain a charter from Nu Sigma Nu. Moreover the secretary of the society, now Brother J. B. Horner, was able to say in his first letter to the Executive Council, "Furthermore, we can point with pride to the fact that in the last fifteen years Delta Mu has not lost a single man through failure."

DEAN JENNE

Such is the epitome of the history of Delta Mu at Vermont. Its relation to Nu Sigma Nu is a pleasing and interesting story. About 1921, Dean Tinkham had corresponded with Dr. E. E. Irons, formerly secretary of the Executive Council, regarding affiliation. The attitude of Nu Sigma Nu was that of cautious conservatism regarding the future of the school. It was small. It was admittedly local. Its resources were limited. Its faculty consisted mostly of part time or volunteer practicing teachers. Research was necessarily limited. Little progress was made toward a chapter. In the fall of 1925, the society again sought affiliation. In the fall of 1926 President Guy W. Bailey of the University furnished some extremely pertinent and detailed information regarding the organization, support, resources and prospects of the medical school. As a result the Secretary of the Executive Council went to Burlington in November and made a thorough investigation. Meanwhile Dr. J. N. Jenne, now a member of the Honorary Council of Nu Sigma Nu, was made Dean in place of Dr. Tinkham, recently deceased. All this data was reviewed by the Executive Council and the whole matter submitted without recommendation to the Grand Council at the convention in Albany in November of 1926. The delegates favored the petition, but it had not been in proper form before the chapters in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution. Subsequently the Secretary of the Executive Council wrote to Mr. William A. Tyler regarding one point stressed by the delegates, regarding the value of homes for chapters in schools outside the largest cities which seems worth reproducing here.

"It is only fair to state to you that no one seriously doubts the permanency of your school, nor the kind of good, practicing physicians you are turning out for the state of Vermont, nor your own standing. There is only one thing which may militate seriously against you, and that is the fact that you have always lived without a chapter house and seem to have no plans for such a house. I mentioned this to one or two of your men in Burlington and they seemed to think that a chapter house was not conducive to good scholarship. While this may be true with academic fraternities, it has not proved to be the case with our chapters. Medical students have passed the frivolities of college life, as a rule, and gather in the chapter house because it gives them a real home, brings congenial friends together, and frequently enables them to live more reasonably than they can in private homes. There is much cooperation in the matter of books, supplies, library, quiz, classes, equipment, etc. We do not have the conception of a chapter house which many academic fraternities have. A medical student as a rule has very little time for social affairs and none of our chapters makes a pretence of maintaining a house beyond its means. In Burlington I imagine a group of thirty-five or forty men could club together with a sufficient number in the house to support an eating club successfully. With a chapter house you would have real fraternity life. With a meeting hall, such as you have now, your association assumes the character more of an inter-class society. If you and your alumni could decide to equip and maintain a modest house as a chapter house and undertake to assure our chapters that you would continue to do so, I think it would go far toward making your petition successful."

The result of this correspondence will appear later. Beta Pi has the best house at Vermont today among the medical fraternities there.

Following the Albany convention and encouraged by the attitude of the delegates there, Delta Mu renewed its activities and submitted to each chapter an attractive petition in the form of an illustrated pamphlet containing a history of Delta Mu, the school, the Mary Fletcher Hospital and the Bishop De Goesbriand Hospital, affiliated with the School, together with a group photograph and individual photographs and records of all the petitioners.

The "History of Delta Mu," in view of the fact that it was the oldest allopathic medical society, is worthy of reproduction in toto from the petition as follows:

HISTORY OF DELTA MU

"The Delta Mu Fraternity originated from a Study Club, composed of Medical students of the University of Vermont who had united in order to obtain a greater benefit from their course by working together and conducting oral tests. A few of the leading men in this Club early decided that there were many of the members who were undesirable and determined to form a more exclusive Society. They secretly formulated a constitution, and held a clandestine meeting December 14, 1880, at which the constitution was adopted and those present were declared charter members. The new Society was called Delta Mu, the Greek characters for the first letters of the words Doctor of Medicine. There were thirteen present at this meeting and thereafter additional members were admitted only by the common consent of the founders. Of these thirteen men, two are now living, Dr. J. N. Jenne, Dean of the College of Medicine of the University of Vermont, and Dr. C. A. Weaver, a retired physician of Manchester, New Hampshire.

"During the next few years, the number was rapidly increased to forty which was the upper limit, as stated in the constitution. There were at that time nearly two hundred men in the College of Medicine, and, as Delta Mu was the only Medical Fraternity, the forty members, chosen from so large a number, represented the best type of man and student, and it was considered a great honor to be chosen for membership.

"During those early days, the traditions for leadership in student activities and scholarship originated and today character and scholarship are the first prerequisites demanded of those men who are considered for initiation. Two meetings are held each week, and the records of the secretary show that different members conducted recitations in at least two subjects at these sessions. This met a real need at a time when the teaching was entirely by lecture and there were no recitations.

"Delta Mu remained the only Medical Fraternity until 1889 when Phi Chi was founded at the University of Vermont by men who were not admitted to Delta Mu. Some years later, a chapter of Alpha Kappa Kappa was installed. Delta Mu, however, continued to attract the best men, and the members have always received the major portions of the honors. The five men having the highest scholastic record in each class are graduated with honors, and in some years all five have been Delta Mu men. To prove that the members still uphold the traditions established by the founders, records show that during the past fifteen years fifty per cent of the honor men have been members of Delta Mu; as many as the total from Phi Chi, Alpha Kappa Kappa, and non-fraternity men combined. In 1925, three of the first five men were from Delta Mu, and in 1926 the two highest men were from our fraternity.

"Since the founding of the Fraternity, there have been many changes in methods of teaching, and it no longer exists primarily as a quiz society, but is still a Fraternity in the true sense and its members are always ready to help one another. The chief social activity is dancing, and five or six dances are held each year in the Chapter rooms or at a hotel or club.

"Delta Mu has never petitioned another Fraternity for a charter; though National Fraternities have approached us, and local Fraternities at other institutions have petitioned us for a charter, suggesting that we become the nucleus of a new National organization. Delta Mu, however, has always preferred to remain local, but recently the active members, supported by the alumni, believing that the advantages of the National Fraternity outweighed those of the local Society, decided to petition a National organization. Nu Sigma Nu is the only Medical Fraternity that appealed to the members, and for that reason we are respectfully submitting our petition."

The petitioners and their records were as follows:

McMAHON

On May 18 the charter was granted by vote of the Grand Council. A telegram from Dr. Graves to Mr. Tyler arrived auspiciously in the midst of Junior Week. On October 29, 1927, at 3:30 P. M., in the historic Delta Mu rooms in the Hayward Block, the official installation was conducted by Dr. A. J. Bedell of Albany, Grand Custodian, assisted by Dr. Earl J. Dorwaldt and a degree team from the neighboring Omicron Chapter. At 6:30 P. M. there was a Delta Mu reunion banquet at the Hotel Vermont. Dr. Karl C. McMahon, toastmaster, introduced Dean James N. Jenne, Dr. Bedell of the Executive Council, Professors Patrick E. McSweeney, Lyman Allen, Clarence H. Beecher and Thomas S. Brown of the Faculty and President Pearson Harrison of the new chapter. Many congratulatory telegrams were read. A formal dance followed on the roof garden. The officers of the new chapter the first year were: (1) Pearson Harrison; (2) Asa Adams; (3) Royal Whitney; (4) Harold Twitchell; (5) Chester Newhall; (6) Allston Fogg. The following names appear on the Beta Pi (Delta Mu) Charter:

Faculty Sponsors: Lyman Allen, Clarence Henry Beecher, Edmund Towle Brown, Thomas Stephen Brown, Ernest Hiram Buttles, Charles Francis Dalton, James Nathaniel Jenne, David Marvin, Patrick Eugene McSweeney, Frederic William Sears, Charles Flagg Whitney.

Charter members: Asa Charles Adams, Frederick Michael Bannon, Albert Edward Barcomb, John Lester Berry, Orpheus Joseph Bizzozero, John Boardman, Arthur Augustin Coyne, Cyrus Darling Eastman, Allston Hazen Fogg, Reginald Eric Gillson, Wayne Pearson Harrison, Frederick William McFarland, Chester Albert Newhall, Roger Gaylord Prentiss, Jr., Laurel Erceldene Samson, Alton Beecher Skelton, Ralph Cunner Streeter, Louis George Thabault, Harold Hanson Twitchell, William Alexander Tyler, Royal Aaron Whitney, Leo Earle Wilson.

The Frates in Facultate, Internes and Frates in Universitate the first year were as follows:

James N. Jenne, Dean of the Medical School and Professor of Therapeutics and Clinical Medicine.

Lyman Allen, Professor of Surgery.

Clarence H. Beecher, Professor of Medicine.

Edmund T. Brown, Professor of Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.

Thomas S. Brown, Professor of Anatomy.

Ernest H. Buttles, Professor of Pathology and Bacteriology.

Charles F. Dalton, Professor of Hygiene and Preventive Medicine.

David Marvin, Professor of Materia Medica and Pharmacology.

Patrick E. McSweeney, Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

Frederick W. Sears, Professor of Neurology.

Charles F. Whitney, Professor of Physiological Chemistry and Toxicology.

George M. Sabin, Assistant Professor of Clinical Surgery.

Paul K. French, Instructor in Medicine.

Nathan R. Caldwell, Instructor in Roentgenology.

Fred S. Kent, Instructor in Clinical Pathology.

Karl C. McMahon, Clinical Instructor in Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.

INTERNES

John Boardman, '27, St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City.

William A. Tyler, '27, St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City.

Ralph G. Streeter, '27, Mary Fletcher Hospital, Burlington, Vt.

Orpheus J. Bizzozero, '27, Waterbury General Hospital, Waterbury, Conn.

1928—Asa Carles Adams, Frederick Michael Bannon, Wayne Pearson Harrison, Frederick William McFarland, Chester Albert Newhall, Roger Gaylord Prentiss, Jr., Laurel Erceldene Samson, Leo Earle Wilson.

1929—Albert Edward Barcomb, John Lester Berry, Reginald Eric Gillson, Alton Beecher Skelton, Harold Hanson Twitchell.

The Historic Vermont flood of December, 1927, did not dampen the spirits of the new chapter, and the nucleus from Dr. Tinkham's estate for the chapter house was actively organized. The loyalty of the 400 old alumni of Delta Mu was shown by the affiliation of large numbers and their requisitions of Nu Sigma Nu badges. Even as far away as St. Louis "Old Grads" were conducted through the ritual by local Nu Sigma Nu chapters for the new group at Vermont. The chapter continued to gather in scholastic honors. Brothers Barcomb and Skelton were two of five graduating cum laude in 1929 and Brother Skelton was among the first ten taking Part II of the National Board examinations in June.

The outstanding event of 1929 was the occupation of the new chapter house, a substantial brick house with paneled oak interior conveniently located a block from the medical school. In the fall of 1930 a large amount of appropriate furniture was received as a gift from Dr. L. W. Flanders, '85, of Dover.

And so in 1932 the young Beta Pi (Delta Mu) chapter finds itself comfortably housed, proud of its honorable history and its new affiliation, working hard to live up to its fine traditions, loyal and enthusiastic. The year is saddened by the death of one of its sponsors, Dr. E. T. Brown, '97, Professor of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology.

The account of the dedication of the Duke University School of Medicine and Duke Hospital in the Southern Medical Journal of December, 1931, and the school Bulletins furnish data for the sketch of The School. For the history of the chapter the author draws upon pleasant recollections of two trips to Durham and from office files and chapter letters in the fraternity Bulletin. The occasion of the first trip is related below. It is a pleasure here to acknowledge the loyal enthusiasm of Nu Sigma Nu faculty men at Duke for the proposed chapter there and also the cordial reception of the proposal by President Few and Dean Davison. The second trip was for the installation, and the story of that is complete in the following pages.

S. G.

THE SCHOOL

President Few was introduced for an honorary degree in June of 1930 as "a University President who believed in Santa Claus: he went to sleep a poor college president and awoke to find himself a college president rich beyond his dreams."

So it seems to a visitor to Durham when he first looks upon the magnificent new campus created de novo in a natural forest with its flowered lawns, beautiful drives, impressive Gothic buildings of native stone, all covered with the blue North Carolina sky.

Not the least part of this new institution is the latest of America's fine medical schools, for which millions were available before a sod was turned. Dean W. C. Davison also awoke to find himself one of the few American medical college deans with sufficient money to meet at once the highest standards for modern medical education. Even so, three years were taken to complete the school and teaching hospital and gather the backbone of a faculty. Such a school could have only an assured future, measured by any standard.

The realization of this dream was made possible by Mr. James B. Duke, who established the Duke Endowment on December 11, 1924. In his will he bequeathed $10,000,000

DUKE MEDICAL BUILDINGS

 (2) Duke Hospital and Out-Patient Clinic. (3) Winter Scene of the Duke Hospital and Grounds, on the University Campus, with the Chapel Tower in the Distance. (4) Duke University Medical School Building. (5) Quadrangle to be administered for the benefit of Duke University, including a maximum of $4,000,000 for erecting and equipping buildings for a medical school, hospital and nurses home. These sums were only a fraction of the huge Duke fortune. Other large sums were left in trust for the building and maintenance of district hospitals in North Carolina and for other departments of the University. The illustrations elsewhere describe more eloquently than words can how well the trust has been executed.

The School and Hospital were dedicated on April 20, 1931. They were presented by Mr. George Garland Allen, president of the trustees of the Duke Endowment, and accepted by Col. John Fletcher Bruton of the Board of Trustees. President Thurman Delina Kitchin, President of Wake Forest College and of the North Carolina State Medical Society, extended greetings on behalf of the medical profession of the State. Other appropriate addresses were delivered by Dean David Linn Edsall of the Harvard Medical School; Dr. Watson S. Rankin, director of the Hospital and Orphan Sections of the Duke Endowment; Director Lewis H. Weed of the Johns Hopkins Medical School; Dr. William H. Welch, Professor of the History of Medicine at Hopkins.

The hospital and public dispensary were opened for patients on July 21, 1930, and on October 1, 1930, seventy students were admitted to the first and third classes of the medical school. In the session of 1932-33 enrollment covered 165 undergraduates and fifteen graduates and the faculty numbered sixty-nine, including nine professors. The school is run on a four quarter system of eleven weeks each and awards a medical certificate after three calendar years. The M.D. degree is awarded after a fourth year of satisfactory work in an approved hospital.

THE CHAPTER

Small wonder was it that the Executive Council Secretary took the first train to Durham when he learned, in the late summer of 1930, that the Nu Sigma Nu teachers in the faculty at Duke were desirous of a chapter in their new school and that alumni scattered through North Carolina were also interested. Some missionary work had been well done by Brother George D. Lilly of Fayetteville, North Carolina, a Junior of Beta Iota Chapter at New Orleans, who was anxious to see a strong chapter added to the rather limited group of Nu Sigma Nu chapters in the South.

DOCTOR HART

On the night of September 26 a conference was held in the office of Dr. Deryl Hart, Beta Beta, '21, Professor of Surgery. Also present were Dr. Duncan C. Hetherington, Beta Beta, '26, Associate Professor of Anatomy; Dr. Alfred R. Shands, Pi Mu, '22, Instructor in Orthopedic Surgery; Dr. Elbert L. Persons, Beta Kappa, '27, Resident in Medicine, and the Executive Secretary. Dean Davison, invited as a guest, cordially endorsed the proposal for a chapter of Nu Sigma Nu.

On November 5 ten outstanding Freshmen submitted a petition for a charter of Nu Sigma Nu, endorsed by Brothers Hart, Hetherington, Shands, Person, Dr. Watt W. Eagle Beta Beta, '25, Instructor in Oto-laryngology, and Dr. Merle T. Adkins, Beta Beta, '07, Instructor in Medicine. These alumni showed great faith in the petitioners with good reason. Other medical fraternities with chapters in neighboring medical schools had not hesitated to go out into pre-medical fields in an effort to secure men before they were registered in medical school. Not one man was pledged Nu Sigma Nu before he arrived in Durham to study medicine. Most of the petitioners had been invited to join other fraternities. Eliminating personal references, the endorsement by the faculty members of the petition contained this high praise and optimism:

"The personality and appearance of these (Freshmen) are the best, while their popularity is attested by the fact that three of the four class officers were elected from this group, without any organized political pressure having been exerted.

"In the presence of competition from medical fraternities already organized, not a man who was bid for this petitioning group was lost, showing the high esteem in which the students hold Nu Sigma Nu, and indicating the position which a chapter of Nu Sigma Nu would assume in this school.

"Again, may we state that the petitioning group is composed of many of the outstanding men in the class, whether considered from the point of view of scholastic standing, general personality and appearance, or campus activities and we unhesitatingly recommend them to the general fraternity.

We feel that, if a chapter is granted, it will immediately take and maintain the leadership among the medical fraternities at Duke, and trust that the general fraternity and individual chapters will look with favor upon this petitioning group."

The endorsement of the alumni was supplemented by cordial greetings from President Few and Dean Davison.

It was a fortunate coincidence that the convention of the fraternity was to be held on the Friday and Saturday following Thanksgiving in Iowa City. The Committee on Extension reported in favor of granting the charter. With all this fresh in the minds of the returning delegates the rest was a matter of formality in meeting the requirements of the constitution. The Beta Iota Chapter had written to every other chapter to urge a favorable vote. They were none in opposition and on Friday, February 13, 1931—"Beta Rho's lucky day"—the Executive Secretary was able to wire Mr. Lenox D. Baker, president of the petitioning body, as follows: "The petition for a charter of Nu Sigma Nu at the Duke School of Medicine has been granted by a unanimous vote. Heartiest congratulations. You are at liberty to complete local arrangements for the installation which will be held probably on March 7. Dr. Hart is in communication with Dr. Will Walter regarding details. Nu Sigma Nu is expecting splendid things from its Duke men."

The installation of Beta Rho can best be recorded by an abbreviation of the report published in the 1931 Bulletin:

"Beta Rho Chapter of Nu Sigma Nu was installed in the Duke University School of Medicine on March 7, 1931, by Dr. Will Walter of Charlottesville, former Grand Aesculapius and Executive Counsellor, Dr. Leon H. Cornwall of New York, Grand Aesculapius, and Dr. Stuart Graves, Grand Galen. The ten charter members were as follows:

"LENOX DIAL BAKER, Texarkana, Tex. Pre-medical University of North Carolina and University of Tennessee, where he was an honor student. Kappa Sigma.

"BERGET H. BLOCKSOM, Jr., Michigan City, Ind. A.B., Michigan, 1928. Phi Kappa Psi.

"ROBERT W. GRAVES, Rome, Ga. B.S., Davidson, 1926; M.A., (physics), Princeton, 1928. Kappa Sigma, Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, Sigma Pi Sigma at Davidson. American Physical Society. American Meteorological Society. A. A. A. S.

"R. M. JOYNER, Canton, N. C. Pre-medical Wake Forest. Kappa Alpha.

"ROBERT L. McMILLAN, Charlotte, N. C. Pre-medical Davidson and North Carolina. Beta Theta Pi.

"EDWARD F. PARKER, Jr., Charleston, S. C. B.S., South Carolina, 1931. Alpha Tau Omega.

"LOUIS CARROLL ROBERTS, Shelby, N. C. B.S., Davidson, 1930. Phi Delta Theta Gamma Sigma Epsilon. Scabbard and Blade.

"BENJAMIN A. STRICKLAND, Jr., Witaers, N. C. Pre-medical Wake Forest. Chi Tau. Editor-in-chief, college literary magazine.

"JARRET E. WILLIAMS, Alvin, Tex. Pre-medical Emory and Henry. Editor-in-chief of college weekly. Football letter man two years. Tau Kappa Alpha.

"CHARLES T. WOOD, Newport, Va. B.S., Furman, 1927. Football letter man three years. Formerly Director of Physical Education in Salisbury, N. C., City Schools.

"The faculty sponsors of the new chapter are the following members of Nu Sigma Nu: Merle T. Adkins, Beta Beta (Johns Hopkins), '07; Watt W. Eagle, Beta Beta, '25; Deryl Hart, Beta Beta, '21; Duncan Hetherington, Beta Beta, '26; Elbert L. Persons, Beta Kappa (Harvard), '27; Julian M. Ruffin, Psi (Pi Mu) (Virginia), '26; Alfred R. Shands, Jr., Psi (Pi Mu), '22.

"Through the courtesy of Dean Davison, the installation services were conducted at 5 P. M. in the Faculty Room of the Duke School of Medicine and were attended by the sponsors and loyal alumni from various parts of North Carolina. At this time the charter was entrusted to the new chapter and the first local officers installed as follows: Aesculapius, Lenox T. Baker; Hippocrates, Robert W. Graves; Galen, Benjamin A. Strickland, Jr.; Herophilus, Edward F. Parker, Jr.; Aristotle, Berget H. Blocksom, Jr.; Sydenham, Jarrett E. Williams.

"The installation banquet at the Washington Duke Hotel in Durham was made most successful by the attendance of enthusiastic alumni from the School faculty and all parts of North Carolina and by the presence of Brothers Jack Van Duyn, Henry D. Stebbins, Lawrence Trevett and David L. Reeves of the Beta Beta Chapter who had driven over from Baltimore for the occasion.

"Dr. Shands as toastmaster read congratulatory telegrams from Beta Iota (Tulane) and Beta Kappa (Harvard) chapters; from Dr. Harold A. Bloom, President, for the Beta Iota Alumni Association of Louisiana, and from Dr. Hugh A. Thompson, of Raleigh, and Dr. T. K. Outlaw of Albermarle, N. C. A note of cordial welcome to the new Southern chapter characterized the messages. Dr. Shands called for toasts from Dr. Stuart Graves, Alabama; Dr. Will Walter, Charlottesville; Dr. Leon H. Cornwall, Columbia; Dr. Deryl Hart, Duke; Mr. Lenox D. Baker, Beta Rho Chapter Roll No. 1 and first Aesculapius of the new chapter; Dr. C. C.

Carpenter, Mu (Syracuse), '24, Wake Forest School of Medicine; Dr. Addison G. Brenizer, Beta Beta (Hopkins), '07, of Charlotte; Dr. Clarence A. Shore, Beta Beta, Raleigh; Dr. L. W. Kelly, Psi (Pi Mu) (Virginia), '24, of Charlotte; Mr. Henry D. Stebbins, Beta Beta (Hopkins), 1931; Dr. William Hart, Lambda (Pennsylvania), '21, of Charlotte.

"Immediately after the banquet the beautiful historic ritual was followed in initiating Dr. Rogers Baker, Harvard, and Dr. Charles Haywood, Harvard, each Associate in Anatomy. The services were conducted by Dr. Will Walter and Dr. Leon H. Cornwall."

And so the youngest chapter this semi-centennial year is well started on its career in the South with the spirits of Hopkins, Virginia and Tulane hovering near. In the language of the charter-announcing telegram, "Nu Sigma Nu is expecting splendid things from its Duke men."

PART IV

PREFACE TO PART IV

The semi-centennial convention was a great inspiration and will long be remembered by those who were privileged to attend. For the host who could not, Part IV records the proceedings, including the official minutes of the Grand Galen and the four fine and timely papers on the half century's progress in internal medicine, surgery, public health and preventive medicine and medical education, delivered respectively by four great Nu Sigma Nu teachers and investigators. They are herein published for the first time.

To those who labored long and efficiently in preparation much credit is due. If their satisfaction is in proportion to the success of the convention and the enjoyment of the delegates and alumni, they are amply rewarded.

THE SEMI-CENTENNIAL CONVENTION

STUART GRAVES

In 1982 the centennial of Nu Sigma Nu will be celebrated in its birth place, the University of Michigan. On that occasion some undergraduates who attended the semi-centennial convention at Ann Arbor in 1932 will be present, we hope, as aged and honored alumni. They will tell of the great men and the splendid program they were privileged to enjoy fifty years before. They will not be able to forget them, any more than some of the aged (?) alumni at the 1932 convention had been able to forget the impressions of the beginning of Nu Sigma Nu fifty years before that.

If the reader thinks this is only the enthusiasm of an old worker in the Executive Council, let him ask any of the 350 men who gathered at the Michigan Union for the closing banquet, or let him turn to "The Story of the Origin of Nu Sigma Nu" by one of its founders, Dr. William J. Mayo, earlier in this volume.

There is something deeper in Nu Sigma Nu than the passing happy days of undergraduate medical students. It is epitomized in the incident and letter relating to Dr. Victor Vaughan, found a few pages further on in the official report of the convention which this section of this semi-centennial history records. It is an intangible inspiration which springs from the hearts of generations of great medical men who find in Nu Sigma Nu a medium for giving to thousands of the finest young men in America something they do not find in the laboratory or clinic.

Former Dean Vaughan's spirit did hover over that semi-centennial convention in old Michigan, and in 1982, over a finer and larger body of young men, his spirit will be joined by the spirits of those old illustrious alumni of Nu Sigma Nu who, patrons and god fathers of Alpha Chapter and the fraternity, worked hard to make the semi-centennial convention one to remember fifty years hence.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE ON ARRANGEMENTS

Nu Sigma Nu has ever at heart the welfare of the medical schools and their entire student bodies. It was in this spirit that the Michigan School was closed to allow all the faculty and students to attend the public addresses and clinics by visiting Nu Sigma Nu men. The beautiful Mendelssohn Theatre in the Women's League was crowded for the lectures by Doctors Barker, Park, Balfour and Novy. Standing room was at a premium at the clinics conducted by Doctors Blankenhorn, Balfour, Barker and Miller.

For months the Committees of Arrangements had worked to perfect details and the smooth running of the convention, public and fraternal, was due to those efforts. It is not out of place here to give credit where credit is due, and to acknowledge loyal aid which all Michigan Nu Sigma Nu men, undergraduate and graduate, gave to the following committees:

Stuart Graves, Executive Secretary

Early in April Alpha Chapter had sent a special announcement to all its alumni, urging them to attend and make of the convention a reunion of Alpha men. Still earlier the official Bulletin from the Executive Council had carried the program to every alumnus and undergraduate in the United States and Canada. The Michigan Union was reserved for delegates. Visiting faculty men were entertained in the homes of colleagues. The Council was quartered at the Michigan League. The Alpha Chapter house at 1015 Huron Street, adjoining the campus, was headquarters for registration and business sessions.

The high spots of the convention were the deep fraternal feeling which prevailed all events, the inspiring public addresses, the unusual clinics, the smooth running business sessions, the Friday night smoker, the model initiation, the award of the merit degree to Doctor Park, the "special award of merit" in the form of a loving cup to Doctor Walter and the hearty endorsement by the Grand Council of the publication committee's efforts to produce "Nu Sigma Nu: Historic and Biographic: 1882-1932."

On registration each man was badged, assigned to his room and given tickets for the luncheons and dinners, a map of the campus and Ann Arbor and a copy of the following program:

- 7:00 Banquet at the Michigan Union; Dr. Leon H. Cornwall, President of the Executive Council, presiding; Dr. F. G. Novy, Honorary President, toastmaster.

The special program for the model initiation should also be recorded here. As Nu Sigma Nu has grown the emphasis upon "secret work" has diminished. The initiation ritual, as revised by Dr. Will Walter and demonstrated by the Alpha degree team and subsequently adopted as official by the Grand Council, is a beautiful pageant of medical history. It is safe to say that Professor Soule and Professor Weller, who were the neophytes, will vouch for its dignity and historical accuracy. The theme of the play has not been printed before and so the printed program of the day is reproduced here.

WORDS AND MELODY NEW

1. NU SIGMA NU

THY FELLOWSHIP WE PRIZE HOLD WE THY PRECEPTS
 E'ER BEFORE OUR EYES.
 LET FROM THY MOTTO
 INSPIRATION SPRING
 THY FAIR NAME TO SING

Refrain: NU SIGMA, NU SIGMA NU, NU SIGMA NU.

2. NU SIGMA NU

THY COLORS WE UNFURL
 THE WINE AND WHITE,
 THE GARNET AND THE PEARL.
 ON STANDARD HIGH
 THY BANNER SHALL WE HOLD AND PLEDGED BE WE TO HEALING ART UNFOLD.

3. MAY LIFE LONG FRIENDSHIPS

BE CEMENTED HERE
 ALWAYS TO REVERE.
 TO ALPHA CHAPTER
 BE FOREVER TRUE AND STAND TOGETHER FOR NU SIGMA NU.

I'M GLAD I'M A NU SIGMA NU(NEW) TUNE OF "BLEST BE THE TIE THAT BINDS"

1. ALL HAIL TO THE TIES THAT BIND

OUR PLEDGES IN NU SIGMA NU
 TO GIVE AID TO BROTHER
 AND STAND BY EACH OTHER
 I'M GLAD I'M A NU SIGMA NU.

2. TO SHARE ALL OUR MUTUAL WOES

TO MUTUAL BURDENS BEAR
 TO SHARE ALL OUR JOYS TOO
 WITH OLD "NU SIG" BOYS TOO
 I'M GLAD I'M A NU SIGMA NU.

3. I'M GLAD I'M A NU SIGMA NU

TO ALL OF THE OTHERS
 SHOO! SHOO!
 AND ALSO TABOO TOO
 AND LIKEWISE SKIDOO TOO
 I'M GLAD I'M A NU SIGMA NU.

There remains only to mention the souvenir program of the banquet. The front cover was of wine color embossed in gold with the crest, date and title. The program was followed by five convention songs. (This souvenir program was arranged by Dr. Walter and he is no believer in "canned music"). The pictorial section included the fraternity's six charter members, the first Alpha Chapter group, campus medical buildings, the 1932 Alpha Chapter group, the chapter house, the fraternity councils, the Committees of Arrangements, Fratres in Facultate, Fratres in Urbe, Fratres in Universitate, pages for autographs and, finally, a new cut of the Arch of Learning.

The official minutes of the convention are herewith reproduced from the 1933 Bulletin for more permanent preservation.

DOCTOR CORNWALL

Seventeenth President of the Grand Council, 1930-34, Presiding at Semi-Centennial Convention.

The twenty-fifth convention and semi-centennial anniversary of Nu Sigma Nu was called to order at 11:30 A. M. in the chapter room of Alpha chapter house at 1015 East Huron Street, Ann Arbor, Michigan. Dr. Leon H. Cornwall, Most Worthy Grand Aesculapius, being delayed in arriving, Dr. H. H. Hagan, former Most Worthy Grand Aesculapius, occupied the chair and opened the meeting in due and ancient form. Brother Thomas Y. Watson, Most Worthy Sydenham of Alpha, reported all present duly qualified. Roll call showed most chapters represented. Brother Watson was appointed by

Brother Hagan to act as Chairman of the Credentials Committee, with Brother Robert E. DeFriest of Omicron and Brother Waldemar C. A. Sternbergh of Beta Pi. After examining credentials the committee reported the following official delegates:

1. Alpha (Michigan) Gordon R. Lamb, Thomas Y. Watson.
2. Beta (Detroit) Thomas H. Bate, Jr.
3. Delta (Pittsburgh) Edward L. Jamison.
4. Epsilon (Minnesota) McClelland Shellman.
5. Zeta (Northwestern) Lawrence Dunn.

38. Beta Rho (Duke) Jarrett E. Williams.

Executive Council: Leon H. Cornwall, H. H. Hagan, Drew W. Luten, (Graves, Proxy), Frederick A. Davis (Graves, Proxy), Beverly Douglas (Will Walter, Proxy), Stuart Graves.

Prof. Playfair McMurrich of Toronto and Dr. Will Walter of Charlottesville, each a former Honorary Aesculapius of the Honorary Council, were introduced. Brother Hagan called for the report of the Grand Galen, which was submitted by Brother Graves as follows:

GRAND GALEN'S REPORT*

"The report of the Grand Galen covers the period since the twenty-fourth convention in November of 1930, at Iowa City. It records the principal events of that period, sets forth the financial condition of the fraternity, discusses some of our problems, makes some recommendations and is respectfully submitted for the pleasure of the Grand Council.

"Finances. The finances of the fraternity are in excellent condition. All funds have been closely watched and invested in Liberty bonds as fast as any appreciable balances accumulated. The amounts on hand are sufficient to pay for this semi-centennial convention; to cover sufficient of the probable cost of the semi-centennial historic and biographic volume to warrant its publication as soon as it can be completed; to meet the probable expense of the quadrennial biographic and geographic catalog due in 1933; to cover modest cost for revision of the ritual scrolls and to assist some needy chapters in replenishing their regalia, especially some of the younger chapters; and to meet current expenses. When this convention is covered, however, and expenses are paid for the already authorized publications, the balances will be largely utilized. The continued accumulation of funds in accordance with the constitutional provisions should again during coming years meet all expenses on our present basis and provide for the series of chapter historical volumes which have been suggested. The fraternity is to be warmly congratulated on its experience that present results have so amply proved the wisdom and foresight of our older officers, especially Dr. Walter and Dr. Irons, in laying the foundation of a safe and conservative financial system. Nu Sigma Nu men pay less to their national organization than the members of several other fraternities. It would seem fair to emphasize that the Executive Council, acting under the authority of the Grand Council, has made this investment for these undergraduates yield rich returns. All accounts and vouchers are audited annually by a certified accountant.

*Portions of the Grand Galen's report, which were of a more intimate interest to the delegates, have been deleted.

"Publications. The 1932 Bulletin speaks for itself. All thirty-eight chapters were represented with letters and photographs. Pamphlet Bulletins with the program for this convention were mailed well in advance to every living alumnus. To each chapter letter has been added chapter officers and biographic data for all initiates of the year 1931. The continuation of these features will preclude the necessity of our publishing again a big biographic and historic catalog. The annual letters and illustrations in the Bulletins will form a running record of current history. By this plan more funds will be available for current publications which will be enjoyed as they go by many more of those who pay for them.

"The Quadrennial Geographic and Biographic Catalog is due to be published in 1933. Preparations for it should be begun this summer. It is recommended that the Grand Council authorize its publication as usual if funds are available at the time.

"Nu Sigma Nu—Historic and Biographic is well in hand, thanks to the devotion and skill and original resourcefulness of Dr. Will Walter. It will be a beautiful volume with novel features and as accurate and complete as those who are requested to contribute will allow it to be made. Early returns from blanks in the last pamphlet Bulletins indicate an encouraging number of subscriptions for this volume. Every current undergraduate member particularly should have one. Copies will be distributed gratis to each chapter library on publication and periodically during the next fifteen years; and on publication also to each former Fellow of the Honorary Council and of the Executive Council as well as to each of the living founders of the Alpha Chapter. The funds of the fraternity and the cost of the volume will not permit gratuitous distribution further, but the Executive Council has authorized Dr. Will Walter and the Executive Council secretary to accept subscriptions under a guarantee that the price will not be less than $5 nor more than $10. The Council believes that every undergraduate should prize this volume highly. It will be the last of its kind. To make it more accessible to the undergraduates the Executive Council has granted a twenty per cent discount to all present active members graduated in 1932 or later. The subscription price will depend largely on the number of subscriptions received during the next three months. Blanks have been printed on the back pages of the pamphlet Bulletins sent to every living member. The value of this publication to the fraternity at large depends now almost entirely upon the active interest taken by the undergraduates.

Consequently it would seem to be one of the most important tasks of this convention to determine how such subscriptions can be secured without delay. The Committee on publications could well consider this problem and report a recommendation.

"Chapter Histories and Biographies. With the completion of the big historic and biographic volume certain of its functions are being lapped over into the annual Bulletin, so that another edition of such a volume as that published in 1907 and that just being completed will never be necessary. To each chapter letter has been added a list of current officers and biographic data of the year's initiates. With these additions, the annual Bulletin will cover every biographic and historic point of general interest. Your editors are of the opinion that the big historic and biographic volume should be succeeded by a somewhat different type of historic books devoted more individually to each chapter as each celebrates its fiftieth anniversary. Such a series could be financed from the continuing catalog publication fund resources, supplemented perhaps by modest local funds, in such a way that copies would be distributed to every one of the alumni of each chapter involved as well as to every one of its undergraduates. It is believed that such publications, with personal sketches and local features pertaining to the development of the school as well as the chapter made prominent, issued in conjunction with a series of semi-centennial chapter celebrations, would prove exceedingly productive of alumni support, and that they would aid greatly in rushing and would stimulate the formation of Alumni Associations, a field of activity to which the fraternity could with profit pay more attention.

"Song Book. A few contributions have been received. Responses are not very encouraging. Dr. Walter is willing to act as permanent chairman of the Song Committee, but he can do little without greater support. At one convention after another a fraternity song book has been advocated. Such a volume is possible only if it represents a spontaneous sentiment of our members. Singing seems to have gone out of fashion. 'Canned music' seems to be in vogue. Perhaps the depression will bring back the days of self-comfort by song. At any rate a song book without songs is an impossibility. The plan suggested in the last Bulletin seems feasible. We hope the delegates here will pledge themselves to see that at least one contribution per chapter is made during the coming year. A little concerted singing may drive away the gloom.

"Discipline. The few cases needing the attention of the Discipline Committee involve delinquencies in payment of dues. The chapters on the whole are fairly free from complications in this respect.

"Trouble would be reduced to a minimum if the constitutional requirements were faithfully observed and if the degree fee and the first per capita tax were collected at the time of initiation. Those chapters which are run in a business-like manner almost invariably show superiority in other respects. One of the most valuable experiences of chapter life should be the discipline of meeting obligations promptly as they arise. Each member's credit should be maintained and that would insure a high rating for each chapter. The chapter treasurer's task is a thankless one at best. His office is one of the most important. He should be thoughtfully chosen and he should receive the support and co-operation of every man. Above all it should be remembered that each chapter is responsible under the constitution to the Grand Council for the financial status of each of its members. No officer, local or national, has a right to depart from the requirements of the constitution.

"Constitutional Amendments. The Reprinted Constitution has been distributed in convenient, attractive form. Each chapter president is responsible for delivery of his chapter's copy to his successor.

"Year Terms for Chapter Officers. It would insure more compact organization if the secretary, the treasurer and the historian of each chapter were elected toward the close of each spring session for terms of one year each. The committee on Constitutional Amendments might well consider the advisability of amending Article VI, Section I, to provide for such terms. In fact, chapter affairs would undoubtedly be conducted more efficiently if all chapter officers were elected for one year, provided they were chosen with care. Short terms rob the chapters of the benefits of experience.

"The Merit Degree. The ceremony for the award of the Nu Sigma Nu Degree of Merit has also been revised by Dr. Walter and put into permanent form. The award of this degree in the past has been made only to a very few of our most distinguished alumni, Senn, Vaughn, McMurrich, Welch, Novy and Huber. Dr. Walter has harmonized this ceremony with the ritual in very attractive form.

"Ritual and Regalia. Revised Ritual. Nu Sigma Nu is peculiarly fortunate in retaining the active interest of such a poet, playwright and student of medical history as Dr. Walter.

The ritual for which he and Dr. Thad Walker were largely responsible in the early years has been revised, abbreviated and historically brought down to the present era. Dignity and beauty and historical accuracy have been emphasized. The 'secret code' has been eliminated except for the motto and the grip.

"Regalia. Experience for many years has forced the business connected with ritual and regalia into the office of the Executive Secretary. In conjunction with Dr. Walter he has assembled one complete new outfit which will be used at the model initiation Friday afternoon. It is so arranged that chapters can use the full outfit, or omit some parts. We are now in a position to meet the needs of several chapters from which inquiries have been received and to standardize regalia at the lowest possible cost.

"It is recommended that the ritual and regalia as used at this convention be formally approved and made official; and, further, that the Executive Council be authorized to co-operate with chapters in helping to replenish their regalia where needed. Efforts in this direction have been made in years past, but this occasion should set a mark for completing that work.

"Official Stationery is frequently requested by chapters and individuals and has been previously recommended by the Grand Council. After careful investigation, your Secretary is convinced that the Burr, Patterson and Auld Company of Detroit, official jewelers for Nu Sigma Nu, are best equipped to meet this demand with a variety of styles at moderate prices. In view of their long and satisfactory service, and particularly in recognition of their generosity in presenting beautiful souvenirs in honor of this occasion, it is recommended that our official jewelers be appointed also our official stationers, and that the Executive Secretary be empowered to conclude a favorable contract, subject to the approval of the Executive Council.

"Alumni Associations. In various parts of this report reference is made to relations between undergraduates and alumni. We appreciate that few alumni can devote much time to undergraduate affairs. Nevertheless, if their interest is kept alive and if their experience in chapter has been right, they can do a great deal in little time. This topic is dealt with at greater length in a paper in the 1932 Bulletins on 'The Relation of the Professional Fraternity to the University,' read last November at the biennial meeting of the Professional Inter-fraternity Conference at Cincinnati. It seems to have struck a responsive chord there because it has been published in other fraternity magazines besides the Nu Sigma Nu Bulletin and it is now in press in Banta's Greek Exchange. In it the author tried to point the way to a greater usefulness of the fraternity to the undergraduate along such lines as would insure the undergraduates' deep if limited active interest after graduation. If this fraternity in the next fifty years does not measure up to its enlarged opportunities and lead the way as it has in the last fifty years, then it would seem that the fraternity must drop from its pre-eminent position. We believe the pamphlet Bulletin may well be supplemented by chapter biographic histories of particular interest to chapter groups, graduate and undergraduate; that these groups should be tied in to each other by sectional alumni associations; that definite contacts should be kept close. Nu Sigma Nu is growing tremendously. We must forge strong links and see that they bind securely, so that the cumulative good may be utilized with ever increasing effect.

"Inter-Fraternity Relations. The relations of Nu Sigma Nu with all other medical fraternities are most cordial. The chief difficulty for all lies in pre-medical pledging. This question comes up again next month at the biennial meeting of the Medical Interfraternity Conference. Slow progress is being made toward outlawing pre-medical pledging.

"In accordance with instructions from the last Grand Council, Nu Sigma Nu has withdrawn from the Professional Interfraternity Council, but the Executive Council should be authorized to join any time it should seem wise. The expense is nominal.

"In conclusion may I express my warm appreciation of the cordial response and co-operation of many chapter officers and the other members of the Executive Council, as well as helpful advice and active assistance from Dr. Walter and Dr. Irons. The work of the central office is constantly growing and yet the duties become increasingly pleasant as contacts and friendships in Nu Sigma Nu broaden and deepen.

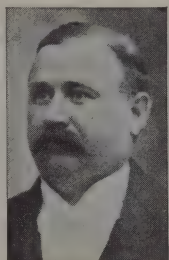

"I want particularly on this occasion to express on behalf of the Executive Council our keen appreciation of the fine spirit manifested by the local men in preparing for the entertainment of this convention. Dr. Edmunds, Dr. Novy, Dr. Huber, Dr. Marshall, Dr. Loree, Dr. Wilson, Dr. Wile, Brothers Brewer, Carpenter and McDonnell and all their associates have set new standards for a Nu Sigma Nu convention, as you all will soon learn. Their active interest and their devotion to the fraternity, which was nursed by some of their older members when it was an infant, typifies the spirit of a letter which hangs in the library of Alpha's home. It was written on November 3, 1921, on stationery of the National Research Council in Washington. It is addressed to Brother Stanley O. Chambers, then Galen of the chapter. The letter runs as follows:

'Dear Chambers:

'I am returning under separate cover by this mail the photograph with my signature.

'Please extend my most sincere love to the members of the fraternity. For more than forty years I have been proud to be a member of Nu Sigma Nu. In the past, many of its members have honored the fraternity by their excellent work, both in school and after graduation. I am sure the active members of today will continue this good work.'

DEAN VAUGHAN

"So wrote a great man and a great Nu Sigma Nu ten years ago, after forty years in the fraternity. His letter might on this occasion well constitute a message to the fraternity at large. If that voice could speak today, no doubt it would send such a message. The letter is signed

'VICTOR C. VAUGHAN, Chairman,

'Division of Medical Sciences.'

"May his spirit guide this semi-centennial convention in his own home. Through us may his genius shine to all corners of the world."

CONVENTION COMMITTEES

Convention Committees. On motion the report was ordered filed and proper portions referred to their corresponding committees. After a short recess Brother Hagan announced the following committees:

(1) Credentials

Watson of Alpha (Michigan).

DeFriest of Omicron (Albany).

Sternbergh of Beta Pi (Vermont).

(2) Finance and Auditing

Lichty of Beta Kappa (Harvard).

Ahnquist of Xi (Bellevue).
Watson of Alpha (Michigan).
Becker of Beta Delta (Iowa).
Douglas of Executive Council (Walter Proxy).

(3) Extension

Madden of Upsilon (Stanford).
Simpson of Chi (Toronto).
Howlett of Beta Mu (McGill).
Pierce of Beta Gamma (I. C. I.) (Buffalo).
Hagan of Executive Council.

(4) Publication

McConnell of Rho (Jefferson).
Bate of Beta (Detroit).
Wright of Beta Beta (Hopkins).
Jamison of Delta (Pittsburgh).
Jakeman of Beta Eta (Indiana).

(5) Discipline

Shaw of Theta (Cincinnati).
Gustafson of Eta (Illinois).
McBride of Iota (Columbia).
Carvey of Beta Zeta (Delta Epsilon Iota) (Yale).
Hughes of Beta Xi (Colorado).

(6) Constitutional Amendments

Young of Kappa (Rush).
Rice of Phi (California).
Shellman of Epsilon (Minnesota).
Heine of Beta Epsilon (Nebraska).

(7) Ritual and Regalia

Butt of Pi Mu (Virginia).
Lamb of Alpha (Michigan).
Perkins of Theta (Cincinnati).
Dunn of Zeta (Northwestern).
Hammonds of Pi (Alpha Kappa Phi) (Washington).

(8) Chapter Finance, House and Management

Lyon of Lambda (Pennsylvania).
Smith of Beta Nu (Oregon).
Williams of Beta Rho (Duke).
Lamb of Beta Eta (Indiana).

(9) Inter-Fraternity Relations

Slater of Tau (Cornell).
Shabart of Beta Omicron (Wisconsin).
Lounsbury of Beta Zeta (Delta Epsilon Iota) (Yale).
Kraning of Beta Eta (Indiana).

(10) Miscellaneous

Gandy of Beta Lambda (Texas).
Hobler of Mu (Syracuse).
Collopy of Beta Omicron (Wisconsin).
Williams of Beta Zeta (Delta Epsilon Iota) (Yale).

(11) Resolutions

Stickney of Kappa (Rush).
Moore of Beta Alpha (Maryland).
January of Beta Zeta (Delta Epsilon Iota) (Yale).
Norman of Beta Eta (Indiana).
Clements of Beta Epsilon (Nebraska).

(12) Nominations

Flippin of Pi Mu (Virginia).
Hosler of Sigma (Western Reserve).
Ballenger of Beta Theta (Kansas).
Hartung of Beta Iota (Tulane).

The committees were posted and the first session adjourned at 12:45 P. M. for a buffet luncheon served in the chapter house. The delegates in this way mingled delightfully without becoming scattered. At the same time luncheon was served at the Michigan League for alumni and guests with Dr. J. F. Breaky presiding.

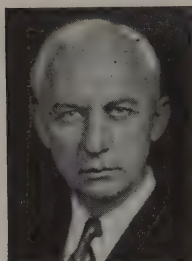

SECOND BUSINESS SESSION

At 2:15 the second session was called to order in Alpha's chapter room with Grand Aesculapius Cornwall presiding. Roll call showed 100 per cent of the chapters represented by accredited delegates.

Brother J. Deryl Hart, Beta Beta, '21, Professor of Surgery at Duke University and one of the sponsors of the new Beta Rho chapter, presented brief greetings from the infant chapter.

In accordance with precedent the various committees met in groups to consider such matters as had been referred or were brought to them by delegates. This session lasted until nearly 6 P. M.

DOCTOR WILSON

Meanwhile, with Dr. F. N. Wilson presiding, clinics were being held at the University Hospital by Brother M. A. Blankenhorn, Sigma, '14, Professor of Clinical Medicine of Western Reserve University School of Medicine, and Brother Donald C. Balfour, Chi, '06, of the Mayo Clinic.

At 6:30 P. M. at the Michigan League the Ann Arbor alumni were hosts for an informal dinner to delegates, visiting alumni and invited guests. Dr. Mark Marshall of the Michigan faculty presided.

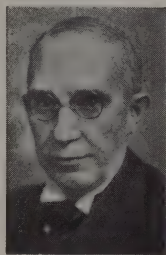

FIRST PUBLIC SESSION

Following the dinner the Fellows adjourned to the beautiful Mendelssohn Theatre of the Michigan League where all seats except those reserved for members had been filled by guests from the University and the town. Brother F. G. Novy, Dean of the Michigan School presided. On the platform were seated also, beside President Ruthven of the University, Brother L. F. Barker, Kappa, '90, Professor Emeritus of Medicine at Hopkins and speaker of the evening; Brother F. W. Main, Alpha, '84, who was Grand Aesculapius in 1889 and the first initiate into the original Alpha chapter, the oldest alumnus at the convention; and Brothers Cornwall and Graves of the Executive Council.

Brother Novy traced how the seed had grown in fifty years since it had been planted at Ann Arbor by Brother W.J. Mayo, B. G. Strong, C. M. Frye, J. L. Gish, R. D. Stephens and F. C. Bailey. He pointed with pride to the present fraternity with thirty-eight active chapters, 1,200 undergraduates and more than 10,000 alumni. He emphasized the marvelous development of medical service in the same half century. He then introduced President Alexander Grant Ruthven of the University.

President Ruthven voiced pleasure in having the semi-centennial of Nu Sigma Nu in Ann Arbor and extended cordial greetings from the University. He expressed the hope the fraternity's deliberations would be such that it would continue during the the next half century to be as potent an influence in medical education and as productive in contribution to medical science as it had in the half century just closing. In introducing Professor Barker as the speaker of the evening President Ruthven reviewed his distinguished career.

Doctor Barker responded most gracefully to President Ruthven and, on behalf of the fraternity, expressed appreciation of the warm welcome extended by the University Administration and the medical faculty. Doctor Barker's address, "Fifty Years' Progress in Internal Medicine," will be published in the memorial volume, "Nu Sigma Nu—Historic and Biographic, 1882-1932."

DOCTOR LOREE

Following Doctor Barker's address, alumni, delegates and friends enjoyed a smoker at the Michigan League with Brother Ira Dean Loree, Alpha, '01, of the Michigan faculty presiding and Brother W. A. Evans, Eta, '85, of Chicago, acting as toastmaster. It was a rather remarkable affair, a semi-centennial medical fraternity smoker in the exquisite woman's building of a great mid-western co-educational State University with never an incident to mar the occasion. The management of the League, a Michigan alumna, commented the following day in most complimentary terms.

SECOND BUSINESS SESSION

The second business session was called to order at 10 A. M. in Alpha's chapter hall by Brother Cornwall.

For the Credentials Committee Brother Watson reported all delegates duly certified. In accordance with precedent the Grand Aesculapius began calling for committee reports.

Committee on Finance and Auditing. Chairman Lichty submitted the following report which, on motion duly seconded, was unanimously approved and ordered filed:

Your committee has examined all of the books of accounts and has checked all vouchers. It has also reviewed the reports of the audits by Waldman, Petot and Company, Certified Public Accountants of Louisville, Ky., as of December 31, 1930, and as of April 9, 1932.

A summary of the last audit indicates that on that date the Grand Council had invested funds of $12,950, a small amount of cash for investment, $24.98, and $5,000 in cash in the Convention Fund which will more than cover the necessary expenses of this convention.

This committee heartily approves of the actions of the Executive Council in transferring to the Current Publications Fund $4,000 from the Convention Fund, $3,000 from the Ritual and Regalia Fund and $1,000 from the Contingent and Expense Fund. It also desires to voice its hearty approval of the wisdom exercised by its Executive Council in investing the surplus funds of the fraternity in U. S. Government Securities. The result has been that, despite the present depreciation of security values, our invested funds have suffered little or no depreciation.

The amounts on hand in the various funds are sufficient to cover the expenses of the following activities of the fraternity:

- (1) The convention now in session.
- (2) The coming semi-centennial Historic and Biographic volume.
- (3) The Quadrennial Biographic and Geographic Catalog to be published in 1933.
- (4) The revision of the ritual scrolls and replenishment of regalia.

This committee feels that the fraternity is especially fortunate in the advice and guidance it has had in its financial activities from Dr. Ernest Irons, Dr. Will Walter and Dr. Stuart Graves. We deem it worthy of emphasis that the Executive Council, acting under the authority of the Grand Council, has made the invested funds of the fraternity yield rich returns.

The conservative, economical and business-like judgment that has characterized the disposition of current funds by Dr. Stuart Graves is to be highly commended. It is largely through his faithful and untiring efforts that your committee is able to furnish such a highly satisfactory report.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH S. LIGHTY
CARL M. BECKER
THOMAS Y. WATSON
GERHARD AHNQUIST
L. H. CORNWALL

Committee on Publications. Chairman McConnell submitted the following report which, on motion duly recorded, was unanimously approved and ordered filed:

We, the Committee on Publications, respectfully submit the following report:

- (1) "Nu Sigma Nu—Historic and Biographic." Weaving together the scattered strands of medical history, especially those of peculiar interest to our beloved fraternity, into so beautiful a pattern as the finished volume, "Nu Sigma Nu—Historic and Biographic" is a herculean task which only a mind of the finest caliber would undertake, let alone carry through to such a glorious achievement. It is beyond our power to pay adequate tribute to Dr. Will Walter. This beautiful volume itself will bespeak the untiring devotion and skill of Dr. Walter and be a fitting tribute to him and to the men who have made our history glorious. We recommend that the Fiftieth Annual Convention go on record as tendering a vote of thanks to him and those associated with him in this work. Mention should also be made of the chapter historians for their efforts and their co-operation. Financing this volume has been a big problem and we commend the efficient way in which it has been handled. Provision has been made to distribute gratis to each chapter library, to each Fellow of the Honorary Council and of the Executive Council, and to each of the living founders of the Alpha chapter a copy of this volume as soon as published. We recommend that a new volume be sent to each chapter library at the end of fifteen years. In view of the tentative price of from $5 to $10 and the generous discount granted to present undergraduates by the Executive Council, we strongly urge each chapter president to do all in his power to stimulate the sale of the volume among the undergraduates and alumni. Since this is to be the last work of its kind, and since its value will increase as time goes on, we reiterate our recommendation to the chapter presidents to make this a matter of active interest in securing early subscriptions.

II. The Yearly Bulletin. The committee recommends the continuance of present policies concerning the Yearly Bulletin, but offers the following suggestions:

That the chapter historians be impressed with the importance of their function in recording of Nu Sigma Nu history, and that they should be ever on the alert to gather material for subsequent publications. We suggest that a yearly circular letter be sent to each alumnus from his home chapter for verification of his address and for information of interest to his chapter and the fraternity at large.

That the names and addresses of active members be included both by chapters and by geographical location.

III. The Quadrennial Geographic Catalog. This catalog, due to be published in 1933, requires the immediate action on the part of the chapter historians in order that this catalogue be complete and accurate. We further recommend that this catalogue be enlarged to include the names of active members, indicated by an asterisk, and their addresses in both chapter and geographic sections.

IV. Pamphlet Bulletins. Those alumni who do not subscribe to the yearly Bulletin find their chief contact with their home chapter through the pamphlet Bulletin. Therefore, we would repeat our recommendations that the historians of each chapter make a special effort to fill each pamphlet Bulletin with news of particular interest to their respective chapters. In this way information which might make the yearly Bulletin too bulky, and yet is of especial significance to individual chapters, can be distributed. We heartily commend those chapters which have found it possible to supplement the pamphlet bulletins with smaller news sheets mailed to their alumni throughout the year, and we suggest this as a valuable way to bind us together as a fraternity. To emphasize the sale of "Nu Sigma Nu—Historic and Biographic," we would further recommend that blanks for subscriptions be included on the back cover for the ensuing pamphlet Bulletins as they were on the current issue.

V. Song Book. The committee suggests that each chapter co-operate in fuller measure with Dr. Walter so that in future years we may boast an official song book of Nu Sigma Nu.

VI. Files. For the sake of accuracy and completeness of alumni files as kept in each chapter, the Committee on Publications recommends that a committee appointed by the Executive Council investigate the matter of a standard alumni file to be adopted by the fraternity for use in every chapter. If such a proposal would necessitate an amendment to the constitution, we recommend that such be drafted, the details worked out, and submitted at the next appropriate business session. We would recommend that it be one of the duties of the historian, aided by the secretary, to keep such files up to date with information received in reply to the circular letters sent to alumni. In addition we would suggest that they investigate the completeness of the Chapter Roll Book of Initiates. By such a standard system of filing, we hope that any errors of omission or inaccuracy will be obviated. Furthermore, we would reiterate the importance of informing the national office of any changes of address.

VII. Chapter History and Biography Bulletin. The value and interest of such a volume as "Nu Sigma Nu—Historic and Biographic" has been heretofore mentioned. It has also been pointed out that subsequent material of similar caliber must seek other channels of expression. The Committee on Publications therefore recommends to the attention and consideration of the fraternity the institution of an individual Chapter Historic and Biographic Bulletin, modeled after the volume celebrating our fiftieth anniversary. We would suggest that such a volume be compiled every twenty-five years in the history of each chapter. Material would be organized by the secretary and historian of each chapter, aided by the national office, and that the cost of such a publication be defrayed by the continuing catalog publication fund resources, supplemented by subscriptions from the individual chapter alumni and undergraduates. We feel that such publications would carry on worthy precedent and prove of lasting interest to Nu Sigma Nu men.

In concluding our report, we recommend to the attention of the Grand Council a proposal to have the committees which are to function at the biennial conventions appointed by the Grand Council two months in advance, and notices sent to the local chapter delegates. Matters pertaining to the various committees could then be discussed in chapter meetings and communication made to the proper committees. In this way we hope that the business of the convention will be facilitated and more adequately administered.

Committee on Discipline. Chairman Shaw submitted the following report which, on motion duly seconded, was unanimously approved and ordered filed.

The Committee on Discipline recommends the individual chapters rigidly abide by Article VIII, Section 2, of the Constitution, and that the treasurers of chapters be carefully chosen. We believe this to be the most practical means of protecting the financial condition of the national fraternity.

Respectfully submitted,

Committee on Constitutional Amendments. Chairman Rice submitted the following report which, on motion duly seconded, was unanimously approved and ordered filed:

The Committee on Constitutional Amendments recommends the adoption of the following amendment to the Constitution:

ARTICLE VI, Section 1. The officers of each chapter shall be: (1), (2), (3), (4), (5), (6), who shall be elected for terms of one year, at such time as each chapter may designate in its by-laws. The officers of the active chapters shall be known as M. W. (1), etc.; those of the Grand Council as G. (1), etc.; and those of the Honorary Council as H. (1), H. (2), etc. Officers in the H. C. and G. C. shall hold office two years or until their successors are elected and qualified.

Officers in the H. C. and G. C. may be held by alumni members only.

Respectfully submitted,

Committee on Ritual and Regalia. Chairman Butt submitted the following report which, on motion duly seconded, was approved and ordered filed:

(1) Revised Ritual. The Committee wishes to congratulate Dr. Will Walter on the revised ritual which he has brought down to the present era of medical history and in which dignity, beauty and historical accuracy have been emphasized. We recommend its adoption as official.

(2) Regalia. This committee recommends that each chapter communicate with the Executive Secretary as to the completeness of its regalia; that the Executive Secretary cooperate with the chapters in replenishing necessary regalia; that the regalia be made simple and historically accurate; that the regalia used at this convention be made official, but that each chapter be allowed to use only the simple red robes, leaving others optional as they may afford.

(3) Merit Degree. We recommend that the ceremony for the award of this degree as revised by Dr. Will Walter be made official and put into permanent form.

(4) Coat of Arms. We recommend that the design of the rectangular plaque as submitted by the Executive Secretary be adopted as official.

(5) Badge Guards. We recommend that guards for badges be disapproved as detracting from the beauty of the regulation badge and as unnecessary.

Respectfully submitted,

Chapter Finance, Housing and Management. Chairman Lyon submitted the following report which, on motion duly seconded, was approved and ordered filed with the "hearty endorsement of the Grand Council":

We recommend:

- (I) That the treasurer of each chapter be elected for a term of one year, the election to take place not later than one month before the close of the school term preceding that school term during which he is to hold office: (e.g., a man who is to serve during the year 1932-33, should be elected in the first week of May, 1932): further, that the treasurer be adequately compensated for his efforts, said compensation being that which the respective chapters feel sufficient in their individual cases; e. g., room rent, board, two per cent of all monies collected.
- (II) The establishment in each chapter of a Finance Committee, this committee to be composed of three men, one each from the three upper classes. The committee is to have power to excuse, or to insist upon, the payment of obligations due the treasurer. This committee is to keep no written minutes, other than a memorandum of their final disposition of each case, and is to act at all times fairly and without prejudice. This group is to be appointed by the chapter president, or elected by vote of the entire chapter.

- (III) That payment of the per capita tax (national dues) must be made before the fifteenth of October of each year by all undergraduate members of Nu Sigma Nu fraternity.
- (IV) That the initiation fee of each new member must be paid in cash, on or before the date of his initiation. The penalty for non-payment to be non-initiation.
- (V) That stress be placed upon the payment of local obligations. Each individual member of an undergraduate chapter should pay the money due the local chapter to the chapter treasurer the first of each month. Ten days of grace may be allowed, during which period it is the duty of those men unable to meet their obligations to appear before the above-mentioned finance committee, to secure extension of the time allowed for payment. If at the end of the ten-day period obligations are still unmet, and the individual has not secured an extension from the Finance Committee, he is to suffer the prescribed penalty, said penalty to be strictly enforced. Suggested penalties: (1) 10 per cent fine; (2) removal of all chapter privileges; (3) expulsion from fraternity after lapse of two years.

Inter-Fraternity Relations. Chairman Slater submitted the following report which, on motion duly seconded, was unanimously approved and ordered filed:

The Committee Recommends:

(1) That the Grand Council urge that the Executive Council continue to use its best efforts to effect through the Medical Inter-fraternity Conference an early acceptance by all members of that conference of a proper and enforceable rule to abolish pre-medical pledging.

(2) That the Grand Council authorize the Executive Council to rejoin the Professional Inter-fraternity Council if it so deems it desirable and advantageous to the fraternity.

Respectfully submitted,

IRWIN SLATER
JAMES LOUNSBURY
KENNETH K. KRANING
ELMER SHABART

Committee on Miscellaneous. Chairman Gandy submitted the following report which, on motion duly seconded, was unanimously approved and filed:

We Recommend the Following:

(1) That Burr, Patterson and Auld Company of Detroit be officially appointed as the official stationers of Nu Sigma Nu, and that the Executive Council be empowered to contract with them for same, and that this stationery be used for all official fraternity correspondence.

(2) That efforts be continued to strengthen alumni associations with the chapters and with the national fraternity.

Respectfully submitted,

JOE R. GANDY
LAWRENCE HOBLER
ASHBEL C. WILLIAMS
P. J. COLLOPY

As customary the reports of the Committee on Resolutions and the Committee on Nominations were postponed to the concluding banquet. By noon all other reports had been thoroughly discussed and harmoniously disposed of by unanimous ballots. The session furnished a beautiful example of the expeditiousness with which business could be transacted when properly prepared and presented. Practically every delegate had remained for the preceding afternoon committee meetings in which all details had been thoroughly discussed. The previous night the Committee on Credentials and the Committee on Finance and Auditing had visited every delegate's voucher and fixed the amount to be paid. Before retiring the Grand Galen had signed a check for every delegate and they were ready alphabetically for distribution at 8:30 A. M. at the Chapter House, arrangements having been made at the University branch of the Ann Arbor Savings Bank to have them cashed promptly. By noon, when adjournment was taken, all routine business had been completed in record time.

While the business session was being held at the chapter house, clinics for alumni and guests were again being held at the Uni-

PUBLIC HEALTH AND SURGERY ADDRESSES

The Mendelssohn Theatre in the Michigan League was filled again to capacity at 2:30 P. M. for the second public session of the convention. Professor Charles W. Edmunds, Alpha, '01, Chairman of the Convention Committee representing the Michigan Alumni, presided. In introducing the first speaker Professor Edmunds said that, if he should enumerate all the contributions which the speaker had made to scientific medicine, the audience might think he was giving a lecture on the history of bacteriology and preventive medicine. Warm applause greeted Brother William H. Park, Xi, '85, Professor of Bacteriology in New York University and Director of the Bureau of Laboratories of the New York City Board of Health, who spoke on "Fifty Years Progress in the Control of Communicable Diseases."

The third notable address by Nu Sigma Nu alumni followed when Brother Donald C. Balfour, Chi, '06, Surgeon of the Mayo Clinic and Professor of Surgery in the University of Minnesota Graduate School of Medicine, spoke on "Fifty Years Progress in Surgery."

The addresses of Professor Barker, Professor Park and Professor Balfour were peculiarly fitting in covering the progress in their respective fields during the first half century of Nu Sigma Nu's history. These addresses follow this report of the convention and are published herein for the first time.

THE MODEL INITIATION

DOCTOR HUBER

As soon as the theatre was cleared the members of the fraternity sat down to enjoy the model initiation at which the ritual revised by Dr. Will Walter was beautifully presented by a well-drilled team from Alpha's undergraduates. They used a new outfit of regalia, modified for simplicity and faithfulness to medical history. At this function Brother G. Carl Huber, Alpha, '87, Professor of Anatomy at Michigan, presided.

"We are gathered here," said Dean Huber, "to witness the initiation of certain worthy fellows into our brotherhood. My task is very simple. I feel neither need nor urge to extol our order, less so, to sing the praise of those approaching our doors. Through foresight and especial effort of one of our number, Brother Will Walter, Nu Sigma Nu has grown and developed as an undergraduate fraternity, with the maintenance of the ideals of her founders. With the growth in years combined with the teachings of experience, our ritual has become more impressive and of finer finish. In it we now find an interweaving of the past of medicine with the more present.

"In listening again to its presentation may we each and all think not merely of the spoken word, but find and then live the ideals clothed in them."

Brother Walter directed the ritual and read his new prologue and epilogue. The neophytes were Carl Vernon Weller, M.S., M.D., Michigan, '13, Professor of Pathology, and Malcolm Herman Soule, ScD., Michigan, '24, Professor of Bacteriology, of the Michigan Medical School.

THE SEMI-CENTENNIAL NEOPHYTES

Malcolm H. Soule

Following the model initiation, Dr. Walter was enthusiastically called for as the author of the new ritual and responded with the following remarks:

"It is seldom vouchsafed a man to see the plans of early life come to fruition—and unexpectedly thirty-five years after he has forsaken the hope—and then to finish the job. But that is what has come to Brother Walker, who, I see, is here, and to me, in the staging of this play tonight.

"The original plans for this ritual comprehended its depiction upon a stage, at least at convention times, but this is the first time it has been accomplished. To be able to do so on such a stage, on such an occasion, in such an environment, is compensation for all of the years of delay.

"Perhaps you active men particularly should hear something of the story of the ritual as you see it portrayed. To begin with, the invitation came to me to join Alpha Chapter, along with Brother Novy, late in my Senior year. It was never my fortune even to see the initiation given. Nevertheless, the impression made upon me by the historic element of the ceremony when I was initiated into Alpha, the patron saints being the officers, was a lasting one. We have since learned that the founders had made profound study of the patron saints of medicine. And so when it fell a few years later to me to be an instrument in the revision of the ritual in an effort to give it an essentially historic character as a drama, it was a pleasure to work it out. Of course, the task was difficult and time-consuming, involving as it did much study of ancient medical history; but, with the earnest and enthusiastic cooperation of fellow officers, it was developed into the form used ever since. In that revision one character was added to that of Aristotle and the former character of Malpighi was changed to Sydenham in order to establish a link between the ancient and the early modern period. The task covered a matter of three or four years. I need not bother you with details, but as time has passed we have been justified in our portrayal by the findings of historians.

"At that time, which was in the late '90's, we announced that this scheme comprehended a later addition of another act portraying the early modern patrons, of whom there were many outstanding characters; perhaps later still, when time should make possible the evaluation, to add the modern or nineteenth century characters.

"Having been called back into service in connection with the history of the order during my regime, it seemed an opportune time to suggest this added act. We were confronted however, with the time problem. In the old days, a matter of an hour meant little to the boys, but the added pressure of the enlarged curriculum, coupled with the fact that the long pre-medical requirements brought to our ranks men to whom the experiences of initiation were no longer novel nor even interesting, made the problem difficult. They wanted to get it over without too much time. They liked the ritual, but thought it already a little long. If any changes were made, they should be to curtail, not to lengthen. The long address at the end seemed too time-consuming; some chapters even postponing it to be read privately to the neophyte.

"How to accomplish a change and still add the longed-for-act was the problem. To save time it occurred to me to put the history of the early moderns into the form of a prologue, to condense the address into an epilogue, and to put it all in verse. When that had been done there was time to spare, since the prologue filled in the time while scenes were being changed.

"In the mean time, and before this problem came to me, I had interested myself in the whole story of the healing art and, for my own amusement, had undertaken to put it into verse, hitting only the high spots; a verse in the meter of the Iliad which had always had an appeal.

"My epic covers the story of the healing art which is far back of the story of the art of medicine as such. But there was time to preface the medical story with a few stanzas from the instinctive and primitive epochs, so that the adaption of part of my epic was undertaken and has been accomplished without any change in the text of the ritual as the men since 1900 have known it.

"The French know applied psychology better than we. They stimulate the urge to do things by keeping before their students and practitioners the accomplishments of early generations. They saint their great characters. They hang tablets upon the walls of their hospitals, commemorating deeds of physicians. Students read and are inspired. Nothing like that happens in our medical courses. But Nu Sigma Nu, through the medium of her ritual, has been accomplishing just that ever since her organization. Now, with the added story of the early moderns, they will have an epitome of the whole story of the healing art presented at every initiation.

"That the historic idea has been worthwhile may be seen in the work of our men everywhere. They develop ambition to have their names upon the walls. Herein is one of the great values of medical history, particularly when condensed and portrayed as in the ritual. With the addition of the outline presented by the prologue the story is complete.

"Now, whether we appreciate it or not, the whole human race is influenced by symbols. Symbolism is the bone and fiber of such organizations as this and in human relations everywhere. It comes to us through the ancients; it persists through the mediaeval; it is increased in modern times; and changing not over much at that. Earth has ever been the symbol of maternity, air of energy, fire of purity, the circle of realization, the dragon darkness and ignorance. There have been and still persist the color symbols. Many have been the symbol stories:

Romulus and Remus, Jupiter and the Wolf, Lohengrin and the Swan and that beautiful contemporary series. We have Russia and the Bear, John Bull and the Lion, Uncle Sam and the Eagle; but we do not associate the meaning of the red, white and blue with the fact that a little girl sewed stripes of red upon a background of white and put the stars of state in a firmament of blue. The power of the flag is in its symbolism. Men suffer, fight and die for it. The making of Eve from Adam's rib is the same symbol story as later appears in the mythical birth of Minerva. Minerva came from the head of Jupiter split by the hammer of Vulcan. Minerva was wisdom, Jupiter intellect: so wisdom sprang from intellect. Eve was affection; so was taken from the heart (rib) of man.

"Most interesting of all to us, however, is the association of symbols with medicine and many of these have been incorporated into our plan. Such symbols were originally for physical perfection, for hygiene by means of purification and sacrifice.

"And, too, whether appreciated or not, medical men everywhere are followers of the cult of Aesculapius. Someone has said, 'The cult is that band that is today, as through all the ages, by infinite labor and joyous self-sacrifice, revealing life to man and man to himself. If a doctor, when he starts life, has seen this spirit of the cult of Aesculapius, its precepts and traditions will mold him and he will become a true child of Hippocrates.'

"Now the fundamental background for the evolution of the healing art in the instinctive and primitive stages is preservation of life—first of all the individual life, second the life of the species. There is, however, this great difference between that selfish urge and the cult of Aesculapius, a difference which must not be lost sight of or overlooked in the competitive life of the moment. The cult of Aesculapius is engaged in the preservation of the lives of others, a fundamentally unselfish motive; and not only the lives of other humans but of the animal kingdom as well. True followers of the cult live first of all to practice their art and only secondly practice their art to live. Such motivation leads to good compensation in the long run, for it is bread upon the waters.

"Now just a word about our early modern characters. There will, of course, be controversy over some of them, the outstanding exponents of our fundamental branches. Perhaps not as to Vesalius and Anatomy or Harvey and Physiology. Some feel that Paracelsus holds the call as the outstanding early chemist; others that he should be considered for the early modern patron of therapeutics. But the more one studies this Marco Polo of medicine the more one feels that the chief niche he should hold is as the apostle of quackery. We certainly cannot hand him anything, in view of the fact that he went against every tenet of the cult of Aesculapius and of their precepts when he took it upon himself to destroy all the records of medicine up to his time and start a new deal. I do not know whether his middle name of Bombasticus was added by the confreres of that day, but it seems a very appropriate cognomen for him. He was a Bombasti-cuss, and like every mountebank—and talking is one of their strongest points—he did hit upon something which later proved of value. But if he is the father of modern therapy, then Mary Baker Eddy will be the saint of our day's therapy because she has destroyed all records, even altering the Bible to suit her scheme of faith-cure. At any rate, so far as the outstanding apostle of chemistry is concerned, our chemist friends give it to Robert Boyle. It certainly is not for us to take from Sydenham, the English Hippocrates, the honor of being the apostle of therapeutics. The biologists hold for Bischat, whilst Morgagni seems outstanding in pathology for that era.

"One of the most interesting discoveries in our study has been the uncovering of a code from India which antedated the Hippocratic code perhaps several centuries. Time has not allowed us to search for the authenticity of this. My authority for the moment is Brother Charles Dana.* Its incorporation into the ode is provisional. Much data handed down in history, both medical and other history, requires careful search for the source to make sure that it is not simply some idea passed from book to book or from generation to generation.

"This demonstration—both of the model meeting (which is an innovation and is introduced because we see how far the boys stray from the set path) and of the ritual—should send you delegates and active men home with enthusiasm to carry on in the proper way. It should also stimulate your alumni to attend the neighboring Nu Sigma Nu initiations often, to revive memories, to sing with the boys, to keep young.

"In conclusion, we feel that it is not too much to hope that the memorizing of the prologue, which covers the story of the healing art up to the twentieth century, might be asked of the neophyte. The advantage of rhythm and rhyme in the ease of memorizing and of fixing the data is very great. We can all profit, I am sure, by an occasional review of the fascinating story of the healing art.

"I cannot allow this opportunity to pass without complimenting this group of men upon their excellent and dramatic presentation of our little drama. I would like to ask a rising vote of thanks to them for their painstaking and successful effort."

THE BANQUET

Nearly 350 Nu Sigs, young and old, gathered in the main dining room of the Michigan Union for the convention banquet at 7 P. M. Friday night. The tables were decorated with cut flowers and a fine orchestra furnished music. At each place lay a beautiful souvenir in the form of a silver box with a nest of silver ash trays, the cover bearing the crest of Nu Sigma Nu. These were gifts from the Burr, Patterson and Auld Company, for many years official jewelers to the fraternity. Dr. Leon H. Cornwall, Mu, '10, Associate Professor of Neurology at Columbia and Grand Aesculapius, presided and introduced Doctor Novy as toastmaster, paying a graceful tribute to him as one of the early fathers of the fraternity and particularly of Alpha chapter. Telegrams of greetings from alumni and chapters were read, including one from Brother Torald Sollmann, Sigma, '96, Dean and Professor of Pharmacology of Western Reserve Medical School and former Honorary Aesculapius of Nu Sigma Nu. Professor Blankenhorn told the Fellows about medical progress at Western Reserve and extended greetings from Sigma. Professor Miller gave an interesting address concerning the pathology of mummies. Dr. Ernest E. Irons, Kappa, '03, Dean and Professor of Medicine in Rush Medical College, former Grand Aesculapius and second Executive Counsellor, talked briefly of the high ideals of Nu Sigma Nu and their effect upon its members.

Dr. F. W. Main, Alpha, '84, of Detroit, the fraternity's first initiate, talked of the early days. Columbus little dreamed, he said, that his devotion to an ideal would lead to the discovery of a new world. The founders of Nu Sigma Nu little dreamed, he added, that their move would lead to a great organization of more than 10,000 members devoted to the best ideals of the medical profession. He told how, in the earliest days of the new society, it had been the purpose to have each member produce during each semester one original paper. He reviewed some of the outstanding personalities that early group had produced, William J. Mayo, Playfair McMurrich, Reuben Peterson, F. G. Novy, G. Carl Huber, Charles W. Edmunds and many others.

Professor Weller, for himself and for Professor Soule, spoke of their pleasure at being initiated on such an occasion. He declared many of his dearest friends for twenty-four years had been among Nu Sigma Nu Men and he was happy in having another ideal realized.

DOCTOR PARK AWARDED MERIT DEGREE

One of the pleasantest features of the final banquet was the conferring of the rarely bestowed Degree of Merit upon Professor William H. Park, to whom it came as a complete surprise. The Degree of Merit is the highest honor which the fraternity can bestow upon any of its alumni for outstanding contributions to medical science and previously had been conferred only upon Victor C. Vaughan, Nicholas Senn, G. Carl Huber, William H. Welch, Frederick G. Novy and J. Playfair McMurrich. The ceremonies were conducted by the Alpha degree team under the direction of Doctor Walter according to the ritual newly revised by him and were very beautiful, concluding with the presentation of the special gold medal, bearing on one side the inscription, "For Merit to William H. Park From Nu Sigma Nu, April 22, 1932," and on the other side the Nu Sigma Nu crest in raised enamel.

Professor Park in responding said he was overcome with surprise and with mingled feelings of pride and humility in being chosen for such an honor, especially after listening to the short roll of distinguished scientists upon whom the degree had been previously awarded. In the manner of a really great scientist he gave credit for much of the success attributed to him to Nu Sigma Nu Fellows and other workers associated with him in New York City and the New York City Health laboratories.

RESOLUTIONS AND ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The award of the Degree of Merit to Doctor Park ended the banquet program. Doctor Novy, before turning the meeting over to Doctor Cornwall, expressed on behalf of the Michigan members, appreciation for the honor of the convention and said it was easy to understand how Nu Sigma Nu had maintained the position it had for the last fifty years.

Grand Aesculapius Cornwall called for the report of the Committee on Resolutions. Chairman Stickney submitted the following report which, on motion duly seconded, was adopted with applause by a rising vote:

Your Committee recommends that the semi-centennial convention of Nu Sigma Nu extend its most hearty thanks to the following:

To the Alpha chapter for their generous hospitality in offering their house and preparing the excellent luncheons; to those members of the chapter whose work made possible the admirable interpretation of the ritual; and to Brothers Brewer, Carpenter and McDonnell whose untiring efforts have done so much to make the convention successful.

To the alumni of Alpha chapter for their cooperation and support of the convention.

To those of the Medical School and Hospital staff who have contributed to our instruction and entertainment; especially to Doctors Edmunds, Novy, Huber, Marshall, Loree, Wilson and Wile.

To Doctors Balfour, Barker, Park, Blankenhorn and Miller, whose share in the program has been outstanding.

To the management of the Michigan Union and Michigan League, and to the local committees whose efforts have been a vital factor in our entertainment.

To Burr, Patterson and Auld Company for the handsome souvenirs.

To Doctor Irons, the Executive Counsellor, and to the Executive and Honorary Councils for their advisory work and their planning of this convention; to Dr. Will Walter and Dr. Stuart Graves for their inspiring work and efforts toward the betterment of the fraternity and the preparation of the Historical and Biographical volume; and particularly to Doctor Walter for his enrichment of the fraternity ritual.

Respectfully submitted,

J. MINOT STICKNEY
JAMES IRVING MOORE

DERRICK A. JANUARY

Committee on Nominations: Chairman Flippin reported the following nominees:

HONORARY COUNCIL

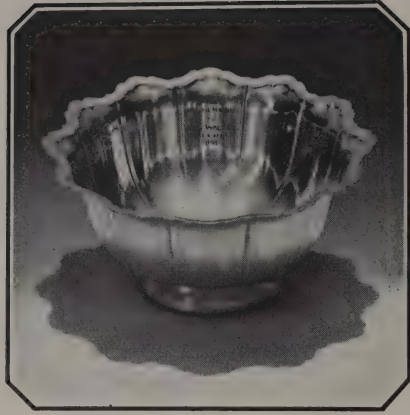

- Honorary Aesculapius*—Hans Zinsser, Iota (Columbia), '03, Professor of Bacteriology, Harvard Medical School.
- Honorary Hippocrates*—Harold A. Miller, Delta (Pittsburgh),
'99, Professor of Obstetrics, University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.
- Honorary Galen*—J. T. Christison, Epsilon (Minnesota), '91, Associate Professor of Pediatrics, University of Minnesota
School of Medicine.
- Honorary Herophilus*—William Ophuls, Chi (Toronto), '04, Dean and Professor of Pathology, Stanford Medical School.
- Honorary Aristotle*—Harold S. Burr, Beta Zeta (Delta Epsilon Iota) (Yale), '15, Professor of Anatomy, Yale School of Medicine.
- Honorary Sydenham*—G. Carl Huber, Alpha (Michigan), '87, Professor of Anatomy and Dean of the Graduate School, University of Michigan.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

- Grand Aesculapius*—Leon H. Cornwall, Mu (Syracuse), '10
Associate Professor of Neurology, Columbia School of Medicine.
- Grand Hippocrates*—H. H. Hagan, Beta Beta (Hopkins) '13, Associate Professor of Surgery, University of Louisville
School of Medicine.
- Grand Galen*—Stuart Graves, Mu (Syracuse), '11, Dean and Professor of Pathology, University of Alabama School of Medicine.
- Grand Herophilus*—Frederick A. Davis, Lambda (Penn.), '09, Professor of Ophthalmology, University of Wisconsin School of Medicine.
- Grand Aristotle*—Beverly Douglas, Beta Beta (Hopkins), '18, Assistant Dean and Associate Professor of Surgery, Vanderbilt University School of Medicine.
- Grand Sydenham*—Archie H. Beard, Beta Theta (Kansas) Beta Kappa (Harvard), '14, Associate Professor of Medicine, University of Minnesota School of Medicine.
- Executive Counsellor*—Ernest E. Irons, Kappa (Rush), '03, Dean and Professor of Medicine, Rush Medical College.

No other nominations being offered, the nominees were, on motion duly seconded, declared unanimously elected.

To the Nestor of Nu Sigma Nu

Presented to
at the Semi-Centennial Convention.
The Trophy bears the following:
From NU SIGMA NU to WILL WALTER, Alpha, 1891
Grand Galen, 1897-1908
Grand Aesculapius, 1908-1914
First Executive Counsellor, 1914-1924
Honorary Aesculapius, 1924-1926
Editor Semi-centennial Historic Volume (1882-1932)

Presented at the Semi-centennial Convention, Ann Arbor, April 22, 1932, as a Token of the Love and Appreciation of the Fraternity for Long and Loyal Service on behalf of Her Sons.

LOVING CUP FOR DOCTOR WALTER

DOCTOR WALTER

The final feature of the convention came as a complete surprise. The Grand Galen announced that a "special award of merit," never before offered and never to be duplicated, had been authorized by the Executive Council. It was only a token on behalf of the whole fraternity to one who had rendered long and devoted service; who had held every office within the gift of the Fellows; who had retired from the first Executive Counsellorship, which had been created to keep him closely associated, only to be called back to become editor of the historic volume and to revise the ritual, and who was universally recognized as the "Nestor of Nu Sigma Nu." When he had retired from active labors to the blue hills of Virginia his home had become the mecca for the Brothers of Pi Mu and under his guidance and inspiration they had waxed strong. The token authorized was one of loving appreciation from every one of the 10,000 Fellows in the fraternity.

At this point the Grand Galen called upon Brother Will Walter and presented him with a silver loving cup while the three hundred and fifty banqueters rose and cheered him to the echo. The cup was inscribed as follows:

From NU SIGMA NU To WILL WALTER, Alpha, 1891

Grand Aesculapius, 1908-1914

First Executive Counsellor, 1914-1924

Honorary Aesculapius, 1924-1926

Editor Nu Sigma Nu, Historic and Biographic, 1882-1932

Presented at the Semi-centennial Convention, Ann Arbor, April 22, 1932, as a Token of the Love and Appreciation of the Fraternity for Long and Loyal Service on behalf of Her Sons.

There being no other business the meeting was closed in due and ancient form.

THE MICHIGAN ENTERTAINMENT

Alpha chapter and the Michigan alumni did themselves proud and this account of the semi-centennial convention would not be complete without a special section to record the preparation for and the entertainment of the convention.

In the first place, the date of publication of the annual Bulletin was advanced so that every living member received in his pamphlet Bulletin about April first a complete program for the convention. For months special fraternity stationery had carried notice of the date and place far and wide. On April 8 a special letter was mailed from Alpha chapter to "Alpha Men Everywhere." At Ann Arbor every train was met by Alpha men who conducted visitors to the chapter house. Rooms for all undergraduates had been engaged at the Michigan Union and for alumni at the Michigan League. The exquisite Mendelssohn theatre had been reserved for the public sessions and the model initiation, for which it was admirably fitted. The faculty of medicine excused all classes so that all the Michigan undergraduates could attend the clinics.

Registration headquarters were fixed at the fraternity's first chapter house at 1015 East Huron Street, close to the campus. Badges, maps, printed programs and tickets for luncheons, smoker, dinner and banquet were handed to each delegate as he registered. Exactly 316 signed their names. Everything ran as smoothly as long and careful preparation could provide. Every event was covered by a chapter committee working under the alumni. A special program for the model initiation, prepared by Doctor Walter, traced the history of the ritual. At the final banquet a beautiful souvenir program in white, wine and gold, also prepared by Doctor Walter, carried halftones of the founders, the first chapter group, the medical building of 1903, the new medical building, the University hospital, the chapter group of 1931-32, the official list of delegates, the national officers, the semi-centennial committees (printed at the beginning of this report), Fratres in Facultate, Fratres in Urbe, Fratres in Universitate, the Arch of Learning and pages for autographs.

Last, but not least, should be recorded the following chapter committees which did yeoman work efficiently and wholeheartedly for weeks in advance and until the last visitor had departed.

(1) Reception—Diack, Chairman; Gardiner, Arnold Holmes, Lamberson, Twiss, Work.

(2) Registration—Patton, Chairman; Hosmer, Maxon, Logie, Lyon.

(3) Credential and Accounting—Watson, Chairman; Rowe, de'Alvarez.

(4) Photograph—McGregor, Chairman; Bourland, Gurnee, Patterson.

(5) Men on Stage at Initiation—Alexander, Heizer, Thomas, Watson, Gardiner, Maxon, McGregor, Rowe.

(6) Ushers for Public Lectures and Model Initiation—Baker, Bigelow, Boyden, Combs, Gillard, Hahne, Hand, James, Haynes, Murbach, Stockwell.

(7) Miscellaneous—Bulmer, Shick, Gurnee, Bourland, and all other Freshmen not doing official fraternity work.

(8) Guides for Clinics, Etc.—Heizer, Chairman; Alexander, Bunney, Ottaway, Martin, Thomas.

FIFTY YEARS' PROGRESS OF INTERNAL MEDICINE*

LEWELLYS F. BARKER

THE FIELD OF INTERNAL MEDICINE

DOCTOR BARKER

It has been a glorious half-century for the whole of medicine and no part of that whole can lay claim to greater achievements than those that belong in the field of internal medicine. To convince oneself of this, it is necessary only to glance through the pages of the last edition of Fielding H. Garrison's Introduction to the History of Medicine.

Internal medicine is, of course, an enormous field, comprising as it does the vast domain of those general medical tasks that have to deal with the symptoms and signs of disease, with the origin and meaning of those symptoms and signs, with the diagnosis of disease and with the treatment of patients—in other words, with the science and art of general medical practice. In recent years, however, with the ever-increasing tendency to specialization, internal medicine has itself become a special branch, the “internist”, like other specialists, requiring an intensive training in his own particular domain. The precise limits of that domain are rather hard to define, for to say that the internist has to deal with “internal diseases” or with “disease of the internal organs” scarcely gives the right impression. Thus, on the one hand, though a gouty attack involving the great toe joint or an acute arthritis involving many joints may not be diseases of internal organs, yet they certainly belong to internal medicine; and, on the other hand, many diseases of inner organs, like a pyogenic infection of a gall bladder filled with stones or a severe appendicitis demand surgical intervention. It is best, perhaps, to think of internal medicine as what is left of medicine as a whole after the separation from it of subjects that have developed such specialized techniques as to require restriction of activities to the acquisition of special skills in less extended fields. Among these separated branches are surgery, gynecology, closed-institution psychiatry, ophthalmology and similar partial domains. Internal medicine by maintaining its central position and by insisting upon complete diagnostic studies of patients as whole organisms goes far toward diminishing the dangers of the increasing and unavoidable specialism of our time.

A PERSON IS MORE THAN THE SUM OF HIS PARTS

I emphasize this relationship of internal medicine to patients as whole organisms, for a person is something more than the sum of his anatomical organs and their respective physiological functions, no matter how carefully these are analyzed by means of physical, chemical, biological and psychological methods. Each person is an integrated whole, an individual, a living unit, circumscribed in time and space, in contact with nature, family and society, confronted by feelings of duty, responsibility, and the necessity of making decisions. The internist, more than any other practitioner, perhaps, depends upon his ability to understand personalities as wholes (immersed in their special surroundings) for success in his dealings with them as patients. It is he, especially, who dares not lose sight of the fact that, as practitioner, he has to deal not merely with "diseases" but with "sick persons" as wholes.

SIGNIFICANCE OF HEREDITY AND ENVIRONMENT

This modern conception of the task of the internist has resulted largely from the intensive studies made during the past fifty years of the significance of heredity, on one hand, and of environment, on the other, for the maintenance of health and for the occurrence of disease. It was at the beginning of this half century that Weissman's doctrine of the continuity of the germ-plasm was promulgated. Through studies of Mendelian inheritance of dominant and recessive characters, through observations based upon DeVries' mutation hypothesis of the abrupt or spontaneous origin of species as contrasted with Darwinian variations, and through Burbank's experiments in plant breeding, the theory of natural selection has undergone some important modifications until, today, we are much better informed than ever before with regard to the influence of the external factors (environmental stresses), on the one hand, and of the internal factors (biochemical forces), on the other, upon the processes of evolution and upon the origin of the inherited dispositions of single persons.

These studies have thrown much light upon what may be attributed to the germ-plasm (or genotype) of an individual and what to the surroundings of the fertilized egg-cells from the moment of fertilization onwards; that is to say, to paratyptic influences or peristasis. Each human being as he appears at any stage of development—what we call the phenotype—is now regarded as the resultant of the long series of reactions of the genotype (or inborn nature) with the environmental influences (physical, chemical, psychic, economic, and social), to which the genotype and phenotype have been exposed. Thus, in our time, knowledge of constitutional normality and constitutional pathology has made enormous strides as well as knowledge of benign and malign environmental factors; practical applications are discernible in our intensive eugenic and euthenic campaigns.

THE TASK OF THE MODERN INTERNIST

The physician's task is, accordingly, no longer limited to the recognition of disease and to the institution of curative measures in suffering persons who apply to him for relief; it now includes also the study of as yet healthy persons for the existence of constitutional dispositions or of environmental situations that may be menacing to health with the object of applying, early, measures that will prevent the development of disease and that will promote an abounding vitality. The intimate relations of the work of the internist with that of officers of public health thus becomes immediately apparent.

The advances of physics, chemistry, biology, psychology, and sociology during the past fifty years have resulted in an immense enlargement of possibilities of application of the knowledge and technique of these fundamental sciences to the recognition of disease and disease tendencies in man and to the institution of appropriate measures of therapy and of prophylaxis. Anatomy, physiology, pathology, bacteriology, biochemistry and pharmacology have also made great progress and given new knowledge and methods to internists for application.

The brief anamnesis of former days has had to undergo a vast extension to correspond to our newer knowledge of constitutional tendencies on one side and of the influences of the milieu on the other. Though standardized plans for anamnestic records may be helpful, especially to the diagnostic tyro, a too great rigidity is deplorable; nothing is more revelatory of limited knowledge, of non-critical routinism, and of laziness of mind and ineptitude, on the one hand, or of wide acquaintance with factors of constitution and of situation, of insight into the mysteries of human personalities, of good natural intuition combined with thorough scientific training and of feelings of responsibility and devotion to human welfare, on the other, than the anamnestic records that different physicians record. Today, we find, too, greater accuracy and a larger scope in the physical examinations made than ever before; and the laboratory tests, the x-ray examinations and the special technical procedures applied, after careful consideration of the data necessary for a comprehensive diagnosis in a given patient, would seem almost incredible to the practitioner of 1882. Sound judgment, based upon experience, is essential, of course, in order to make the diagnostic study comprehensive enough, while at the same time avoiding the subjection of the patient to a long series of superfluous tests; the examiner who does the best work will escape negligence and undue parsimony, on the one hand, and unreasonable over-conscientiousness and absurd extravagance, on the other. And, after the data obtained by analysis have been collected, the total findings must be most carefully considered and synthesized to a comprehensive, multi-dimensional diagnosis. All too often we get the impression that many physicians, bewildered by the profusion of modern methods of diagnostic analysis, think that the diagnostic study has been completed when the results of a great variety of tests have been accumulated. But such a disorderly welter of collected facts is not a diagnosis; without scientific integration of the facts, no proper judgment of the patient can be formed, no real understanding of the pathological phenomena and processes existent can be reached, no adequate insight into the patient's personality and situation can be gained, nor can therapy appropriate to the welfare of the person as a whole be planned.

In making a correct diagnosis that will be in accord with the best contemporaneous skill, all possible structural changes recognizable should be considered (pathological anatomical diagnosis), all functional deviations should be carefully weighed (pathological physiological diagnosis), the special peculiarities that place the patient in a particular human group should be noted (type diagnosis or habitus-and-temperament diagnosis), and, finally all probable causal relations should be determined (etiological diagnosis). When one disease process resembles another, the most careful efforts at differential diagnosis will be indicated and may require the acquisition of still further data than those that have already been accumulated. When despite very careful study a diagnosis cannot be made with certainty, the mind should be kept open and no attempt made to go further than the facts justify; it is better to be satisfied temporarily with a probability diagnosis and to watch carefully the course of the malady until enough other facts can be gained to warrant certainty and to increase the possibilities of accurate prognosis and successful therapy.

After the diagnostic study has been completed, appropriate therapy should, of course, be planned. Here it is the task of the internist to lead the patient back to health, or at least to as tolerable and useful a state as is attainable, doing what is necessary for the cure as quickly and as pleasantly as possible and avoiding all therapeutic measures that are unnecessary. He will make use of whatever physical, chemical, biological or psychological methods of therapy seem to him promising, will call upon nurses, surgeons or other specialists to aid him when necessary, and, above all, will avoid doing anything to interfere with the healing powers of Nature. He will supervise closely, will radiate as much hope and optimism as the situation justifies (or even a little more!), will hasten convalescence as much as he can, and will know when and how to spur the patient to self-reliance and to independence of medical aid. In hopeless cases, he will not conceal the inevitable outcome from the family and he will do his utmost to make the patient's exitus euthanasic. The performance of all these diagnostic and therapeutic tasks of the internist has been profoundly influenced by the discoveries and the conceptions that we owe to the past fifty years.

Let us next turn to a brief consideration of the progress made in some parts of the field of internal medicine, since the limitation of time prevents a review of the advances in all parts.

THE INFECTIOUS DISEASES

Let me begin with progress in the study of infectious diseases, since it is in this part of internal medicine, perhaps, that the greatest advances have been made since 1882. It may be recalled that it was in that year, the first of the fifty years with which this symposium deals, that Koch discovered the tubercle bacillus and that Löffler isolated the bacillus glanders. Long before this, as far back as 1867, Lister had introduced antiseptic surgery; Obermeier (1871) had seen the spirillum of relapsing fever (though the special variety that causes the American type of the disease was discovered by Novy and Knopf in 1906); Losch (1875) had seen the amoebae in the stools of dysenteric patients; Koch (1876) had grown anthrax bacilli on artificial media; the cocci of wound infections as well as the gonococcus had been discovered, the typhoid bacillus had been isolated by Eberth (1881) and the parasite of malaria had been observed in the blood by Laveran (1881). Bacteriology and parasitology thus had had a good flying start in the decade before the past half century.

But think of the achievements in the field of infectious diseases during the five decades that followed! They and their import for internal medicine have been truly amazing. Among the more important of the microscopically visible pathogenic organisms discovered since 1882 I may mention the diphtheria bacillus (Klebs and Loeffler, 1883), the cholera bacillus (Koch, 1884), the tetanus bacillus (Nicolai, 1884), the colon bacillus (Escherich, 1886), the pneumococcus (Fraenkel, 1884), the meningococcus (Weichselbaum, 1887), the coccus of Malta fever (Bruce, 1887), the gas bacillus (Welch and Nuttall, 1892), the plague bacillus (Kitasato and Yersin, 1894), the dysentery bacillus (Shiga, 1897), the trypanosome of African sleeping sickness (Castellani, 1903), the treponema pallidum of syphilis (Schaudinn, 1905), and the bacillus of exanthematic typhus (Plotz, 1915). But the agents that are the causes of some infectious diseases are too small to be seen under our microscopes, so small indeed that they will pass through the finest filters. Such ultramicroscopic filterable viruses have been shown to be the cause, for example, of foot and mouth disease (Löffler, 1898), of yellow fever (Reed, Carroll and Agramonte, 1901), of measles (Goldberger and Anderson, 1911), of poliomyelitis (Flexner, 1913), of febris herpetica, of certain contagious skin diseases (U. J. Wile), and of epidemic encephalitis.

The isolation of bacterial toxins began in 1888 with Brieger; Vaughan and Novy studied bacterial proteins; and the investigation of specific antitoxins began with von Behring.

It is but little wonder that wealthy philanthropists stimulated by the early successes of studies of infectious diseases, endowed special institutes for further investigations; the Pasteur Institute in Paris, the Institute for Infectious Diseases in Berlin, the Lister Institute for Preventive Medicine in England, the Institute for Experimental Therapy in Frankfurt, the Memorial Institute for Infectious Diseases in Chicago and the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York were founded to promote such researches. And workers in these institutes as well as in departments of university medical schools have made many important discoveries bearing upon pathogenic micro-organisms, their portals of entry into the human body, their distribution in the body after gaining entrance, their affinity for various tissues and organs, their variable virulence, the poisons they produce, the forms of resistance excited by their presence and growth, the methods of recognizing their presence by means of bacterial smears and cultures, serological tests and animal inoculations, the symptoms they produce, and the kinds of immunity to which infections may give rise. We have been taught the role of mosquitoes in the transfer of malarial parasites and of the virus of yellow fever, the role of ticks in the transfer of the parasite of Texas fever and of Rocky Mountain spotted fever, and the role of lice in the transfer of the germ of European and of Mexican typhus fever. We have learned the art of a whole series of preventive and curative vaccinations and immunizations and incidentally have acquired a knowledge of anaphylactic or allergic phenomena. The contributions of the half-century to the actual control of the infectious diseases are to be dealt with in this symposium by Dr. Park, so I shall not deal with them in my paper.

Undoubtedly, the protection of our people through application of bacteriology and serology is something to be most thankful for. Never has there been a period in the history of medicine that has yielded more practical results of importance, our only regret being that many able investigators in this field have lost their lives in the dangerous service of bacteriological research.

DISEASES OF THE CIRCULATORY SYSTEM

Many of the diseases of the heart, the pericardium and the blood vessels had been carefully studied before the past half century, but a vast deal of knowledge has been added. Apparatus for accurately determining the systolic and diastolic blood pressure as well as instruments for recording the electric currents in the heart in the form of electrocardiograms have been developed since 1900. The relations of arterial hypertension to renal, cardiac and arteriolar diseases have been well established and a large chapter upon cardiac arrhythmias due to disturbances of stimulus formation, of stimulus conduction and of heart-muscle contractility has been written. Our newer knowledge of the site of the normal pace-maker of the heart (Keith-Flack node), of the functions of the Aschoff-Tawara node, of the atrio-ventricular bundle of His (with its two branches), and of the Purkinje-fibre terminals in the walls of the ventricles has given us clues for the study of sinus tachycardia, of sinus bradycardia, of arrhythmias due to premature beats arising through heterotopic stimulus formation, of those due to atrial flutter and to atrial fibrillation, of partial heart block, total heart block, and bundle-branch block, and of pulsus alterans.

Another advance made relatively recently has been the differentiation of symptoms due to coronary thrombosis from those of an ordinary attack of angina pectoris; the treatment of one condition is quite different from that of the other.

The successful treatment of certain arrhythmias by means of quinine or quinidine is a recent achievement. Thanks also to the pharmacologists, we now have for the treatment of myocardial insufficiencies standardized digitalis and strophanthin preparations as well as camphor derivatives that are very reliable.

As life expectancy has increased, there has been an increasing incidence of chronic degenerative diseases of the heart muscle against which preventive medicine has as yet, unfortunately, made but little headway.

DISEASES OF THE RESPIRATORY SYSTEM

The greatest advance in connection with diseases of the respiratory system during the past fifty years has been in the early recognition and improved treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis. This seems almost always to be due to infection with the human type of bacillus; the bovine type may be the cause of tuberculosis of the intestines and glands in children but rarely if ever of pulmonary tuberculosis. Progress has been made in the study of the disposition, both congenital and acquired, to tuberculous infections.

The portal of entry of the tubercle bacillus seems to be the bronchiolus and acinus. The early diagnosis of the disease depends upon a combined consideration of the symptoms and physical signs, tuberculin reactions, roentgenograms, and tests of sputum for tubercle bacilli.

Tuberculin therapy has been one of the disappointments of the half century; but sanitarium treatment at high altitudes, with rest, fresh air, sunlight and a roborant diet, rich in proteins, fats, green vegetables and fruits, has proved satisfactory. In some cases, rest to the diseased lung by artificial pneumothorax has been helpful.

Progress in the treatment of lobar pneumonia has thus far been disappointing, though the discovery that the disease may be due to any one of four different types of the pneumococcus (Neufeld) has thrown light on prognosis and in infections with certain of these types specific immune sera have had some favorable effect (Rufus Cole).

More gratifying progress has been made in the treatment of bronchial asthma. Through skin tests, the allergens to which the patient is sensitive may sometimes be discovered and desensitization either by oral or parenteral routes may cure the patient. Treatments by climate and by chambers in which the air breathed is free from allergens have been helpful in some cases. Marked symptomatic relief in acute attacks may often follow injections of adrenalin.

DISEASES OF THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Many steps forward in the diagnosis of disorders of the digestive tract have been made since 1882.

The thorough treatment of pyorrhea alveolaris and the extraction of dead teeth with periapical infections revealed in roentgenograms mark one important advance.

Studies of the gastric secretion after test breakfasts (first used in 1885) have made the diagnosis of gastric hyperacidity and achylia gastrica easy.

The diagnosis of gastric and duodenal ulcers by means of roentgenograms after the ingestion of contrast substances can now be made with greater certainty than before 1900. It will be remembered that the x-rays were not discovered by Roentgen until 1893. These rays are further used in the study of digestive disorders for the diagnosis of gall stones, of inflammations of the gall bladder, and of spasms, stenoses, and dilatations of the intestines. New tests of liver function, especially the rose-bengal test, have been found to be of value. The treatment of gastric and duodenal ulcers and of gall stones and of the cholecystopathies has been largely turned over to the surgeons, though advances in medical treatment have also been noteworthy.

Infantile gastro-intestinal maladies have greatly decreased since the milk fed to children has been sterilized by pasteurization.

The causes of amoebic and bacillary dysentery were firmly established respectively in 1891 and in 1897; the amoebic form can be successfully treated by subcutaneous injections of emetin or by enemata containing yatren, whereas the bacillary form is best treated by dietetic measures and by immune sera.

Intestinal polyposis when it exists, is exquisitely demonstrable by roentgenograms.

Of course, the greatest triumph in the domain of the digestive tract during the last half century has been the recognition of appendicitis as taught by R. H. Fitz, and its treatment by surgical removal of the vestigial structure.

DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND OF THE BLOOD-BUILDING ORGANS

Thanks to the methods of staining of blood smears introduced by Ehrlich a few years before the beginning of our half century, to the invention of apparatus for the quantitative determination of hemoglobin and for counting the formed elements of the blood, and to the advances in blood chemistry, our knowledge of the diseases of the blood, the bone marrow, the spleen, the lymph glands and the reticulo-endothelial system has been revolutionized. The anaemias, leukaemias, pseudo-leukaemias, polycythaemias, and thrombopenias are now easily recognizable and differentiable. The determination of blood-groups (Landsteiner; Moss) has been important in making blood-transfusions safer. The velocity of sinking of the blood corpuscles is of diagnostic and prognostic aid.

The therapeutic triumph in pernicious anaemia by the use of liver (Whipple; Minot and Murphy) and by the use of hog's stomach (Castle; Sturgis and Isaacs) is one of the miracles of our time.

The systematic making of blood cultures, agglutination tests and serological tests in cases of unexplained fevers has proved to be very helpful in diagnosis. Quantitative tests of blood-sugar, blood uric acid, blood chlorides, blood calcium, blood phosphorus and blood cholesterol are finding their place in diagnostic surveys.

DISEASES OF THE MUSCLES, BONES AND JOINTS

Turning next to the locomotor system, the studies of Thayer and Brown (1907) on eosinophilia have greatly aided the diagnosis of trichiniasis.

The problems of arthritis have been vigorously attacked; the different varieties have been clearly separated from one another; etiological studies have made progress; and the therapy of the infectious arthritides has scored an important advance in the removal of focal infections (Billings, et al.).

The cause of rickets has been determined, the disease has been produced experimentally in rats, and an efficient therapy found in exposure to sun-light in the administration of irradiated ergosterol, and very recently, in the exhibition of water soluble extracts of yeast and sodium phosphate (Newburgh and Lilly).

Entirely new bone diseases have been discovered; for example, that which forms a part of the Christian-Schuller disease (cholesterinic lipoidosis), an example of which I am to show at the clinic tomorrow.

DISEASES OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM

Gratifying progress has been made during the past fifty years in the study of the anatomy and physiology of the central and peripheral nervous system, in extending methods of clinical examination of the nervous and psychic functions, and in knowledge of diagnostic criteria and of methods of therapy of organic and functional diseases of the nervous system (including the neuroses and the psychoses). I need only to recall the work done upon the vegetative nervous system, the extra-pyramidal motor system and the vestibular apparatus, the method of lumbar puncture (with cyto- and sero-diagnosis), the procedure of roentgenography of the skull and spine after air-injection (Dandy), the progress made in the study of organic diseases (e. g., the Heine-Medin disease, Economo's lethargic encephalitis, dementia paralytica, and tumors of the spinal cord and brain) and the studies made of the relationships of neuroses and psychoses to certain physical types (pyknic, asthenic, dysplastic), to labile vegetative regulatory apparatus and to forms of psychic dynamics revealed by workers in individual psychology and in psycho-analysis, to make clear the great change in understanding and outlook between 1882 and 1932.

DISEASES OF METABOLISM AND OF THE GLANDS OF INTERNAL SECRETION

In view of the astounding advances that have been made during the past five decades in inorganic, organic and physical chemistry, it is not surprising that there should have been correspondingly important contributions made to those parts of internal medicine that depend largely for illumination upon chemical research in addition to clinical observation. Though there is no single domain of medicine that has not profited by chemical applications, it has been in the domains of metabolism, of dietetics, of assimilation, dissimilation and elimination, of endocrinology, and of new chemo-therapeutic agents that biochemists have been most active and successful.

The human machine, like dead machines, needs income of energy for the production of heat and work; but, unlike dead machines, it has the capacity of growth, of repairing itself, and of adaptation. Thus, in each human being, a dissimilatory metabolism of proteins, carbohydrates and fats must be combined with an assimilatory metabolism, especially of protein. We now know the number of calories produced by the combustion of a gram of protein, of fat and of carbohydrate respectively, and we have learned how chemical equilibrium is maintained by the healthy human body through internal neuro-endocrine regulatory processes. We can calculate the food amounts that will yield the energy-supply requisite for a given person (while fasting and at rest) through determination of the basal metabolic rate; in healthy adults, the basal rate of metabolism corresponds approximately to one calorie per kilogram of body weight each hour. We have learned, too, how many calories, in addition, are necessary for muscular work of varying severity and for covering the so-called specific dynamic action of foods. A certain proportion of those calories must be derived from the proteins of food; the protein minimum for the preservation of health is something less than one gram per kilo of calculated ideal weight. It is desirable also that much of the protein ingested be of animal rather than of vegetable origin; since many vegetable proteins are deficient in amino-acids that are necessary for the maintenance of health.

These studies of metabolism have given important information for the planning of adequate diets in health and in disease. In certain diseases, the neuro-endocrine regulation of basal metabolism is faulty; thus it is pathologically increased in fever and in hyperthyroidism and it is pathologically decreased in certain diseases of the thyroid gland and of the hypophysis cerebri (e. g., in myxoedema and in Simmonds' disease).

In recent years, we have learned how to control obesity by diets that contain sufficient protein but markedly reduced quantities of carbohydrates and fats (cf. the work of L. H. Newburgh and of Frank Evans and his associates) and by endocrine therapy. We have been taught how to increase the weight of the emaciated by diets rich in calories and by administration of insulin before meals (cf. the method of Falta). And we have discovered the importance of reducing the intake of purin-containing foods in gout. Moreover, studies of protein-, salt- and water-metabolism now guide us in planning diets for patients suffering from renal diseases. Finally, we have, relatively recently, been shown that many pathological states (like scurvy, beriberi, susceptibility to infection, xerophthalmia, rickets, and pellagra) are in reality due to dietetic deficiencies in which there is lack of certain accessory food factors, the so-called vitamins A, B, C, D, E, F and G. The new knowledge of the origin and treatment of these avitaminoses represents one of the most important acquisitions of our time.

In the domain of the glands of internal secretion, an entirely new chapter of internal medicine bearing upon chemical regulation through hormones or increta has had to be written during recent years. Though Addison in 1855 had shown the relation of the disease known by his name to destructive processes involving the suprarenal capsules, and though Brown-Sequard about the same time had begun his experimentation with extracts of the suprarenals and of other organs, it was not until the beginning of our half century that any rapid progress began to be made in the field of endocrinology. In 1888, Brown-Sequard reported on the rejuvenating effects of injections of testicular extracts. In 1892 and 1893, Kocher and Reverdin observed cachexia strumipriva (resembling Gull's disease) after removal of the thyroid gland, and in 1889 Bicher cured a case of it by implantation of thyroid tissue. A little later, extracts of animal thyroid were found to be curative when injected (Kocher), and soon the oral administration of thyroid extracts was found to be efficacious (Fox and MacKenzie).

Since these beginnings of forty years ago, endocrinology has made rapid strides. We have learned the endocrine functions not only of the thyroid and the suprarenals, but also of the pituitary gland, the parathyroids, the islands of Langerhans of the pancreas, and the male and female gonads. Many clinical syndromes due to hyper-, hypo- and dys-function have been and are being established. Many of the active substances like thyroxin, epinephrin, pituitrin, insulin, parathormone, folliculin, progestin, prolan and cortin have been isolated and some of them have been synthesized by chemists. Our knowledge and control of endocrinopathies like Graves' disease, myxedema, acromegaly, dystrophia adiposo-genitalis, Addison's disease, paroxysmal arterial hypertension, tetany, osteitis fibrosa, eunuchoidism, diabetes insipidus and, above all, diabetes mellitus have undergone steady increase. New tests of pregnancy have been devised that permit indubitable recognition within a few days after fertilization of the ovum.

If it could be read by those who have not grown up with it, say by physicians who died before 1880, the whole chapter of endocrinology would seem like a fairy tale, or like the reports of delusions of the insane! Though there has been some overcredulity and some excess of enthusiasm, the genuine progress in endocrine fields during the past few decades has been so great as to make pride in the achievements entirely legitimate.

CONCLUSION

In what has preceded, it has been possible to touch only upon the "high spots" of advances in internal medicine in the past half century. I have had, perforce, to omit all mention of minor achievements and I may be justly criticized, perhaps, for not referring to certain advances that many would designate as major, as well as for mistakes in judgment of the relative importance of discoveries. But, if I have given you, as I have aimed to do, a relatively fair picture of the progress made in inner medicine during the past fifty years, I shall ask you to forgive my sins both of omission and commission. It has been necessary, too, because of limitation of time, to make no reference to the advancement of teaching of internal medicine or to the expansion of the bibliography of the subject in books and journals.

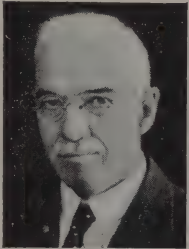

It has been, for an internist, truly a wonderful time in which to live and work. But those who follow us will, I believe, witness even greater triumphs, many of them quite inconceivable to those of us who are active now. The art and science of medicine are like snowballs that increase their dimensions ever more rapidly as they roll onward. I should like to attend the centenary celebration of this organization and to hear the status of internal medicine at that time.* Perhaps, it is just as well that I shall be unable to do so, for the discoveries of the next fifty years are likely to be so numerous and so startling that listening to the mere recital of them might prove to be too bewildering!

FIFTY YEARS' PROGRESS ACHIEVED IN THE CONTROL OF COMMUNICABLE DISEASES*

WILLIAM H. PARK

DOCTOR PARK

Leeuwenhoek's remarkable development of the simple lens, with the resulting new observations of microscopic life, made the science of bacteriology possible and, through it, an intelligent attempt to control the spread of communicable diseases.

Then came the struggle over the possibility of spontaneous generation. In 1865, Pasteur finally practically proved its impossibility by showing that spores resisted the degree of exposure to heat which was supposed to destroy all life and that this fact explained the occasional development of growth in fluids after boiling.

The germ theory of disease was meanwhile becoming an established fact. Davaine in 1863 made the first inoculation experiment with anthrax bacilli and succeeded in transferring the disease. In 1876, Koch showed that the spores of anthrax bacilli accounted for the apparent spontaneous development of anthrax in cattle which had no contact with infected cattle, but which had been grazing on the grass of fields where diseased cattle had been grazing some months before. In 1877, Pasteur demonstrated conclusively that the anthrax bacilli were the sole and only cause of anthrax in cattle.

Many investigators now turned their attention to the study of the relation of microbes to other diseases and, up to 1882, the time from which we are to note the amount of progress, the following micro-organisms had been identified: the spirillum of relapsing fever, the bacillus of malignant oedema, the bacillus of leprosy, the gonococcus, the typhoid bacillus, the malarial plasmodium and the staphylococcus, but up to 1882 little use had been made of this knowledge in the control of infection or the prevention of human disease.

EARLY AMERICAN WORK

The reports of these discoveries in Europe were eagerly read by the few Americans at that time engaged in bacteriological studies in the country, but up to 1882 practically no important studies had been made on the bacteria of human infections. In 1877, Professor Burrill, studying plant diseases, discovered the organism producing pear blight. In 1878, Sternberg began a series of experiments to determine the killing power of certain commercial disinfectants and in 1879 Salmon began the first real research on bacteria in their relations to animal and human diseases. In 1880, Sternberg was sent to New Orleans by the federal authorities to investigate the claims for each of a number of bacteria to be the causal agent of yellow fever. He was able to demonstrate that none of them had any right for such a claim. This work, however, led later to very important results, for it was because of Sternberg's influence and suggestion that the Yellow Fever Commission of 1890 was appointed. He chose the members of the Commission and gave them their directions.

We are now ready to take up the subject of the lecture and note the progress achieved in the past half century in the prevention of the communicable diseases. On account of the limited time allotted to me, it will be impossible of course to touch in detail on the results of our attempts to control each of the communicable diseases. I shall, therefore, consider characteristic examples of the different groups of diseases and only mention very briefly other members. I shall also limit myself to diseases which are more or less endemic in the United States and Canada.

ATTITUDE OF PUBLIC HEALTH AUTHORITIES IN 1882 TO THE PREVENTION OF THE COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

The prevention of epidemics was until recently the first and most important function of the sanitary authorities. The chief endeavor was the isolation of those who developed one of the contagious diseases. A slight supervision of them during this time was attempted. The removal of refuse, the control of nuisances and the prevention of the escape of sewer gas in the homes were the main points considered. Even within the period of time covered by this paper, leading sanitarians were confused as to the ways in which infection spread.

As late as 1888, J. Lewis Smith, one of the leading physicians of New York, stated that the virus of diphtheria, whatever it was, grew in foul damp places and that whole networks of sewers in the great cities were infected. He believed most children developed diphtheria through the inhalation of infected sewer gas. When the leaders of the profession were so confused, it was natural that the health authorities advised by them were equally so.

The first sign of real progress in the control of communicable diseases was the beginning of the development of water and milk purification.

Fifty years ago any water or milk supply was accepted as wholesome for drinking purposes as long as its appearance was good and it did not have a disagreeable taste or odor. At that time the idea of the danger of pathogenic bacterial pollution had hardly entered the minds of the majority of health officials and no practical methods of safeguarding water and milk supplies had been developed. A few water supplies were filtered, but this was largely an attempt to make visibly polluted waters palatable and of good appearance. It is true of course that such treatment incidentally frequently lessened the bacterial contamination of the water.

In 1887 the State Board of Health of Massachusetts was aroused as to the danger of polluted water and established an experimental station for studies on water purification. A group of pioneer research workers were assembled. The first sand filter scientifically designed was made. From their important researches then and later the advances of water purification in this country have largely developed. It is hard to realize that in 1882 only about 50,000 people in the United States were using filtered water; in 1900 these 50,000 had become 2,000,000 and in 1920 at least 20,000,000 and now, in 1932, at least the majority of the population. During this period of time it has become an accepted fact that surface water supplies draining a well populated area, though seeming to be wholesome, may be infected and may then produce outbreaks of some one or more of the intestinal diseases, especially outbreaks of typhoid fever.

The perfected methods of filtration finally developed proved to be quite efficient and dependable, but they were expensive, sometimes failed to work properly and polluted water in some cases at such times passed through to the consumers. Realizing that something more was needed, a new and cheaper means of rendering an infected water supply safe was devised.

In 1893, the first application of chlorine with the definite intention of killing bacteria was made at Brewster, New York. This was done with the purpose of safeguarding the water supply of the city. In 1908, George Johnson began a series of experiments on the use of chlorine to destroy pathogenic germs, especially the intestinal group in polluted water supplies. As a source of chlorine, bleaching powder was first used and then later liquid chlorine. The cheapness and effectiveness of this treatment caused it to be rapidly applied to most surface water supplies throughout the country. Used either as the sole safeguard or in addition to filtration, it was effective in amounts of one to ten parts per million, depending on the amount of organic matter polluting the water. The chlorine destroyed infection, while filtration and aeration made the water attractive and palatable as well, as offering additional safeguards. Through these means most of the surface drinking water of the country has been rendered wholesome and safe for drinking.

HEALTH RESULTS WHICH FLOW FROM WATER PURIFICATION

The use of chlorine and filtration have led to the annual saving in the country of thousands of lives and prevented tens of thousands of persons from contracting typhoid fever and to a less extent other communicable intestinal diseases, such as dysentery and infectious diarrhoeas. The purification of water also safeguards us from any possible outbreak of cholera. Water purification has in fact been of almost unimaginable benefit to the people of this country. Anyone who has been in the practice of medicine for forty or more years realizes the great change which has taken place in the prevalence of the intestinal diseases. Then typhoid fever especially and the other intestinal diseases to a lesser degree were so prevalent in summer and autumn that the victims crowded the medical wards of the hospitals and were the most abundant type of patients in private practice. Now cases are rarely met with.

ADVANCES IN THE PRODUCTION OF A SAFE MILK SUPPLY

Fifty years ago very little thought was given to the sanitary quality of milk. Practically the only requirement was to obtain it from moderately healthy cows and to prevent its souring while it was being transported from the farms to the consumer. Nothing was known about the effect of bacteria in causing infant diarrhoeas or of milk as a medium for the transfer and growth of bacteria from the cow or from the milker to the consumer. It was known that diarrhoea frequently spread among the infants in foundling asylums and other institutions. In 1900, through work carried out in the Health Department Research Laboratories, we discovered that some of the contaminating bacteria which entered the milk at the time of milking at the ordinary country farm and grew in the milk until they became millions in each cubic centimeter, were, when alive, decidedly harmful to the infant in summer, though scarcely so in winter; but that such milk, when pasteurized and kept cool, was fairly wholesome for the infant unless the bacteria, previous to pasteurization, had increased enough to produce marked chemical changes in the milk. Soon after this, it became apparent that tubercle bacilli from cows infected with tuberculosis were passed with their milk and that in some districts as much as ten or twenty per cent of the samples of milk delivered to the consumer contained living tubercle bacilli. Quite a percentage of babies developed fatal miliary tuberculosis from consuming such milk and older children localized tuberculosis. Later it was discovered that outbreaks of typhoid fever, scarlet fever and septic sore throat and, still more lately, undulant fever, were transmitted through cow's milk. Owing to these various reasons practically all urban milk supply is now pasteurized. Only a little of very carefully safeguarded milk called "certified milk" or "Grade A" milk is allowed to be sold raw in cities. Pasteurization of milk has caused a very marked reduction in the amount of communicable summer diarrhoeas in children and eliminated other diseases developing through consuming milk infected with pathogenic bacteria.

Before leaving this subject let us note the death rates from typhoid fever in the two largest cities of America and in two of the smaller cities at the beginning, middle and ending of the fifty year period and note the astounding change.

ANNUAL DEATH RATE PER 100,000

	1881	1906	1930
New York City	36	17	1.3
Philadelphia	74	75	1.1
Pittsburgh	152	141	1.3
St. Paul	200	21	1.4

The deaths from typhoid fever for the whole country in 1930 have been estimated to be only about 1500. If the 1881 death rate had continued until now, there would have been in the United States about 20,000 deaths in 1931 from typhoid fever. This means that at least 18,500 lives and 185,000 persons have been saved from sickness in one year alone in this country, through safeguarding our water and milk supplies. These tremendous results were due chiefly to the purification of the water supply and to a less extent to the pasteurization of milk. Our acquired knowledge as to the paths of infection lessened the danger of contact infection from the sick and caused us to give more intelligent care to personal cleanliness in the handling of cases. Finally, the introduction of the use of typhoid vaccine by Wright enabled us to produce in the great majority, through subcutaneous vaccination, an immunity which has been of the greatest importance in producing active immunity in those who are to be subjected to such conditions as occur during war or in uncivilized countries or in any community where the water, milk and food supplies are not safeguarded.

The detection through cultures and the supervision of typhoid carriers has also been of importance in preventing infection.

The methods have been so improved for the detection of cholera spirilla, typhoid and paratyphoid bacilli in stools, that we can count on positive results from routine examination of suspected specimens. In the case of immigrants suspected of having mild cases of cholera, the results of cultures made from the stools have been of the greatest value.

It is interesting that the prevention of typhoid fever and the other intestinal diseases has been more successful in the urban districts than in the rural districts. In small communities the appropriations made for disease prevention are often trifling and the individual is apt to resist any interference. This makes it difficult to get the dwellers in farming districts to adopt measures for the welfare of the community.

PROGRESS IN THE CONTROL OF TUBERCULOSIS

Fifty years ago Robert Koch announced his discovery of the tubercle bacillus. This added immensely to the practical importance of the earlier demonstration of Villemin, that tuberculosis was communicable. You remember that, by transferring the tissue of tuberculous animals to other uninfected animals, he reproduced the disease. Koch by this development of a method of staining "acid fast" bacilli, made it possible for any skilled technician to establish whether or not any sample of sputum or other suspected material contained the tubercle bacilli. Through his cultivation of the bacillus, he made it possible to determine the effect of the action of chemicals, heat, drying, sunlight, storage and other deleterious exposures upon it. The knowledge obtained was of great practical value in enabling us to destroy infection.

From the broth cultures of tubercle bacilli, Koch obtained tuberculin. In this he hoped he had found a valuable therapeutic agent. He did not realize that a slowly developing infection produces in anyone about as much resistance as it is possible for the body to develop and, if the disease was progressing rapidly, showing no resistance had been developed, no amount of vaccination was of any avail.

The tuberculin became, however, a most valuable diagnostic test to determine in any individual, man or animal, whether any tuberculous process was present. Theobald Smith discovered that the tubercle bacilli naturally infecting cattle and man belonged to different varieties, so that it was necessary to distinguish between the human and bovine types. Making use of his discovery, we are able to prove that adult tuberculosis is practically always due to the human type, but that children, especially those under two years of age, are subject to fatal infection through either the human or bovine types. Intelligent health authorities, when they realized the danger of contracting the bovine type of tuberculosis through consuming infected milk, either enforced pasteurization of the milk or the elimination of tuberculous cattle from the milking herds.

Ever since Koch's futile attempt with tuberculin, the search for a vaccine has been continued and innumerable animal experiments have been made for the purpose of studying the value of injecting them with doses of dead or attenuated living bacilli or their products, with the purpose of producing some degree of resistance. Finally human inoculations were thought to be justified. The most tested vaccine at present is that of Calmette and Guérin. This, as you know, is made from a bovine bacillus which has been grown for some twenty years on bile potato medium. The French people, under the leadership of Calmette, have used this living attenuated tubercle bacillus vaccine in more than 300,000 infants and believe the lives of many babies have been saved through the resistance to tuberculosis developed by its use.

We have used it in New York City for the past five years and have vaccinated some 400 infants and advise its use in suitable cases. We consider it to be harmless and we believe it gives some resistance against infection. In New York, the vaccine is only given to infants living in tuberculous families where exposure is probable. The mortality from tuberculosis is surprisingly small in both the treated and untreated control babies, but it is smaller in the treated than in the untreated infants.

In Nashville the vaccine has been given to over 7,000 children without any harmful results. Petroff advises the use of a vaccine made of killed virulent bacilli. We are using this also. Animals show increased resistance, but not so much as from the living culture.

NON-SPECIFIC RESISTANCE

Even before Koch's discovery of the tubercle bacillus, it was recognized by a few acute observers that people who had developed incipient tuberculosis did better when they lived in a pure atmosphere and had nourishing food and sufficient rest, and that people living under such conditions rarely developed tuberculosis, even though living in contact with open cases. Trudeau many years ago showed that these observations could be duplicated experimentally in animals. He injected each of a number of rabbits with a dose of virulent tubercle bacilli. After infection had started he separated them into groups. The animals of one group were allowed to rove about the land of a small island lying in an Adirondack lake. The other animals were placed in the basement of his laboratory. The food for the two groups was also different. Those living out of doors in the warm and pure summer air got fresh grass and vegetables, while those in the laboratory ate only hay, oats and stored carrots. The infected animals kept in the laboratory died of tuberculosis. Those out of doors all recovered and, with one exception, without even having developed clinical tuberculosis. Years of further experience have only increased our belief that hygienic living not only often prevents the further development of the disease, but also lessens the liability to infection. More than fifty years ago living conditions, especially those of working classes, began to improve and, with these better conditions, the amount of tuberculosis began to decrease.

In 1880 the death rate in the country was about 400 per 100,000 people living. In 1921 it had dropped to 99 and in 1931 to 70. Just think of it! This means that each year over 100,000 persons are saved from developing clinical tuberculosis.

THE CONTROL OF SYPHILIS AND GONORRHOEA

These are two communicable diseases concerning which we have a comprehensive knowledge as to how they are spread and the means of preventing infection. Even when persons have been exposed, they are usually able to successfully prevent infection by the use of local antiseptic applications.

In spite of this information, but little progress has been made in preventing the dissemination of these so called "venereal" diseases. The very manner in which these diseases are contracted lessens the chance of infected persons applying preventive applications quickly. Others, of course, are infected without being aware of their danger or being guilty of any indiscretion.

CONTROL OF DIPHTHERIA

Let us now turn to a consideration of diphtheria, a disease which with the aid of modern discoveries we are surely conquering. Fifty years ago in New York City, there were about 150 deaths from diphtheria in every 100,000 of the whole population. As diphtheria is largely a disease of childhood this meant at least 600 deaths yearly among that number of young children. Diphtheria was one of the diseases most dreaded by parents. The first link in the control was the discovery by Klebs and Loeffler in 1883 and 1884 of the diphtheria bacillus. This enabled us, through the use of throat cultures, to diagnose with considerable certainty the disease, control the period of quarantine and isolate carriers of the bacilli.

In 1894 came the practical application of diphtheria antitoxin to the cure of the disease. This was discovered by Behring and developed by him and Roux.

In the fall of 1894, Behring and Roux gave the first accounts of the use of diphtheria antitoxin in the treatment of diphtheria. This was so conclusive that the world accepted it almost immediately. To New York City, shortly after this, Dr. Herman Biggs brought back a considerable amount of the precious antitoxin. At that time an outbreak of diphtheria had developed among the children of an institution. I was able to go to this institution and inject every child with 300 units. The disease stopped on that day. Emboldened by this success, we offered the serum early in the next year. Our own product was available to all the children living in families in which cases occurred. We found that this prevented the development of the disease, but that the immunity lasted for only about ten days. The use of serum in treatment was strikingly successful in the early cases. Through the use of antitoxin both therapeutically and as a preventive, the death rate from diphtheria dropped rapidly. There still remained, however, many cases of diphtheria which were seen too late to be properly treated.

Those of us interested in the warfare against diphtheria began to talk seriously of using diphtheria toxin modified by antitoxin to inject children with the hope that after an injection they would develop active immunity. This was, however, almost impossible to carry out until the discovery in 1913 by Schick that an injection into the skin of a subject of a tiny dose of diphtheria toxin would give a reaction in those who were not immune. Before this discovery we had to bleed the children to discover their need of the vaccine. I soon realized that in this test we had a method of detecting those needing immunization and of testing the value of toxin-antitoxin injections. We tested some ten thousand children and found about sixty per cent were not immune. We developed a preparation that, given subcutaneously, produced immunity in about 85 per cent of the non-immune children. Toxin-antitoxin or the newer preparation, toxoid, is now being used very generally in infants to produce in them immunity. It is advised that these injections be given to all children when between six and nine months of age. If the injections are not given at these early ages, they should be given as soon afterwards as possible.

Godfrey found that, when about forty per cent of the pre-school children in any community have been immunized with toxin-antitoxin or toxoid, that diphtheria almost disappears. Its use in school children alone while successful, is much less effective as a public health measure for it is the pre-school children that most often develop severe and often fatal diphtheria.

The change brought about by the use of toxin-antitoxin and of anti-toxin is simply astounding. The diphtheria death rate in New York City in 1894, as previously stated, was 150 per 100,000 of the whole population. In 1916 it was about twenty, in 1931 it was about two. These results we believe to be due largely to the use of antitoxin and of diphtheria toxin antitoxin and toxoid. It rests with any city or county whether to have diphtheria or to stamp it out.

Scarlet fever used to be almost as much feared as diphtheria. Thanks to the Russians, Gabrichewsky and Savchenko, and to the Dicks, we have a serum, a vaccine and an immunity test.

It is of great interest, however, that during the past fifty years, but before these discoveries were made, scarlet fever in America had become a much milder disease. While there are still many cases, there are very few deaths. In parts of the world where isolation is not so well carried out and general health conditions are poor, scarlet fever is still a frequently fatal disease. I think it will be interesting to consider this matter of the value of isolation of communicable diseases in more detail.

In considering the diminuation of the different communicable diseases, we realize that some of them have diminished without any use of specific measures by health authorities. This has led some to state that the decreased mortality and morbidity in practically all of them are due to natural causes and not any human interference. We know that the bacteria of many infectious diseases are passed from the sick to the well and, while remaining in the throat as carriers, never increase to the point of causing disease. In this way, we believe that people become naturally immune to diphtheria, scarlet fever, poliomyelitis and other diseases. There may be other influences, of which we at the present time know nothing, to produce immunity in adults.

It also seems to be true that if we isolate cases of all known communicable diseases so that the diseases are spread either by the moderately sick or by carriers, that there is apt to be a gradual reduction in the virulence of the infective organism. It seems, therefore, that when a properly developed health department isolates cases who are definitely sick, it is doing more than simply preventing a further amount of infection; it is tending to gradually lessen the virulence of the infection because the milder cases are spreading it rather than the more severe.

As we observe the development of communicable disease we note that, in those countries in which the health authorities have been active and the people have been intelligent in the isolation of active cases of disease, the virulence tends to decrease; while in those places in which little or no intelligent direction is given to isolation or prevention of disease the virulence of the disease still continues great. We have this to consider in the control of communicable disease; the benefit done by general measures such as isolation, better care of the sick, as well as any methods of producing active or passive immunity.

These general measures usually fail in the acute respiratory diseases and in those caused by filterable viruses. There is an instance in pneumonia, in which we can not isolate people from the pneumococcus because so many colds and slight bronchial infections have the same micro-organism and because the pneumococcus has so many phases that it would be impossible to immunize against it. In this infection, for some reason, very little success has been achieved, while in scarlet fever the disease has almost as many cases but is much less virulent. The deaths have been lessened as much as 95 per cent.

THE CONTROL OF THE DISEASES DUE TO FILTERABLE VIRUSES

These minute microorganisms were entirely unknown fifty years ago. They are the cause of a number of the most important diseases which afflict man and animals. Smallpox, chickenpox, poliomyelitis, hydrophobia, yellow fever, measles, mumps, influenza and some of the more communicable colds are among the diseases known to be due to filterable viruses. They all require living tissue to develop in and we only know them by their effects in living bodies. We are not even sure that they fit into the definition of living cells as we now regard them. We are not certain that any of them lend themselves to treatment by curative serums, but we are able to immunize against some of them by living and dead vaccines and by antiserums. Indeed, the earliest successful vaccine was the use of the living cow pox virus to vaccinate against smallpox. This is so effective that its general use had made populations entirely free from smallpox. It has made possible the elimination of one of the greatest scourges of man. In New York City, for instance, we now rarely have a case. Fifty years ago they were numerous. In many parts of the country vaccination is neglected and outbreaks frequently occur.

Another dreaded disease due to a filterable virus is hydrophobia. Owing to the genius of Pasteur, we have the Pasteur treatment which is now made from the killed virus of the spinal cords of infected rabbits. Another type of disease is measles. Here we make use of the serum of those who have had measles to give to babies who have been exposed. The convalescent serum contains antibodies and if given to infants within a few days of the exposure, the disease is prevented or greatly lessened in severity. For yellow fever, we believe that a practical vaccine has been discovered. It is still in the experimental stage.

THE FILTERABLE VIRUSES

These grow only in living tissue and, being too small to be seen by the microscope, we cannot rely on the ordinary methods of studying these viruses. At the present time we have an available vaccine for smallpox and yellow fever. Jenner's discovery, that the farmer's idea was correct that people developing cow pox were immune to smallpox, of course long antedated the time at which this survey begins. The substitution of virus from the calf rather than from man was a great step forward. Where vaccination is compulsory, smallpox is unknown. During the past thirty years we have been able to improve the quality of the virus and to be more merciful in our methods of vaccination so that no one needs to fear untoward effects. Yellow fever, rabies, measles, mumps, chicken pox can also be prevented if specific antiviral serum is given soon after infection. Given a little later it modifies the severity of the disease. Poliomyelitis is also treated with serum when infection is feared and probably with success. The cases are also treated at the beginning of the first symptoms. The results are however, extremely doubtful. For instance, in Michigan in the 1931 epidemic, following the use of serum, results have been most satisfactory, but in New York City we have found that the cases which were not treated apparently did as well as those that were. In both localities about eighty per cent recovered without paralysis. This is certainly true—that the serum, if used, should be given at the earliest possible moment.

We have seen that in these past fifty years our knowledge concerning the control of communicable diseases has developed from its first beginnings to a well advanced state. In the light of our present knowledge, we believe that the communicable diseases of man in the future will in all probability be limited largely to those now existing and that even some of them will disappear. We also think that the classes of microbes exciting them may even now all be known. The microbes can be grouped in five general divisions: the bacteria, the spirochetes, the protozoa, the filterable viruses and the rickettsia bodies. The mystery of the apparent communication by the air of infection has been cleared up by the knowledge of its transmission through intermediate insect hosts, its introduction taking place at the time of the sting or bite of the infected insect. We have learned how the rat flea transmits the bubonic plague bacilli from the infected rat to man; the louse and flea, the germs of typhus fever; and the tick, the germs of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever. This knowledge concerning the manner in which these diseases are transmitted has been of great assistance in enabling us to combat infection in man.

We know now that virulent bacteria remain for a longer or shorter time after convalescence from many diseases and that healthy persons may become carriers. The difficulty of eliminating such a disease often largely rests upon the number and persistence of carriers. Thus the virus of yellow fever ceases to remain alive in the human body more than three days after the onset of the disease, while persons having malarial infection may carry the plasmodium for years. The habits of the intermediate host are of great importance. The Aedes Egypti mosquito, the carrier of yellow fever virus, is a home loving insect which breeds in the cisterns and local pools while the Anopheles mosquito carrying the malarial plasmodium ranges over much territory and readily breeds on the shores of slow moving streams and in swamps as well as smaller pools. For these reasons yellow fever has been eliminated from civilized countries while malaria is still prevalent in many parts of the world where, because of expense or ignorance, preventive measures cannot be adequately applied.

We have now a fairly complete knowledge as to the tissues of the body which are apt to be infected by each pathogenic microorganism and by what paths the microbe leaves the body. This makes it possible to direct our efforts for the control of contagion in the best possible way and is of the greatest importance.

The intestinal diseases, for instance, in most cases arise through consuming water or food infected directly or indirectly from the feces. The health authorities can, therefore, order the disinfection of the water supply by chlorin and of milk by pasteurization. Without the people in any way changing their habits, the general spread of infection from intestinal microbes is stopped. The appreciable prevention of infection of new human beings in an influenza epidemic, on the other hand, is practically impossible as it is spread by direct human contact. There the intelligence and cooperation of human beings must come vitally into play and even then any worthwhile measures of isolation would paralyze the business of the community.

In civilized communities, the respiratory diseases are therefore much more difficult to control than the intestinal diseases. We find, in attempting to control the spread of infection, we frequently meet the difficulty of making a diagnosis at an early stage of a communicable disease, at which time it is often most communicable. The difficulty, for instance, in epidemics, of separating a common cold, due to autogenous infection with attenuated germs, from an influenza cold, leaves us at present almost helpless to do more than lessen to some degree the rapidity of spread of an outbreak of a very contagious respiratory disease. When we seek to curtail the venereal diseases we have a different, but almost as difficult a problem because we simply cannot prevent promiscuous intercourse between the infected and noninfected or compel those who have exposed themselves to infection to take immediate means to prevent its development into clinical disease.

The practice of isolating definite cases of readily communicable diseases leads to the spread of infection, not by severe cases, but by carriers and those who have ill defined or mild cases. We know through experimental investigation that the microbes are to some degree less virulent in germ carriers than in light cases and in light cases than in more severe ones. The administrative measures used in the control of communicable diseases therefore cause a definite tendency for the people to more and more become immunized rather than ill after receiving infection.

THE UTILIZATION OF ACTIVE IMMUNIZATION

For some diseases we have vaccines which, when utilized, are capable of developing in those treated almost absolute immunity. We have already spoken of smallpox vaccine and of diphtheria toxin-antitoxin and toxoid. Other vaccines, such as those made of dead typhoid bacilli or of pyogenic streptococci and their toxins, while not as certain, are still of the greatest value. We are able to stamp out or at least lessen the diseases for which we have vaccines capable of giving active immunity.

DEVELOPMENT OF HEALTH AGENCIES

During this past half century we have been gradually changing the character of our health authorities. An ever increasing proportion of the official and unofficial officers have become educated in combatting the communicable diseases. We have also added the health nurse. She has become an important factor in combatting these diseases. The education of the people in health matters is being greatly extended. These are most important advances.

In spite of all our progress, we realize at present the almost insuperable difficulties which lie ahead of us in the attempt to fully prevent the dissemination of pathogenic microbes and the diseases which arise because of infection with them.

We have not only the difficulty of combatting the human being, but also the microbe with its fluctuations in virulence and the insect or rodent that acts in many cases as the reservoir and spreader of infection. This very complexity, however, adds to our possibilities of bettering our present control of communicable diseases. Since we have so many ways to attack the problem, if we cannot prevent infection from passing from the human subject, perhaps we can develop means to immunize the recipients who will probably be exposed to the infection or we can develop better methods to destroy the intermediate hosts or, as in the fight against tuberculosis, increase the general resistance to infection.

Curative medicine appeals to most persons as being more interesting than preventive medicine. I believe that this is because, at least so far as the medical profession is concerned, the physician realizes in curative medicine that he is actually relieving individual human suffering. He also expects to obtain their gratitude which is attractive. The success achieved in preventing communicable diseases or any diseases is more impersonal and cannot be definitely measured and the attempt is apt at first to develop criticism rather than appreciation. The results can be detected in the gradual lessening of disease and the increasing health and longer life of the people. Only a few appreciate this. The workers must be satisfied with the recognition of their services by the few knowing ones and the knowledge that it is as important to protect persons from preventable diseases as it is to cure them. There should, therefore, be no friction between those attempting to cure and those attempting to prevent disease, but rather a friendly rivalry to do the greatest good.

FIFTY YEARS' PROGRESS OF SURGERY*

DONALD C. BALFOUR

DOCTOR BALFOUR

Among the forces which have contributed to the health and happiness of humanity, surgery is unique in that only in relatively recent times has it occupied an exalted place. It is an interesting coincidence that this dramatic development has taken place during the last fifty years, the first fifty years of Nu Sigma Nu, whose semi-centennial anniversary we are celebrating today. The fact that the inception of this great fraternity of men, who have pledged their lives to the ideals of the practice of medicine, should have been coincident with the beginning of the Golden Age of Surgery will always be an inspiration to those members of the fraternity who choose this profession as their life work.

It is only through perspective one can appreciate that in the last fifty years surgery has advanced more than in all preceding centuries. It is scarcely conceivable that little more than a century and a half ago surgery as a science did not exist. The crude surgical treatment of the time was largely in the hands of charlatans, quacks and barber-surgeons. These extraordinary men, the barber-surgeons, originally were trained for the purpose of bleeding the sick and shaving the monks. They existed in every country and practiced their trade as blood-letters, bone-setters, herniotomists and lithotomists. Their training was by apprenticeship, often from father to son, and their methods of treatment were kept secret as much as possible. They ultimately became a curse, since they were usually illiterate, dishonest and vicious, and much of their power rested in their play on the superstitions rife at that period. They frequently acquired, however, extraordinary dexterity in some surgical procedures, particularly in cutting for stone. In Scotland they were responsible for forcing the acceptance of the fact that the foundation of surgery is a knowledge of anatomy. The early recognition of this truth had much to do with the long continued and still pre-eminent place which the Edinburgh school holds in medical teaching today.

The first acknowledgment of surgery as a science was in 1800, when the Royal College of Surgeons of England was granted a charter. Surgery had been in such a deplorable state that a member of the House of Lords, when the bill to grant this was presented, exclaimed, "There is no more science in surgery than in butchery". This charter marked the end of the barber-surgeons and the beginning of a new era.

The new era in surgery in reality dates back to, and was made possible by, four great discoveries: the first was that of the circulation of the blood, by Harvey, in 1628; the second, the revelations of John and William Hunter in the eighteenth century, pertaining to inflammation, the anatomy and physiology of the lymphatic system, the healing of wounds, and the ligation of blood vessels in their continuity; the third, antiseptis, by Lister, through his application of the discoveries of Pasteur; the fourth, anesthesia, applied by Morton and Long.

Anesthesia and antiseptis opened the doors of a new world, and the development of modern surgery took place with the most astonishing rapidity for, with the "death of pain", the gift of anesthesia, the surgeon could complete his work in a leisurely manner; the days of sleight-of-hand feats were over.

The world-wide establishment of general surgical principles and operative procedures during the last fifty years has been hastened by the progress which medicine as a whole has made during this period. The growth of hospitals and the evolution of the surgical unit and the modern operating room have made possible safe and sound surgical practice. Medical education removed the evils existing in many of the earlier medical institutions, chiefly by eliminating the inferior schools. Training schools for nurses have aided immeasurably in affording adequate nursing care for surgical patients and relieving the surgeon of the details of maintaining asepsis in the operating theater. Dissemination of knowledge has been perfected through the development of medical libraries, and so enormous has become the number of books, monographs, and articles published on surgical subjects, that discrimination in reading has been a necessary part of the training of the modern surgeon. The art of illustrating technical procedures, the reproduction of surgical pathologic specimens in color, and, more recently, the employment of the motion picture to depict the effect of deformities and the results of orthopedic operations and other therapeutic measures, have been notable advances. Medical museums have had an important part in this development, and particularly the teaching museum, in which the specimens are correlated with the history of the symptoms and the course of the disease. The experience gained in the treatment of gunshot wounds during the World War and the innumerable injuries incident to a mechanical age has made the treatment of such injuries and their complications more efficient than ever before.

The teaching of surgery until recently was largely unorganized and was accomplished through internships, research assistantships and apprenticeships, supplemented by informal study in foreign surgical clinics. In more recent years the development of graduate schools for the teaching of surgery has been outstanding and the American College of Surgeons has created a standard for surgery and hospitals which has eliminated many of the evils incident to such a rapidly developing specialty.

All the agencies which have brought about the phenomenal growth of the art and science of surgery have been greatly aided by modern methods of transportation, which have encouraged the custom of seeking those of foreign lands who have become masters of their art. The high place of American surgery is due, in large part, to eagerness to learn from surgeons of other countries, and to freedom from national prejudice. American surgeons adopt with open mindedness those practices which they can apply.

In many respects the elevation of surgery to a science as well as to an art has come through correlation with the fundamental sciences. The groundwork for this reciprocal relation lay in the anatomic schools of continental Europe during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. These schools broke down the ancient prejudice against dissection, which had prevented real progress in all branches of medicine. Surgery gradually became based on sound knowledge of the fundamental sciences and their application, and the well trained surgeon of modern times must have adequate familiarity with the fields of anatomy, physiology, chemistry, pathology, and bacteriology. Cushing recently, in speaking of "Fashions in Surgery", set an approximate date of 1903 "when surgeons not only in this country but in other parts of the world had begun to show an awakening of interest in pathological physiology . . . Though isolated individuals like Hunter had done so long before, surgeons as a class for the first time had begun to think in terms of function rather than of morphology . . . Thus, broadly speaking, each generation has its investigative fashions which run more or less in the grooves of least resistance or greater promise".

The growth of roentgenology has completely transformed the status of surgery and has been one of the romantic episodes in the history of medicine. William Crooks, in 1879, was the first to discover the possibilities of the roentgen rays, which were further investigated and developed by Roentgen in 1895, only thirty-seven years ago. Unfortunately the advancement of roentgenology as a science has been so rapid that it has outstripped the art, and it is not sufficiently appreciated that the modern roentgenologist may be most highly trained in technic but most inadequately trained in interpretation. It is in interpretation that roentgenology has become of inestimable value to the surgeon in all fields, and there is scarcely a disease or a pathologic condition in which the roentgenologist cannot contribute valuable information.

Modern instrument making has been marked by the greatest ingenuity, particularly in Endoscopy, the discovery of which permits the most delicate operations to be carried out successfully in almost inaccessible situations. Visualization of the cavities of the body, the bronchial tree, and hollow organs such as the bladder, stomach and large bowel, has made possible extraction of foreign bodies and excision of tumors which otherwise could not have been removed. The development of the bronchoscope, which has taken place in the last fifty years, and the extraction of foreign bodies from the bronchi, has been one of the triumphs of this mechanical age. The cystoscope accurately reveals diseases of the kidney, ureters and bladder and more recently the cystoscope has been combined with a cautery knife, making possible trans-urethral removal of the median lobe of the prostate gland. The use of electrically lighted instruments in operations on the brain has contributed greatly to the extraordinary progress made in this field of surgery.

The evolution of the art of surgery is evidenced by the single great characteristic of the present surgical era; namely, reduced mortality rate of operations. In this respect American surgeons have succeeded so conspicuously as to win the admiration of the surgical world. Operations which formerly were abandoned because of a prohibitive rate of mortality are now carried out with a risk so low as to be an inconsequential consideration in comparison with the menace of the disease.

It was just fifty years ago, 1881, that the great Billroth for the first time performed partial gastrectomy for carcinoma of the stomach, with recovery of the patient. The prevailing attitude toward the operation was well stated by the almost equally famous surgeon Langenbeck, who said, "I look upon this operation as a quicker method of sending out of the world a man whom it is impossible to save." Contrast this opinion with Billroth's prediction that "every surgeon who has had experience in experiments on animals and in similar operations on man has reached the conviction that resection of the stomach must and will succeed." Finney emphasized the part of experimentation on anesthetized animals in the advancement of surgery, since, as he pointed out, it was the practice of the pioneer surgeons carefully to plan, carry out and study the results of operations on animals.

The development of modern surgery has made possible, as nothing else could do, the acquisition of knowledge as to the characteristics of disease during life. Moynihan, twenty-five years ago, aptly described the pathologic changes which the surgeon encounters as "living pathology," and referred as follows to the manner in which our knowledge of the pathology and treatment of abdominal diseases has been modified and enlarged by the work of the surgeon: "Those among us who can carry their minds back twenty years or thereabouts will remember that practically all the knowledge we then possessed of the diseases having their origin within the abdomen, was based upon clinical observations of the symptoms and signs which the patient displayed during life, and the pathological evidence revealed upon the post-mortem table. At the present time, however, as a result of the enormous increases in the number of abdominal operations, a third and most fertile source of information has been disclosed to us. During the conduct of such an operation not only are the parts immediately concerned in the operation laid bare, but other organs also are exposed to our scrutiny and investigation, with the gradual result that we have been enabled to construct a pathology of the living as contrasted with the pathology of the dead."

It has been through the study and observation of disease in the living patient that the various stages of disease processes have become known and, more important, the effect such processes have on the health and well being of the patient, on the causation of symptoms and on disturbances of physiologic function. The importance of a positive method of correlating disease, symptoms and disturbed function cannot be overestimated, since previous methods of attempting to correlate the pathology of the necropsy room with symptoms during the life of the patient had been largely conjectural. The revelation of the development of lesions and of their complications naturally led to a more intelligent attitude toward dealing, at an early stage, with those surgical diseases which in their ordinary course are progressive. Earlier medical and surgical intervention has resulted directly in the saving of countless lives, and has lessened suffering and disability to an immeasurable degree. Surgery in this respect has given a new concept of the course of chronic disease.

It may be possible, now, to sketch the development of various fields of surgery in such a way as to realize partly at least the extraordinary change which has taken place in fifty years and to serve future Nu Sigma Nu historians as a record of a few of what seem to me to be real surgical accomplishments of this period.

NEUROLOGIC SURGERY

The last half century will be notable for the development of neurologic surgery, a field in which the name of Harvey Cushing will always be preeminent. Although the operation of trephining was known and practiced by primitive peoples, until recent times its purpose was for little more than to relieve intracranial pressure, and also apparently for the psychic effect. As an example of the latter, it is recorded that the Count of Nassau, in 1684, was thrown from a horse and sustained a fracture of the skull. Having ultimately made a good recovery, he gave the surgeon the following testimonial: "I, the underwritten Philip, Count of Nassau, do hereby declare and testify that Mr. Henry Chadbourne did trepan me in the skull twenty-seven times and after that did cure me well and soundly." One may be as suspicious of the relation of treatment to result in this case as in that of the modern testimonial to the patent medicine vendor.

With the exception, therefore, of such trephining operations, surgical treatment of diseases of the nervous system was unknown until recent years. The major accomplishments have been in the localization and removal of tumors of the brain, the cure of trigeminal neuralgia, the localization and removal of neoplasms of the spinal cord, the treatment of injuries to the head and of lesions of the peripheral nerves and, most recently, surgery of the sympathetic nervous system. In no other field of surgery have such dramatic results been accomplished as in the field of neurology, partly because the operations required are of most exacting precisions, and partly because of the immeasurable relief of symptoms, as in trifacial neuralgia, blindness from tumor of the brain, or disability from tumor of the spinal cord.

As Harvey Cushing said in a recent editorial, "Could one of the pioneers of intracranial surgery of the past generation see a meningioma dislodged from beneath the optic chiasm in a conscious and co-operative patient with immediately demonstrable improvement in vision, or in another a tumor electrically dissected out from the cavity of the third ventricle, he would certainly look on in amazement. And no less certainly would the neurological surgeon of today have reason for amazement could he foresee the novel procedures which those of the next generation will unquestionably come to develop, for we are only at the beginning."

The most recent development in surgery of the sympathetic nervous system may introduce entirely new methods of treatment of those diseases which are due to vasomotor disturbances. The work of Leriche in showing that periarterial sympathectomy relieved arterial spasm provided the basis for sympathetic ganglionectomy which is now being employed in an increasing number and variety of conditions. Inasmuch as periarterial sympathectomy was not always successful, Adson advocated operation of wider scope, to include ganglion and trunk in addition to the centers of the vasomotor fibers to the extremities involved. Operations carried out by this procedure have brought about most favorable results, particularly in those diseases in which the pathologic changes, or the symptoms, are due to vasomotor spasm. In these conditions spasm can be released, apparently permanently, by abolishing the sympathetic supply following excision of the ganglia of the chain. Most startling results have been attained in Raynaud's disease, of both lower and upper extremities, by excision of the lumbar and thoracic ganglia. The effect of sympathetic ganglionectomy in such cases is immediate in producing the arterial dilatation necessary to restore normal circulation. Sympathetic ganglionectomy has been shown to be of value in certain cases of polyarthritis, for in certain types of arthritis, the sympathetic nervous system of the extremities is hyperactive, producing marked vasomotor disturbance, with profuse sweating, and possibly contributing to the spasm and atrophy of the muscles, with resultant deformities. Results obtained in cases of this type have been so startling as to justify the belief that the potentialities of sympathetic ganglionectomy in this field are very great.

The application of lumbar sympathetic ganglionectomy in cases of congenital megacolon, or Hirschsprung's disease, apparently has provided a cure for a disease which formerly could be dealt with only by indirect methods. Since the disease is dependent on hyperactivity of the sympathetic innervation of the rectum, release of the resultant spasm by lumbar sympathetic ganglionectomy is an instance of the superior results which come from attacking cause rather than effect.

The impetus given to the whole field of surgery of the sympathetic nervous system is due to the work of Royle and Hunter, who in 1924 suggested its value in certain types of spastic paralysis. These two young Australians deserve much of the credit for attracting the attention of the surgical world to the possibilities of sympathectomy. If one considers the chronic diseases which in their development may possibly be dependent on primary spasticity of arterial supply, for instance angina pectoris, it is not too venturesome to predict that through operations on the sympathetic nervous system some of the most disabling and serious diseases of modern life may be controlled.

THORACIC SURGERY

As neurologic surgery, so surgery of the thorax has been developed almost entirely in the last fifty years. The perfection of methods of operating on the thoracic cavity by means of differential pressure has made feasible operative procedures on the lung which previously were impossible. To-day the trained surgeon can remove successfully tumors of the lung, either by enucleation, or by excision of a single lobe. The treatment of empyema of the pleural cavity has progressed by reason of methods of closed drainage, so that chronic empyema can be largely prevented. Thoracoplasty has been applied successfully, as shown by Alexander, in certain cases of unilateral pulmonary tuberculosis, and most extensive procedures of this type have been made relatively safe by grading the operation according to the condition of the patient. Great advances have been made in the treatment of pulmonary abscess, chiefly by reason of more accurate localization, safer approach, and procedures designed to prevent extension of the infection to the uninvolved pleural cavity.

Operations on the heart and pericardium have been shown to be possible, particularly in injuries by knife or bullet to the pericardium or even to the heart muscle. Operations for relief of mitral stenosis have been reported, and the work of Cutler in this field suggests the possibility of future developments of cardiac surgery.

SURGERY OF THE THYROID GLAND

Surgery of the thyroid gland offers, in the cure of one of the most common diseases, outstanding evidence of the progress of surgery. Theodore Kocher, of Switzerland, established two great principles in relation to treatment of goiter: First, goiter could be cured by surgical removal of the thyroid gland and, second, the thyroid gland is indispensable to health. From the understanding of these two facts, operation for goiter became so perfected that permanent cure of the disease was accomplished in the majority of cases, and preservation of an adequate amount of thyroid tissue maintained normal metabolism. In the earlier years of surgery of the thyroid gland, operations were confined to thyroid tumors, adenomatous and colloidal, and to those which were not associated with disturbances of metabolism. The gradual recognition and proof that certain types of diseases of the thyroid gland were responsible for profound toxic disturbances, due to perverted thyroid secretion, has been one of the triumphs of modern medicine. Operations for toxic adenoma and for exophthalmic goiter followed establishment of this fact. In the earlier operations for these conditions the operative mortality was high, but in exophthalmic goiter the percentage of deaths was greatly lowered by carrying out surgical treatment in stages.

C. H. Mayo gave great impetus to surgery of the thyroid gland in America, particularly in demonstrating the principles which make the operation safe both from the standpoint of operative mortality and the prevention of surgical complications. The most recent important advance in surgery of exophthalmic goiter followed the contribution of Plummer, who showed that the use of iodine in the form of compound solution of iodine so modified temporarily the intensity of the toxins of the disease that operation could be carried out without preliminary ligation of the blood supply, with a mortality of less than 1 per cent. Operations for goiter have become so perfected that, in The Mayo Clinic alone, more than 45,000 operations have been carried out for this disease.

ORTHOPEDIC SURGERY

Orthopedic surgery has attained a high place as a special field of endeavor by reason of recent developments and of the recognition that special training is requisite to adequate knowledge of the principles of treatment of diseases of the skeletal system and of deformities. Reconstruction operations demand not only exceptional technical skill and ingenuity, but wise judgment and unlimited patience. The orthopedic surgeon of today with these qualifications can undertake successfully surgical procedures previously unknown. In the residual deformities following poliomyelitis, by transplantation of tendons, application of mechanical devices, and physiotherapy, he can bring about restoration of function in children who otherwise would be doomed to permanent disability. The development of physiotherapy on a scientific basis has been one of the gifts of the present mechanical era. Experimental investigation paved the way for bone grafting operations. The use of the autogenous bone graft as a splint in cases of tuberculosis of the spine has been one of the great contributions. Two American surgeons, Hibbs and Albee, are to be credited with establishing the fact that fusion of the spine can be successfully carried out. The method of Hibbs is to produce fusion of the laminae and spinous processes, and the method of Albee to transplant a portion of the tibia, both having the same purpose and accomplishing the same results. Bone grafting operations have proved in many cases of ununited fracture to be the best method by which a good functional result can be obtained. The operation of arthroplasty for ankylosed joints has reached a high place in the treatment of such deformities, and Henderson, McCausland, Campbell and others have shown its excellent results in ankylosis of the knee, the elbow and the hip.

SURGERY OF THE BLOOD VESSELS

Surgery of the blood vessels during the last fifty years has been notable chiefly for two accomplishments: first, clarification of the many methods of surgical treatment of aneurysm and, second, development of embolectomy. Vascular surgery began with John Hunter's principles of ligation of blood vessels for aneurysms, and has reached its present status largely through the contributions of Rudolph Matas, to whom American surgeons recently have paid a great tribute in recognition of his work.

Embolectomy has given hope in cases of pulmonary embolism, the most tragic of all postoperative complications, in which death is clearly imminent. In such cases the life of the patient can be saved by removal of the embolus from the pulmonary artery. In a number of cases successful embolectomy has been reported from foreign clinics, notably by E. Key and other Swedish surgeons. It is an interesting fact that, so far as I know, no case in which operation has been successfully performed has been reported in America. The operation is so much an emergency measure, and of such magnitude, that the highest specialization is required on the part of the hospital staff surgeons, and the instruments, moreover, must be readily available. I have been told that in the clinics in which the operation is done successfully, members of the surgical staff keep themselves in training, as it were, by carrying out the procedure on cadavers at stated intervals, that the instruments required for the operation are easily available, and that the members of the hospital staff are always prepared for the emergency. I cite these details to show the possibility of a major and highly technical operation being successfully carried out within a period of a few minutes on a moribund patient.

Modern surgery cannot offer any greater evidence of its wonders than in the following dramatic experience related to me by Meyer of Berlin. While he was performing resection of the stomach of a patient with gastric ulcer, another patient, dying from a pulmonary embolus, was wheeled into the operating room. Meyer immediately opened the thorax of the patient whose respiration had ceased, incised the pulmonary artery, removed the clot, sutured the vessel, returned to the first patient, and completed the resection of the stomach. Both patients recovered uneventfully.

UROLOGIC SURGERY

Surgery of the urogenital system has been almost entirely developed within recent years. It is of interest, however, that one of the earliest operations and one of those most frequently carried out was that of "cutting for stone." This has been mentioned earlier in this paper. The operation became so highly specialized that it gave rise to a group of lithotomists who became extraordinarily expert in removing stones from the bladder by the perineal approach. The fact that these operations were performed without anesthesia impelled a dexterity and speed which would amaze the surgeon of today, who, because of anesthesia, depends on precision and thoroughness in such operations.

Prostatectomy was first done by McGill of England and Bellfield of America, and has been the means of relieving countless sufferers from hypertrophy of the prostate gland. The development of perineal prostatectomy has been a contribution of American surgeons, Hugh Young being the chief exponent of this operation. The recent enthusiasm for the so-called punch operation for prostatic hypertrophy has followed the development of instruments, chiefly by Caulk, to permit excision of the obstructing portion of the prostate gland through a urethral approach. This method was made possible by the introduction of new instruments of precision by which the operation can be done under sight. It is an illustration of the effort of the modern surgeon to develop methods of greater safety; it is less disabling and more satisfactory therapeutically, and promises to be one of the real contributions in this field.

Operations on the kidney and ureter have been characterized by the safety with which nephrectomy can be carried out.

W. J. Mayo was a pioneer in this field. In certain types of hydronephrosis, for which formerly nephrectomy was the only means of cure, it has been found possible to correct the hydronephrosis by a plastic operation on the dilated pelvis, and at the same time to remove the cause, which frequently is found in an aberrant artery. Transplanting the ureters into the sigmoid in cases of developmental anomaly, or following removal of the bladder for carcinoma, has been developed by R. C. Coffey and C. H. Mayo, until it can be done with minimal risk and with completely satisfactory function. Such a procedure for exstrophy of the bladder, a condition in which the patient is otherwise doomed to a life of invalidism, is one which commands the greatest admiration for those who developed it. In a recent report, Sebening of Frankfurt described a method which he employed successfully, of utilizing a segment of the small intestine to replace a bladder of which the function had been destroyed by disease.

SURGERY OF THE EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT

In the more highly specialized branches of surgery, for instance, in surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, the advancement has been even more recent than in other fields. Intense specialization has resulted in much better understanding of diseases of these organs and of their treatment. As an example, the incidence of chronic infection of the mastoid process has been much lowered by reason of earlier recognition of infections of the middle ear, with institution of drainage before extension of the infection has taken place.

PLASTIC SURGERY

A field of surgery to which the World War gave marked impetus is that of plastic surgery. Reconstruction operations for facial injuries became an art which has made possible the most startling accomplishments in transforming congenital or acquired facial deformities into relatively normal conditions. The work of Blair and of New in this country has shown the great possibilities in this field.

ABDOMINAL SURGERY

The progress of surgery during the last fifty years is perhaps better exemplified in surgery of the abdomen than in that of any other region, and this is largely due to two factors: the number and variety of intra-abdominal diseases amenable to surgical treatment, and the principle of antisepsis and asepsis permitting safe opening of the abdomen. Lawson Tait was the father of abdominal surgery, because of his courage in establishing general principles in the face of most vicious opposition. Previous to the introduction of antisepsis and anesthesia, abdominal operations were associated with prohibitive mortality; yet it was during that era that the immortal McDowell performed the first successful ovariectomy in this country, in 1809. It is almost inconceivable, in the light of present day practice, that such an operation could have been undertaken and terminated with the recovery of the patient. The story of McDowell's great achievement will live as long as men are inspired by deeds of courage and wisdom.

With the background of anesthesia and antisepsis, and the successful performance of ovariectomy, abdominal surgery advanced rapidly. The earlier procedures were undertaken less for the disease itself than for relief of serious complications of disease; for example, acute perforation, intestinal obstruction, ruptured ectopic pregnancy, and acute inflammatory conditions, particularly of the appendix. As the complications of these diseases gradually became disclosed, their menace led to surgical interference in the early stages of the disease. As a result, operations for uncomplicated diseases of the gallbladder, appendicitis, tumors of the colon, pelvic tumors and benign and malignant lesions of the stomach and duodenum became established procedures. The development of surgery of intra-abdominal disorders has clarified, as nothing else could, the nature of these diseases, their course and their complications, and has established a rational basis for their treatment. Nu Sigma Nu may take unusual pride in the advancement of abdominal surgery, since one of the founders of this fraternity, W. J. Mayo, will always be considered a leader in this development.

SURGERY OF THE GALLBLADDER

Surgery of the gallbladder and bile passages began with removal of gallstones and drainage of the gallbladder, and it was next recognized that infections of the gallbladder without stones could be relieved by operation. In rapid sequence came removal of calculi from the common and hepatic ducts, the discovery that removal of the gallbladder gave more permanent results than drainage, although following the first cholecystectomy by Langenbuch, in 1882, it was said that the operation "could only be looked upon as an atrocity." The relationship between infections of the biliary tract and pancreatitis were disclosed, and the clinical course of carcinoma of the head of the pancreas was made clear. More elaborate operations on the common bile duct were evolved; for instance, resection of the ampulla of Vater for carcinoma, and reconstruction operations for stricture. Knowledge of the significance of disease of the gallbladder has been directly due to surgery, and particularly the significance of gallstones. W. J. Mayo pointed out the fact that innocent gallstones are a myth. Surgery of the gallbladder also clarified many of the questions concerning pathology of the liver associated with disease of the gallbladder, and proved many pre-existing ideas to be unfounded.

SURGERY OF THE APPENDIX

Fitz of Boston early called attention to the appendix as the common cause of peritonitis and perityphlitis, and other American surgeons established the truth of his observations. Early appendectomy in acute appendicitis, and the interval operation, became therefore the most frequent procedure in abdominal surgery. The risk, when the operation is carried out according to the teachings of the late J. B. Murphy and John B. Deaver, and Ochsner, is insignificant, but it is apparent that the principles of these teachers must be constantly reiterated, for the percentage of deaths from appendicitis annually in this country is greater than in any other civilized country. This fact constitutes a serious problem for members of the medical profession, for in the eyes of the public it is an indictment and may create doubt as to the soundness of the principles on which the treatment of acute appendicitis is based. The chief cause for a high rate of mortality, however, is in a controllable factor; namely, delay in diagnosis or in carrying out treatment and, since early diagnosis and intelligent treatment rest to a large extent on the familiarity of the layman with the early signs and symptoms of acute infection of the appendix, the question becomes a problem of public health. Chronic infections of the appendix frequently are associated with, and may be the forerunners of, other disease, particularly in the upper part of the abdomen; for instance, peptic ulcer and infection of the biliary tract.

SURGERY OF THE SPLEEN

Diseases of the spleen have been satisfactorily classified by reason of the results of splenectomy in the great variety of conditions associated with splenomegaly. Although the spleen occasionally was removed, even in ancient times, it was not until Banti, in 1898, described in children the syndrome of splenomegalic anemia, which bears his name, that the development of knowledge of splenic diseases began. The differential diagnosis of splenomegaly is always an interesting clinical problem, and physiologic chemists have contributed much to the accuracy of the distinction, since changes in the blood picture are pathognomonic of many of these diseases. The more common examples of this characteristic are met with in splenic anemia, with its secondary anemia and leukopenia; in hemolytic jaundice, with increased fragility of the red blood corpuscles; in polycythemia, with great increase in number of erythrocytes; in the various forms of leukemia, with increase in the number of leukocytes, and in various forms of purpura, with reduction in the number of blood platelets. The results of splenectomy in diseases associated with splenomegaly vary.

In hemolytic jaundice and purpura, removal of the spleen is almost certain to result in prompt, complete and permanent cure. In the earlier stages of splenic anemia, before the thrombophlebitis that is characteristic of the disease has set up cirrhotic changes in the liver, excellent results are obtained from splenectomy. In the various forms of leukemia the operation is of little benefit. The safety with which splenectomy can be performed has been a most important factor in the development of knowledge of the diseases associated with splenic enlargement, and to W. J. Mayo and Giffin much of the credit is due for the rational classification of splenic disorders and of the indications for splenectomy.

DIAPHRAGMATIC HERNIA

Diaphragmatic hernia affords an excellent example of the importance of correlation of roentgenology and clinical and surgical experience. Repair of a diaphragm ruptured by trauma exemplifies the art of surgery, and recently Harrington has drawn attention to the fact that congenital hernia through the esophageal orifice is associated with a definite clinical syndrome, that the condition is not uncommon, that it may be demonstrated by special roentgenologic examination, and that the hernia can be successfully repaired by a surgical procedure which he has described.

SURGERY OF THE STOMACH AND INTESTINES

The development of surgery of the gastro-intestinal tract is a story of courageous endeavor, of persistence in the face of seemingly insurmountable odds, of technical ingenuity and physiologic research. It is a story of progress from the crudeness of the first gastrotomy as performed by oriental surgeons to the finess of total gastrectomy as it is accomplished today. Developing from emergency closure of intestinal wounds on the battle fields of yore—not so yore either!—surgery of the gastro-intestinal tract today covers many diseases and surgical procedures.

Surgical treatment of diseases of the large bowel, particularly of carcinoma, represents one of the greatest accomplishments of this century. Operations for carcinoma of the colon have become so highly developed that most extensive procedures, even involving removal of the entire colon, are now possible with lower rates of mortality than ever before, and with a higher percentage of permanent cures in cases of carcinoma than can be attained in treatment of carcinoma of any other part of the intestinal tract. This progress has been based chiefly on earlier diagnosis made possible by roentgenology, on preoperative preparation in which intraperitoneal vaccination is an important part, and on improved methods of carrying out aseptic resection of the bowel, to which Rankin has contributed many valuable suggestions.

In the diseases of the stomach and duodenum, the art and science of surgery are exemplified in high degree. These diseases are exceedingly common, and benign lesions of these structures in the aggregate are responsible for more ill health than are diseases of any other organ, whereas malignant disease of the stomach takes a heavier toll than does carcinoma of any other abdominal organ. The surgical treatment of benign and malignant lesions of the stomach and duodenum has developed entirely within the last fifty years, and the problems have been of such inherent difficulty that there are today many unsettled questions. The chief difficulties in the treatment of benign lesions, for instance of peptic ulcer, are inadequate knowledge as to the cause of the disease, and in treatment of malignant lesions a great obstacle to success is the difficulty of making an early diagnosis. In both these respects, however, definite progress is being made, in the first instance by reason of better understanding of normal and disturbed gastric function through experimental investigation and in the second instance by reason of more general recognition of the fact that the only positive method of making an early diagnosis of carcinoma of the stomach is by roentgen ray.

The surgery of peptic ulcer began with treatment of the complications of the disease. Wolfner, a pupil of Billroth, was the first, in 1881, to perform anterior gastro-enterostomy, an operation which gives the most dramatic results, both immediate and permanent, in benign obstruction of the outlet of the stomach. Later Curvoisier, in 1883, another pupil of Billroth, performed posterior gastro-enterostomy. This operation, posterior-gastro-enterostomy, logically became and still is the basis of successful treatment of chronic duodenal ulcer with impaired gastric motility, and has reached such a degree of perfection in performance that the mortality of the operation is approximately one per cent. The operation of gastro-enterostomy will always be associated with the names of W. J. Mayo and Moynihan, since it was they who drew the attention of the surgical world to its indications and to the method of its performance. As the characteristics of peptic ulcer were revealed by the surgeon, and the great variability of the disease became manifest, other types of operation were evolved, particularly plastic operations on the pyloric outlet, and various types of gastric resection. Innumerable methods have been described, many of which have been retained, and successful treatment today rests largely on the ability of the surgeon to select and apply the procedure best suited to each case.

The surgical treatment of carcinoma of the stomach offers the only prospect of cure to the patient with this disease. At present, in only about twenty-five per cent of the cases in which the disease is diagnosed, can removal be accomplished. Permanent cures can be obtained in favorable cases, and even in apparently hopeless cases, and great amelioration of symptoms and prolongation of life can be brought about by removal of the growth in certain advanced cases. It is possible, in selected cases, to remove the entire stomach successfully, a surgical feat which shows the advances made in technic.

One of the most valuable contributions to this field was the work of Wilson and MacCarty in establishing the relationship between gastric ulcer and carcinoma and in emphasizing the difficulty in distinguishing such lesions, either by clinician, roentgenologist or surgeon.

THE FUTURE OF SURGERY

This sketch perhaps indicates the tremendous growth of surgery during the last fifty years. As Cutler has recently said, "Surgical progress is an ever extending line of force, the true resultant of numberless forces all fusing and coalescing at varying angles into a forward driving power; and so we may say that the centuries of speculation enshrouded in the mist and mold of superstition made way thus early for an era of progress born of experiment."

It frequently has been said by surgeons of this era that the art of surgery has reached its zenith, and in some respects this may appear to be true. The technic of surgery has attained such perfection in the hands of certain surgeons that it is doubtful if it can be excelled by the surgeons of future generations, but it is also true that to attain the same perfection of technic as has been exemplified during the last fifty years, will always require superlative skill, judgment and surgical experience. The future of surgery, therefore, depends for its progress on the recognition of these qualities as the first requirement of a great surgeon. The science of surgery will rest on a still firmer foundation when its development is inspired and directed by those who are masters of the art of surgery. Whatever the future of surgery may hold, it is safe to say that in the history of medicine, the past fifty years will be known as the surgical era.

FIFTY YEARS' PROGRESS IN MEDICAL EDUCATION*

FREDERICK G. NOVY

DOCTOR NOVY

It may be commonplace to state that the progress in medicine during the past fifty years was greater than that during all the preceding ages. From the beginning of recorded history the efforts of man have been directed to alleviate human suffering with the result that each period contributed to the fund of common knowledge and thus made it possible to establish the solid basis on which rests modern progress. It is not the purpose of this address to deal with the achievements of past centuries; in fact its scope is limited to the progress of medical education, and particularly that in the United States during the fifty years which have elapsed since the founding of Nu Sigma Nu. Even with this limitation it will be necessary at times to connect this period with that immediately preceding in order to bring out the proper sequences.

During the early colonial period medical education was no better and probably not much worse than was the case in England. On the Continent, the universities for centuries had Faculties of Medicine along with those of Philosophy, Theology and Law. In England, however, medical schools did not come into existence until after 1750 and then they were not University, but Hospital Schools, first in Edinburgh and later in London. Private medical schools continued to exist in England until 1849. The practice of medicine was not restricted to medical graduates and prior to 1815 the education of the practitioner was a self-imposed task with the inevitable result of illiteracy and ignorance being in the ascendant.

In the colonies the young man wishing to engage in medicine became apprenticed to some practitioner for a term of three or four years, in some instances for six and even seven years. The student lived with and served the master in every way and in turn the master taught the student the essentials of physics and surgery. It was not until 1765 that the first medical school was organized by Morgan and Shippen as a part of the College of Philadelphia, now the University of Pennsylvania. The second medical school was started in 1768 in New York in connection with King's College, now Columbia. The medical school at Harvard came into being in 1782 and this was followed in 1798 by Dartmouth, and in 1807 by Maryland so that up to 1810 there were but five medical schools with about 650 students in the country.

In the organization of these schools, the work there given was intended to supplement the apprentice system and for that reason a short term of four months was established. The student was assumed to have had practical experience under his preceptor and, if not, he continued his reading under the latter's guidance for the remainder of the year. The preceptorship which thus had its origin in colonial days, and at the time served a very good purpose, was continued until the end of the eighties, though it rapidly declined in efficiency until long before the end it was a mere formality, giving a certificate of credit to a student for a year of study which time in reality was spent in other pursuits.

RISE AND FALL OF MEDICAL SCHOOLS

As the frontier expanded the number of medical schools began to increase. At first the increase was slight, but soon it became accelerated. As A. Flexner tersely put it, they "multiplied without restraint, now by fission, now by sheer spontaneous generation." He further pointed out that "the United States and Canada have in little more than a century produced 457 medical schools, many, of course, short-lived, and perhaps 50 still-born." The high point as regards the number of medical colleges was reached in 1906 when at least 162 institutions were listed. A Life Chart of medical colleges, published in the Journal of the American Medical Association in August, 1930, can be viewed with interest in this connection. This rapid growth of medical colleges and the subsequent decrease can best be seen from the following tabulation.

1810.....	5	colleges	1870.....	75	colleges
1820.....	12	"	1880.....	100	"
1830.....	21	"	1890.....	133	"
1840.....	34	"	1900.....	160	"
1850.....	52	"	1910.....	131	"
1860.....	65	"	1920.....	85	"

Up to 1830 the medical colleges were almost entirely those connected with literary schools, but after that, in increasing numbers, came private schools organized by enterprising physicians. In every town where six or seven ambitious members of the profession desired to have a college they incorporated as a stock company and opened up a "legal medical college" and operated it for the direct profit in fees and the indirect profit that came from consultation with their ignorant graduates. No wonder that colleges multiplied. The original medical schools starting out as integral parts of colleges were forced to yield to the pressure of competition and became practically independent institutions depending upon fees collected from the students. The reunion at Harvard did not take place until 1871, at Yale in 1880, at Columbia in 1891, and at the University of Pennsylvania in 1896.

Conditions were different at Michigan where the medical school, from its organization in 1850, was an integral part of the University and as such the professors were salaried by the University. It was independent of the prevailing competition and showed this by requiring at first two years of six months each at the time when four months or less was the rule. In 1878, the course was increased to two years of nine months; in 1880 to three years of nine months and in 1890 to four years of nine months each.

With the increase in medical schools came a lowering of preliminary requirements to the point where no one was refused admission. It was said that the Colleges let down the bars for admission and threw them down still lower to let out graduates. One critic referred to a school as merely requiring that the applicant belong to the genus Homo without regard to age, sex, color or previous condition. The state of affairs as viewed by Gihon, in 1884, justified his statement that "No one school, however exalted its rank, can claim exemption from the charge of having graduated grossly illiterate and incompetent men."

College bred men, however, at an early date endeavored to stem the tide of deterioration in medical education. The American Medical Association was organized in 1847 by N. S. Davis for the express purpose of improving the disgraceful status of medical education. The meetings of the Association up to 1900, while establishing the Code of Ethics, developed discussions but no worthwhile action and it seemed as if the medical profession was unable to control the Frankenstein of its creation.

Two notable forces eventually influenced medical education and prepared the solid foundation on which the Association could build. The one force was the rapid development of the medical sciences; the other was the exercise of the police power of the State as reflected in the licensing laws for practitioners of medicine.

EFFECT OF THE BASIC MEDICAL SCIENCES

The basic medical sciences were born, nurtured and developed in Europe while America was still in a transitional stage. These sciences were brought to this new country and in a few decades they became the leaven which transformed medical education. The history of each of these sciences in the formative periods may be briefly outlined.

Anatomy. In this country, and for many years, instruction in this subject was given in the form of didactic lectures, illustrated by charts and perhaps by a skeleton. Actual material was obtained through "resurrectionists," the boot-leggers of their day. It was not until in the seventies that, in some states, provision was made by law for the use of unclaimed bodies.

Undoubtedly many splendid teachers of anatomy were developed, but the conditions under which they worked precluded any scientific advance beyond what is known as gross anatomy. To obtain a broader view, the aspiring student was forced to go abroad, as was the case with Shippen in 1757 and with F. P. Mall (1862-1917) in 1884 and G. C. Huber in 1890. To Shippen, undoubtedly is due the introduction of practical anatomy in this country while Mall and others of his time developed embryology and histology. It was therefore in the latter eighties that real scientific instruction in gross, topographic and microscopic anatomy began to appear. The laboratories and equipment at first were meagre, but enthusiasm was dominant and today this country can point with pride to unexcelled facilities and instruction in these subjects.

Pathology. This subject like the other basic sciences was developed and flourished abroad long before it came to be recognized as an entity in this country. In 1857 the Pathological Institute was organized in Berlin by Virchow (1821-1902) and this example was followed at other German universities, especially after 1871. On this side, pathology was usually tied up with the chair of the practice of medicine and that meant very little of gross and nothing of microscopic pathology. To secure real training it was necessary to go abroad and the pioneers in this movement were T. M. Prudden (1849-1924) and W. H. Welch (1850-1934), each of whom spent several years in Europe. On their return in 1878 they organized small laboratories, that of Welch at Bellevue and that of Prudden at the College of Physicians and Surgeons. Others followed in their footsteps and as late as middle nineties men like L. Hektoen and A. S. Warthin found it advantageous to pursue the study of pathology abroad. Welch became Professor of Pathology at Bellevue in 1879 and at Johns Hopkins in 1884. An independent chair of pathology was created at Michigan in 1887.

By the close of the century, pathology, gross and microscopic, was firmly established in the better medical schools and its influence in medical education became more and more pronounced.

Physiology. The first laboratory of physiology was established at Breslau in 1824, by Purkinje (1787-1869). From that time on the new science developed rapidly in the European countries, but in ours for the next fifty years, if we except the classical work of Beaumont, an army surgeon, little or nothing was done to further its progress. The medical schools, it is true, taught the subject from the didactic and quiz standpoint, but laboratories and research were unknown.

A beginning was made by H. P. Bowditch (1840-1911) a pupil of Karl Ludwig, who introduced experimental physiology at Harvard in the seventies. The modern era, however, began in 1876 when H. Newell Martin, a pupil of Michael Foster, became Professor of Physiology at the new Johns Hopkins University. Young, active and stimulating, he inspired those with whom he came into contact. Henry Sewall, his first pupil and assistant, became Professor of Physiology at the University of Michigan in 1882 just fifty years ago. He brought with him the enthusiasm and experimental ability of the real scientist. A well equipped laboratory was soon provided and for the first time students were able to see and carry out laboratory experiments. He was succeeded by W. H. Howell in 1890 who, however, was recalled to Hopkins with the opening of that school in 1893. Through the work of these and other men physiology as a distinct and experimental discipline was implanted into the medical curriculum.

Chemistry. When the youthful Liebig (1803-1872) was called to the chair of chemistry at Giessen in 1825 he opened up the first chemical laboratory which soon drew students from all parts of the world. Other laboratories rapidly followed in European Universities, but it was not until about 1859 that Harvard and Michigan erected their first laboratories of chemistry. The modest beginnings soon justified their existence. At Michigan instruction of medical students in qualitative analysis and in urine analysis was given at first optionally, but later these became required subjects. In Germany, by 1870, physiological chemistry became recognized as a separate branch of chemistry. It is of interest to note that in 1882 Yale and Michigan appointed the first professors in this subject, R. H. Chittenden and V. C. Vaughan (1851-1929).

A new and broadened discipline was thus introduced into the medical curriculum at the time of the founding of Nu Sigma Nu. The fifty years that have elapsed have witnessed its extraordinary growth and the results of researches carried on in laboratories have enriched medicine through an understanding of life's processes.

Bacteriology. The dawn of modern bacteriology came with the classical studies of Pasteur (1822-1895) on fermentation, the first publication appearing in 1857. Based upon these investigations, ten years later Lister founded antiseptic surgery which, making progress slowly, evolved in the eighties into modern aseptic surgery. At the time of the founding of Nu Sigma Nu there were still surgeons who operated under the old dispensation, but their days were numbered because of the rapid growth of the new science of bacteriology.

In 1876 a district physician in East Prussia, Robert Koch (1843-1910), established the etiology of anthrax. By 1881 he developed the gelatin plate method, which in a few years revealed the causes of the common infectious diseases. The discovery of the tubercle bacillus followed in 1882. The agar medium and the Petri dish (1887), familiar to all medical students of today, appeared shortly thereafter.

In Paris in 1880 Pasteur laid the foundation of modern immunology by his vaccination against chicken cholera, and this work was extended to anthrax (1882) and to rabies (1885).

The researches of Koch, Pasteur and their collaborators caused a revolution in medical thought such as the world had never witnessed. A natural demand for instruction in the new science developed. The Hygienic Institute in Berlin under Koch opened in 1885 and became the Mecca for students desiring first-hand knowledge of the new methods. T. M. Prudden and W. H. Welch were among the first to receive instruction in that Institute. A little later V. C. Vaughan with the writer and others followed. By popular subscription the Pasteur Institute was erected in 1888 and began giving instruction in microbiology and has continued to do so ever since.

It may be of interest to mention that as early as the fall of 1881 in a lecture course on "Sanitary Science," given by V. C. Vaughan, among other topics the subject of ferments and disease germs was discussed. In 1887 the Hygienic Laboratory at the University of Michigan was established. The building was completed in 1888 and, beginning with January, 1889, a laboratory course in bacteriology requiring daily afternoon work for three months was started. Instruction in this subject became obligatory on all medical students entering in and after 1890.

From this time on bacteriology entered the curricula of the better medical schools. The development at first was necessarily slow, but by 1900 the subject was well established. With the increasing knowledge of protozoa, fungi and worms, with the rise of immunology and serology, an ever widening field of study resulted which had to be recognized in medical education.

Pharmacology. The materia medica of old, based on empiricism and inadequate observations, did not escape the crucible of scientific investigation. In 1872 Schmiedeberg (1838-1921) took charge of the newly established Pharmacological Institute at Strassburg and this became the forerunner of similar laboratories in Germany. On this side the experimental study of drugs was not begun seriously until the close of the eighties. In 1890 John J. Abel became the first Professor of Pharmacology at the University of Michigan, but in 1893 he was called to the new Johns Hopkins Medical School. His successor was A. R. Cushny (1866-1926), a pupil of Schmiedeberg, who held the chair until 1905 when he accepted a call to London and later to Edinburgh. The laboratory developed by these men may truly be said to mark the beginning of the new science in this country.

The impact of these basic sciences on the old medical curriculum was irresistible. The better medical schools were forced to provide full-time salaried chairs for each one of the new sciences. To provide instruction in these subjects meant the discard of the old didactic system, the cessation of repeating courses, an increase in the length of the college term, and eventually the affiliation and absorption of the better schools by Universities. The transplantation of medical sciences from Europe became complete, not only as regards teaching, but also as regards productiveness through original research. It is no longer necessary to go abroad for fundamental training. The prophetic remark of a German physiologist that "when America wakes up let Europe look to her laurels" has been realized.

EFFECT OF LICENSING BOARDS

Licensing Boards. The second force which was mentioned as having a marked influence upon medical education was the creation of examining and licensing boards.

Laws for the regulation of the practice of medicine were enacted early in this country, but their enforcement became impossible largely because of the fear of class legislation. The result was that a hundred years ago there were practically no restrictions and this state of affairs continued well into the eighties. In 1849 a committee of the American Medical Association reported that it was inexpedient to seek the aid of the State Legislatures. This left the field wide open and bogus diplomas were openly and unblushingly sold; attendance at many of the so-called medical schools was a fiction and the profession was literally "free for all." The court in one state (N. H.) held that licensing was unconstitutional because it interfered with inalienable right of an individual to follow whatever calling he wished. Because of this freedom, "the country was overrun by hosts of ignorant, immoral and dangerous swindlers, self-styled 'Doctors' who preyed upon the unfortunate afflicted; 'isms' and so-called 'Schools' of medical practice multiplied, a mush-room crop of diploma mills sprang up over the land; and as a natural result the standard of medical education and the requirements for graduation—except among the best class of medical schools—fell lower and lower" (Rauch).

The reaction to this state of affairs started in the latter seventies when several states passed laws creating Boards of Medical Examiners. The Illinois State Board of Health, created in 1877, became the leader in the endeavor to curb the evils of the day. When the law regulating the practice of medicine went into effect in Illinois more than half of the practitioners in that state (52 per cent) were not graduates in medicine. Through its able secretary, John H. Rauch, it enforced in 1883 a schedule of minimum educational requirements for admission to medical schools of good standing. These requirements were a first-grade teacher's certificate or an examination in English composition, mathematics and elementary physics. Three years of study were required, including the time spent with a preceptor and two courses in separate years, each to be not less than five months or twenty weeks. No medical college was to be considered in good standing if its aggregate graduates amounted to 45% of its aggregate matriculants. This criterion was modified so that by 1891 a college in good standing was defined as one which required four years of professional study, which included three terms of not less than six months in a medical school. The minimum entrance requirements were the same as before; the extra year, presumably, was supposed to be spent in study under a preceptor, but the purchase of a book or two by the would-be student and the claim that he studied medicine for a year was sufficient to gain admission to a medical school.

The legislatures of the other states and territories now became active in passing laws regulating the practice of medicine. Some merely required the registration of a diploma from a legally authorized college, without any mention of preliminary educational requirements, while others set up Boards of Examiners. Of the latter, that of Virginia began to function in 1885 and at one of its examinations it rejected at least 70 per cent of the applicants. By 1886, thirty-three states and territories set up some degree of legislative control over the practice of medicine. The work, however, was merely begun. The entrance requirements were, as a rule, disgracefully low and the medical curriculum in many instances was merely on paper. The state licensing boards continued their fight against ignorance and incompetence and that without the support of the public or even of the medical profession. They enforced what colleges already and repeatedly had acknowledged to be a necessity. In due time they were credited, as they deserved, with having exercised a most wholesome influence.

In New York in 1889 the law covering preliminary examinations provided for a grammar school type of education. The same level of culture held elsewhere, though of course the better grades of schools had a higher requirement such as graduation from a four-year high school, or its equivalent. The regulations promulgated by the various State Boards necessarily were of the minimum type. They were primarily for the protection of the public and only incidentally in the interest of the profession.

During the next decade the minimum requirements were still absurdly low, but in a few states they were increased to such a degree that students from schools in other states which had a lower minimum were excluded. This was a purposeful effort at protection against the product of the poorer schools and it became a powerful lever in causing medical schools to raise their entrance requirements.

The actual revolution in medical education came with the introduction of laboratory courses in the basic sciences. At first the licensing boards (1906) stepped up the entrance requirements to graduation from a four-year high school or its equivalent and by 1910 the Illinois Board added one year of college work. By 1914, the State Boards of thirteen States had announced their requirement of four years in high school, followed by one year in college; seven Boards actually required two years of college work.

This year (1932) shows the phenomenal increase in entrance requirements as demanded by the licensing boards in the fifty states (including Alaska and the District of Columbia). Thus thirty-nine states require two years or more of college work; four require one year; six require only high school graduation; and one has no definite requirement. The four-year medical course is required by all boards and seventeen require a fifth or intern year. This condition of today, contrasted with that of fifty years ago, when the preliminary education and the medical work was at its lowest, is a splendid record of the work done by the licensing boards. Naturally, they were guided at first by the standards of the best medical schools and, in later years, by the requirements for approved schools as formulated by the Association of American Medical Colleges and by the Council on Medical Education. Nevertheless, it can be truly said that it was through the initiative and support of the licensing boards that there were put into effect legal requirements which eventually resulted in the extinction of the fraudulent and hopelessly bad medical schools.

ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN MEDICAL COLLEGES

After having presented the work of the licensing boards in raising the standards of medical education it is in order to consider the efforts put forth by the medical colleges and the profession itself.

An abortive attempt to improve conditions was started in 1877 when thirty-one colleges formed an Association of American Medical Colleges which agreed in 1880 upon a preliminary examination for admission and that, beginning with 1883, three courses or sessions were to be required. This step, however, was too radical for the interests involved and the Association dissolved in 1881. What the colleges themselves were unable to do the Illinois Board of Health effected by its action in 1883.

In 1890 the colleges again met with the avowed purpose to establish and maintain a minimum of requirements below which no college might go and claim recognition or respectability. At the meeting in 1891 the organization of the revived Association of American Colleges was consummated. With Osler on the committee, an entrance examination was agreed upon, to be operative in 1892, consisting of an English composition of not less than 200 words, the reading of easy Latin prose, higher arithmetic or algebra, and elementary physics. The constituent colleges of the Association were required to give three full courses of not less than six months in three separate years.

In the beginning about two-thirds of the colleges were members, but as the time came to put the agreement into effect there were withdrawals. The Southern Colleges withdrew, in 1892, ostensibly because of the large number of competing non-member colleges, and organized the Southern Medical College Association, which held that the requirement of more than a substantial English education would exclude many Southern colleges. They, accordingly, placed the entrance requirement at first as equivalent to a second grade and later to a first grade teacher's certificate. This minimum requirement continued in the South until 1906 when a grammar school education plus two years at a high school or its equivalent went into force. In 1911, four years of high school were to be required, but before this date the Southern Association apparently ceased to exist. As a matter of fact most of the Southern Colleges returned to the parent organization in 1900 and some degree of harmony was restored.

The Association of American Medical Colleges in 1894 continued the entrance requirements substantially as before and adopted the requirement of four years of not less than six months each, which went into effect in 1895. Johns Hopkins Medical School, opened in 1893, required a bachelor's degree and four years of nine months. The University of Michigan, beginning with 1890, required four years of nine months each. Most of the medical schools still maintained courses of six to seven months. The American Medical Association in 1892 endorsed the standards which became operative that year and it went still further when, in 1898, it adopted a resolution to exclude from membership the faculties of schools which did not observe the Educational requirements as laid down by the A. A. M. C.

A decade elapsed before the next step was taken to improve medical education. In 1903 the Association of American Medical Colleges was severely criticized, perhaps unjustly, for its relative inactivity. It was termed a craven follower and not a leader, since the licensing boards of five or more states enforced higher entrance requirements and thus excluded students from many of the member colleges. There appeared to be a fear of increasing the requirement to high school graduation lest the number of students be cut down. There were those who insisted that the change to a high school requirement must not be made too suddenly, and that the requirements must remain elastic to fit all parts of the country. In spite of such opposition, the Association voted to require for entrance, in 1905, a four-year high school diploma or its equivalent. At its meeting in the spring of 1905 the Association took the further decisive step of requiring a curriculum of four years of not less than thirty weeks each, effective July 1, 1905, and at the same time required the course to consist of at least 4000 hours of instruction.

COUNCIL ON MEDICAL EDUCATION

This action of the Association, creditable as it may seem, was not taken entirely on its own initiative. A new force, destined to exert a deep influence, had made its appearance. In 1899 George H. Simmons became secretary of the American Medical Association and editor of The Journal. He at once began collecting facts pertaining to medical colleges in this country and in 1901 published the first educational number of the Journal, which ever since has been an annual feature. Information regarding the number and distribution of medical schools, their entrance requirements, length of terms, number of students, of graduates, etc., was now available. At his suggestion the Association created the Council on Medical Education in 1904 and thus committed itself to active participation in the efforts "to elevate the standards of medical education in this country".

At its meeting in Portland, in 1905, the Council adopted an ideal standard which was to be aimed at. This was a four-year high school, one college year, four medical years and one intern year. Actually, and for the time being, it required virtually the 1905 standard of the A. A. M. C.

In 1910 appeared the report of A. Flexner to the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching on "Medical Education in the United States and Canada." This survey of medical schools by a layman attracted wide-spread attention. It was a calm, philosophic and trenchant presentation of facts and findings arrived at by personal inspection, in 1909-10, of 148 medical schools in this country and of eight in Canada. It focussed attention upon the deplorable condition of many of the so-called medical schools and without doubt was a stimulus to increased activity on the part of licensing boards and of the two agencies within the profession, namely, the A. A. M. C. and the Council on Medical Education. These two bodies joined in establishing an entrance requirement of a diploma from a four-year high school and one year of college work, effective with January, 1914. Three years later, again by joint action, the minimum requirement for admission to acceptable medical schools was raised to two years or sixty semester hours of college work, effective with January, 1918. In this year the requirement of subjects to be taken in college was fixed at twelve semester hours in chemistry, eight in physics, eight in biology and six in English. After January, 1920, the high school requirement became fifteen units in place of fourteen as it had been, and in 1922 organic chemistry was required.

INCREASING ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

Although the minimum entrance requirement of sixty semester hours has remained fixed since 1918, a goodly number of medical schools have found it advantageous to require ninety semester hours or three years of college work. Actually, more than one-third of the colleges are now on a three-year basis and it is reasonable to believe that before long a majority of the schools will have this requirement. It is probable that in time the Council on Medical Education and the A. A. M. C. will adopt three years of college work as a minimum for entrance, but it does not follow that this in turn will lead to the requirement of a bachelor's degree. The Johns Hopkins Medical School ever since its opening in 1893 has had a bachelor's requirement, but this example has not been followed by any other school. Harvard and some others nominally have such a requirement but they do take students with two or three years of college work.

After all is said a bachelor's degree means nothing more than that the individual has spent about four years in college. He may or he may not have taken his studies seriously. More important than a degree is the scholarship of the applicant. The student who enters upon the pre-medical course should realize that he is in training for the exacting work in medicine and the medical school should expect of him something more than a C average or 1-point-per-semester hour. At Michigan, the minimum requirement is ninety semester hours with specified hours in English, French, German, Latin, chemistry, physics, botany, zoology and psychology. In addition the student must have an average of at least 1.5 points per semester hour of work taken in college, and, since the specified subjects are required for a definite purpose, he must obtain at least a C grade in each of those courses. A barely passing grade is not accepted or recognized since it shows either a lack of ability or of seriousness of purpose. The student receiving such a grade must redeem himself, if he can, by doing a corresponding amount of advanced work in that particular subject.

It is well known that the grades which students receive in their premedical work vary considerably with the institution concerned. Unfortunately, there are some colleges which, through laxness or intent, give out undeservedly high grades to their students, who are thus deceived into the belief of superiority. Such students on entering the medical school often prove to be utter failures though their premedical grades may average B or even A. The only remedy for this condition is to exclude students which apply from those institutions which have shown their incapacity to grade properly. A college which is approved for premedical work must maintain a high standard of work or be deprived of recognition.

Combined Course. With the introduction into the medical curriculum of lectures and laboratory work in the basic sciences it was natural, if the medical school was an integral part of a University, for such medical courses to be offered as electives in the literary college. This was notably the case at Michigan when, in 1890, the medical course was lengthened to four years of nine months each. To receive the bachelor and medical degrees meant eight years of work, but when the literary college allowed credit for the science courses in the medical school it became possible to obtain the two degrees in a shorter time.

At first credit was given by the literary college in only a few courses, but by 1892 definite announcement of the combined course was made and the student who had sixty hours of credit was able to register on the combined course and obtain the B.S. and M.D. degrees in six years. In 1908 the requirement for registration on the combined A.B.-M.D. course was placed at ninety hours, and the sixty hours requirement for the B.S.-M.D. course was continued until 1914 when it was raised to seventy-five hours. When, in 1931, the entrance requirement to the medical school became ninety hours with a 1.5 point average, the student automatically entered upon the combined course provided he had taken fifteen hours of work in certain subjects. Such is the history of the combined course at Michigan from which the idea spread to be adopted very generally throughout the country. In effect, the student receives his A.B. degree upon the satisfactory completion of the first year in medicine.

Intern Year. When the Council on Medical education in 1905 put forth its ideal standard with the fifth year in medicine as an intern year it was a goal to be worked for though perhaps difficult of attainment. Actually it proved otherwise, due to the initiative of State Boards. The Pennsylvania Board passed such a requirement in 1909-10, becoming effective in 1914; during the second decade, nine, and in the third decade seven more, Boards adopted the requirement of an intern year. At present seventeen Boards have taken this action and without doubt many more will do likewise.

Recognizing the need of an intern year, a number of medical schools made it a requirement before conferring the M.D. degree. Minnesota was the first to do this, requiring it of the class entering in 1910-11; eight other schools followed in that decade and five more in the third decade, so that up to the present time fourteen schools make the intern year a prerequisite for the M.D. degree.

The propriety of a medical school exacting this requirement is open to question. Unless the school can supervise the work of the intern it is hardly justifiable, and it is still less justifiable to collect a tuition fee for a service not rendered. The training obtained during an internship is, in the last analysis, the most important part in medical education, but unless directed and supervised most carefully it may not yield the results it should. The importance of the fifth year is so well established that practically every student seeks and obtains a hospital appointment. What was put forth as an ideal barely thirty years ago has been fully realized.

CLASSIFICATION OF SCHOOLS

Thirty years ago only a relatively small number of medical schools were integral parts of established Universities. The independent or proprietary schools began to realize their inability to meet the increasing demands for better instruction in the basic sciences. They sought to improve their status by mergers and by affiliation with small colleges which over-night became universities, though scarcely known outside their immediate locality. Frequently, however, the refuge was but temporary and they had to yield to the inexorable demand of progress and pass into oblivion.

The means for the extinction of undesirable medical colleges was found in the successive attempts at grading these schools. The first attempt was that of the Illinois State Board (1883) in defining colleges in "good standing". When the Council on Medical Education took up its task, it tried in 1906 to grade schools according to the percentage of failures at State Board Examinations. In the following year, in its first real classification, it carried the grading attempt a step further, segregating the schools into six groups which were designated as A, B, C, D, E and F. In 1912 the Council published the rating of the schools as A-plus, A, B and C, and in 1915 it established its third classification of A, B and C colleges. The last action of the Council was taken in 1928 when the rating by letters was dropped and in its stead the schools were designated merely as "Approved" which is synonymous with A grade, and "Not Approved".

The effect of rating the medical schools was very beneficial. Those which were rated as Class B either improved their facilities and were admitted to Class A rating or they ceased to exist. Nearly all of Class C schools passed out of existence largely because of non-recognition by State Boards, but even as late as 1930 there were at least six of these so-called schools.

It may be of interest to contrast the schools of today with those at the high point barely twenty-five years ago. There were in 1932 seventy-six approved schools, two of which were homeopathic. In 1906 there were 162 schools listed, more than in the rest of the world put together. Of these, 130 were non-sectarian, nineteen homeopathic, eight eclectic, three physio-medical, and two non-descript. The worthless schools as well as the old medical sects have practically disappeared, but new ones, such as chiropractic, naturopathy and osteopathy, have arisen to take their place. Fakers and nostrums cannot be eradicated because gullibility is inborn in the human race.

PART V

PREFACE TO PART V

Part V of the semi-centennial history outlines the organization of Nu Sigma Nu, describes its methods of administration and its publications, defines some of its policies, emphasizes the ideals characterizing its historic ritual, records certain forms, discusses alumni associations, collects old and new songs, and concludes with an alphabetic list of all Fellows with their full names, the last serving as an index to the page on which the biographic data of each member appears. This alphabetic list of full names is published for the first time. It has been made essential because the ever-growing membership roll is beginning to show duplication of initials for like surnames. That Part V may serve for ready reference, its contents are arranged under the following headings:

1. Organization.
2. Finances and Accounting.
3. Insignia.
4. Ritual and Regalia.
5. Objects and Policies.
6. Chapter Houses.
7. Certificate of Membership.
8. Alumni Associations.
9. Publications.
10. Fraternity Songs.
11. Alphabetic List of Members.

Part V has been written last and therefore brings information on the subjects it covers up to April, 1935.

ORGANIZATION

Nu Sigma Nu is an undergraduate medical student fraternity. Its working organization consists of the Grand Council and the Executive Council. The latter is made up of six graduates chosen biennially by the undergraduates for terms of two years, except that the Executive Secretary is chosen by the Executive Council for a term of four years. This last provision was adopted by the Grand Council at its twenty-seventh convention in New York in December, 1934. For fifty-two years the Executive Secretary had been elected biennially with other members of the Executive Council, but continuity of policy had been established by a resolution adopted early in the history of the fraternity to the effect that, "the office of G3 being one which requires much time and experience to master, changes in this office should not be made except when absolutely necessary through incapacity or unwillingness to serve." The New York amendment was deemed wise while no change in the office was imminent and because it harmonized with a previous provision to insure continuity of policy, which was the creation in 1914 of the office of Executive Councilor, "to retain the advice and counsel of men who have proved of exceptional value in service of the Executive Council." The Executive Counselor is elected quadrennially for a term of four years. His duties are purely advisory and he has no vote. Since 1914 only two men have been chosen, Dr. Will Walter and Dr. Ernest Edward Irons, both of whom had previously served in various capacities, including Executive Secretary for long terms which were terminated only when they found it impossible to carry the responsibilities longer. The provision for wise guidance on the part of the alumni is further increased by constitutional requirements adopted by the Grand Council to the effect that the six members of the Executive Council shall include the last two presidents of that body.

Thus alumni selected by undergraduates are influential in guiding and administering affairs, but the governing power of the fraternity lies in the Grand Council, which has met biennially except for one three-year recess occasioned by the emergency of the World War. In the Grand Council each of the forty undergraduate chapters and each member of the Executive Council of six has equal voting privileges. Well defined policies developed over long periods, however, together with the custom of discussing details largely in committees, have resulted in efficient, expeditious transaction of business, allowing ample time, even in two-day conventions, for the model initiation and alumni smoker on Friday night, entertainment of delegates on Saturday afternoon and the convention banquet on Saturday night. Beginning with the twenty-fourth convention in Cleveland in 1928 a delightful custom has been usually a pre-convention rally on Thanksgiving Day. Entertaining chapters with houses have invited delegates to Thanksgiving dinner, followed by a football game or some informal social affair.

An Honorary Council consists of six officers named to correspond with the officers of the Grand Council and of each chapter. To this council biennially are elected prominent alumni in recognition of their attainments in the medical world and their interest in the fraternity. There are no responsibilities except that the retiring president always makes the one formal address at the closing banquet of each convention.

A constitution adopted by the Grand Council, with by-laws adopted individually by each chapter to harmonize with the constitution, governs activities of all branches of the fraternity. Between conventions affairs are administered by the Executive Council with the Executive Secretary-Treasurer in charge of a modest central office in which the records of the fraternity are kept up to date and the publications are edited and issued.

A circle of "liaison advisers" was authorized by the twenty-seventh convention in New York. This officer is appointed each spring by the Executive Council on joint nomination of each chapter and the Grand Secretary, to hold office for one year from September 1, or until his successor is appointed. He functions in four capacities: (1) as advisor to his chapter and to the Executive Council; (2) as liaison officer between both; (3) as the connecting link between his chapter and its alumni; (4) as the "spark plug" of his local alumni association. Particularly does he cooperate with the Grand Secretary for the improvement of his own chapter. The complete circle of liaison advisers is now (1935) in the process of formation.

Graduates have no official connection with the fraternity, except through the Executive Council. On the other hand, local alumni associations flourish in many places. Most chapter houses are owned by such associations or holding companies incorporated by alumni. The formal activities of such associations are largely limited to periodic banquets or outings, but the informal contacts of local alumni are numerous and the deep interest of the alumni in their younger associates is manifested in many ways.

FINANCES AND ACCOUNTING

The fraternity and its current publications are financed by income from fees paid by initiates and from per capita tax paid annually by each active member for three years following the year of his initiation. These fees are considerably below the average for professional fraternities. The degree fee includes the cost of each member's badge, which is engraved with his name, chapter, class and serial number. All badges are issued through the central office, a practice which protects the members as well as the fraternity against fraudulent imposition and at the same time serves to identify each member. All moneys received are allocated under constitutional regulations fixed by the Grand Council. No special tax has ever been levied against active members and no levy in any form has ever been laid upon graduates. On the contrary, alumni receive current publications gratis as long as they live. The custody of the funds is entrusted to the Executive Council. In the whole history of the fraternity not one cent has been lost as a result of frozen assets, bank failures or unfortunate investments. Current balances are kept low and all surplus funds are invested in Federal Government securities. As a result of this sound policy the fraternity has suffered no losses and has gained some small profits. Central office expenses have been kept at a minimum, one full time stenographer only being employed. Until the accumulation of material for the semi-centennial history demanded more space, headquarters were maintained in only one office without even a telephone. The Executive Council has followed a fixed policy of holding expenses at a minimum in order to keep membership within the means of desirable students with limited funds.

The bookkeeping is supervised by a certified public accountant who conducts an annual audit. This audit must be inspected and signed by every member of the Executive Council before it can be filed. Securities can be reached only by an officer of the fraternity in company with an officer of the bank. Cash balances are divided between two depositories. All expenditures are made by check. Biennially all books, records and audits are again audited by the Finance Committee of the Grand Council. Until the completion of semi-centennial history wiped out the permanent Catalog Publication Fund, that fund and the convention fund were in the hands of one member of the Executive Council as trustee. All funds are now entrusted to the Grand Secretary-Treasurer. Both he and the stenographer are amply bonded.

INSIGNIA

(a) The arch of the healing art, used in the form of a pledge button and on stationery obtainable through the Grand Galen.

(b) The badge of the order, worn by all active fellows in a prescribed place and by no other except a fiancée, wife or mother. The badge remains always the property of the fraternity and may be recalled for behavior contrary to the fixed rules governing conduct. Through the years it has become increasingly a badge of scholarship and standing, and in the years to come will become more so as requirements for admission are tightened. The badge is conferred upon admission, bears the recipient's name, his chapter and his general fraternity number. It may be duplicated upon the payment of a prescribed sum and only through the office of the Grand Secretary. The form for such an order will be sent to fellows upon request.

(c) The escutcheon of the fraternity used on stationery and, on a large shield suitable for wall decoration, will be furnished upon order at cost.

The symbolism of all of these insignia is described in Scroll VIII of the ritual, in charge of the custodian.

The following styles of badge are official at this time:

A.—Regulation badge, issued to all undergraduates. Made of 2 dwt. of 14 karat gold, set with selected pearls and garnets.

B.—Same size and weight, but crown set with diamonds and rubies.

C.—Miniature size, set with pearls and garnets. Issued to alumni only.

D.—Miniature size, crown set with diamonds and rubies. Issued to alumni only.

RITUAL AND REGALIA

The ritual, freed from undignified elements and perfected by repeated revision, is in charge of the chapter custodian who is responsible for the care of scrolls, regalia and the ceremony of the initiation. Provision is made in the ritual for proper conduct of the ceremonial part of regular meetings and as a matter of discipline this should always be carried out as provided in the constitution. The chapter copy of the constitution is in charge of its president, who is responsible for its safe delivery to his successor as a part of the installation of the latter. It contains instructions for the conduct of business.

A minimum amount of regalia is required and must be kept always in condition for use. Gradually, and after much trial and error, the office work of the Grand Custodian has been taken over by the Grand Secretary and rituals and regalia are obtainable only through him. He is authorized to charge for replacement of scrolls lost or destroyed and for regalia at cost.

The secrets of the order have been minimized and are now limited to such as may serve the purpose of protection against imposters—means by which a fellow may challenge the right of another to wear the badge: hence the importance of familiarity with the few signs and symbols which remain secret. The ritual is a pageant of medical history from ancient times to the present. Faculty men familiar with medical history who have been initiated have been impressed with its beauty and its historical accuracy.

OBJECTS AND POLICIES

The objects of Nu Sigma Nu are officially stated as follows:

1. The elevation of the standards of the regular medical profession and the cultivation and advancement of medical science and literature.
2. The moral, intellectual and social advancement of its members.
3. Mutual aid and fellowship.

Nu Sigma Nu aims to cooperate with the schools of her adoption in exacting high standards of character and scholarship, to the end that the badge of Nu Sigma Nu may come to be recognized as an emblem of merit and distinction both in undergraduate work and in medical practice. That many chapters have already attained such standing may be gathered by reading their histories in this publication. Most chapters do not initiate until candidates have satisfactorily completed the curriculum for the first trimester or semester. Practically all chapters have their individual plans for stimulating scholarship. One chapter has led all groups of students in its school, fraternal or otherwise, for twenty-five unbroken years. Several have maintained for long periods a first or second position in all groups, with scholarship above average.

These traditions and policies are growing stronger as the years pass. They are being handed down literally from father to son. The chapter roll in one famous school recently was sprinkled with the names of juniors whose fathers' names are illustrious in medicine and likewise adorn the roster of Nu Sigma Nu. The relationship between graduates and promising young men entering medicine is being strengthened by the increasing use of the form on the following page which is published in the pamphlet Bulletin which goes annually to every graduate.

The policy of the fraternity in regard to expansion has been consistently for nearly half a century one of entering only four-year schools of high grade, but to expand to such schools when favorable opportunity was presented, to the end that it might spread its influence and maintain its position as a leading, national medical fraternity for undergraduates. It has declined numerous petitions and has considered it a wise policy not to establish chapters in two-year schools. As a result of careful and conservative leadership on the part of its graduate advisers, the Grand Council has established forty-two chapters, only two of which are now inactive and only one inactive in a school still existing.

CHAPTER HOUSES

As this is written (March, 1935) thirty-two of the fraternity's forty active chapters are in comfortable chapter houses, practically all of which are illustrated in Part III. The exceptions are the chapters at Harvard, Yale, Columbia, Bellevue, Cornell, Chicago, Duke, Wisconsin. In those schools either dormitories are provided or the high rents of a large city are prohibitive. At Wisconsin a small chapter maintains headquarters in an apartment, and at Chicago Kappa is for the time being divided between the South Side and the West Side. Kappa is accumulating a building fund toward the day when the chapter will be united on one side of the city.

Nu Sigma Nu's chapter houses are comfortable but usually modest. The majority are owned by alumni associations. Their cost ranges from $45,000 down. They are maintained on a conservative basis, with no unfortunate false pride and no stimulation to live beyond the means of members. Many of them have very creditable libraries, about which are gathered photographs of prominent alumni and scholarship trophies. Several offer intra-chapter cups for scholarship. Social affairs

ALUMNI! ATTENTION, PLEASE!
WHOM WILL YOU SUGGEST FOR NU SIGMA NU?

Among your acquaintances is some fine young man you would be glad to see a member of Nu Sigma Nu. Every chapter is more than anxious to receive suggestions from any alumnus. Often a young man is rushed and pledged early in college before he ever sees a medical school. If you think he ought to be in Nu Sigma Nu, persuade him to wait until he is registered for study in the medical school of his choice and has had opportunity to become acquainted with all medical fraternities. Tell him about your fraternity and what it has stood for in medical schools the last fifty years. Impress upon him the importance of high scholarship, fine character, clean conduct and congenial companions. And please do not hesitate to fill out the blank below and mail it without delay to

CERTIFICATE OF MEMBERSHIP

The only official form of interest in this history is the certificate of membership reproduced on the following page. While many fraternities issue similar certificates, Nu Sigma Nu has always left the matter optional and furnished them at cost on request. The official certificate of membership is handsomely engraved in gold and colors of Nu Sigma Nu and is individually autographed by the Grand Council president and secretary. The certificate is of modest size, suitable for inconspicuous framing. Its fine appearance cannot be adequately reproduced in black with the electrotype necessarily used on the following page.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS

The Executive Council has never exercised any supervision over Alumni Associations. It realizes their value, particularly when functioning in connection with chapters, whether as advisors or as sponsors; or, as in some cases, holders of chapter funds or real estate.

Details of the formations and activities of some of these will be found in the chapter histories in Part III.

At this time the following are known to be functioning: Those named after the cities in which they are located are The Ann Arbor Alumni Association, The Detroit, The Pittsburgh, The Minneapolis, The Cincinnati, The New York Alumni Association with which Iota, Xi and Tau are affiliated, The Kansas City and The Denver Alumni Associations. The following are named after their parent chapters: Lambda Alumni Association, Philadelphia; Nu of Southern California in Los Angeles; Omicron in Albany; Alpha Kappa Phi in St. Louis; Rho in Philadelphia; Sigma in Cleveland; Phi in San Francisco; Beta Iota in New Orleans; Beta Kappa in Boston; Beta Mu in Montreal; Beta Nu in Portland, and the Alumni Chapter Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity in Burlington, Vermont. Reduced fac-simile of engraved certificate of membership procurable through the Executive Council on payment of $1.00 each. Orders should be sent to the Executive Secretary, 90 The Highlands, Tuscaloosa, Ala. If each name is written plainly and in full, accompanied by the chapter, date of initiation and general fraternity number, it will facilitate prompt delivery. As these certificates are furnished at cost, all orders must be accompanied by paper redeemable at par in Chicago.

sociation with headquarters in Portland. The following chapters are sponsored by faculty alumni: Eta, Kappa, Zeta, Psi, Upsilon, Beta Alpha, Beta Beta, Beta Gamma, Beta Delta, Beta Eta, Beta Epsilon and Beta Omicron.

In large cities where there are two or three chapters, alumni associations are of special value in promoting contact between undergraduates and alumni. A fine example is The New York Alumni Association which was largely responsible for the twenty-seventh convention.

While both graduates and undergraduates have always maintained the policy that the fraternity should be distinctly an undergraduate organization in its official structure, there has always been a close relationship between the chapters and local alumni, with the latter exercising an older brother's interest and guidance. By meeting their responsibilities, with graduates advising as outlined above, the undergraduates enjoy a healthful freedom in which they develop initiative in preparation for graduate days. Undoubtedly, also, in their comparative freedom from undue dominance by alumni, they develop to a greater degree the comradeship of youth.

Nevertheless the Executive Council appreciates fully the great value of well organized and active alumni associations, both to themselves and to the undergraduates, and it would be happy to cooperate with alumni in every way possible. Up-to-date alphabetic and geographic membership lists are maintained in the central office. Much valuable information is herein available in the chapter histories in Part III for those who may wish to organize alumni associations. Additional aid may be obtained from the Executive Secretary.

PUBLICATIONS

Nu Sigma Nu: Historic and Biographic: 1882-1932 speaks for itself. It represents sustained effort over a period of about ten years to produce the finest and most comprehensive history ever issued by any professional fraternity; in some respects by any American college fraternity.

The Nu Sigma Nu Bulletin constitutes the annual publication. It follows a unique plan. It is distinctly a fraternity publication. It does not represent any effort to publish a journal. It is altogether a family affair.

The first portion covers general news of the fraternity of interest to all, such as the story of a convention. This is sent gratis, postpaid from the Executive Council office, to every living member. With it is incorporated for graduates and actives of any given chapter the contribution from that chapter's historian for that year. His part includes the year's news of his school; the year's activities of his chapter; personal items of his chapter's alumni, particularly deaths, marriages and births; recent noteworthy contributions of his chapter's members to medical literature; the year's Fratres in Facultate and Fratres in Universitate; the chapter's officers for the year; the current chapter group photograph; and, appended, the biographic data of all initiates since the publication of the last previous Bulletin.

The first portion of general fraternity news and the individual contributions from all chapters are bound together with wine colored special covers embossed in gold. The current chapter roll, with secretaries and their addresses, is printed in front as an index. This bound Bulletin, covering the whole fraternity, is sent to all chapters in houses for their chapter libraries. In the few cases of chapters without either houses or dormitory headquarters, their bound Bulletins are sent to their school libraries.

Thus the annual Bulletin supplements this semi-centennial history and will carry forward all its historical features. The member who secures this history and adds the annual bound Bulletin from year to year, will possess a complete history of the fraternity, annually brought up to date. The bound Bulletin is available on subscription at $3.00 per copy, which only partially covers the cost. The balance comes from the Current Publication Fund, derived from degree and per capita tax of undergraduates.

Periodically in years past the fraternity has published an Alphabetic and Geographic Catalogue. The last was published in 1929. Copies were distributed gratis to active members, who prized it highly. Continuation of this type of Alphabetic and Geographic Catalogue has become too expensive. Therefore a plan is being considered to publish the geographic list quadrennially in conjunction with the bound Bulletin and make it available by subscription without increasing the price of the Bulletin. This will afford needed service to chapters without further expense to undergraduates who pay for it altogether through this Current Publications Fund. It will be available also to graduates through subscription.

FRATERNITY SONGS

The development of fraternity songs presents difficulties because of the dearth of original talent in a professional fraternity of such serious purpose as Nu Sigma Nu and because of the current regrettable lack of interest in group singing, due in large measure to the "canned" music available from phonographic records and radio.

The Executive Council believes that great good to the spirit of man comes from expression in song and that in time this will be more appreciated. To that end the council maintains a standing committee on fraternity songs, which welcomes original compositions and recommends such as have sufficient merit.

A few, mostly words set to old tunes, are appended. The two printed with music are considered official, though there is no record of their having been formally adopted.

The hope is expressed that some day more original compositions together with revived interest will warrant the issue of a book of Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity songs. Contributions sent to the Grand Secretary will be greatly appreciated by the committee.

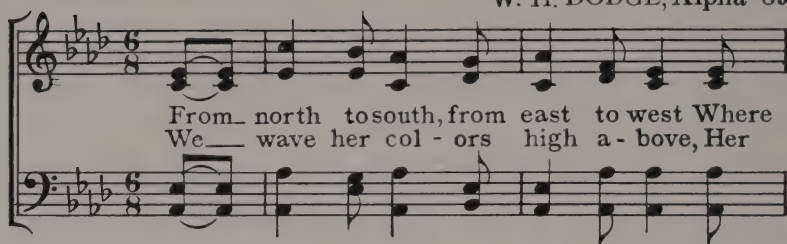

COMPLETE ALPHABETIC ROSTER

The roster of the fraternity is in charge of the Grand Galen whose office keeps it up to date as accurately as possible. In each annual chapter bulletin the biographies of added fellows and notices of those deceased during the year are published. It is requested that the fellows notify the Grand Galen promptly of changes of address. The complete alphabetic list of full names of all members initiated up to June 30, 1932, closes this history and acts as an index to the page on which each member's biographic data is printed.

I'M GLAD I'M A NU SIGMA NU
(New) Tune of "Bless Be The Tie That Binds"

I

All hail to the ties that bind
Our pledges in Nu Sigma Nu
To give aid to Brother
And stand by each other
I'm glad I'm a Nu Sigma Nu.

II

To share all our mutual woes
To mutual burdens bear
To share all our joys too
With old Nu Sig boys too
I'm glad I'm a Nu Sigma Nu.

III

I'm glad I'm a Nu Sigma Nu
To all of the others Shoo! Shoo!
And also taboo too
And likewise skidoo too
I'm glad I'm a Nu Sigma Nu.

—Will Walter, Alpha.

BANQUET SONG

Air:—"Watch on the Rhine."

I

Ho there bartender, brew your brew,
And sit ye down ye jovial crew.
We'll turn the night into the day,
And drink and sing the hours away.
Nu Sigma Nu, our love divine;
Nu Sigma Nu, our love divine;
Pledge we thy health tonight
In sparkling wine;
Pledge we thy health tonight
In sparkling wine.

II

Away with care, away with strife,
We sing one song, we live one life,
We sing thy praise, Nu Sigma Nu,
For thee our hearts are warm and true.
Nu Sigma Nu, our hearts are thine;
Nu Sigma Nu, our hearts are thine;
Pledge we thy health tonight
In sparkling wine;
Pledge we thy health tonight
In sparkling wine.

III

In other hours, in other days,
We toil and labor to thy praise.
Tonight from task and toil we're free,
Tonight we'll sing our song to thee.
Nu Sigma Nu, we'll guard thy shrine;
Nu Sigma Nu, we'll guard thy shrine;
Pledge we thy health tonight
In sparkling wine;
Pledge we thy health tonight
In sparkling wine.

—T. S. Burr, Alpha.

No. 3

Air:—"Germany Land."

I

Oh, Nu Sigma Nu, our hearts grow warm
In the pale of thy kindly encircling arm,
With all our hearts to thee we're true,
All hail! Nu Sigma Nu.

II

Our sons shall live that thy honored name
Shall resound through the world with unsullied fame.
To thee our noblest deeds are due;
All hail! Nu Sigma Nu.

—Mac Gugan, Alpha '91.

No. 4

ENYS GNAL DLUA

Tune:—"Auld Lang Syne"

I

Should auld acquaintance die away,
And friends be passers-by,
Nu Sigma Nu will ever stay
To be our lasting tie.
Nu Sigma Nu, where'er she's found,
Holds friendships strong and true;
So, brothers, join all hands around
And sing Nu Sigma Nu.

II

As years go on we'll all know well
Old age has come at last,
Nu Sigma Nu will ever tell
Fond memories of the past.
Our watchword shall forever be:
"What'er we think or do,
From now until eternity,
Our own Nu Sigma Nu."

BETA SIGMA

The history of Beta Sigma is regrettably brief. The chapter had hardly begun to function when it became necessary to withdraw the charter.

That the Executive Secretary, cooperating always with the Executive Council, was conservative in encouraging extension to Queen's is evident from the pre-installation story.

As will also be seen, the traditional objection to fraternities on the campus was known and respected by the Council: it was not until after two years of investigation and after four full and three associate and assistant professors on the Queen's medical faculty had endorsed the movement and expressed willingness to sponsor the chapter and accept membership themselves, that the Executive Council recommended granting a charter by the Grand Council. These faculty men were installed as charter members along with the local society and the event was reported in both local and Toronto newspapers.

The installation took place immediately after the close of the school year and the way seemed smoother. Much to the surprise and regret of all concerned it became evident upon reopening of the school in the fall that the anti-fraternity prejudice still existed and, in the interests of harmony, but only after all efforts at reconciliation had failed, the charter was withdrawn.

The men who became active Fellows of the Beta Sigma chapter are Fellows of Nu Sigma Nu; that status nothing can change. The hope is that they will long continue to enjoy the fellowship and comradeship into which they entered, for that must remain a lasting tie.

Nu Sigma Nu bows to the tradition of Queen's, acknowledging the right of every school to rule over such matters. That has ever been the fraternity policy. We cannot help but feel that the attitude of the Alma Mater Society of Queen's is due to the lack of real understanding of the position coveted by Nu Sigma Nu in the scheme of medical education.

We are glad to be able to include the story of Beta Sigma as an addendum to the semi-centennial history. For the sketch of the School we are indebted to the school calendar and a most interesting brochure by one of Beta Sigma's charter mem-

THE SCHOOL

PROFESSOR GIBSON

Queen's University owes its origin to the desire of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church in Canada in connection with the Church of Scotland for a ministry trained within the country. On October 16, 1841, a charter was issued by Her Majesty Queen Victoria and first classes were opened the following March. The University now includes faculties of arts, applied science, medicine and theology and has an endowment of about $2,250,000. In 1912 an act passed by the Dominion Parliament removed finally all denominational control. Registration has grown to nearly 4,000.

The Medical Faculty was established in 1854. Curiously enough, it was the result of current "bigotry" at Trinity College in Toronto. Eight students there were informed they could not graduate with the M.D. degree unless they signed the thirty-nine Articles of Religion. One of the eight appealed to a trustee of Queen's who showed the letter to his family physician. The following year a medical faculty of six was established at Kingston in a school open to all on the same terms. On June 20, 1855, they became associated with Queen's signing a statement of personal acceptance of the authority of the scriptures of the Old and New Testament and undertaking not to do or say anything contrary to the doctrines therein. Students were to be entirely free of religious tests. There were twenty-three students in the first class and nine were graduated in the spring of 1855. In 1858 the "Old Medical Building" was erected. Apparently the medical teachers of that date in Kingston were much as they were in the early days elsewhere in America. There were quarrels, even duels, due to the rugged individuality of the leaders. This led in 1865 to separation from Queen's and reorganization as the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, but in 1891 the original status was reassumed. The school was almost broken up in the '80's over the question of admitting women. Two of the professors and a group of students undertook to drive them out by grossly offensive methods. The women in the class were graduated as a compromise, but no more were admitted. The modern development of medical teaching really began with the appointment of Dr. Knight as Professor of Biology (Physiology) at the time of Principal Grant's installation in 1887. In the early '90's Dr. W. T. Connell became full time Professor of Pathology and in 1906 a new building was erected. In 1932-33 the faculty consisted of fifty-six teachers and registration numbered 301, including forty-five graduates.

THE CHAPTER

Beta Sigma (Psi Delta Phi) Chapter of Nu Sigma Nu was established at Queen's University on May 25, 1934. Third chapter in Canada and fortieth in the fraternity, its installation was the culmination of growing sentiment in the Toronto and McGill chapters over a period of years, a sentiment nurtured by a favorable attitude on the part of the Executive Council and the Grand Council toward conservative expansion in Canada. As Professor T. R. Waugh of McGill wrote in a letter advocating a chapter at Queen's, Toronto, Queen's and McGill were linked much as Harvard, Yale and Princeton in the States and had little intercourse across the international boundry, so that it meant a great deal to the older Canadian chapters to have a worthy chapter at Queen's. Opposed to the project, however, was a very old and very strong feeling against social fraternities at Queen's. The University Senate and the Alma Mater undergraduate society officially feared that the introduction of any fraternity would lead to indiscriminate establishment of many social fraternities and eventually disrupt the compact student body into factions. Gradually it seemed that sentiment was changed, so far as a professional fraternity was concerned, due in part to the influence of Nu Sigma Nu faculty members of Toronto and McGill upon members of the faculty at Queen's, in part to the reputation and non-aggressive attitude of Nu Sigma Nu and in part to the gradual understanding that Nu Sigma Nu was essentially a professional scholastic organization which worked for the welfare of the entire student bodies of medical schools rather than for cliques, cooperating whole-heartedly with school authorities, and was entirely different from the undergraduate social Greek letter fraternity as conceived by most men at Queen's. Meanwhile the "Psi Delta Phi Fraternity," a local founded in 1930 and petitioning for a charter of Nu Sigma Nu, was so conducting itself as to win the support of a considerable proportion of the faculty and student body. It was possible for its secretary to write the Executive Secretary of Nu Sigma Nu on March 15, 1934, that the petitioners had made certain concessions in return for which the "Psi Delta Phi fraternity" was considered acceptable to the Alma Mater Society. Among other regulations were those which required all social and social-professional organizations to supply the proper committee of the Alma Mater Society with lists of members, to make their constitutions accessible to this committee, to limit membership to forty-five each, to forbid Freshman membership. To this the Executive Secretary replied that such regulations were quite acceptable to Nu Sigma Nu, that any University authority was quite welcome to read its constitution and that its initiation ritual was a beautiful and dignified pageant of medical history quite acceptable to any faculty member; in fact, it had been quite enjoyed by many faculty men of international reputation. Meanwhile loyal members of Nu Sigma Nu had kept in close touch with the situation. Assistant Dean James Crawford Simpson of McGill and Assistant Dean Stanley E. Ryerson of Toronto helped by mail with information concerning the standing and influence of the fraternity in their schools. Dr. Francis A. C. Scrimger, president of the McGill Nu Sigma Nu Alumni, President John P. Adams of Beta Mu chapter and President W. Wesley Simpson of Chi chapter visited Queen's on January 27, 1933. On October 20 following, the Executive Secretary visited Queen's accompanied by Brothers Dickson and Chenoweth of Chi. These contacts did much to bring about cordial understanding. Finally on March 15, 1934, a formal petition was filed by Psi Delta Phi for a charter from Nu Sigma Nu. It was signed by twenty-four undergraduates and ten graduate members and endorsed by nine members of the Queen's medical faculty who stood as sponsors ready to accept membership in Nu Sigma Nu when Psi Delta Phi was installed as a chapter of the fraternity. Full information was placed before the chapters immediately, the Executive Council unanimously recommending favorable action. On May 4, 1934, the Executive Secretary wired Mr. J. S. Murphy that the vote was unanimously favorable and the charter granted.

On the afternoon of May 25, at the Psi Delta Phi chapter house at 252 King Street, Kingston, the installation services were conducted by Dr. Leon H. Cornwall and Dr. Stuart Graves, respectively President and Executive Secretary of the Executive Council, assisted by Brothers Dickson, Dunham and Chenoweth of Chi and Brother Drury of Beta Mu. The installation was followed immediately by the inaugural meeting of the new Beta Sigma chapter at which the following officers were elected: President, John Gerald Murphy; vice-president, James Harold Shaw; secretary, Eric Tolton Mutrie; treasurer, James Boyd Roberts; historian, Murray Richardson Bowie; custodian, Henry Richardson Ruttan.

The installation banquet was held at 7 P. M. in the ballroom of the LaSalle Hotel. After the toast to the King, Toastmaster John Murphy amid wit and song called for the following:

"The Guests," proposed by Professor L. J. Austin, responses by Brothers Murray and Dunham of Chi and Drury of Beta Mu; "The University," proposed by Dr. George Stobie, response by Professor Thomas Gibson; "The Chapter," proposed by Dr. Stuart Graves, response by Dr. Athol Kenney; "The Fraternity," proposed by Dr. F. A. D. Alexander, response by Dr. Leon H. Cornwall. The committee of arrangements consisted of Brothers John Murphy, J. Harold Shaw, Hugo T. Ewart, Drs. W. Ford Connell, J. Reginald Third, Howard P. Folger, F. A. D. Alexander.

THE HISTORY OF PSI DELTA PHI

During the second week of October, 1930, Ben Brachman, Athol Kenney, Alan Larkin, William Rennick and Dennis Smith, all members of the class of Medicine '33 of Queen's University, met in a downtown restaurant and during the course of the evening chanced to discuss the possibility of forming a medical fraternity at the University. Following the initial discussion, Howard Carter, M. B. George, Maurice Hershey, H. L. McLaughlin and F. A. D. Alexander, of the same class, were approached and expressed their sympathy with such a movement. Several informal meetings were held in quick succession. At these meetings the feasibility of the idea generally, the personnel of further membership and the general policy to be adopted were discussed. At this time B. Ward Casselman and Paul Putman, also of Medicine '33, were added to the roll.

On November 3 a meeting was held at 34 Wellington Street to introduce selected members from the junior years and institute a temporary organization. At this meeting F. G. Elliott, Donald Matheson and N. I. McLeod of Medicine '34 and Hugo Ewart, John Finley and Howard Hamlin of the sophomore year were invited to be present. Larkin and Finley were appointed temporary chairman and secretary respectively. The members present expressed unanimous confidence in the project and plans were made to proceed with a permanent organization. Standing committees were appointed on constitution, information and house, the latter committee to inquire into the expense of acquiring and furnishing suitable quarters for meetings and if possible dining and common rooms.

Further steps were now taken to secure more members from junior years and shortly after William Glass, R. R. Mutrie and Robert Ralph, all of Medicine '34, were admitted to membership with the privileges of charter members. It was later decided to restrict the membership to the original eighteen members until the organization was more complete. On November 26 a meeting was called for the purpose of electing a permanent executive and receiving reports from the committees. The following officers were elected: President, A. S. Kenney; vice-president, F. A. D. Alexander; secretary, J. C. Finley; treasurer, N. I. McLeod and historian, A. E. Larkin.

The suggested constitution was adopted. The House Committee submitted favorable estimates, but found it very difficult to obtain suitable quarters. During the Christmas vacation, however, the committee was successful in making provisional arrangements for the lease of the residence at 117 Bagot Street. This step was largely made possible by the sterling work of D. M. Smith in securing the necessary financial assistance from his father, M. A. Smith of Burlington, the late Dr. F. Mowbrey of Hamilton, Dr. Fletcher Sharpe of Toronto and Dr. W. T. S. Connell of Hamilton.

On February 1, 1931, Psi Delta Phi Fraternity took possession of the residence at 117 Bagot Street. During the first week the furniture and equipment were installed and on February 8 the table began to operate under the management of Hershey. D. M. Smith was appointed House Manager and, with the assistance of a small committee, drew up the house rules and successfully organized the operating details of the organization.

During the remainder of the term the fraternity adopted the policy of entertaining two professors and teachers from the Medical school at Sunday dinner, and of showing them the house and explaining the aims and activities of the organization. This group included Doctors Melvin, Matheson, Thomas Gibson, Logan, Third, Ettinger, Reid, Angrove, Orr, Hopkins, O'Connor and Delahye, as well as numerous prominent undergraduates. The activities for the remainder of the semester were confined to entrenchment on the campus and to the smooth internal functioning of the organization. G. R. F. Elliot of Medicine '35 was pledged and initiated in the late spring. Murray Bowie and William Burgoyne of the freshman class were also pledged. At the annual meeting on April 23, 1931, the officers for the ensuing year were elected and installed: President, A. S. Kenney; vice-president, H. L. McLaughlin; secretary, R. R. Mutrie; treasurer, D. I. Matheson; historian, A. E. Larkin.

At the final examinations in the spring the results proved very satisfactory, and the benefits of mutual work were firmly established in that the class standing of the members as a whole was considerably raised.

Activities of the Fraternity were promptly resumed following registration in the fall. At the first meeting on September 27, 1931, D. M. Smith was reappointed house manager and G. R. F. Elliot was appointed table manager. The membership committee was reorganized and a committee was chosen to draft an initiation ritual. A program was outlined for the entertainment of prospective pledges.

At the beginning of the spring term Finley replaced Smith as house manager, Smith having received an appointment to an internship at the Kingston General Hospital. The fraternity was fortunate in having as their guests on different occasions Principal W. Hamilton Fyfe, Dean F. Etherington of the Medical Faculty and Professor D. A. McArthur, Head of the Department of History at the University.

On the occasion of the first annual dinner on February 22, 1932, Drs. Howard Folger and Reginald Smith were introduced into the society. The financial condition was reported strong with ownership of home furnishings, silver, china and linen. Pictures and books had been presented by Principal Fyfe, Professor Gibson and others. In the spring of 1932 the chapter moved to 252 King Street, East.

The charter members of Beta Sigma were the following: Dr. Lorimer John Austin, B.A., '03, M.B., '06, M.A., '08, Cantab, Professor of Surgery; Dr. Walter Thomas Connell, M.D., C.M., Queen's '94, Professor of Medicine; Dr. Gordon Wright Mylks, M.D., C.M., Queen's '97, Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology; Dr. Thomas Gibson, M.A., '84, M.B., C.M., '94, Edinburgh, Professor of Pharmacology and Therapeutics; Dr. William Gibson, Associate Professor of Medicine; Dr. George Harold Ettinger, B.A., '16, M.D., C.M., '20, Queen's, Assistant Professor of Physiology; Dr. Howard Price Folger, B.A., '17, M.D., C.M., '22, Queen's, Assistant Professor of Eye; Dr. James Reginald Third, B.A., M.D., C.M., Queen's '21, Lecturer in Medicine; Dr. Walter Ford Connell, M.D., C.M., Queen's '29, Lecturer in Medicine; Dr. Gordon Wright Mylks, Jr., B.A., '27, M.D., C.M., Queen's '29, Assistant Curator of Pathological Museum; Dr. William Samuel T. BETA TAU

The history of Beta Tau records the happy ending of a story of cordial relationship between Alpha Mu Pi Omega and Nu Sigma Nu extending through many years. Its installation marked the forty-second chapter founded, of which forty are flourishing, and completed the triad in Ohio medical schools. With the strong group of undergraduates came a large and strong group of enthusiastic and influential alumni and the finest medical chapter house at O. S. U. We are happy that Beta Tau can be included in the Addenda of the semi-centennial history. Finally we record our appreciation of the courtesy of Dr. J. Gurney Taylor, chairman of the Executive Committee and former Grand President of A. M. P. O., in reviewing the history of the relationship between the two fraternities, as recorded below.

S. G.

THE SCHOOL

The College of Medicine of Ohio State University, through its predecessors, ranks as the second oldest medical college in Ohio, and incorporates all the previous medical college interests in Central Ohio. It stands upon a foundation of six medical schools with a continuity of college life covering more than one hundred years. A centennial celebration was held in Columbus on March 1, 2 and 3, 1934, and an historical volume of 572 pages was subsequently published, dedicated to the late Dr. Ernest Scott, for thirty years Professor of Pathology.

The six medical schools which were incorporated in the development of the present institution were the Medical Department of Willoughby University of Lake Erie, 1834-46; the Willoughby Medical College of Columbus, 1846-47; the Starling Medical College, 1847-1907; the Columbus Medical College, 1875-1892; the Ohio Medical University, 1892-1907; and the Starling Ohio Medical College, 1907-14. In 1914 the trustees of the last institution gave to the State of Ohio all its properties, both real and personal, for the purpose of establishing the College of Medicine of Ohio State University in order that it might have a more stable future and a wider field of usefulness.

The history of this development through a hundred years is too much to be reviewed here. Limitation of space and the installation of Beta Tau chapter just as this fraternity history is going to press permits only the brief statement above and the recording of the present organization.

The physical plant consists of several excellent buildings. Hamilton Hall, the medical science building, is a four-story structure of modified English Tudor architecture, 243 feet long, with two wings 44 by 110 and 52 by 190 feet. Kinsman Hall, also of modified Tudor architecture, adjoins the new hospital and is given over entirely to research. The Starling-University Hospital has 275 beds and the St. Francis Hospital 160 charity beds and the dispensary. A $500,000 Children's Hospital was completed in 1924. Teaching facilities are available also in the Columbus State Hospital for Insane and the Friends Rescue Home and the Florence Chittenden Home, furnishing about three hundred obstetrical cases each year.

The faculty in 1934-35, led by President George W. Rightmire and Dean John H. J. Upham, consists of twenty-three professors, seven associate professors, twenty-three assistant professors, three lecturers and fifty-four instructors and assistants. Enrollment numbers 75-85 students in each class. Preference is given to residents of Ohio. Admission requirements are 145 quarter hours with a quality of not less than 2 points per credit hour. Three years will be required in 1936.

THE CHAPTER

The Beta Tau chapter of Nu Sigma Nu, forty-second in the role of the fraternity, was installed on March 2, 1935, in the Deshler-Wallick Hotel at Columbus, Ohio. Twenty-two undergraduates in the Ohio State University School of Medicine and 130 graduates, all former members of the Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Mu Pi Omega, became the charter members and nine more undergraduates were initiated that evening as the chapter's first delegation, giving the new chapter an initial membership of thirty-one active undergraduate members and 130 alumni members, the largest group to mark the beginning of any chapter in the history of the fraternity.

The installation services marked the culmination of twenty years of cordial relationship between Nu Sigma Nu and Alpha Mu Pi Omega, during which period several movements toward separation on the part of members of the latter at Ohio State had been frustrated. Early attempts had been marked by lack of complete harmony of purpose on the part of the local group, and the Council of Nu Sigma Nu, whose officers at all times were on most friendly terms with the officers of the Grand Chapter of A. M. P. O., declined to offer encouragement under the circumstances.

Not the least interesting of the tendency of members of both organizations toward union had been negotiations in 1926. In October of that year Dr. J. Gurney Taylor of Milwaukee, Grand President, and Dr. Edward C. Buck of Columbus, Grand Vice President of A. M. P. O., and Dr. Stuart Graves, Executive Secretary of the Grand Council of Nu Sigma Nu, met in Philadelphia to confer with the alumni and undergraduates of both fraternities in the University of Pennsylvania. Negotiations toward this conference had been instituted the previous spring at a conference in the University Club of Chicago between Doctor Taylor and Dr. William Thorndike of the Grand Chapter of A. M. P. O., and Dr. Ernest E. Irons and Dr. Stuart Graves of the Executive Council of Nu Sigma Nu. Informally and unofficially these friends had discussed the possibility of an amalgamation between the two fraternities. Nu Sigma Nu had an old and strong national organization in thirty-five prominent schools at that time, whereas A. M. P. O. had only four undergraduate chapters which, although strong locally in Pennsylvania, Texas, Baylor and Ohio State, lacked the backing of widespread national association. The national officers of the two fraternities were favorable to an amalgamation on a basis of union of undergraduate chapters and absorption of A. M. P. O.'s graduate chapters as alumni associations in Nu Sigma Nu, representation of the Grand Chapter of A. M. P. O. on the Executive Council of Nu Sigma Nu, merging of local funds and property by local agreement, retroactive membership in Nu Sigma Nu for all graduate members of A. M. P. O. who might desire to affiliate. A number of the graduate chapters of A. M. P. O. had voted in favor of such union, but in Philadelphia the officers of the two fraternities met with such determined opposition on the part of the undergraduate members of the local chapters of both that further consideration of the plan was dropped by mutual consent.

The result was particularly disappointing to Doctor Buck and the A. M. P. O. chapter in Ohio State. As years went on the members of that chapter and its alumni continued to feel the desirability of affiliation with a strong national fraternity. This found expression again in the fall of 1931 when President Marlin R. Wedemeyer of the Epsilon chapter of A. M. P. O. wrote on October 7 to the Secretary of the Executive Council of Nu Sigma Nu, requesting an interview regarding affiliation of his chapter with Nu Sigma Nu. The reply was that Nu Sigma Nu could not consider such a plan unless it were endorsed by the Grand Chapter of A. M. P. O. Again in March of 1932 President K. F. Kaufman of the O. S. U. chapter of A. M. P. O. requested that the Executive Secretary of Nu Sigma Nu stop in Columbus on his way to the semi-centennial convention of Nu Sigma Nu in Ann Arbor the following month. A conference was held in Columbus on April 18, 1932, at which nine members of A. M. P. O. presented a signed petition. It was represented to Nu Sigma Nu that the chapter was in danger of disintegration, in spite of a fine house, many local graduate members and a large group of conditional pledges, because the chapter felt the lack of a strong national organization. It was urged that the petition be presented to the Grand Council of Nu Sigma Nu at its April meeting. No encouragement was forthcoming, however, and the Committee on Extension subsequently reported at the convention that, while the honor was appreciated, the committee could not "at this time recommend its acceptance," because the petitioners were members in most part of A. M. P. O. An exchange of cordial greetings between the grand officers of both fraternities followed.

Negotiations were opened again in the spring of 1934, when Dr. George W. Petznick of Cleveland, an initiate of Sigma chapter of Nu Sigma Nu of Western Reserve who had graduated from and taught in the O. S. U. Medical School, wired on behalf of his associate, Doctor Buck of A. M. P. O., urging the Executive Secretary of Nu Sigma Nu to attend a conference of A. M. P. O. men in Columbus, and stating that individual members of the Epsilon chapter of A. M. P. O. would be honorably released by its Grand Council. This was confirmed by a letter written on March 26 by Dr. W. Eugene Masters of Columbus, Grand Secretary of A. M. P. O. On April 11, 1934, Dr. J. Gurney Taylor, chairman of the Executive Committee and former president of A. M. P. O., wrote that he was "heartily in favor of these young men securing affiliations." Subsequently (Nov. 13, 1934) Dr. Charles W. McGavran, Grand President, wrote officially to the Executive Secretary of Nu Sigma Nu that "the students and graduate members of Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Mu Pi Omega, whose names have been submitted to you, have fulfilled their obligations, and are therefore honorably and unconditionally released from the Alpha Mu Pi Omega Medical Fraternity."

These assurances led to a conference on March 31 at the Columbus Club at which Dr. Earl E. Gaver presided. On behalf of the petitioners he stated that an honorable release was favored by all the Grand Chapter officers and that also the unanimous consent of the three undergraduate chapters at Pennsylvania, Texas and Baylor had been received in writing; that all the Columbus undergraduates and practically all the graduates desired affiliation. Under the circumstances the Executive Secretary of Nu Sigma Nu stated unofficially that the petition would receive serious consideration as soon as certain conditions were met.

Within a month much headway was made and on April 30, 1934, Dr. Eugene Masters of Columbus, Grand Secretary of A. M. P. O., wrote that the active chapter of A. M. P. O. had elected new officers from the graduates, including himself as president, and Drs. G. Wayne Brehm, Alban A. Ahn, Erwin W. Troutman, all officers or executive committee members of the Grand Chapters of A. M. P. O.; that forty-three members had been honorably released by both the local and Grand Chapters of A. M. P. O., subject only to discharge of any financial obligations to A. M. P. O. and to transfer of the local real estate so as to relieve A. M. P. O. and any of its members of indebtedness on the property; that any other members who presented their resignations in writing and turned in their A. M. P. O. badges would be honorably released on the same conditions. The title to real estate then was in the names of Drs. Charles W. McGavran, E. C. Buck and Earl E. Gaver as trustees for A. M. P. O.

Meanwhile Dean J. H. J. Upham of the College of Medicine, a member of Alpha Kappa Kappa, and Dean of Men J. A. Park of the University had cordially endorsed the petition to Nu Sigma Nu.

On May 21 another conference was held at the Columbus Club between graduate and undergraduate former members of A. M. P. O., the Executive Secretary of Nu Sigma Nu and Columbus alumni of the latter. Meanwhile the members of the Executive Committee of Nu Sigma Nu had expressed themselves to the Executive Secretary as favorable to the movement; the Columbus alumni of Nu Sigma Nu had heartily recommended the granting of the petition and the Theta Chapter of Nu Sigma Nu in Cincinnati and the Sigma Chapter in Western Reserve had responded favorably. At this conference the Executive Secretary stated frankly that the Executive Committee of Nu Sigma Nu would recommend to the Grand Council that a charter be granted when three conditions were met: (1) that title to the real estate be transferred free and clear to a holding company for a local Nu Sigma Nu organization, except for a mortgage not exceeding $5,000; (2) that the undergraduates secure a satisfactory delegation of pledges and maintain high scholarship; (3) that a substantial number of A. M. P. O. graduates become members of Nu Sigma Nu and give active support to the undergraduate chapter.

To meet these conditions several A. M. P. O. alumni worked energetically and efficiently for months. Dr. E. C. Buck, Dr. A. M. Brundage, Dr. Frank W. Watson and Dr. Jacob T. Coons especially were active. On September 12, 1934, the articles of incorporation of the Nu Sigma Nu Club were filed with the Secretary of State, for the purpose of "acquiring title to the property commonly known as No. 1454 Neil Avenue, Columbus, and holding the same in trust for Nu Sigma Nu undergraduate chapter of the Nu Sigma Nu Medical fraternity of the Ohio State University College of Medicine." The articles named as trustees, to serve "until the first annual meeting or other meeting called to elect trustees," Drs. William D. Inglis, J. P. Farson, Frank W. Watson, James A. Beer and Howard M. Brundage, all of Columbus. The following February a warranty deed was filed, conveying the chapter house property to the club from Dr. and Mrs. Brundage, Dr. and Mrs. Watson, Dr. and Mrs. Coons and Dr. and Mrs. Buck. The same day a mortgage deed was filed by the club in their favor to secure a note of $5,000 signed by Dr. Frank W. Watson, president, and Dr. Howard M. Brundage, secretary-treasurer of the club. Dr. Brundage, Dr. Buck and Dr. Watson had taken notes and contributions they had collected from A. M. P. O. alumni and had pledged personal securities to reduce the mortgage on the property from $13,500 to $5,000. The property had been valued at $30,000 a few years earlier.

In October, 1934, a formal petition, incorporated into an attractively bound and illustrated pamphlet, was received from twenty-one men, including six 1934 graduates, seven seniors, four juniors and four sophomores, all standing in the upper or middle third of their classes scholastically. In addition one senior, two juniors and six freshmen were pledged.

The petition from the undergraduates was followed on October 30 with a petition from 132 former graduate members of A. M. P. O., pledging themselves to accept membership in Nu Sigma Nu and to give loyal support to their former Epsilon chapter as a chapter in Nu Sigma Nu if a charter were granted. Accompanying the petition was a letter from Dr. Brundage, stating that 160 had signed notes for $50 each to help liquidate the indebtedness on the house and more would help. All these named petitioners, as noted previously, were endorsed as honorably released by A. M. P. O., in a letter from President McGavran on November 13, 1934.

At the twenty-seventh convention in New York on December 1, President Gerlinger of the petitioners was granted the privilege of the floor. The Committee on Extension reported unanimously in favor of a charter and recommended that the petition be submitted to the chapters immediately in accordance with the provisions of the constitution, final approval "to be subject to completion of negotiations regarding the Columbus chapter house property in a manner satisfactory to our Executive Council."

On February 20, 1935, the Executive Secretary met the petitioners again at the Columbus Club. The negotiations over the chapter house were found satisfactory and enthusiastic assurances were given of graduate support. On behalf of the Grand Council and the Executive Council the Executive Secretary declared the charter granted. March 2 was set for the installation. To complete arrangements a committee was appointed consisting of Dr. C. C. Sherburne, Alpha Kappa Phi, '21, and Dr. John E. Brown, Kappa, '29, representing Nu Sigma Nu, Dr. R. W. Bonnell, '28, representing A. M. P. O. alumni, and Messrs T. V. Gerlinger and K. F. Kaufman, president and treasurer of the undergraduate petitioners.

There never was such an installation as that of Beta Tau chapter in the Hall of Mirrors of the Deshler-Wallick Hotel on March 2, 1935. The services were conducted by Dr. Will Walter and Dr. Stuart Graves of the Executive Council, assisted by a degree team of local Nu Sigma Nu alumni in charge of Doctor Sherburne. Brothers John J. Donley and Raphael Bricca of Theta helped. Twenty-two undergraduates and 130 graduates, all former members of Epsilon chapter of A. M. P. O., were received into membership of Nu Sigma Nu. After the banquet nine neophytes were initiated with full ritual, giving the others an opportunity to enjoy the beauty of the pageant of medical history. A total of 161 new members began the life of the new chapter.

"Alpha Mu Pi Omega History," Dr. H. M. Brundage.

"Nu Sigma Nu National," Dr. Stuart Graves.

"Nu Sigma Nu Faculty," Professor Clayton Smith.

"Nu Sigma Nu History and Biographies," Dr. Will Walter.

After the formal toasts enthusiasm ran high. Dr. Joseph Price started high jinx when he appealed for aid to renovate and refurnish the chapter house for the new chapter and subscribed $200. In a few minutes $1500 had been pledged for the purpose and Dr. Sherburne for the twelve local Nu Sigma Nu alumni of Columbus underwrote half the cost of the outfit of regalia used at the installation, to be presented to the chapter, and Doctor Graves pledged the balance on behalf of the fraternity. Subsequently the sum was increased to $4,000 and the first floor of the house completely remodeled.

Not the least of the pleasant incidents were the greetings from the other medical fraternities in Ohio State University. Pi chapter of Alpha Kappa Kappa sent a beautiful basket of flowers. Gamma chapter of Phi Chi submitted greetings by special messenger: "Sincere congratulations and best wishes for the success of the Nu Sigma Nu at Ohio State." From the local Phi Delta Epsilon chapter, came also a special message: "Our heartiest congratulations upon your installation in Nu Sigma Nu. May you enjoy a long and happy future under your new banner." The secretary was requested to acknowledge and reciprocate the good wishes.

A fitting tribute was paid to Doctor Brundage when Toastmaster Watson brought forth a fine large photograph of him and presented it to the new chapter for its house, saying that his devotion and energy had brought to a happy conclusion the efforts of twenty years.

As directors for the coming year in the Nu Sigma Nu Club the following were unanimously elected: From former A. M. P. O. men, Drs. F. W. Watson, G. W. Brehm, H. M. Brundage, Thomas Rardin, R. W. Bonnell, Frank Fraley; from Nu Sigma Nu men, Drs. Ivar G. Clark, Clayton S. Smith, Harry E. Le Fever, John Edwin Brown, Jr., and C. C. Sherburne. Doctor Brown was chosen the new liason officer authorized by the twenty-seventh convention.

QUARTER CENTENNIAL CONVENTION GROUP—SYRACUSE, NEW YORK
November 30-December 1, 1906

STUART GRAVES, M, '11, Co-author

The Publication Committee of Nu Sigma Nu's semi-centennial history is depicted above by direction of the President of the Executive Council, to comply with resolutions adopted by the Grand Council at its twenty-seventh convention in New York on December 1, 1934. Likewise in accordance with the directions of the Grand Council, the original photographs, properly framed and embossed, have been forwarded by the Moffett Studio of Chicago to all chapters with houses or headquarters suitable for hanging portraits, "as a fitting acknowledgment of Nu Sigma Nu's appreciation."
